THIRD ANNUAL CIRCULAR
OF THE
Western Maryland College,
1870-71.

Location.

This Institution is located in the healthful and flourishing city of WESTMINSTER, Carroll County, Maryland, on the line of the WESTERN MARYLAND RAILROAD, about midway between the cities of BALTIMORE and HAGERSTOWN. The building stands on a commanding eminence at the "West End," overlooking the whole city and many miles of the surrounding country, and affording one of the most beautiful and picturesque views in the State.

Accommodations.

The main centre building, the only one yet completed, is a spacious and well-constructed edifice, containing ample room for the comfortable accommodation of a large number of boarding students. The Vice-Principal, Preceptress, and other members of the Faculty reside in the building, eat at the same table with the students, and have a constant oversight of them. The ladies' private and public rooms are entirely separate from those of the gentlemen, and there is no association of the male and female students, except in the presence of their instructors. The grounds belonging to the College contain eight acres, affording ample room for the exercise of students during the time not allotted to study. The Principal not residing in the College building, the general discipline of the Institution is committed to the Vice-Principal, who will see that the regulations adopted by the Faculty are carried out, or report delinquencies to the Faculty.

Patronage and Direction.

The College property is owned by the Board of Trustees, incorporated in March, 1868, by the General Assembly of Maryland, and the Institution is under the special patronage of the Maryland Annual Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church; but nothing will be introduced either into the course of study or discipline and management of the Institution which can be in any way objectionable to students of other religious persuasions.

Terms of Admission.

1. Each student, or pupil, when entering, is required to sign a pledge, on his honor, to obey all the laws of the Institution so long as he may remain in it.
2. The student must be well recommended as to moral character.
3. Prompt payment of all College bills must be made. (See Summary of Expenses, p. 23.)
4. The student or pupil must agree to take all the studies of the class entered, unless excused from any portion thereof at the time of entering.
5. If the student be a minor, his spending-money must be deposited with the Principal, to be returned in such amounts as he may think best.

Rules of Deportment

ADOPTED BY THE FACULTY, AND BINDING UPON ALL STUDENTS AND PUPILS OF THE WESTERN MARYLAND COLLEGE.

1. Use no profane or indecent language.
2. Do not use or countenance the use of any intoxicating liquor as a beverage.
3. Do not play at any game of chance.
4. Do not attend any place of amusement, or public exhibition, without the advice or consent of the Principal.
5. Do not loiter in the halls, or make any improper noise in the building.

6. In passing from one part of the building to another, do not rush, but proceed in a regular and orderly manner.

7. Never be absent, unless excused by proper authority, from any roll-call, recitation, lecture, or other stated exercise.

8. Repair promptly, at the ringing of the College bell, to the place indicated thereby.

9. Resist not the due authority of, and show no disrespect towards any Professor, Tutor, or other officer of the institution.

10. Always be neat in your apparel and cleanly in your habits.

11. Do not deface or injure any desk, wall, or other property of the College.

12. Never go, without special, proper permission, into any part of the building or grounds appropriated to others.

13. Desist from any improper use of the black-boards.

14. Do not leave the College premises at any time without special, proper permission; state the business on which you wish to leave, whenever required to do so, and always return promptly at the time specified.

15. Never associate or converse with any student of the opposite sex, except in the presence and hearing of a teacher, without special, proper permission.

16. Do not quarrel, fight, exhibit bad tempers, or treat any person unkindly.

17. Be fair in all your dealings, and speak the truth at all times.

18. If you should inadvertently or unintentionally have violated any rule, seek the earliest opportunity of candidly confessing and making suitable amends, that you may secure pardon.

19. Do not prompt, either by word or gesture, any student during recitation.

20. Be reverential in worship, and decorous in behaviour at all times.

21. Do not attempt to pass any letter, book, or other article, to any student of the opposite sex, except through the hands of the Principal or Vice-Principal.

22. Never put or leave things out of order in the dormitory, in your desk, in the study rooms, chapel, or elsewhere.

23. Do not take advantage of any possible omission in these rules to act in any respect contrary to your own sense of right.

24. Let all your conduct be such as becomes ladies and gentlemen, and consistent with the object and design of your parents and guardians in placing you here as students.

25. Let all the time allotted to study be spent in study.

26. Bear constantly in mind that disobedience to, or failure to observe, any of these rules, will be marked against you, and lay you liable to such penalties as the Faculty may determine, more or less severe according to the number and nature of the offences.

RECITATIONS.

The method of recitation from day to day is adopted from the best Colleges. The old plan of asking questions is done away, so far as practicable, the student being allowed to choose his own language in giving his views of the subject of study, no interruption being made by the Professor except where the author is abstruse or difficult to be understood. In this way the student is trained into the important habit of thinking for himself and relying upon his own efforts.

GRADE OF MERIT, AWARDS, &c.

The grade of merit, both in deportment and recitation, will be from 1 to 10. Every act of disobedience to any established rule of the Institution will be demerited, and every unexcused absence from recitation, or failure to recite a lesson assigned, will be marked 0, unless made up. Minor marks for imperfect recitations in part, will be indicated by tenths or hundredths of a unit, according to the judgment of the teacher concerned, but all teachers will be governed by the standard of marking adopted by the Faculty. The medals and premiums will be distributed at the end of the year to the students having the highest averages in deportment, or in the studies for which said prizes are awarded. Two gold medals will be given for excellence in deportment, one in the male and the other in the female department. Silver medals will be awarded for excellence in Belles Lettres, in Natural Sciences, in Mathematics, in Languages, and in Instrumental Music. Premiums will be awarded to students having the highest average in each distinct branch of study, and honors to those having the next highest averages. In all these awards, the strictest care will be taken to do equal justice to all.

The following books of reference are accessible to, and earnestly recommended to the use of the students:
