SECOND ANNUAL CIRCULAR

OF THE

Western Maryland College,

1869-70.

Location.

This Institution is located in the healthful and flourishing city of Westminster, Carroll County, Maryland, on the line of the Western Maryland Railroad, about midway between the cities of Baltimore and Hagerstown. The building stands on a commanding eminence at the "West End," overlooking the whole city and many miles of the surrounding country, and affording one of the most beautiful and picturesque views in the State.

Accommodations.

The main centre building, the only one yet completed, is a spacious and well-constructed edifice, containing ample room for the comfortable accommodation of one hundred boarding students. The building and grounds, embracing eight acres, are so arranged that the males are entirely separate from the females; and will at no time be allowed to associate together, except in the presence of their teachers.

Patronage and Direction.

The College property is owned by the Board of Trustees, incorporated in March, 1868, by the General Assembly of Maryland, and the Institution is under the special patronage of the Maryland Annual Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church; but nothing will be introduced either into the course of study or discipline and management of the Institution which can be in any way objectionable to students of other religious persuasions. While every student will be required respectfully to attend the religious services forming a part of the College exercises, each will be at liberty to repair to such places of public worship on the Sabbath as parents or guardians may select.

Regulations.

The rules of order, and the general regulations of the Institution, will be similar to those of the best Colleges in the land; and the Faculty will make it a special study to combine all the advantages, as to methods of teaching and discipline, resulting from their experience and observation in the various institutions of learning with which they have been connected.

Every student, when entering, will be required to give satisfactory testimonials of a good moral character, and agree to conform to the rules and regulations of the Institution.

Every student and pupil will be required promptly to attend to every duty or exercise indicated by the ringing of the College bell, as made known to them from time to time by the Principal, Professors or Tutors, or as set forth in the printed or written schedules; and under all circumstances to observe every regulation with such deference as they should pay to the laws of a well-ordered home.

No student shall be absent during any portion of the time allotted for study, recitation, religious worship, or other regular exercise of the institution, without special permission.

Loitering in the halls or about the doors, loud talking, whistling, boisterous playing, or other unnecessary noise, within the College building, is strictly prohibited.

During the intervals between study-hours, students are required to keep within the limits assigned them in the College building or grounds; and in no case to leave the premises without permission.

Students violating these, or any other laws adopted by the Faculty, may be punished according to the Faculty's discretion, by private or public reproof, suspension, or expulsion; but may appeal to the Board of Trustees.

A full record will be carefully kept, and Collegiate Degrees will be conferred upon those completing the full course.

RECITATIONS.

The method of recitation from day to day is adopted from the best Colleges. The old plan of asking questions is done away, so far as practicable, the student being allowed to choose his own language in giving his views of the subject of study; no interruption being made by the Professor except where the author is abstruse or difficult to be understood. In this way the student is trained into the important habit of thinking for himself and relying upon his own efforts.

GRADE OF MERIT, AWARDS, &c.

The grade of merit, both in deportment and recitation, will be from 1 to 10. Every act of disobedience to any established rule of the institution will be demerited, and every unexcused absence from recitation, or failure to recite a lesson assigned, will be marked 0, unless made up. Minor marks for imperfect recitations in part, will be indicated by tenths or hundredths of a unit, according to the judgment of the teacher concerned, but all teachers will be governed by the standard of marking adopted by the Faculty. The medals and premiums will be distributed at the end of the year to the students having the highest averages in deportment, or in the studies for which said prizes are awarded. Two gold medals will be given for excellence in deportment; one in the male and the other in the female department. Silver medals will be awarded for excellence in Belles Lettres, in Natural Sciences, in Mathematics, in Languages, and in Music and Drawing. Premiums will be awarded to students having the highest average in each distinct branch of study, and honors to those having the next highest averages. In all these awards, the strictest care will be taken to do equal justice to all.

BOOKS OF REFERENCE.

The following books of reference are accessible to and earnestly recommended to the use of the students:

- Liddell's and Scott's Greek and English Lexicon.
- Andrews' Latin and English Lexicon.
- Anthon's Classical Dictionary.

- Watson's Theological Institutes.
- Prideaux' Connection.
Mosheim's Ecclesiastical History.
Powell on Succession.
Edwards on Baptism.
Miller's Clerical Habits and Manners.

SECOND AND THIRD YEAR'S Studies not yet assigned.

Lectures.

Students of the Natural Sciences will have the privilege of attending the Lectures of Prof. Zimmerman, which will be given at such times as not to interfere with other studies. Lectures on Anatomy, Physiology and Hygiene, by J. W. Hering, M. D.; on Civil Law, by R. B. Norment, Esq., and on Moral and Religious Subjects, by various Ministers of the Gospel, will be delivered from time to time, of which Lectures the students will be required to take notes and carefully transcribe them, for preservation by the Faculty.

Extra Studies.

No studies except those embraced in the foregoing course will be required for the Degree of A. B., and for young ladies the course to the end of the Junior Year only will be required for graduation; but any student may arrange with the Faculty for extra studies.

Literary Aids.

All necessary aids, such as globes, maps, charts, philosophical and chemical apparatus, &c., will be provided. The students will have access to libraries comprising 2,500 volumes.

Societies.

The Irving Literary Society of Young Gentlemen, and the Browning Literary Society of Young Ladies, will hold regular weekly meetings, and it is the desire of the Faculty that all students avail themselves of the advantages of these valuable and instructive organizations.

Book Room.

A room has been set apart especially for the supplying of books, stationery, music, &c., which will be furnished at Baltimore retail prices for cash.
Laboratory.

Students will be allowed free access to this Department, at hours fixed by the Professor of Chemistry.

Reading Room.

Here are kept newspapers, periodicals, magazines, and much of the best current literature of the day; and the friends of the College, editors and others are solicited to aid in contributions to this Department, to which the students are allowed free access, under the regulation of the Societies.

Domestic Arrangements.

Prof. Zimmerman and Lady will take the management of the Boarding Department, under the direction and sanction of the Board of Trustees, and will spare no pains to render entire satisfaction to the patrons of the Institution.

All students from abroad will be required to board in the Institution, unless otherwise specially arranged with the Principal.

For the information of parents, it may be necessary to state that boarding students are expected to bring their own sheets, pillows and pillow-cases, blankets, counterpanes, umbrellas, &c.; and to be provided with good, warm and durable clothing, having the name of the owner plainly marked on each article.

General Remarks.

It is very desirable that students should enter at the beginning and remain until the close of the session.

Assistants will be employed for each Professor, when the number of students render it necessary.

Special damages will be assessed on those students who unnecessarily injure or destroy College property.

No deduction will be made for absence, except in case of protracted illness, nor will money be refunded in the case of a student being expelled.
