Courses of Study.

Graduate Course.

Conditions of Admission—This course covers four years, and leads to the degree of Bachelor of Arts. The course is the same for all students in the Freshman and Sophomore years. In the Junior and Senior years the course branches into three groups, the Classical, the Scientific and the Historical, all leading to the same degree. Both male and female students are admitted. Male students are required to pass satisfactory examinations in English, History and Geography, Arithmetic, Algebra and Latin, according to the discription given below. Female students may enter without an examination in Latin, provided they are well qualified in all the other branches. They are examined in Algebra only as far as the Four Fundamental Operations. Those who pass with a grade of 9 in all studies but one are admitted and placed in a requisition class to make up the deficiency.

EXAMINATIONS FOR ENTRANCE.

English—The students should be familiar with the parts of speech, and be able to perform rapidly exercises in parsing and conjugation. The analysis of sentences, proper arrangement of phrases and clauses will also be called for. The student will be tested in his knowledge of the rules governing spelling, punctuation and the ability to compose a letter, a short essay or some other species of composition based on Irving's "Sketch Book." Penmanship will also be regarded.

HISTORY AND GEOGRAPHY—The text-book in History used in the Preparatory Department is Eggleston's United States, and the examination for entrance will be on the general facts covered by this work. The candidate will be required to show a thorough and accurate knowledge of the discovery and settlement of North America, the colonial era, the War for Independence, the establishment and growth of the Union, the events leading to the civil war, and the chief incidents and results of that struggle. In Geography, the text-book is Frye's Complete. The questions will relate to the form and size of the Earth, its motions and their results, the principal land and water divisions, the chief countries of the world, their rivers, cities, population and industries, earthquakes and their causes, ocean currents, storms climate, and the distribution of life.

ARITHMETIC—The whole subject as contained in books like "The New Ameri can" or "Brooks'" is required. The questions given for examination will be found principally under notation and numeration, the four fundamental processes, common and decimal fractions, denominate numbers, percentage, interest, simple and compound proportions, mensuration and the metric system. The examples selected will be by no means the most difficult, the purpose being not to puzzle the candidate, but to fairly test his knowledge.

Algebra—The examination on this subject will begin with the reading of algebraic expressions and the use of parentheses. The special rules for multiplication and division by inspection as given in "Wentworth's School Algebra," and the principles of factoring must be thoroughly mastered. The three processes of elimination, the theory of exponents, involution and evolution must also be thoroughly understood. While some work in stating problems will be given, the greater portion of time will be taken up in strictly algebraic exercises. Female students will be examined in the four fundamental operations only.

LATIN—In this study "The First Latin Book," by Collar & Daniell, fairly represents the requirement for the Freshman Class. The applicant should be well grounded on the declension of nouns, adjectives and pronouns; the comparison of adjectives and adverbs, and the conjugation of the verb, regular and irregular; he should know the various uses of the several cases, and especially of the subjunctive mood; understand the accusative and infinitive in indirect discourse, the ablative absolute, the periphrastic conjugations, the gerund, gerundive and the supine, and be able to translate any of the exercises.

Physiology—As much as is contained in Dulany's Martin's Human Body.

ELOCUTION.

The course in Elocution covers two years of Class instruction, Freshman and Sophomore, and two years of additional work in special classes. The first two years' work is general and preliminary. In the Junior Year the classes are divided into small groups so as permit of individual attention to each student.

The course includes the study of Voice, Respiration, Articulation, Modulation, Emphasis and Physical Expression in its different branches. Analysis of the works of the best authors. Bible and Hymn Reading. Shakespeare.

Upon the satisfactory completion of this course the certificate of the department is conferred.

Departments of Study.

Philosophy.

The studies in this department are Psychology, Logic-Deductive and Inductive, and Ethics.

Psychology is taken up at the beginning of the Junior Year and continued through two terms. Class room instruction is supplemented by a series of lectures on the Physiological basis of Psychology, given last year by Dr. L. F. Barker of the Johns Hopkins University.

Deductive Logic is studied during the third term of the Junior year, especial attention being given to practice in the syllogism, and Inductive Logic during the first term of the Senior year.

The last two terms of the Senior year are given to the study of Ethics. A very full discussion of Ethical Theory, supplemented by parallel readings, is followed by a survey of Practical Ethics.

English.

The great object of this department is to teach the use of English as the instrument of expression. With this object in view the student begins the course in the Freshman year and pursues it throughout. He is expected to have a thorough knowledge of English Grammar and Analysis before entering the course, and is immediately introduced to English Composition. This study is pursued with the text-book, but great stress is laid upon written exercises, which are copiously supplied in the class-room. Rhetoric proper is then taken up and the laws of style thoroughly discussed. Each member of the class is required to produce one essay every month, which is subjected by the Professor to careful and minute criticism. During the Freshman and Sophomore years students also receive careful training in Elocution, consisting in the development of voice, gesture, etc., and the careful study of English selections for declamation. The remainder of the course in the Junior and Senior years is occupied with the study of English Literature, both in its history and in the critical study of the great authors.

Ancient Languages and Literature.

In this department the Preparatory Course is arranged with a view to a complete mastery of the forms and constructions of Latin and Greek. By thorough grammatic drill, and the perusal of selections from the easier writers, the preparatorian is enabled to pass into the Collegiate classes so equipped that his advancement to an intelligent and appreciative acquaintance with the great authors of antiquity is rapid and pleasant. The Collegiate Course aims to provide the student with as wide a range of reading in the classics as is possible in the time allotted to the work. It is the endeavor of the department to bring the pupil into intimate relations with the Latin and Greek languages through representative authors in History, Biography, Philosophy, Oratory, and in Epic, Lyric, Elegiac, Satiric and Dramatic Poetry. attention of the student, as he advances, is drawn less and less to the syntactical features of the work in hand, and more and more to its claims as a literary production of classic genius and an incomparable instrument of the higher culture. Mythology, antiquities, geography, legal and social usages, and various other topics presenting themselves in a classical course, receive full and frequent treatment, by lecture and comment, from the Professor in charge of the department. In the study of poetical authors the laws of versification are strictly observed, and every line is required to be read as poetry, with a careful preservation of its metrical form. The turning of English into Latin and Greek is a regular part of the exercise of the class-room, while translations, at sight, from passages not assigned for recitation, tend still further to familiarize the student with the classical tongues.

The Natural Sciences.

Students are expected to come to the Freshman Class thoroughly prepared in Elementary Physiology. The subject is taken up again in the Sophomore Class and more fully treated in a course of lectures extending through the year.

Physics occupies the Sophomore year. The course embraces Molecular Physics, Electricity and Magnetism, Sound, Light and Heat. In the recitation room the important facts are illustrated by experiments, and students are taught to make many demonstrations for themselves in additional hours required to be spent in the laboratory under the supervision of the Professor. For those who elect the Scientific Group in the Junior year a more elaborate course in Physics is provided and abundant opportunity given for laboratory work.

Biology and Botany is a course provided for those who choose the Scientific Group having in view the Medical profession. The amount of work in these branches will meet the requirements of the Johns Hopkins Medical School for admission.

Inorganic Chemistry is studied through the whole Junior year, the whole subject being gone over with frequent recitations illustrated by experiments and two hours a week spent in the laboratory. Similarly the subject of Organic Chemistry is offered to those who select the Scientific Group.

Geology is introduced by a course of lectures in the Senior year, and a half year is devoted to the text-book illustrated by specimens in the College cabinets.

The Chemical and the Physical laboratories are well fitted up for individual work. Each student has his own experiment table, supplied with apparatus, gas and water. In addition to performing the experiments assigned the student must write out his own analysis and deductions.

Mathematics and Astronomy.

Algebra to Quadratics and a complete familiarity with Arithmetic are required of candidates for the Freshman Class, and the course in Mathematics is completed in the Junior year.

The first term of the Freshman year is devoted to Algebra. After a rapid review of Factoring and Theory of Exponents, Quadratics is taken up and the usual course in Algebra completed in the term. The last two terms are occupied with Plane and Solid Geometry, both of which are completed.

As soon as the formulae and use of tables have been learned in the Sophomore year, work with the engineer's transit begins and data for problems in Trigonometry, Mensuration, Surveying and Leveling are obtained by the students from their own use of the instruments. The third term of this year is devoted to Analytical Geometry.

The Junior year is given to Calculus, in which time a very complete and detailed examination of both the Differential and the Integral Calculus is made.

The Senior year takes up the subject of Descriptive Astronomy. A study of the constellations precedes all other work, and a large part of the course is occupied with actual observation. Facilities for this are provided in a Transit of the latest pattern, and a 5-inch Refractor, equatorially mounted, and supplied with a driving clock.

Instruction in this department has in view both the educational and practical value of the subject. The analytic process is constantly pressed upon the attention of the student by requiring every operation to be explained and demonstrated, while original problems furnish opportunity for constructive work.

Lectures on special topics during the course and upon the History of Mathematics at the close of the course complete the work of the department.

History and Political Science.

The Preparatory School offers a thorough elementary course in American History, and this or its equivalent will be required for admission to the Freshman class.

The class work in English History occupies the last half of the Freshman year. Recitations are supplemented by lectures, occasional written lessons and a course of private reading under the guidance of the instructor.

The Sophomore year is given to the study of General History. The course is enlarged by lectures on the History of Greece and Rome, the Barbarian Invasions, Medieval Institutions, and the formation of the modern nations of Europe. Reports on assigned readings and class debates are a part of the regular work of the year.

Those who choose the Historical Group in the Junior year will take up Political Economy and Sociology, and pursue them through the year by recitations, lectures, private readings, reports and discussions in class.

In the Senior year those choosing the Historical Group will take the History of Modern Europe, using a text book and supplementing this by required readings in the French Revolution, Napoleon and his wars, Germany since the Congress of Vienna and the Eastern Question. There will also be a course in American Constitutional History, in which the development of American political institutions will be thoroughly studied.

In addition to the above, students will have the opportunity of attending lectures on special historical topics, and a Historical Seminary will hold weekly meetings for such work as may be planned by the professor in charge.

Modern Languages.

This department includes the study of French and German. French.—The first year in French is given mainly to systematic exercises designed to fix, with certainty, in the memory of the students, grammatical form, while furnishing them with a useful vocabulary. These are practiced orally, and also written, thus acquainting both ears and eyes with correct usage.

The second year is devoted to a closer study of syntax, the rules of which are applied in composition; and to the reading of varied selections, introducing the student to the peculiarities of French expression.

The third year is given to the systematic study of French authors in a course of general literature, with written and oral exercises in criticisms. These questions and answers, all in French, form the basis of intelligent conversation.

In the Senior year some of the masterpieces of the French drama are read, and a written analysis in French of each is required of the student.

The end in view throughout the course is a sure foundation for correct and fluent speaking while studying the French writers.

GERMAN.—After a brief course in the essentials of German grammar, reading is taken up, varied with the translating of short stories into German; also with writing from dictation in German, and other exercises designed to familiarize the ear with the sound of the language.

Music.

Instrumental Music, for the present, is limited to the piano and pipe organ. The studies comprised in this course have been carefully selected from the best now used in foreign and American conservatories. They are intended to take students from the rudiments of music and the first principles of piano-forte playing to a degree of excellence that will render them capable of ably performing classic and difficult selections. Special attention in the case of advanced pupils is given to expression and the proper interpretation of the work under consideration. A class in Harmony and Composition is formed each fall of third and fourth year pupils, and instruction in this necessary adjunct to a musical education is made as thorough and practical as possible by means of blackboard drill.

The course in Vocal Music includes both the principles of voice culture and the higher cultivation and appreciation of vocal art. Each pupil is given private lessons to develop and insure correct intonation, management of breath, extended compass and beauty of tone. In vocalization the Italian method is used. English, German and Italian songs are selected from the best composers, and special attention is given to expression and execution.

During the academic year there are given, once a month, by teachers and pupils, public recitals, which not only greatly promote the work of the department, but prove occasions of interest and enjoyment for the whole school.

Art.

This department provides for a thorough and advanced technical course in drawing and painting, in which designing for practical purposes, Art, History and Criticism receive due attention. The Paris and Munich methods of teaching are employed, and special attention is given to drawing from life and the antique, preparing students to enter Art Schools at home or abroad. To advanced pupils many lessons are given out of doors, affording an opportunity to sketch from nature, and training the mind to an understanding and appreciation of the higher motives of Art study. For those not desiring to complete the studies of this department a partial course may be arranged.

Physical Training.

Besides the opportunities afforded by an extensive campus for outdoor exercises, in an air exceptionally pure and bracing, special attention is paid to the physical development of the students. They are required to exercise daily under the instruction of a regular teacher with dumb bells, wands, clubs and other light apparatus. These exercises are all performed to piano music, which stimulates to more vigorous effort and renders the drill in every way more attractive and beneficial. This training gives to the body grace, beauty and health.

A large portion of the fourteen acres of land belonging to the College is devoted exclusively to outdoor sports, while a new gymnasium, the generous gift of the late Miss Anna R. Yingling, a graduate of the College, a handsome, commodious structure, fully equipped with the best modern apparatus, furnishes ample provision for indoor athletic training. The students are required to exercise daily under the superintendence of a director, who assigns to them the kind of exercise most needed in each individual case.

One of the most attractive features of Commencement Week is Athletic Day, when, in addition to the competitive sports of the Ball Ground and Tennis Courts, the students give an exhibition in the various Calisthenic Drills they have learned during the year.

Supplementary.

The work of instruction is done mainly in the class-room and by recitations, but in the Collegiate Department the text book is supplemented by frequent lectures. During the year the lectures delivered as a part of the regular work of the class-room are as follows:

By President Lewis, on Philosophy.

"Professor Reese, on Philology and Classical Literature and Antiquities.

" Professor Simpson, on Chemistry and Geology.

" Professor McDaniel, on Mathematics and Astronomy.

" Professor Watts, on Physics.

"J. W. Hering, A.M., M.D., on Anatomy, Physiology and Hygiene.

Besides the above, a course of lectures is delivered to the whole school in Smith Hall, which gives the students an opportunity of hearing various literary, scientific and historical subjects treated not only by members of the Faculty, but also by distinguished speakers and specialists not connected with the College.

One hour is given every Friday to a public assembly in the Auditorium, where an exercise of a different kind is held every week: Senior Orations and Disputations, Junior Themes, Sophomore Readings and Recitations, Music Recitals, and Lectures alternate in pleasing variety, and offer unusual facilities to broaden the student's culture.

The Department of Science is provided with physical and chemical apparatus, geological and mineralogical collections, and other requisites for the study of sach branches as are usually comprised in a college course.

Besides the libraries belonging to the Literary Societies and intended more especially for the use of their respective members, the students have access to a well-selected college library and a reading-room supplied with the best and latest periodical literature.

Religious Exercises.

Western Maryland College was founded by Christian men, and is distinctively a Christian College. It holds the promotion of spiritual culture above every other kind of education in importance. And while it exacts no religious tests of its students, nor seeks any denominational control, yet it encourages all proper efforts to uphold and extend the religious influences which have always been a marked feature of College life at this place.

The students are assembled for prayers every school-day, and are required to attend divine service on Sunday morning at some church in Westminster selected by parents or guardians. The following denominations are represented in the city, and parents or guardians may be assured that their choice will be respected in every case: Methodist Protestant, Methodist Episcopal, Protestant Episcopal, Roman Catholic,

Reformed, Lutheran, German Baptist.

On Sunday evenings services are conducted in the College Chapel by the President, which the students are required to attend. The Young Men's Christian Association and the Young Women's Christian Association have each a branch association in the College, and rooms fitted up for receptions and religious services. On Friday evening a general prayermeeting is held, under the direction of the College. On Sunday afternoon a voluntary meeting is held, conducted by the Y. M. C. A. The Sunday-school is one of our most important religious factors. Though attendance is not compulsory, during the past year all the students have enrolled themselves as scholars. The classes are all taught by members of the Faculty, and the lessons used are those of the International Series.

Societies.

The Irving and the Webster Literary Societies of Young Gentlemen, and the Browning and the Philomathean Societies of Young Ladies, hold regular weekly meetings, and it is the desire of the Faculty that all the students avail themselves of the advantages of these valuable and instructive organizations.

On Tuesday evening of Commencement Week there is an oratorical and literary contest between the Irving and the Webster Societies, and between the Browning and Philomathean Societies. The award for the former societies is a trophy presented by Professor A. H. Merrill; for the latter, a trophy presented by the late Professor M. A. Newell.

General Information.

Location.

The College is located in Westminster, Carroll County, a city of about three thousand inhabitants, thirty-four miles west of Baltimore, with which it is connected by the Western Maryland Railroad. Westminster is situated in one of the most healthy and beautiful parts of Maryland, and no place could be more desirable as the site for an institution of learning. It is quiet and retired, yet easily accessible and in ready communication with the outside world by railroad, telegraph and telephone. Its streets are lighted by electricity; it has an abundant supply of pure water; its inhabitants breathe an invigorating mountain air, and enjoy the advantages of numerous and handsome churches. It is an eloquent fact that no trouble has ever arisen between the towns-people and the students; the latter are never guilty of rowdyism on the streets, the former never infringe upon any collegiate's rights.

The College occupies an eminence at the west end of the city, one thousand feet above tidewater, which affords a view rarely equaled in extent, variety and beauty.

Buildings.

The principal building, situated on the most elevated point of "College Hill," is an imposing and beautiful structure with front and flanking towers and with covered porches running its entire length of 273 feet. The central and original part of the edifice—known as the "Main Building"—contains recitation rooms, society halls, teachers' apartments, parlor, Faculty room, and domitories for female students. In one wing, named Smith Hall, are additional rooms for female boarders, a large dining-room and an Auditorium capable of seating a thousand people. Hering Hall—the other wing—contains, on the first floor, two large rooms for the Preparatory Department, and another for the chemical and physical laboratory; on the second floor, five recitation rooms and the President's office; on the third floor, a few sleeping rooms and a library, eighty-one feet long. In other parts of the campus are Ward Hall, in which the male boarding students live; the handsome and well-equipped Yingling Gymnasium, the President's House, Professors' Houses, the building known as Levine Hall, for the exclusive use of the Primary Department, the Y. M. C. A. Hall, and the Chapel, given by Mr. W. G. Baker.

The Peculiar Advantage

This College offers is that parents can have their sons and daughters educated in the same institution and under the same instruction. Although both sexes have the same instructors, yet the two departments are kept entirely separate, the students meeting only at chapel services and in the dining-room with members of the Faculty, and at no other time unless under similar supervision.

Domestic Arrangements.

The President, with his family, resides in the College campus, and, with the Preceptress and other members of the Faculty, who reside in the College, constantly seeks to provide all the comforts and enjoyments of a well-ordered home. Receptions are held once a month, when all the students are brought together for social recreation and for the acquirement of ease and grace in the customs of polite society.

The boarding department is in charge of a housekeeper and steward, under the direction of the President. The table is furnished with wholesome food in abundance, prepared with constant attention to variety, and with the view of rendering reasonable complaint impossible.

Visiting.

It is the aim of the College to make the students thoroughly at home and to prevent in every way any dissipation of their interest in study. To this end the earnest co-operation of parents and guardians is solicited. Students should be sent promptly at the beginning of the term, and after they have entered should not be removed, even for a day, unless it be absolutely unavoidable. The Faculty has experienced the distracting influence incident to students visiting friends in town, and has concluded to discourage such visits as much as possible, and to require the student to return during the day.

Visitors to the College will always be welcome, (on Sunday no visits allowed or received), and, when it is possible, patrons will be entertained for a short while; but the rooms are usually occupied with students, and patrons should in all cases notify the president of any contemplated visit. Good hotels in the city of Westminster afford accommodations on reasonable terms.

Dress.

The authority of the College will be earnestly exerted in favor of that plain and economical dressing which is so becoming to young people at school. All costly jewelry and expensive clothing should be left at home. Our young gentlemen are expected to dress with neatness, but all extravagance is discouraged. The dress of the young ladies must be plain and simple and such as will meet with the approval of the Preceptress. There seems to be no good reason why most of the dressmaking cannot be done at home, thus giving the parents the opportunity to limit the expense and direct the style.

The members of the Senior class must appear in cap and gown on all public occasions during the third Term.

Patronage and Direction.

The College property is owned by a Board of Trustees, incorporated in March, 1868, by the General Assembly of Maryland, and the Institution is under the special patronage of the Mothodist Protestant Church; but nothing is introduced either into the course of study or the discipline or management of the school which can be in any way objectionable to students of other religious persuasions.

Gonditions of Admission.

1. Candidates for admission into any class must come well recommended as to moral character, (if from any other instition of learning, with suitable testimonials), and be examined in the studies already pursued by that class. Such examinations may be had on Tuesday or Wednesday of Commencement Week, and applicants are advised to avail themselves of the opportunity, in order to qualify themselves by September in any studies in which they may be found deficient. It is very desirable that students should enter at the beginning and remain until the close of the session.

2. Each student, upon entering, is required to sign a pledge to obey all the rules of the institution, a printed copy of which is at the same time furnished him.

3. Prompt payment of all College bills must be made.

4. Students must agree to take all the studies of the class entered, unless excused from any portion thereof at the time of entering.

5. No student shall, at his own option, drop a study during a session. Communications from parents or guardians in reference to this or any other regulation of the College should be addressed to the President, who will promptly lay them before the Faculty for consideration and action.

6. If a student be a minor, his spending money should be deposited with the President, to be returned in such sums as he may think best.

7. Non-resident students must board in the College.

8. It is expected that each room will be occupied by two boarding students. All necessary furniture is provided, but students are expected to pay for any damage while in possession. It is necessary for each student to bring the following: Two sheets, two pillow cases, one pillow, two blankets, one fork and teaspoon, marked with full surname; towels and napkins and napkin-ring.

All the above articles must be marked in plain letters with the owner's full name.

State Scholarship.

An Act of the General Assembly of Maryland, passed in 1878, enables the College to furnish tuition, board, fuel, lights and washing free to one student, (male or female), from each Senatorial District of the State, to be appointed by the School Commissioners, by and with the advice and consent of the Senators in their respective Districts, after a competitive examination of the candidates. A scholarship cannot be held by the same student for more than four years, and the holder is required to give his (or her) bond to the State of Maryland for such amount, with such security as may be approved by the President of the College, that he (or she) will teach school within the State for not less than two years after leaving College. In order to enable the Faculty to carry out fully the intention of the Act of the Legislature providing for these scholarships, it is highly important that the School Commissioners of the several Senatorial Districts should be careful to appoint students, prepared to enter, at least, the Freshman Class. If, however, any of the candidates selected are deficient in preparation, they will be received into the Preparatory Department of the College.

Examinations.

Examinations of all the classes are held at the close of each of the three terms into which the scholastic year is divided. Students, moreover, who, from any cause, are absent from more recitations in any one study than they have per week in that study, are required to pass a special examination on the lessons missed.

Vacations.

Vacation extends from Commencement until the second Tuesday in September, on which day the regular course of study begins, and there is no intermission of recitations except on Thanksgiving Day, Washington's Birthday and during the Christmas holidays, and Easter recess.

Degrees of A.B. and A.M.

The degree of Bachelor of Arts is conferred upon all students who complete the four years' course of study to the satisfaction of the Faculty.

The degree of Master of Arts is conferred upon such Bachelors of Arts as make application for it on or before May 1st of each year on the following conditions:

1. They must have received the degree of A.B. three years before.

2. They must send with their application a fee of ten dollars.

3. They must furnish evidence of having been admitted to one of the learned professions, or of having obtained a diploma from some law, medical, theological or scientific school; or,

4. They must submit with their application a literary, scientific or philosophic thesis upon a subject to be obtained from the Secretary of the Faculty not later than January 1st preceding. The thesis must be the result of original research, consisting of not less than 3,500 words, typewritten, on legal cap paper.

5. They must present themselves, vested in cap and gown, at the commencement when the degree is conferred.

Grades and Awards.

The scholastic standing of the students is determined by a system of grading, the scale of which is from 1 to 10.

Students who obtain on all the regular studies in any department an average under seven and over five, may, at the discretion of the Faculty and with the consent of the Professor in charge of the department, be continued with their class, but with the distinct understanding that they cannot be graduated unless they make up their deficiency.

At the Annual Commencement honors are awarded in accordance with the following requirements:

In the Senior Class the student receiving the highest grade for the Senior and Junior years receives the honor of pronouncing the Valedictory; the next highest the Salutatory. The male student receiving the highest grade in the Classical course, or the next highest if the highest is Valedictorian, or the third highest if the Valedictorian and Salutatorian are classical students, receives the honor of pronouncing the Classical Oration. By a similar arrangement the Scientific Oration is awarded. Likewise the Classical Essay and the Scientific Essay for the female students. All students who have received a grade of nine or over in all the studies of the Junior and Senior years, or who have received a grade of nine or over in all studies of the Senior year and Honorable Mention twice are graduated Summa Cum Laude, and all students who receive a general average of nine in the studies of the Senior and Junior years, or a general average of nine in the studies of the Senior year and Honorable Mention once are graduated Cum Laude, their names to appear in the order of their grades.

In the Junior, Sophomore and Freshman Classes gold medals are awarded to the members of these classes making the highest general average, provided they have attained an average grade of nine in all the studies of all the regular departments after having entered without conditions.

In the Preparatory Department the leading students who have attained a grade of nine in all studies receive Certificates of Distinction.

All other students, collegiate or preparatory, whose average in all studies for the year reaches nine, are entitled to Honorable Mention, provided they have entered without conditions.

Gold medals are awarded also to the students doing the best work in Painting, Instrumental Music, Vocal Music and Elocution. The Norment Prizes are gold medals given to the students of the Sophomore and Freshman Classes excelling in Elocution. And as every violation of College law and every unexcused absence from a stated exercise is demerited, to such students as have received no demerit marks during the year is awarded a Certificate of Distinction in Deportment.

EXPENSES.

The Collegiate Year.

The Collegiate Year, of thirty-nine weeks, is divided into three terms. The first term begins on the second Tuesday in September; the second on the second Monday in December, and the third on the fourth Monday in March. The year closes with Commencement Day, on the third Thursday in June.

The time devoted to Christmas holidays is not included in the above year, and it is not desirable for students to remain at the College during that time; but where it cannot be avoided, students will be accommodated with board for those two weeks on paying four dollars per week.

Charges.

$200 a year pays for board, tuition, furnished room, heat, light and laundry. $225 a year pays for all the above and instruction in either Instrumental Music. Vocal Music or Art.

III. Students designing to enter the ministry of the Methodist Protestant Church receive free tuition on a recommendation from their Quarterly Conference that they are worthy.

Payments.

For the $200 rate the first payment is $90 made at the time the student enters. The second payment of $55 is made in December at the beginning of the second term, and the third payment of $55 is made in March at the beginning of the third term.

For the $225 rate the first payment is $115, and the other payments are the same as for the $200 rate.

For tuition alone payment is made in three installments, one-third at the beginning of each term.

Checks should be made payable to Western Maryland

College.

No money paid for tuition will be refunded in any case, but a drawback will be issued to any student not completing the term for which tuition has been paid, entitling him to receive that tuition at any time.

If a student does not enter at the beginning of a term, or if he leaves before the term expires, or if he is absent during the term, he will charged five dollars a week for board for the time he is in attendance, and the regular rate for tuition for the term. But a student who withdraws without the consent of the Faculty will be charged for the whole term and no money will be refunded.
