100 YEARS

"... the essence of nostalgia is an awareness that what has been will never be again. The streams of history may be likened to the ceaseless flow of a giant river. Man can work with the river, building dams and dikes, seeking to have its enormous energy serve the good of man rather than to destroy. But he cannot stop the waters from reaching the ocean."<sup>a</sup>

Western Maryland can look backward this year but the College will not be that way again. The campus looks different, so do the students and faculty members. The pace is faster. The curriculum includes words unknown in 1867. Old Main is gone.

But the bell is here; so is the cornerstone. The class plaques are well polished in Alumni Hall and the stained glass windows continue to color the sunlight. Baker Chapel is still used.

And yet, these aren't the real aspect of continuity in a changing Western Maryland. Dr. Ensor has said it has something to do with a continued concern for Christian ideals combined with a pursuit of excellence in education. Possibly that is the best way of stating the case.

LOWELL S. ENSOR

This issue contains the calendar of events for Western Maryland's Centennial year. It takes a brief look at how the Hill has changed and also stayed the same during its first 100 years. The pictures included are of buildings and people and events associated with one of the gentlemen pictured on this page.

Not everything is included. That would be impossible. The hope though, is that something here will provoke a recollection, a memory that is Western Maryland, very personally, to each alumnus. At best this is a superficial look at Western Maryland's past—and even some of its present and future. It is a venture into nostalgia and pride based on the Centennial theme — The Liberal Arts College: Continuity and Change.

Class of 1871, first to graduate from Western Maryland College. There are now 6,785 who received Bachelor's degrees on the Hill.

By 1882, Dr. Ward had taken the College from the one building on the front cover to this stage. An annex known as Owings Hall was added to the main building in 1871. The first Ward Hall was started in 1882. On the right are two gentlemen closely associated with Western Maryland—top, John Smith of Wakefield, first president of the Board of Trustees; and bottom, William R. McDaniel as a student. He later taught at the College and became vice-president.

This faculty meeting picture was taken about 1871 and was posed for the photographer on the steps of Main Hall. Seated in the rear is Dr. Ward who is credited with saving the young college when it floundered in debt during these early years.

This is how Main Hall looked about 1895 in the T. H. Lewis administration. Many sections had been added and towers and porches placed in the center and at each end. The library, above, was in one part of Main Hall. Most of the books it held had come from the personal library of Dr. Ward. Actually this is an unusual scene because the men and women are together—but in the presence of the librarian, of course. The dining hall picture gives a better idea of the situation—men on one side, women on the other and faculty in the middle. The dining hall at this time (about 1890) was on the ground floor of Smith Hall. Notice that even the male and female faculty are separated. Miss Lottie Owings, preceptress, presides at the center table and Professor McDaniel sits at the men's table in the rear.

On the site of the original gymnasium, Lewis Hall was constructed. Part of the Hering Hall section of Main Hall can be seen. Lewis Hall had doors for the separation of the sexes and housed numerous academic departments until the recent renovation and addition to make it the current Lewis Hall of Science.

The arch, built in memory of the first president during Dr. Lewis' administration, at one time was on College Drive facing Alumni Hall. Also constructed during this period was the Yingling Gymnasium, largest in the state (see interior above), and this structure (right) which has been administration building, library, and is now the Fine Art Building.

The President's Column

NEEDED: HALF MILLION DOLLARS

by Lowell S. Ensor

The loss of the $500,000 State of Maryland appropriation for our Centennial Expansion Program, as a result of the decision of the Maryland Court of Appeals and the refusal of the Supreme Court to review the decision, has affected seriously the financing of our new building operations.

All of our advance planning had counted on this appropriation and, if we had received it, we would be in a good financial position; but without it we are "hurting" just that much. Even in these days of astronomical budgets, a college can't lose a half million dollars without feeling the pinch severely.

The Board of Trustees, however, authorized the Buildings and Grounds Committee and the college administration to proceed with the new buildings as planned in the confident belief that the much needed funds can be secured. Dormitory and dining hall construction, therefore, is proceeding on schedule, with completion promised for next summer, so that the first step in the expanded enrollment can begin in September 1968.

General Gill, chairman of the Board, appointed a Trustee Development Committee headed by Mr. Joshua W. Miles, and it was charged with the immediate responsibility of formulating plans to raise this additional $500,000. During the summer the committee has been organizing and mapping out its approach. The effort will be called the Centennial Expansion Emergency Program, and it proposes not to conduct a highly organized campaign covering everyone as in 1963-64, but rather a "rifle shot" campaign directed to individuals, foundations, and corporations who might be both able and willing to contribute generously in this emergency.

Some Readers of this column may be approached in person or by mail, others may not. If you are approached, I am sure you will respond as generously as your means will permit. If you are not approached, please don't feel slighted, because we simply will not have the organization or time to contact everyone. Many Readers of this column who have a deep devotion for Western Maryland will want to participate, if only in a small way. You can do one of two things: (1) put a check in the mail now designated WMC Centennial Expansion Emergency Program or (2) add it to next year's Centennial Annual Fund contribution.

I hope to see most of you on the campus at some time during the Centennial Year.

CENTENNIAL: CONFRONTATION

by Wilmer V. Bell, '30

What makes completing a century of existence seem so important? Is there any inevitable virtue associated with a hundred years of survival? Mother Nature moves through millennia without marking the turn of even a million years with any atmospheric or astronomical pyrotechnics. Even man's fabrications—with the unique exception of the "One-Hoss-Shay"—give no spontaneous display of a hundred years of service.

On the other hand, man as a social being, has found anniversaries, centennials—and even the repetitious New Year's Eve—occasions of special significance and celebration.

No small aspect of these affairs is personal, organizational and fiscal stock taking. Which of us has not done this in one way or another at one time or another?

Our college now marks its century of service with appropriate ceremony and self-assessment; stating as its twin face "continuity and change." What have we that warrants continuation? What do we face that demands change? Where have we been and what have we done institutionally? Where do we want to go and what must we do to get there?

In a sense the College is examining its "report card." What did we set out to do and how well have we met the test? In what manner and degree have we influenced those who have been within our walls? What have they done for which we can claim credit? What have they done for which we must accept responsibility? In total, does our "product" justify our existence? On what other basis can an institution measure its worth?

We alumni are, and have, the answer; albeit there may be a problem in assembling the data. Part of the answer lies in what we have accomplished or failed to accomplish in our careers and our lives. Another part with which the College is now concerned would be whether or not we have identified ourselves as WMC Alumni, whether others know us to be the products of Western Maryland.

This suggests strongly that we alumni, individually, are under scrutiny at this point. We need to take stock of ourselves as alumni. To what degree have we felt that attending the College made any difference in our lives? To what degree—and in what manner—have we acknowledged it?

One means of checking on ourselves as alumni is to ask right now if the Centennial Celebration has any real meaning for us? Do we believe in the College? Are we interested in whether or how the College evaluates itself? Will the resulting decisions concern us? Are we concerned with its destiny?

Do we plan to participate in any of the Centennial affairs? Do we have any suggestions for appropriate activities? (If so the Alumni Centennial Committee will be delighted to hear of them!) Such stocktaking is not difficult and may be quite revealing.

These historical turning points are also, traditionally, a time for new resolutions. As alumni, we may want to follow the custom. We may resolve to assure that the College is seen in its true worth; to waste no opportunity to see that others know about our College; to identify ourselves as WMC Alumni, quietly, maturely, but no less proudly and affectionately; to demonstrate our gratitude to our collegiate parent; to take every possible means to see that Western Maryland's oncoming students are served as well as were we.

The Centennial then can be a moment of renewed vigor, reoriented purpose and regained zest not only for the College but for each of us as WMC Alumni.

Wilmer V. Bell

Historical Summary

by Philip E. Uhrig

Let no one be mistaken. Loyalty, devotion and interest are not confined to, nor measured by the degree of financial support you render your Alma Mater, though it is certainly one of the diagnostics. Nevertheless, it is apparent that alumni and friends have been responding increasingly to the annual giving program. The survival of the independent college lies in an ability to persuade you that this cause of higher education is sound and necessary. Reflection on a bit of historical data taken from the Alumni Office files indicates that your response has meant an immense difference to Western Maryland, past and present. The future will require at least as much attention, if not more.

Statistically you have done the following:

- Nearly doubled the number of contributors to the Fund in the last ten years.
- In twenty years since the inception of the Fund (then known as Living Endowment), you have increased it to over $50,000 from about $4,000.
- Met or surpassed the goal the Annual Fund Committee has set for the past three years.
- Continued to increase the average gift per donor remarkably well in the past two years:

1965	$17.42
1966	$19.92
1967	$22.35
As a contrast — 1957	$13.05

These samplings are sufficient to indicate what you, its alumni and friends mean to Western Maryland. We have not reached the extent of our ability to give. As the needs of the College grow we are determined to keep pace. We feel you recognize this fact also.

In closing—our total as of this listing which goes to press August 1 is $54,946.27. The $55,000 goal will be surpassed by the time this article reaches you.

1967 Annual Giving Fund Report

by Julian L. Dyke, Jr., '50

Each year since 1947 the Annual Giving Fund at the College has provided a vital source of income necessary to offset current operating expenses. With a growing student enrollment and rising costs, it is clear that fees and endowments are no longer adequate to meet these growing demands. Therefore WMC must more than ever depend on additional sources of income such as the constant annual support of its alumni to meet the need.

The Annual Fund Committee headed by C. Frasier Scott set the 1967 Annual Fund goal at $55,000. Even though the 1966 goal of $42,000 had been exceeded last year, the 1967 target was an ambitious undertaking. It is a distinct pleasure to report that as of this writing there is every indication that the goal will be exceeded. This year's Fund represents the equivalent of the interest an additional $1,375,000 Endowment Fund would have produced at a 4% return.

A new feature of this year's campaign was a Parents' Program. Non-alumni parents of our present students and those of some of our graduates were contacted by the Parents' Fund Chairman, Dr. Daniel Z. Gibson, President of Washington College.

All Annual Giving Funds received are used to improve the quality of education offered at Western Maryland College. The College determines how the money is used but the following are some areas that receive attention:

- faculty salaries
- aid to qualified students
- college printing costs
- annual book budget
- insurance, water, electricity
- maintenance and repairs to buildings

The 1967 team (chairmen and agents) was made up of 717 alumni, an all-time high, representing classes from 1904 to 1966. Already 2,392 contributions to the Annual Fund have been received. The average gift represents an increase of more than $2.43 above our previous high (1966) and more than $4.93 above the 1965 average.

In the class listings the asterisks designate alumni whose contributions qualified them to become members of the Cornerstone or Century Clubs. The former represents those who contributed $25-$99. Each has received a windshield sticker which admits his car to home football games on Hoffa Field free of charge. Members of the Century Club signify those alumni who contributed $100 or more. These have received a card case which when presented to the appropriate authority admits the bearer to any activity on campus for which admission is charged.

A sincere personal "thank you" is expressed to each alumnus whose efforts have contributed greatly to the significant success of the 1967 program. I wish to acknowledge the assistance of Bishop James H. Straughn, '99, who served as our Old Guard chairman, and to C. Frasier Scott, '43, who headed up the important Special Gifts Campaign.

At a recent meeting of the Board of Trustees I shared an opinion that the success of the program and the large number of alumni who are involved gave indication of a sincere alumni interest in being of service to the College. More and more this interest is being expressed in many areas involving the important program of annual giving.

As we enter the Centennial Year it is easy to predict an expanding physical plant in the future requiring additional services, and an improved educational program necessary to provide the standard of excellence which is the objective of Western Maryland College. As members of the WMC family the alumni have given indication that they stand ready to support their College and will meet the challenges of the future. This can be better understood by reading Dr. Bell's article, and reviewing the historical facts which appear in the first column.

The College looked about like this when Albert Norman Ward became president. Main Hall, now taking on the name Old Main, was still at the center of the Hill with Lewis, the Library, Baker Chapel, Alumni Hall, and Levine Hall rounding out the buildings. The McDaniel and presidential houses were also part of the campus. Curriculum hadn't been changed in quite some time and this became an interest of Dr. Ward as well as building. He died before many of his projects could be completed.

Dr. Ward had a dream for a Greater Western Maryland of which this was a central building.

McDaniel Hall dormitory and, in the background, Science Hall, did get built during Dr. Ward's administration. Science Hall has been renamed Memorial Hall in honor of the various names associated with Old Main.

Hoffa Field also took shape under Dr. Ward. The campus continued to grow. To the right of Hoffa Field the nine-hole golf course was created and the Harvey Stone picnic area built and the natural amphitheatre graded and sodded. May Day programs have been held there often since—when the sun is shining. The last building completed before Dr. Ward's death was Blanche Ward dormitory, named in honor of his wife.

Western Maryland attained football fame with games such as this in 1936 against Wake Forest in Baltimore Stadium. Coach during most of this era was Richard C. Harlow (1927-34), later elected to the Hall of Fame. But not all was football. Dr. Alcey Isanogle, head of the department of education, was sending teachers and educational administrators throughout Maryland, establishing a program that is still strong.

Dr. George S. Wills knew all five of WMC's presidents and worked under four of them. His teaching career on the Hill spanned the years between 1898 and 1954. Of the many respected teachers who have been here, he probably was known by more students than any other.

McDaniel Lounge was, at one time, the place for socializing. When Dr. Holloway became president, students had no other comfortable place for chatting. It was during this time that Margaret and Earl's became a favorite off-campus spot.

Dr. Holloway led the College through the depression when money was almost nonexistent. About the only buildings constructed were Albert Norman Ward dormitory and Gill Gymnasium, both finished in 1939. And then construction stopped for another reason.

During Dr. Holloway's administration, the College adjusted to World War II and the influx of the ASTP units. ROTC had been a part of the campus since 1919 after Dr. Lewis took an interest in military training and preparation following World War I. A familiar sight on campus, even today, are the ROTC uniforms and students such as Harry Baker, who in 1942 received a saber from Dean Samuel B. Schofield, left picture. And, the president joined the rest of the nation in preparation of a victory garden.

When Dr. Ensor took office in 1947, the top of the Hill looked this way from Hoffa Field. Most of Old Main was still there, so was Yingling gym and on the left, Westminister Theological Seminary before it moved.

This was the period when everyone gathered in the one frat room that had a TV set to see our vocalists win. Mr. Foutz still held forth in the old bookstore, left.

To the accompaniment of a lot of dust and a pull at some heartstrings, Old Main came down at last in 1959 and the top of the Hill became an open space bordered by the new Baker Memorial Chapel and the Library. Down the hill, behind that group on the left, the Winslow Student Center came into being. The group, by the way, includes, left to right, Dean Helen Howerly, Dean John D. Makosky, Dr. Ensor, Dean Samuel B. Schofield, and Dean William M. David.

These buildings are part of the Centennial Expansion Program. The women's dorm (above) and the men's dorm will allow the College to increase enrollment to 1,200 students. Part of this expansion are the dining hall and swimming pool, each in the complex pictured below. It is hard to predict the next step but, of course, Western Maryland must—and will—continue to change.

The WESTERN MARYLAND COLLEGE Magazine

October, 1967

Volume XLVIII, Number 6

Editor, Nancy Lee Winkelman, '51

IN THIS ISSUE:

Lowell S. Ensor, president of Western Maryland College since 1947. Dr. Ensor used portions of this article at Fall Convocation to open the school year.

Keith N. Richwine, assistant professor of English. Mr. Richwine, who has been a member of the faculty since 1962, is a frequent contributor to this magazine.

Ronald F. Jones, head football coach. Mr. Jones, a 1955 graduate of Western Maryland, took over the Terror football team in 1965. He also is assistant professor of physical education.

THE COVER

Western Maryland's Centennial celebration is something more than lighting a cake with 100 candles, though. As the theme indicates, this year is being devoted to an exploration of the relevance of, perhaps justification for, a small, independent, liberal arts college—church related.

It is being said that such institutions will die before too many years because, well, because of many things which the phrase economic insufficiency covers fairly adequately. Without that the great faculties, the modern facilities, the cultural extra-curricular programs cannot be present. When they are absent, no school has a reason for being, not an honest one, anyway.

During this Centennial Year Western Maryland is looking beyond the economic hurdle to learn what there is about a small liberal arts college that is important today to higher education. Many have ideas on the subject. This study hopes to prove that they are valid.

When that is done, Western Maryland College will have made a major contribution to higher education, something worth an extra chorus of Happy Birthday.

WMC Continuity and Change

by Lowell S. Ensor

I SUPPOSE it is inevitable that all of us do a bit of crystal-gazing whenever the calendar brings us to a significant birthday. The magic age of 21 caused most of us to pause, at least for a moment, to wonder what the future would hold in store now that we had reached our majority. When I became 50, it was quite a jolt to suddenly realize that I had gradually entered upon "the last of life, for which the first is made." That was an occasion for both prospect and retrospect.

Now that our Alma Mater has attained the ripe, academic age of 100 years, those of us who love it not only revel in its rich history but we also make a stab at crystal-gazing. What about the next 100 years? I, for one, am not willing to go that far in a world whose only certainty is change. In fact, I hesitate to predict with any degree of certainty the course of the college even 10 years in the future—there are too many unknowns to be encountered.

"The Liberal Arts College: Continuity and Change" was chosen as our Centennial theme after much thoughtful consideration by the committee, and I can see this statement as rather accurately and succinctly characterizing the Western Maryland of the future. She has been a liberal arts college for 100 years, and I can see nothing on the horizon that should change that basic character.

There were times during the last century when the college was under heavy pressures to become principally a teacher education institution. In spite of the pressures, the liberal arts tradition was maintained, so that even our education students do not major in education, but in a liberal arts discipline. This philosophy, undergirding a strong education department, accounts in some measure for the high quality of our graduates who have entered the teaching profession.

Again, during the century of civilization's greatest technological advances, there were periods when the liberal arts disciplines were considered by many as so much waste of time—learning a lot about nothing of value. Science, engineering and other technological areas were of prime importance. But as Western Maryland College enters upon its second century, it has lived long enough to see its liberal arts character justified. The great importance of technology can't be denied, but even the engineering schools have come to realize that they can graduate uneducated engineers unless somewhere along the way they can be exposed to basic liberal arts courses.

Western Maryland has not been deaf or insensitive to the demands of an age of technology. During the years, and more particularly in recent years, our programs in the natural, physical, and social sciences have been broadened and enriched to better prepare our students to go out and be at home in such a world. We are among the first to install and use a computer as a research, teaching, and administrative tool. Again, it has been within the framework of the liberal arts.

As we look to the future, I can envision many more changes developing in curriculum emphases, in teaching techniques and in administrative procedures—changes that will be required to meet the ongoing demands of the next century, whatever they may be.

The Western Maryland College of the year 2067 will be as vastly different, in almost every respect, from the Western Maryland College of 1967 as today it differs from Mr. Buell's and President Ward's college of 1867, and we need but look at our history to see how vast that difference is—with one major exception. The basic, fundamental philosophy of the "liberating" arts was adapted to the needs of a post-Civil War society in 1867 and to the requirements of a fast-moving age of technology in 1967.

For 100 years Western Maryland has really been operating under the spirit of our Centennial theme—"The Liberal Arts College: Continuity and Change." She has held on to that which was of value and discarded or replaced those elements in her program that were no longer useful or relevant. To this same spirit she must dedicate herself as she moves alertly and vitally into the next century—"to serve the present age, her calling to fulfill."

The Liberal Arts College:

The Total Environment Is Its Sole Distinction

by Keith N. Richwine

ALMOST everyone with access to three-ring notebook paper or an old Underwood has been gleefully writing obituaries for the late and unlamented "small liberal arts college." In hundreds of crepe-hanging articles in scores of trade journals over the past decade, merchants and pitchmen—both in and out of education—have been telling us to rip down the ivy, trade in our pipes, donate our shaggy tweeds to Goodwill, and run for the nearest Korvette Tech with attaché cases flying.

As usual the merchants are wrong or, at least, confused.

Many small schools may be in trouble, but are they liberal arts colleges? Everyone seems to confuse the two, especially the obituary writers. Their mistaken equation goes something like this: a small school plus an A.B. degree equals a liberal arts college. But the small schools they weep over in their essays and commencement addresses seldom were and are not now liberal arts colleges. They are the hundreds of small vocational centers, post high schools, ex-academies and seminaries, and four-year YMCA camps for late teen-agers. But the small liberal arts college is not only not in trouble, it is flourishing more than ever. Try to get in one.

This confusion over terms, then, obscures a crucial fact. The sick and sagging small school runs in stiff competition with larger or cheaper or more prestigious state schools, universities, and technological institutes. Liberal arts colleges, however, compete with only a handful of their cousins scattered rather thinly around the countryside. The many small schools are trapped into being merely smaller versions of something larger; the liberal arts colleges differ in kind.

The liberal arts college offers something unique; the small school offers something smaller.

In fact, one solution to the plight of the schools in distress might be to transform themselves, if possible, into real liberal arts colleges or, in other words, become what they already claim to be. This would both give them a raison d'être and take them out of the impossible competitive situation.

The authentic liberal arts college prospers today because it provides something which is unique in higher education: a total environment. Other kinds of institutions may offer the same or better training, faculties, and facilities, but the liberal arts college offers, if you will excuse the term, a package, a way of life. This total environment is its sole distinction, the only thing it can offer a student which he can get nowhere else.

The rather awkward term, total environment, means just what it says. The liberal arts campus follows through from the point where other types of schools leave off. It offers not only a rigorous liberal arts curriculum—which any school can and most are doing—but it also, manages somehow to find a liberal arts faculty and afford a liberal arts student union with a liberal arts bookstore, a liberal arts little theater, and even liberal arts shortorder cooks. It has liberal arts barbers and liberal arts architects. It can even attract liberal arts groundskeepers and liberal arts clerk-typists. And these are serious and not ludicrous requirements. It is a matter of atmosphere, style, and manners. As arduous as a total environment is to create and maintain, it has been accomplished many times. Everyone who has ever visited a liberal arts college knows what I mean.

But every school, you say, has an "environment." What is it specifically about a liberal arts climate which makes it unique? The briefest way to put it might be that the climate is one of applied humanities. One not only learns but lives the humane arts and sciences. This is why honor codes, social tolerance, and intellectual play, to name only three "applications," are almost the exclusive hallmarks of the liberal arts.

Of course the creation of such a college demands, as these observations indicate, a commitment on every level in every decision, no matter how minor, to the conviction that education differs from training because it is total. The education which a liberal arts college provides transforms most aspects of a man's life; training, which most schools provide, is an admirable addition, a valuable asset, but it does not necessarily change the man. The well-trained uneducated man is the common result and, indeed, the only intention of most of these schools.

The total environment is the thing. And there is nothing standardized or monolithic about it. No one would confuse a Swarthmore climate with a Reed climate, or a Hamilton with a Ripon. There is room for many variations in style and atmosphere just so long as it is integral.

It is also impossible to fake. It is not a matter of imposing a ready-made style or conjuring up a phony image. Of course any school can call itself a liberal arts college. Plant a bit of ivy, require two languages, outlaw bowling jackets and you have a start. But there are objective measurements which document the fact that a real liberal arts college is not just a small college, that it is different in kind from other small colleges, and that this quality is unique.

George Stern of Syracuse University has been measuring college environments, both the intellectual and non-intellectual climates, for well over a decade. His extensive studies confirm the long-time subjective evaluation that the environment at independent liberal arts colleges is radically different from those at university colleges, denominational colleges, teacher-training institutions, and, of course, engineering and business administration schools. The liberal arts profile on his charts is dramatic evidence of the wide gap that separates the real thing from the impostors.<sup>1</sup>

Quite obviously one can object that such a total environment is not at all like life. Which is true. And this is one of its greatest assets and appeals. Honor codes are not like life either. Nor is dormitory life. Nor the rule of merit, talent, and taste common in such a climate. But this utopia—or nirvana if you prefer—is the very thing which distinguishes the liberal arts college. For a few years a man has had a taste of some alternatives to what normally surrounds him, which is what other kinds of schools cannot offer.

And, finally, these extremely brief thoughts must end with an acknowledgment that the liberal arts college is understandably not everyone's cup of tea. Most like the name, but not many care for the real thing. Many very intelligent people, in fact, are really interested in teaching and learning a trade, period. That is why liberal arts colleges are relatively rare, but also why in a nation of nearly two hundred million they are flourishing.

From Dr. J. T. Ward's Diary

Wednesday, September 4, 1867

The opening exercises of the first collegiate year of the Western Maryland College took place this morning in the Study Room of the female department, the Chapel Room not being quite ready for occupancy. All the members of the Faculty were present and about thirty pupils. The exercises were as follows:

1. A brief address and reading of the 4th chapter of the Book of Proverbs by Prof. F. R. Buell.
2. Singing of the hymn commencing "A Charge to Keep I Have."
3. Prayer by myself, followed by an address (AD DCL No. 23335).
4. Addresses by Profs. Newson, Zimmerman and Hering, of the Faculty.
5. Recording the names of the pupils, to whom Prof. Buell announced some of the rules of the institution.
6. The male pupils were then dismissed to their Study Room and placed under charge of Profs. Zimmerman and Hering, the females remaining in their room under charge of Prof. Newson and his daughters.

The pupils who are to be under my instruction in Biblical Literature, Latin, Greek and Phonography, during portions of three hours of each day will meet me at the times to be fixed, in a recitation room to be assigned.

All the arrangements are as complete as they can be made under the circumstances, and the College makes a very fair and encouraging commencement. If Dr. Buell can only secure the money he needs to satisfy the claims of the mechanics, I am now fully persuaded that he will be able to carry on the institution with profit, success, and great usefulness.

Dr. J. T. Ward became the first president of Western Maryland College. At the time the above was written, he was called principal. Dr. Ward kept a very complete daily diary for many years.

On the Hill

The President

President Lowell S. Ensor has been appointed by Governor Spiro T. Agnew to the Southern Regional Education Board for a four-year term ending in 1971. Dr. Ensor is representing non-public higher education in Maryland.

SREB was established by interstate compact as a public agency of 15 member states cooperating to improve higher education. The Board works directly with state governments, academic institutions, and other agencies concerned with the field of education. The Board is composed of the governor of each member state and four other members appointed by him. One from each state must be a state legislator and one an educator.

Faculty

Nine full-time and three part-time faculty members and a new house director were added to the college staff this fall. Joining the faculty are: Mr. Carl L. Dietrich, assistant professor of music; Mr. Daniel M. Driscoll, Jr., assistant professor of economics; Miss Barbara Hendrian, assistant professor of modern languages; Mrs. Angela K. Lawler, assistant professor of education; Mr. Peter D. Yedinak, assistant professor of physics.

Also, Miss Carol Fritz, instructor in physical education; Mr. Gunter Seefeldt, instructor in modern languages; Mr. Richard A. Vogel, supervisor of data processing center (instructor); Mrs. Claire F. Knoche, special instructor in education; Mr. John K. Lea, special instructor in dramatic art; and Mr. Mano Swartz, special instructor in political science. Mrs. Ruth Ashcom Etter is the new director of Blanche Ward dormitory.

At the first faculty meeting in September, Dr. Ensor announced seven faculty promotions. Two of the appointments were to full professor: Dr. William M. David, chairman of the political science department; Dr. Richard A. Clower, director of athletics and chairman of the physical education department. Promoted to associate professor were: Dr. David R. Cross and Dr. Donald E. Jones, both of the chemistry department, and Dr. Theron B. Thompson, education department. Two were promoted from instructor to assistant professor: Mr. Fern R. Hitchcock, physical education, and Mr. E. Woodward Prince, psychology.

Grants

The college was awarded two grants during the summer. In July the National Science Foundation gave Western Maryland an institutional grant of $2,000 to develop and maintain a program of research and education in the sciences. The college was eligible to apply for this grant because it earlier had been awarded an Academic Year Extension Grant. This was the $7,600 grant to the physics department announced in the July issue.

Under Title II of the Higher Education Act, Western Maryland received from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare a grant of $7,250. This money is to be used for acquisition of higher education library materials. In addition to the basic $5,000 award, the college received a Type C award of $2,250. For the latter only members of a combination of higher education institutions may apply. Western Maryland is part of a regional loan and acquisition group established by area librarians.

Visiting Scholar

Dr. William R. Ridington, professor of classics, has been elected to the Council of the American Classical League. Dr. Ridington also will be part of the Visiting Scholar Program this winter at the Piedmont University Center in Winston-Salem, North Carolina. At the Piedmont Center, Dr. Ridington will take part in a program which serves 17 colleges of the area. Titles of his illustrated lectures will be "Roman Britain and How It Is Uncovered" and "The Old and the New in Classical Lands."

Names

To answer a question raised by some interested alumni—a committee of the Board of Trustees is considering names for the new buildings now going up on the campus. The name of the late Dean Helen G. Hovory is among those suggested by alumni to be used in some connection with the building program.

Are you going to attend OPERATION BOOTSTRAP?

(See back cover for details.)

Award

At the national conference of the American Alumni Council in early summer, the college received a publication award. In the direct mail category for alumni on-campus events, the college received third place. Ahead of Western Maryland were Washington University and the University of California at Los Angeles. The award was for the daily-imprinted "spring sale" mailing for alumni day.

Thanks

Mrs. Henrietta Scott, director of Blanche Ward dormitory, retired this summer. Many of her former girls contributed to a present for the house director. Before she left campus, Mrs. Scott asked that this publication extend her thanks to all of them as individual notes would be impossible.

Academic Change and Its Effects Upon Recruiting

by Ronald F. Jones, coach

A few months ago an article appeared in our magazine entitled "Academic Change—And Your College" written by Dean John D. Makosky. He discussed academic change as it must come about in private colleges, making particular reference to academic change as it relates to Western Maryland's admission policies.

It is not my purpose to expound upon academic change, but to acknowledge that this change is taking place; it can be documented by board scores, IQ's, rank in class, and the number of students pursuing additional studies in graduate school. One other way which also attests to this academic change is the practical experience of recruiting in the high schools by the members of our athletic department staff. Just a few years ago it was possible to visit a school and talk to a number of boys who would have a relatively good chance for admission to Western Maryland College; today it is different.

As a result of the increased number of applications and our limited residential and academic space which of necessity has brought about a greater selectivity of prospective students (we can accept only 1 of every 5 applicants), we are lucky if we are able to talk to several boys in any one school—regardless of its academic reputation.

The main problem we are facing at Western Maryland College is recruiting against prestige schools for the excellent student athletes. By "prestige," I mean those Ivy League colleges, and others like them, who across the years have developed for one reason or another an academic appeal and reputation. Although in many cases Western Maryland's academic standards are as high or higher than these colleges, we are not blessed with the halo they seem to possess. Perhaps I can best illustrate the problems by giving a few specific illustrations which have occurred to us within the past two years.

I should point out that in the final analysis, our recruitment very seldom pits us against the schools that we are meeting on the athletic fields, although once this past year we did meet one opponent that had four boys playing against us who had been rejected by our admissions committee. Of these players two were All-Conference, with one being voted the Most Valuable Player in the Mason-Dixon. After the game this particular boy stated to me that Western Maryland College had been his first choice and that he hopes that his brother will be strong enough academically to be admitted to our college.

Thus we seem to be caught in a squeeze: the candidates who want to come to Western Maryland often will not be admitted, and the fellow who is a sure bet for admission usually accepts us as a second choice institution. In view of this situation we feel we need help from an increased interest on the part of our alumni in recruiting this very selective student-athlete if we are to compete successfully on the athletic fields. It has become increasingly obvious that the members of our athletic department cannot, because of teaching duties, reach the large number of schools that must be contacted in order to find enough good athletes to join us on the field after our admissions committee has taken its toll, the major colleges drawn a few, and finally the prestige schools have attracted the best of our prospects.

This past year in late May we lost one of our best prospects to Dartmouth College on full scholarship. He was a quarterback in football, a guard in basketball, and a pitcher in baseball. The year before it was a fine track-football man to Yale University once again on full scholarship. Admittedly these are only two cases to the best known schools in the country, but each year we are able to contact a number of boys, have them apply, be accepted, only to have them cancel for schools such as the Ivy, Military Academies, Amherst, Williams, Duke and almost any other prestige college with an excellent academic rating. Even a school such as Swarthmore, not known for athletic prowess, has become more prominent in the recruiting field. Last year we recruited two boys from the Eastern Shore, both of whom were presidents of their student bodies, captains of their football teams and excellent students. Based on their financial statements our committee granted them a tuition scholarship only to have Swarthmore grant them full financial aid. Incidentally, Swarthmore, long noted for its strong academic program, has not lost a football game in two years.

In basketball this past year a boy from New Jersey was offered our Summer School-February Program, only to have him write back that he felt it was more to his best interest to attend one of the other eight colleges where he had been accepted, especially since four of these were Ivy League schools.

I do not want to leave the impression that we always lose the recruiting battle, because a few do turn down the money and prestige school to attend Western Maryland College. This coming season we will have a football player who was chosen as the quarterback in the Delaware State All-Star game. He has turned down the University of Pennsylvania, Delaware, Columbia, and several lesser known institutions to attend Western Maryland.

Perhaps you wonder if there is any solution to our problem. I believe there is. In an attempt to find the answer over the past two years, I have talked to many who have coached or are familiar with the Ivy League institutions since I feel that our problems are similar to those schools—i.e., overwhelming applications for a few admission spots and the location of the excellent student who is also a fine athlete.

Their solution to this problem would appear to me to be a tremendous help to us in the recruiting problem. These schools have their alumni all over the country look for and report to them anyone who might be a possible candidate at their school. I feel the time has come for us at Western Maryland to set up this chain of contact between our interested alumni and our athletic department. Along this line I should point out that we do already have this liaison existing between our athletic department and many of our graduates who are coaching in the high schools. These few have been very helpful; but now, because of our more rigorous admissions policy, we need additional people who are searching for the individual "who has everything."

If you as a graduate of Western Maryland College are interested in aiding us in the recruitment of prospective student-athletes, please drop me a line with your name, address and the schools within your area that you could be responsible for. In turn I will send you information as to what to look for first as a student and then as an athlete. It should be pointed out now that it will not be smooth sailing and that some of you are sure to be disappointed when your candidate is not accepted by our admissions committee.

I should also mention that the boys you recommend will get no special consideration and therefore it will be vital that we contact only excellent prospects. This network of liaison people would not only look for athletes but also write us in reference to the boy or girl who is exceptional in other departments and who will be a real credit to our college.

In summary, because of the increased competition for high school students, it is necessary to increase our number of contacts and our areas of recruiting. Our solution is to develop a system of liaison people (similar to that of other schools offering the same quality education) who would aid in the recruitment of that well-rounded student athlete.

If this interests you, write to me.

Alumni Centennial Committee

Under the capable leadership of John F. Silber, '50, chairman of the Alumni Centennial Committee, plans are under way to encourage a resurgence of alumni interest through the organized chapters, especially those which have been inactive the past few years. At the same time, Silber's committee hopes that some new chapter areas will be activated. The springboard for this intensified program is the Centennial Year. Plans are under way now to have each chapter (old or new) program a special event to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the founding of Western Maryland.

In areas where alumni population is too slim to organize an alumni chapter, the committee plans include the selection of individual alumni to invite alumni living in the area to plan a get-together celebration. Special materials relating to the events on campus will be packaged and sent out to these groups.

Members of John Silber's committee are: Wilmer V. Bell, '30, Association President; Julian Dyke, '50, Vice-President; Homer Earll, '50, Westminster; John H. Edwards, '53, and Sue Cockey Kiefer, '33, Catonsville; Mary Todd Farson, '48, and C. Frasier Scott, '43, Bethesda.

As the first issue of THE HILL indicated, many special events are planned for the Centennial Year. These listed below (and those to follow in later issues) confine themselves to Alumni Chapter activity. More complete information will come via mail in advance of these dates.

Friday, May 3—Metropolitan New York City Centennial Dinner.

Saturday, May 11—Metropolitan Baltimore Centennial Ball at East Wind, 6:30 p.m.

When Dr. and Mrs. Ensor were on the West Coast for professional meetings in January, they met with our northern and southern California alumni. Dr. Ensor announced these as the beginning of the chapter Centennial events. Pictured here are groups from the San Francisco and Los Angeles chapter areas.

Ninth Annual Alumni Leadership Conference

"Who and What Is Western Maryland to Serve in the Next 100 Years?" was the theme of this annual meeting of alumni leaders held on campus September 8 and 9. The program was designed as a kickoff to the Centennial celebration, emphasizing the next 100 years rather than looking back at the first century of Western Maryland's history.

Discussed were topics predicting many phases of college life in the coming years. The conference attempted to look into the unique function of the small private college, to predict the type of student Western Maryland will attract, and to discuss curriculum for a new century as Mr. Tribby is

Also discussed were needs for long-range plans in development, not only the fund-raising aspect but as they apply to the entire college program. The closing session related to alumni responsibility in the coming century.

About 70 alumni leaders, faculty and trustees attended, and heard as well as presented excellent papers, parts of which will be brought to you in future issues of THE HILL.

Los Angeles—L to R seated: Bonnie Gutbub Finck, '49; Deborah Bowers O'Keefe, '43; Dr. and Mrs. Ensor; Barbara Hunt Ketay, '58; Thelma Young Friedel, '45; and Barbara Daskam Keyser, '33. Standing: Albert R. Friedel, '43; Dan Bradley, '50, chairman; William A. Finck, '48; Mrs. Wayne Moore and husband, '32; Mary Keiser Bradley, '48; Art O'Keefe, '47; and Herbert Ketay.

San Francisco—L to R seated: Frank P. Rinehart, '65; Mr. and Mrs. William Spaar, '58 (Donna Brown, '59); Harold Nixon; Jean Cairnes Nixon, '40; Dr. and Mrs. Ensor; Clinton Hise, '50; Jean Wilkes Arnold, '53. Standing: Mr. and Mrs. Keith B. Radcliffe, Jr., '51 (Jane McLeod, '53); Dr. Ronald S. Graybeal, '57, and wife; George Varga, '61, and wife; Judy; Major David G. Rhoads, '53 (now in Vietnam); The Reverend Harvey E. Buck, '45, chairman; and Henry C. Arnold.

The Metropolitan Washington Alumni Chapter honored Dr. John D. Makosky, '25, at its Annual Dinner-Dance in the spring. Shown here presenting a beautifully illustrated and framed plaque to Dr. and Mrs. Makosky is Jim Cotter, '49. Dr. Makosky, Dean of Faculty, was honored for his tremendous contribution to his Alma Mater as teacher, coach and friend.

NEWS FROM ALUMNI

MRS. JOHN C. BECK (MARY MELVILLE)
370 OLD GARDEN LANE
YORK, PENNSYLVANIA 17400

E. Bennett Bowen, a retired teacher in the Owings Mills area, will tour Europe during the fall season. Due to a health problem, he was unable to join us at our reunion.

Marion G. Smith Engle and James W. Engle planned a most enjoyable reunion for us in June. Twenty-two were present, all giving interesting accounts of their life's activities. Many of the members have made enviable records in their fields of endeavor.

Few people have retired from public life leaving such a rich heritage as Judge Charles E. Moylan. His interest in youth helped him build an enviable reputation in the state of Maryland. It has been said he served over "one of the best juvenile courts in the country." In 1950 the Jewish Big Brother League honored him as Big Brother of the Year for Maryland. In 1959 the Baltimore YMCA selected him for the recipient of the "Award for Service to Youth." In addition to this phase of his life, he served his church while no pastor was available. Athletics played a large part in his life. In fact, we of '17 feel very proud of our classmate and wish him a joyous retirement.

John Benjamin Thomas died in York, Pennsylvania.

Juanita Mears Harris writes that she and her husband operate a business in Baltimore with the assistance of their son.

BALTIMORE, MARYLAND 21215

Good to hear from Miriam Bryan Haddaway. Her husband, Dr. Klein K. Haddaway, was in charge of Mt. Vernon Place Church during July where he preached on July 16 and 23. The months of August and September were spent at their summer home, Bethany Beach. She is editing the 100th anniversary booklet for the Wesley Home, Inc.

Franklin Bailey, his wife, Laura, and son, Bryan, had an interesting trip which included Expo 67, Niagara Falls, Coming Glass Factory, Locomotive College at Williamsport and then to College Hill.

Winnie Phillips Belote has decided not to retire from teaching this year. She is visiting her sister and family this summer in suburban New York.

Elton Whittington is taking life easy in Crisfield. While he has no special news, he "loves hearing about others of his class" so keep us supplied with news.

Fred (Dr. Fred W. Paschall), now several years retired, has been made Pastor Emeritus of The First Methodist Church at Hendersonville, North Carolina. In addition to his customary church school activities, he has been busy with preaching assignments for vacationing ministers.

As for me, we have finally reached the stage of retirement. In 1943 Charlie was

MISS M. OLIVIA GREEN
POOLESVILLE, MARYLAND 20837

The highlight of 1922 news is the 45th reunion on June 3, 1967. Under the very able and enthusiastic co-chairmanship of Hugh Ward and Madeleine Geiman, our get-together was well arranged. Hugh was our gracious, generous host for luncheon at Sunset View, home of Mrs. Nusbbaum, Westminster.

Present to enjoy the delicious meal, to renew old ties, and happily reminisce were Amy Bennett Black, Joseph Allender and wife, Hazel, Elizabeth Carey Shockley, Adeline Fisher Kindley and husband, Bill, Madeleine Geiman, Sarah S. and Bryan Leitch (Sarah's first time to attend reunion!), Myrtle Lankford Todd, D. Carlyle MacLea and wife, Virginia, Hilda Long Adkins, May Mason Dixon, George Meyls and wife, Helen Roop Rinehart, Barney Speir and wife, Mary, Edward H. Stone, Jr., Dorothy Ward Myers and husband, Donald, Hugh Ward and grandson, Hugh, III, Mabel Ward Williams, and Olefia Green.

Hugh and Madeleine had received notes of news and memories of Western Maryland from Peyton Adams, Ed Helwig, Alma Holliday Willis, Ethel Barker Copenhaver, Gwen McWilliams Dunn (hers all written in rhyme!), Elizabeth Mitten Merrill, Margaret Rankin Farrar, Townsend Howes, and Priscilla Famous. These were read and much enjoyed. Amy Black gave us a vivid, interesting report of her last visit with Emily Gault Freitag, who is now deceased. Emily was the author of our class song.

At one point in our informal program, Hugh asked us to stand for a minute of silent prayer in memory of the deceased members of the class of whom there are ten. Five of these have left us since our 40th reunion in 1962—Margaret Cooman, Rose Walsh Mastin, Mildred Taylor Colonna, David Hottenstein, and Robert K. Lewis.

After the luncheon, there was much picture taking and chatting on the lawn. Dot and Donald Myers traveled farthest to attend—from New Harbor, Maine. After many pleasant moments, each went his own way, later to meet again at the Alumni Banquet.

Present for this delightful occasion were twenty-two of our group. A very signal honor was given one of our class members by the Alumni Association. Presented to Madeleine Weaver Geiman was an engraved certificate: The Meritorious Service Award "for rendering outstanding service to the Alumni Association through faithful and continued devotion of time and effort, and for expanding the usefulness, influence, and prestige of Western Maryland College." Madeleine so well deserves this honor, and the 1922-ers proudly congratulate her.

Newspost Notes

Living in her native Salisbury are Amy Bennett Black and Alfred, retired. Amy keeps busy doing special library work for a local business firm. She very often visits New York City, her home for many years, where she attends theatre, opera, goes to museums and libraries. She laughingly remarked "I believe I've bought a Trailways Bus!"

Caring for an invalid older sister keeps Peyton Adams close to home. He says he "can't get anywhere or do anything to make news."

Joe Allender is a very successful businessman in Hampstead.

As always, her happy, enthusiastic self is "Liz" Carey Shockley, who lives in Snow Hill. She spends much time with her daughter (a Western Maryland graduate, class of 1947), and family who live in Centerville.

Ben Carroll's "music to my ears" news is that his only son, Bob, is safely back from Vietnam, where he served for a year. A 1964 graduate of University of Delaware in chemical engineering, Bob is now with the Sun Oil Co. in Pennsylvania.

Upon her retirement in 1962, after a 40-year teaching career, Madeleine Geiman was honored at a testimonial dinner especially noting her outstanding career as a teacher of Latin and social studies. She is now quite busy with home duties, civic, church, and Western Maryland College activities. She has several times served as 1922 class chairman for the Alumni Fund.

For many years a professor in the Department of Sciences at the University of Colorado, Boulder, Ed Helwig has had a distinguished career there. Commencement activities at the university conflicted with those of Western Maryland, so that he could not attend our reunion. He planned to visit Westminster in August, and Madeleine Geiman was planning a luncheon in his honor. She hoped that many 1922 members would be able to attend.

Occasionally, Pauline Hett Brown, who now lives in Parkville in an apartment at her brother Oliver's home, visits me. Somehow she cannot be persuaded to attend our reunions. But, she always wants me to give her a complete report and show her pictures, etc.

Teaching in Delaware but still maintaining her Hebron home, Alma Holliday Willis has one son and a grandson, whose pictures (including herself) she sent to Hugh for our reunion. Since she will have retired ere then, she promises to attend our 50th in 1972.

M. Eleanor Jenkins Dent came back to Maryland in January and is now living in St. Mary's County. She said she was trying to get their lawn seeded and some flowers planted.

Oliver Johnson, our longtime lost member, has been found. Several letters from her sister-in-law, Mrs. Lillian Sinclair, tell of Oliver's serious illness. She suffered a stroke over a year ago and is now in a nursing home near Philadelphia. Unable to speak, totally immobile, she cannot communicate with anyone.

Mary Lankford Keenan was very much missed at reunion time. She rarely misses attending. Be with us, Mary, at the 50th!

Bryan and Sarah Seney Leitch now live near Easton on the Miles River.

Myrtle Lankford Todd teaches in a supervisory capacity at a Maryland State school, Montrose, Reisterstown.

Proud grandma for the first time is Hilda

Long Adkins, whose daughter lives in Lutherville. She says that her "energy and interest center around my new granddaughter." Hilda, also recovering nicely from a serious illness, is another Western Maryland trustee.

Retiring and going soon to live in Florida are Ethel Barker Copenhaver and her husband, after many years' residence in New York City where Mr. Copenhaver was a professor at Columbia University.

Her only daughter and family having moved to California last spring, May Mason Dixon can now more often visit her Eastern Shore friends and relatives, as well as many others elsewhere. Having retired in 1965 from teaching in Montgomery County elementary schools, May lives in Silver Spring.

George Meyls, now married, is the third 1922 member of the Western Maryland Board of Trustees. For several years he successfully headed the Alumni Fund campaigns.

Having just built a new home on the Nanticoke River, "with plenty of room for whole families," Gwen McWilliams Dunn invites any and all members of the class to visit her and Dr. Dunn at any time. Gwen says, "We, alas, have no children." She and her husband are travelers, having circled the globe, plus many other trips.

Living in Honolulu, "a garden paradise," is "Liz" Mitten Merrill, who teaches chemistry at St. Andrew's Priory (Episcopal Church School). Her retired husband is "chief household executive." Son, Tommy, a lawyer, lives in Louisville, Kentucky. He has a son, 2½ years old, and a 9-month-old daughter, whom Liz is "dying to see!" She plans to "come home" in 1968.

Because a grandson's high school graduation occurred on the same weekend, Margaret Rankin Farrar couldn't make it to the reunion. We really missed you, Margaret. Living in Orlando, Florida, she has now retired from a librarian's position in the public library there. Her two daughters are Peggy and Jeanne.

After having taught for more than twenty years in Maryland schools, Helen Roop Rinehart is gradually becoming adjusted to retirement, still living at Meadow Branch. Four of her five children are or have been teachers. Her oldest son, now pursuing his doctorate in psychology at the New York State University, Albany, is professor of psychology at Frederick College, Pottsville, Virginia.

"Barney" Speir is with the U. S. Public Health Service in Washington, D. C., helping to administer the Hill-Burton Act, which provides aid for building community hospitals and other health facilities. He and Mary live in Arlington, Virginia.

Edward H. Stone, Jr., is a very successful practicing dentist in Baltimore. Recently, he served as president of the University of Maryland Alumni Association.

Still her bubbling, good-humored self is Dorothy Ward Myers, who, with Don, lives, in summer, at "Ocean Knoll," New Harbor, Maine 04554, right on the rocky Atlantic shore. Then, in early November, they fly to

Del Ray Beach, Florida 33444, where they live at "Briny Breezes" until the last of April. Don participates in many local activities. Dot says, "I'm just lazy and spend my time in knitting and other such handiwork."

Hugh Ward, our tallest member and All-Maryland football hero in 1920-21, became a physician and has well served his home county of Calvert for forty years. In the April Western Maryland MAGAZINE appeared an article, "Hugh Ward, Country Doctor," which vividly tells his story. (In error, he was named a member of the class of 1920.) Recently, Hugh was named by Maryland doctors as "Doctor of the Year in Maryland."

In 1962, at our 40th reunion, Hugh received from the Alumni Association the Meritorious Service Award Certificate and a silver bowl. At nearly all college events—football games, May Day, Homecoming, Commencement, etc.—one is sure to see at least one member of 1922—Hugh Ward. Not one of us is more faithful or more loyal to Western Maryland than Hugh!

Has Mabel ("Snuffy") Ward Williams ever missed a reunion? If so, I'm unaware of it. She is another loyal supporter of Western Maryland. In spite of having lost her husband in an auto accident a few years ago, and her only son's serious illness, she keeps her smiling good humor. Church and civic duties keep her busy.

Having been associate professor of biology and assistant professor of zoology at Hood College, Frederick, since 1931, Grace Lipp retired in June, 1967. She makes her home in Frederick, residing at 20 West Third Street.

Adeline F. (and Bill) Kindley, living in Salisbury, spend their time since Bill's retirement in January, 1966, doing much civic work, gardening, and travel. They "love their hometown," and are "having a fine time."

Some years ago, Priscilla Famous earned her B.S. degree at George Washington University. Since 1946 she has been employed by the Department of Transportation, Bureau of Public Roads, and is now considering retirement. She lives in Washington, D. C., but her permanent address is Street, Maryland 21154. Priscilla likes to travel and has had many interesting trips—one in 1935 to the British Isles.

Your class secretary, after having taught in Maryland high schools—St. Michaels and Poolesville—for thirty-nine years, retired in June, 1961. She now enjoys her well-earned leisure by entertaining friends (many of whom are former students or their sons and daughters; and she has numerous friends among very young children, thereby being dubbed the "Poolesville pied piper"; participation in her hobbies of photography, music, reading, cooking (loves to collect and try new recipes), and travel, being a member of two travel clubs. She does some civic work (remember? she still collects money for worthy causes!). Church activities are a major interest, also.

Please let me hear your news! Don't wait for me to ask you—send in your news at any time. Keep in mind that I must have our news in to the MAGAZINE editor two months prior to its publication. Thank you.

Emily Allnutt Loos, who now spends all of her time in Florida, says that every day is a holiday. They have sand in their shoes, she says, and "love living in Florida where they can be outdoors every glorious day. We play golf and have a lovely swimming pool, in addition to many delightful neighbors. An air-conditioned house and car make summer pleasant, but we usually take a long trip to break the routine and add interest." Her address is Box 147, Enterprise, Florida 32763.

SALISBURY, MARYLAND 21801

Fred Bowers is employed at the Farmers and Mechanics National Bank in Frederick and is living in Frederick.

Fred Grace retired from the Army in 1956 because of physical disability. He taught math in public schools for several years. He is now teaching ceramics and glass and doing a little manufacturing on the side. Their daughter, Lucy Anne, graduated from Western Maryland in 1952 and their son, Bill, graduated from West Point in 1954.

Willard Hawkins will complete his 13th year as superintendent of schools in Garrett County December 12, 1967. In another year or two he plans to retire and return to Carroll County as a "gentleman farmer." He writes that his wife, Anne, is a nurse who spends most of her time nursing him and their only child—a 17-year-old son, Billy. Billy will graduate from Southern High School next spring and plans to enter veterinary school at Cornell or Georgia. Willard would much rather have him attend Western Maryland, but this is not the college for his career preparation. They have learned to love and enjoy the mountains of Western Maryland and all are enthusiastic snow skiers during the winter months.

Allen Richardson retired June 23, 1967, from Los Angeles city schools with 40 years' service. He retired in 1964 from the U. S. Air Force with rank of major. In 1964-65 he took a sabbatical leave and went around the world. He met Maria Baena in Madrid, Spain. They were subsequently married and now have a daughter, Maria, who is 6 months old. They visited and traveled in Spain this summer.

George Shower is engaged in the lumber business in Taneytown. They have three daughters, all married. Nancy lives in Honolulu, Sue in Taneytown, and Libby in College Park.

Richard Stone has been president of St. Mary's Junior College, Raleigh, North Carolina, since 1946. He has been quite active in civic and church affairs for many years and also in various educational groups. He is presently serving as a member of the College Commission of the Southern Association of the Colleges and Schools. His wife, Marye, is a graduate of Converse College and has been active for a number of years in college and community activities. They have one son, Richard, Jr., who is pursuing his work toward the Ph.D. at the University of Tennessee. He is also teaching some undergraduate classes in the field of history. He is married and they have no children.

Geary Stonifer is still a counselor at Baltimore City College. His wife, Kitty, has just retired as a visiting teacher from the Baltimore County Board of Education. Their son, Ceary, Jr., is married, lives in Ruxton, and has two children. He is chief of surgery at Greater Baltimore Medical Center.

Ez Williams has been 24 years with Commerce Clearing House, Inc. (publishers). He is presently second vice-president and division sales manager of Washington Division. He has two daughters: Mrs. Ruth Elaine McLane who lives in Charleston, West Virginia, and Miss Martha Lee Williams who graduated from Western Maryland in 1959 and now lives in Los Angeles, California. He plans to retire at the end of this year and expects to move to Florida sometime next year.

Ruth Lenderking Wormelle writes that in May they attended the meeting of the Appalachian Trail Conference (she is a past member of the Board of Managers) at High Hampton, North Carolina. After the meetings, they did some hiking on their own in that vicinity and took one of the scheduled hikes arranged by the Georgia Club. This was over Blood Mountain to Lake Winfield Scott. In September after a week at the fair, they planned to recuperate in the Adirondacks near Mt. Marcy on Heart Lake. She says an interest of more recent origin is genealogy which is very time-consuming but fascinating.

That's about it for this time. Keep the cards and letters coming.

MRS. WILLIAM P. GRACE, JR.
(BESS HAYMAN)
59 SOUTH ABERDEEN STREET
ARLINGTON, VIRGINIA 22204

Twenty-eight gathered at noon, 3 June at Hoffman's on Westminster's Main Street. There we celebrated our 40th reunion while enjoying a delicious lunch. After five years we had a lot of catching up to do. Later in the afternoon several of us went over for more talk at the Woodens' (John and Polly) lovely home. When the banquet was over, Miriam (Mims) Royer Brickett and Cerry held open house. During the evening Armen (Cowboy) Roberts called from Georgia to say hello to everyone.

Joe Umbarger called Mims to say he could not be with us because of illness.

Virginia (Ginia) Wright White sent regrets. She was too involved in her job as assistant registrar at Emerson College in Massachusetts.

Mims received many interesting answers from absentees. To bring you up to date may I quote? Dr. George Baker—"time and intervening miles between Minnesota and Maryland, plus a double wedding for twin nieces, make my attendance impossible this year. Extend my best wishes to all." Sue Boyer—"work at home and the school board office in Rockville leave me little time for extras. My best wishes to my classmates." Millie Elgen Huston—"must cancel my plans for attending our reunion. Please use my check to the Alumni Fund. My husband is ill and entering the hospital." Margaret Smith (Smitty) Lally—"regret I will not be able to attend our reunion. End of school.

Family reunion with 3 children and 17 grandchildren. Tell my classmates they will never be forgotten." Catherine (Kate) Parker Lippy and Gail Lippy—"sorry we cannot make it. Our thoughts and good wishes will be with you on Saturday." Martha (Marty) Rice—"I shall not be able to get back for our class reunion, Mary, '26, my sister, and I are sailing April 27 on the S.S. France for Southampton. All good wishes to everybody." Rev. Arne (Cowboy) Roberts—"regrets due to distance. Our son, Don, again will be teaching in the summer session science department at WMC. We have three gorgeous grandchildren." Thelma (T. C.) Cross Schwabe—"We spent the winter in Hawaii. We are leaving from New York on June 2 on North German Lloyd freighter. We will visit Holland, Scotland, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, and Germany. I was to Mayo Clinic several years ago. Dr. George Baker visited me each day. He is a wonderful neurosurgeon. Hello to everyone." Velma Richmond Albright—"It is impossible for Al to be away this weekend. I will be thinking of you as you meet together." Sadie (Tut) Rosestock Weinstein and Nate have moved to Florida. Tut sent her regrets and a sincere hello to everyone.

Now notes from those who attended the reunion. George Benner and his wife did not make the luncheon but many of us had the chance to exchange greetings with them on the Hill. Blanche Ford Boulabey received her Master's degree at WMC in 1966. At present her son, Stan, '52, is her boss at Baltimore Junior College. Miriam (Mims) Royer Brickett—a busy, busy Mims but always ready for one more task. She did a beautiful job arranging our reunion. Thanks Mims. Emily Pickett Brown visited seventeen countries in the Middle East in 1960. During the years since graduation she has been a real friend to several youngsters who needed a home. Marian (Mannie) Curling is retiring from a very successful teaching career. She will be in the Portsmouth, Virginia, area. She was honored by her students and the Montgomery County School Administration with a Marian Curling Day.

This was a first.

Clyde DeHoff and his wife brought the news that Marion Ferguson House is also retiring. Owen Dooley and Edith gave us a few highlights from their miles of travel. They have joined a trailer caravan. They spent the month of June in Wisconsin, going to Canada from there. A trip to Australia is planned next. Bess Hayman Grace and Pres, '26, were delighted to see old friends. They have two children, Lucy Anne Chapman, '52, and Bill, III, West Point, '54. Three very special grandchildren have joined the family.

Milton (Chalky) Hannold and Mary Ruth, '29, reported that they have five grandchildren. Chalky is a lawyer in New Jersey. Virginia (Ginnie) Hastings Johns and Herbert (Nick) Nichols sent their regrets. End of the year rush prevented their appearance. Hortense Pettit and Joy Reimuth were everywhere with their cameras. They are intensely interested in people, especially young people. Walter R. (W. R.) Smith reported that he has retired from his job as superintendent of schools. He is quite busy doing substitute teaching. Ruth, his wife, was with him. W. R. wrote Mims that Ruth feels completely at home with '27. Nice to know.

The Ungers, Robert (Bob) and Bessie Will told us that Bob is still teaching. They have two sons. Foster (Spike) O. Speicher was a welcome surprise. Spike has retired from active duty in the Army. He has joined the Jefferson County school system in Louisville, Kentucky. John Wooden and Polly were active in the Westminster group working with Mims for our reunion. Polly did the beautiful flower arrangements for the luncheon. John and Polly have a son and a daughter. Their daughter and three grandchildren live in Colorado. Their son has been in Germany with our armed forces.

The senior Woodens have had two very interesting trips to Europe. Elizabeth (Lib) Bemiller, another booster and helper with the Westminster '27 group, stays busy with her teaching and civic interests.

Lewis (Lew) Woodward with his wife, Fannie Mae, joined us at Hoffman's. Lew is with the State Department's medical division of the foreign service. He spends several months each year visiting our embassies and consulates throughout the world. Virginia (Ginna) Wilson Shockley brought her usual pep and cheerfulness. The Shockleys have two lovely daughters. Ginna gave us news of Rosalie Smith Bennett who also lives in Salisbury. The Bennetts' middle daughter graduated from Salisbury State College in June. George (Sully) Sullivan and Helen added much to our reunion. Sully gave a short but impressive memorial to our deceased members. Since June, 1962 we have lost James (Jim) Owens, Harold Harshman, Miss Sally Adams, and on May 17, 1967, Rev. Bernard (B. I.) Barnes.

Sorry that you were unable to be back with us. Why not send news? Cards will be sent at a later date.

1928

MISS ANN S. REIFSNIDER
239 WEST MAIN STREET
WESTMINSTER, MARYLAND 21157

Hi, you fellow-twenty-eighters! Write to me at the above address and tell me something of yourself. We would surely like to know. I know that I have not written for a long time, but I have had illness at home and am very much tied down with this and my job. BUT I do think about all of you so how 'bout it? Do we get news or do we get news? Tell us what you are doing—where you have been—where you are going—and what have you but c'mon, WRITE.

That 40th reunion is coming up, too, so don't forget. Best to each and every one of you.

1929

MISS CATHERINE STONER
17 PARK AVENUE
WESTMINSTER, MARYLAND 21157

Thanks to all the members of the class of '29 who returned cards. Shall I place you alphabetically?

Edith Kinkead Ault sent me a brochure on Old Sturbridge Village, Massachusetts, where she has been teaching. She and her husband have made another trip to Europe where they attended the Rotary Convention at Nice, France, and returned in time to welcome their fifth grandchild. Edith is the new local chairman of the National Cathedral Association of Washington, D. C., and also serves on the Board of the Home for the Blind. These duties plus part-time teaching at Old Sturbridge Village must keep her very busy.

James R. Day has retired from thirty-eight years of teaching in a three-state area (Delaware, New Jersey, New York) and is presently piano technician and private instrumental instructor. Of his four children, one has already graduated from college, served in the Navy, and is now in Pensacola, Florida, for flight training; one is at Penn State; one is at Wagner, and the youngest in the 3rd grade.

Elizabeth Diffendal is still enjoying her retirement which went into effect about one year ago, when she moved from Washington, D. C., after a career as a Government Civil.

Gladys Miles Duer writes that her newest game is golf which she loves. Her daughter is at Stratford College in Danville, Virginia.

Ecelyn Segafosse Enzor has moved for the tenth time and is finally back in Maryland. Her daughter is working on her Master's at Southern California, her son is a salesman for I.B.M. in Canton, Ohio.

Dorothy Roberts Etzler is still teaching in Carroll County schools, gives private piano lessons, and served as church organist. She is also a fond grandmother.

Pat Freeman Long writes that her daughter made the Dean's List and Mortar Board at Mary Washington College where she will be a senior. She also sent word that Dorothy Hooper Boyle lost her husband, Richard, who had been in failing health. Our deepest sympathy to Dot. Our sympathy also to Edith Case Stem whose husband died very suddenly this spring.

Virginia Reynolds Marable and her husband, Capt. Marable, U.S.N.R., entertained their five grandchildren this summer. Their son, Paul, has finished first year studies in preparation for the Episcopal priesthood.

Mary Warfield Murphy stopped teaching in 1950. Since then she has been enjoying gardening and attending garden and flower shows. She has recently visited with her fellow classmates Anna Elly Nelson, Annetta

Yates, Edwena Kraus, and Gertrude Ranck in Cumberland.

Charles Nusbaum is in the engineering department of radio and television at station WHP, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania. He has three sons and two grandchildren. He and his wife were in Westminster recently. What did you think of the building activity on the Hill, Charley?

Eleanor Noble Smith writes from Federalburg where she is school librarian and her husband is a retired contractor. Her four sons are scattered all over: one is a captain with Army Engineers in Tokyo; another, stationed in Kailua, Hawaii, roams the Pacific with Bendix Field Engineers; the third is a pharmacist near home; the fourth is a senior in engineering at Johns Hopkins; and her daughter will be a sophomore at WMC.

Mabel Smith is director of food service at the TWCA in the District of Columbia.

Elise Hobbs Thompson is parish secretary at Trinity Episcopal Church in Towson. Her daughter is a senior at University of Maryland. She and her husband celebrated their twenty-third wedding anniversary with Ethel Enzor Foreman and her husband at Oregon Ridge. She has visited recently at Ocean City with Helen Dennis Hancock, Virginia Holland Nicoll, and Chari Holland.

We were all distressed to learn of the recent deaths following long illnesses of two classmates: Martin W. Diffendal of Westminster, and Clara Conway Sessio of Kensington, Maryland. Our deepest sympathy to you, Joseph Sessio. We, too, will miss our classmates.

1932

MRS. MARY ORR MANSPEAKER
(MARY ORR HERING)
3 MARBETH HILL
WESTMINSTER, MARYLAND 21157

Our 35th reunion was fun. Twenty-six of us met at the Riding Club for buffet luncheon. Two other reunion classes were there, so it was a gay, noisy affair. Some could not stay for the evening's activities, and others arrived for the banquet who had not been able to come sooner. Friday evening the early arrivals and locals went to Bob and Ann, '33, Etzler's home. After the banquet on Saturday about twenty-two met at 3 Marbeth Hill.

Mrs. Richard (Dick) Harlow and Colonel Elmer Ebaugh, who presided, read several interesting letters from classmates who couldn't attend. Wish we could have heard from more of you. Ecelyn Kauffman Wall got the prize for having come the longest distance—all the way from California. Margaret Myers Tucker won hands down for the most grandchildren—five. The other two prizes were silly, but fun. The woman with the least gray hair—there was a bit of muttering about "does she or doesn't she?" Then the men rallied and rightfully chose Whitney Ebaugh, whose hair, incidentally, is still that lovely natural platinum blond. Last, the man with the least hair brought forth heated discussion and close scrutiny. The count (??) was a draw between Louis (Bunny) Tuckerman and Bob Etzler. The latter won with the flip of a coin.

The following news was picked up at the reunion or from cards I've received. Harrison Dixon says news from him that is fit to print is: Retired from the Army in '66. Until June of '67 he and family stayed in Jacksonville, Alabama, until son, Richard, finished high school. They planned a move to North Carolina, vicinity of Raleigh, in August. Richard entered Gettysburg College in September. Daughter, Lynn, graduated from Duke. She is married to an Army captain stationed in Frankfurt, Germany. She is assistant librarian in the hospital library there. Mary Ellen Senat, '33, is busy taking care of the family, playing golf, socializing and Red Cross volunteering. Dick has been loafing, playing golf, hunting quail, and running the cook-outs. He says he expects to be at the Salt Mines in North Carolina soon. I hope he'll write more about this later.

Bill and Naomi Mather (Naomi Endfield), '37 are living in Cumberland where he is working with Investors Mutual. They are great square-dance enthusiasts and travel to distant places for the big national jamborees. Howard and Ernestine Amoss from Easton have two daughters and four grandchildren. Howard was elected delegate to the 1968 Methodist General Conference and is vice-president of Maryland Council of Churches. Roger Cissel says he is still a confirmed bachelor and thought he retired but found real estate and the nursing home professions entirely too interesting to give up. Mary McComas Long and husband, Al, '35, are enjoying their family and new home. Son, Alan, Jr., age 29, lives in Alexandria, Virginia. Daughter, Susan, 19, attends Longwood College in Farmville, Virginia. Nell, 17, should at this writing be a freshman at WMC.

Had an interesting letter from Ludwig "Tiny" Pincura, who lives in Ohio. He has had a varied career since leaving the Hill. U. S. Air Corps Academy and professional football, each for short periods—local steel plant, sales promotion for Goodrich Tire and Rubber Company of Akron and then Lorain Police Department; U. S. Army officer for four years, one of which was spent in Japan. After the service, ten years in the tourist court business until a state highway was relocated and ended that. The same year, 1956, he went into politics as a county commissioner. He is now serving his third four-year term and will run next year hoping to be re-elected to a fourth term. Tiny and his wife live on a two-acre plot of ground. In the summer he stays in shape by mowing the lawn and playing golf. In the winter he says he doesn't do much but eat, grow heavy and diet. He reports that he weighs the same as he did his last year in school and adds—it's a constant battle.

Muriel Bishop Livingston sends the following vital statistics: Son, Lt. John C., is back from 10 months in Vietnam, now at Quantico, Virginia—daughter, Clare, is a student at University of South Carolina. Daughter, Muriel, now Mrs. David Hoag, is living in Cambridge, Massachusetts. Elinor Ebaugh is in her 32nd year with the Carroll County Welfare Department. She is public assistant supervisor. Dr. Stuart (Stew) Sunday and wife, Dottie, live in Baltimore where he is in private practice. They have four handsome children, youngest age 5. Dr. Howard (Buttons) Bolton and wife, Ruth, live in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. In his private practice he specializes in internal medicine and cardiology. They have one daughter who has just completed her Master's degree in History at Penn State.

Had a nice chat with Mary Lee Shipley Burbage. She is still teaching at Glen Burnie Senior High School. Her two daughters, both graduates of the University of Maryland, have government jobs at Fort George Meade. Louis "Bunny" Tuckerman teaches history at the junior college in Hagerstown. He is also doing some ETV teaching. One of his former students told me that Bunny is a top-notch teacher.

I'll have more news for the February issue. Does anyone have an address for Col. Norman Barnett and Howard (Pokey) Hamml?

1933

MRS. C. HERBERT LINZEY
(DOROTHY BILLINGSLEY)
4216 HAMILTON AVENUE
BALTIMORE, MARYLAND 21206

Just a note of explanation to all those in '33 who were good enough to answer my very first batch of cards. This is something new for our class, and by way of explanation: All news must be in (to the College, that is) two full months prior to publication, and that means I have to receive it far enough before that to write it up and send it along as a column. It so happened that when I received the class roster this summer and mailed my cards out, the first ones came back to me just about on the deadline for the October issue, so at this writing (in August), I am asking you to please be patient. There are still quite a few I haven't heard from, but the way the cards have started to come back, it looks as though I'll be able to come up with a real good column in the December issue, full of news and gossip!

1936

MRS. IRVIN SAUBER (ROSALIE SILBERSTEIN)
6905 PARK HEIGHTS AVENUE
BALTIMORE, MARYLAND 21215

Received a newsy letter from Patricia Barnhart, '62, daughter of Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Charles Read, saying, "If Dad won't tell you his news, I will." After five years at Sandia Base, Albuquerque, New Mexico, Charles left in June for Vietnam where he is with the Headquarters Field Force. He was met there by son, Captain Bruce Read, '64. (Bruce's in-laws, the Don Carlsons, are civilians with Air America in Saigon.)

Charlie's wife, Jane Coseperthwait, '41, remains in Albuquerque with 10-year-old Gordon while son, David, '69, is in Warrant Officer-Helicopter Candidate School in Texas. Patricia, who is married to Kenneth Barnhart, '63, teaches 5th grade in Westminster in sight of the Hill.

Virginia Roberts Peters writes that she has returned to the Baltimore County school system as guidance counselor at Perry Hall High School. Husband, Pete, is director of instruction in Harford County. Ginny is now a doting grandmother.

Another busy one is Sarah Burner Conner, now living in White Plains, New York. Sally has been working with the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. for 21 years. She is on the board of the Chamber of Commerce and active with the Salvation Army and the Business and Professional Women's Club in White Plains. Daughter Betty Ann Henderson has been doing graduate work in education at the University of Georgia.

Charles and Henrietta Twigg Murray are usually among those present at reunion and homecoming time. Charlie and Sis wrote to say hello but had no special news this time.

An interesting note from Martha Bertholf describes her life at Illinois Wesleyan University where her husband, Dr. Lloyd M. Bertholf is president. (Dr. Bertholf was on the faculty at WMC for about 25 years.) She writes, "We do like it here very much, but my husband has announced his retirement day as of July, 1968. We will have been here 10 years."

Catherine Hall Rae tells me she is working part time as a biology laboratory instructor at Union Junior College, Cranford, New Jersey. Catherine has a son, Douglas, at Williams College; a son, Pat, at Brown University; and a daughter, Nancy, in high school.

Lee Irvin Cronin is another one who manages to come back for class reunions and says she always enjoys them. "Our family is in all stages," she writes, "with the oldest girl married, one just out of high school and one in elementary." Husband, Corny, is president of the Commercial Savings Bank in Bel Air.

MRS. VERNON R. SIMPSON
(HELEN LEATHERWOOD)
208 EAST CHURCH STREET
MOUNT AIRY, MARYLAND 21771

Dear Western Maryland
Fearless and bold!
I'd better get this written
Or I'll be out of the fold!

So I take my shiny new ball-point pen in hand (a gift from Harry G. Bright) to bring you news of former classmates. How delighted I was to hear from Harry who is now president and general manager of Magnolia Broadcasting Co., Inc., New Martinsville, West Virginia (Radio Station WETZ). Harry and I don't really remember each other, as he spent just one year on the Hill. My column, however, brought back fond memories of former friends and experiences. He speaks warmly of Makosky's freshman English class. Harry transferred his sophomore year to High Point (North Carolina), receiving his degree there.

He is now an old-timer in West Virginia radio circles. This fall marks 30 years of football reporting for North Carolina, Wake Forest, Duke, and North Carolina State on the Tobacco Network of some 20 odd stations. In between he spent some time in Chicago with International Events; in New York with SESA, Inc.; and in the station relations field plus station work in North Carolina, West Virginia, and New England. In 1955 he left New York City to buy his present operation. 'Tis pleasant living and an interesting field so he can only complain of ulcers and old age. No complaints of his two daughters and two granddaughters who can "twist the old man pretty much their way!" All of this makes me want to visit WETZ, "The Ohio Valley Station," and look up Harry who "thought enough to send the very best" (a letter!).

And now news from Martha Wilmer Benton in Sykesville. I immediately picture a vivacious personality and a big smile. The top news item is that she is now a "grandma." Son, N. Wilmer Benton, '65, and wife, Karin Hess, '68, had a fine son, Mark, born August 12, 1966. Wilmer is now a 1st Lt. with the 25th Infantry Division in Vietnam. Martha is Director of Rehabilitation Therapies at Spring Grove State Hospital. For the past year she has been treasurer of the National Association of Recreational Therapists and at present is a Board Director of the National Therapeutic Recreation Society. (A big smile can go a long way!)

Elizabeth Erb Budell writes from Millington, New Jersey, that she is still "boss lady" at Madison Public Library. The exciting highlight is that after a mad four years of planning, ground was broken last April for a $1,070,000 new building. Husband, Bill, is doing consulting engineering in New York City. Their son, Bill, enters medical school this fall, having graduated from Dartmouth last June.

Marlowe M. Cline writes from Frederick that he has been at nearby Fort Detrick since 1949 where he is now Programs Officer. He and his wife have two girls (24 and 20) and one son (Pete, 15). The older daughter has taught school two years; the younger one is now a junior at University of Maryland; and Pete is in high school where he plays football (not soccer like his old man), baseball, and is a member of a rock and roll band.

Donald Bond sends a grand letter from the "greatest city in the world," San Francisco, California, where he has bought a house situated on twin peaks with a spectacular view of the entire city and bay area. He says so many of his friends of former years come to San Francisco to conventions or as tourists and he can now entertain them better. (Wow! '38-ers, let's pack our bags and go!) Donald, a medical doctor, works for the California State Department of Public Health as head of the Tuberculosis Program in 45 county health departments and 34 hospitals. He enjoys traveling throughout the state and nation. He hopes to get some day to Europe.

I extend to Ann Kenney Walls and family our (class of '38) deepest sympathy in the death of her husband, William S. Walls, Sr., August 3, 1968. Ann lives at 100 Scarborough Avenue, Rehoboth Beach, Delaware.

Ludean Bankard Weiser writes from Columbia, Pennsylvania. "Deany" and husband, Joe, have two daughters. Ladonna, graduate of the College of Notre Dame, Baltimore, is teaching at Archbishop Keough High School in Catonsville. Josetta, student at West Chester State College, Pennsylvania (music major), was program director at Reading YWCA Camp in Hamburg, Pennsylvania, this past summer. In December, 1963, tragedy struck this family. Three men attempted robbery of their IGA Supermarket. Two stood by the cash register and the third held a 12-gauge sawed-off shotgun. When Joe saw them he uttered "Oh, no," and a shot was fired. Joe, hit in the side, was not expected to recover, but with the care of wonderful doctors and nurses and the blessing of God, he has done so. Four years later he still carries some 268 gun pellets in his body and suffers occasionally from loss of memory. "We live our fullest from day to day. We are a close family—Joe is truly a wonderful and wholly unselfish man." (Just thought classmates should know that such things do happen to people we know not too far away! This family has made a valiant fight. Let us count our blessings.) Daughter, Ladonna, was married August 12, 1967. My son, John, and I, accompanied by Mary Edwards Mackley and daughter, Martha, attended the lovely wedding and reception.

I cannot close without saying congratulations to Mary Brown Bryson, '35, on being elected a delegate to the Constitutional Convention in Maryland, as well as becoming a trustee for WMC. Mary was campaigning in Mount Airy one day and stopped off long enough for a cold Coke. A leader when on the Hill, Mary is still an inspiration to many of us.

Not all of us win medals nor have unusual news, but do drop me a line anyway. Just to mention your name brings a warm memory to someone, somewhere!

1939

MRS. STERLING F. FOWBLE
(VIRGINIA KAROW)
123 SOUTH EAST AVENUE
BALTIMORE, MARYLAND 21224

We were glad Jim and Mota (Yocum) Ferris and the two children included the Fowbles as one of the sights to see on their vacation which they spent sightseeing and touring all the historic places from Parris Island to Maryland. Marge and Peck, '38, Slayman and the two boys drove up to Williamsburg, Virginia, from Hampton, to have dinner with them. They then stopped in Washington for a couple of days and on to Baltimore. Of course, Mota could not leave this area without showing Wendy and Jeff Western Maryland College and from there they went to Gettysburg. After not seeing them for nearly seven years they all looked wonderful. Jeff enjoyed eating his first hard shell crabs but ladylike Wendy settled for spaghetti.

I felt as if I had hit the jackpot when Marge Slayman called me from her sister's on one of her two rare visits to Maryland. She and Steve flew up for a short visit and it was great seeing her. I hope that if anyone from the class of '39 comes to Baltimore that you will call me. Naturally I enjoy seeing you and especially hearing from you.

I saw in the paper that wedding bells rang for Susan Strobel, the daughter of Martin and Norma (Keyser) Strobel. She is working for NASA and her husband will enter dental school in the fall. Wedding bells are expected to ring next year for another Susan, the daughter of Larry and Margaret (Quarles, '40) Strow, whose fiancé is with the Peace Corps.

And, Sherman and Dot (Cohee) Harris visited their daughter, Susan. What makes the visit unusual is that they had to go to England to do it. Susan is working in a department store in England having done her training in the retail field at Woodward and Lothrop in Washington. Dot and Sherman combined their visit with their 25th wedding anniversary and celebrated by touring Europe before they returned home. There is a before Christmas, but a very special young man is getting his doctorate at a University in Switzerland and this may cause some delay.

Woody and Kay Reedy, Carl and Jeanne Myers and Charlie and Chris (Crisp) Rechner were together for their annual anniversary dinner. It was the 25th for the Reeds and the Myerses and the 26th for the Rechners. All had news to tell of trips they had taken.

The Reeds took a Caribbean cruise, Jeanne and Carl had just returned from Puerto Rico and St. Thomas, and the Rechners were still excited about their West Coast trip. They flew from here to Albuquerque, then rented a car and continued on to Los Angeles through Grand Canyon, Las Vegas, etc. After touring the coast, they took a train from San Francisco to Salt Lake City and Yellowstone, then drove to Denver and flew home. They were only gone a month, but with the different means of transportation, they were able to enlarge their itinerary. They had a marvelous time, took loads of pictures, and are now open for lecture dates.

Gladys (Coppage) Hendrickson receives our plaudits for finishing the Master's program at Morgan State College, receiving her Master's of Art in history. She is a social studies teacher at Edmondson High School. Congratulations!

After two difficult years of evening and summer school, I finished the MFA program and received my Master's of Liberal Arts from Johns Hopkins University. I also have started in a new job as I am now the Librarian for New Schools and work out of the Bureau of Library Services at Oliver and Eden Streets. In the summer I was chairman of a writing team that worked on a curriculum manual for the school libraries. There were two librarians and three teachers on the team and the work was most informative and rewarding.

Don't forget to put me on your Christmas card list and include a note about yourself and family with the card you send. It is always a pleasure to hear from you and naturally, I look forward to any news you send.

MRS. HOMER O. ELSEWOOD
(LAURA BREEDEN)
5708 GRANBY ROAD
DEERWOOD, MARYLAND 20855

I have been so pleased during the past two years with the response that I get from my cards to you asking for news. For those of you who take time out from busy days to reply—many thanks! For those of you who mislay the card or who let the deadline date slip by—send the news along anyhow. It will be used sooner or later!

Tish Bogan Gwynn is one whose news comes "later," through no fault of hers. I mislaid her note. I'm sorry, Tish! She wrote that her husband, Tommy, was elected Director of Lions International and as a result they have done much traveling, including England and Holland. Their daughter, Sally, has a B.S. degree in nursing and is on duty in the surgical ward at Georgetown Hospital, and son, Summers, is a senior at Mt. St. Mary's College and loves basketball and girls, "the order varies with the season." There are two more daughters, Julie, 14, and Lolie, 4, who is the companion of "poor old Mom and Dad."

Kitty Jockel Reckord informs me that she, Tish, Ruth Dugert Sken, and Jean Lynn Scott Trader had lunch with Mary Anna Broen McGicern in Annapolis. Mary Anna was being visited by her parents while en route to Florida where Navy husband, Mac, was being transferred. Mary Anna is the first grandmother of their crowd. Kitty's daughter, Susan, '66, completed her first year of teaching physical education at Milford Mill Senior High School in Baltimore County. And, son, Brad, is expecting to spend the next two years on active duty in the U. S. Navy.

I was remiss a second time for I mislaid Donald Haugh's card along with Tish's. My apologies to you too, Donald, and all of us wish you a happy retirement life! Because of an eye condition, Donald had to retire from teaching after 37 years in the classroom. He last taught in his home school, Clear Spring High, in the science department. Like all teachers, Donald was busy with other activities—helping with the TV Workshop Guide, serving as president of the local bank and superintendent of his Sunday School for 20 years. Donald writes "Western Maryland has a very tender spot as I gained my degree the hard way—summer school, extension courses, etc."

Marlin McCreaf is pastor of the Mt. Airy Methodist Church of Philadelphia and has two sons. The elder, Marlin, Jr., is married in the Air Force, stationed in Massachusetts. The younger, Thomas, is a sophomore at Juniata College. Marlin's wife is secretary to Dr. Glenn Asquith who is head of the Division of Publications of the American Baptist Convention, Valley Forge.

Ethel Martindale Osteen writes me that husband, Odell, '38, has been pastor of the Hughes Methodist Church in Wheaton, Maryland, for seven years during which time a new parsonage and a new sanctuary have been built. I pass this church often on my way down Georgia Avenue, and it is a beautiful building and most impressive! Ethel has been teaching music at the Takoma Park Junior High in Montgomery County for six years and spent this past summer as a student at the University of Maryland. Odell, Jr., was discharged from the Army in April. His plans were to finish his Master's thesis and return to Stanford University to begin work on his doctorate. Daughter, Yvonne, '66, was married a year ago to a ministerial student and they are serving a small church near Morgantown, Pennsylvania. Yvonne teaches in the junior high near her home. Ethel and Odie have another daughter, Debbie, who is a freshman at West Virginia Wesleyan College and another daughter, Nancy, still at home.

Ray Roderick is still the District Superintendent of the Hagerstown District of the Methodist Church. (I guess I should say Dr. Raymond Roderick, but he'll always be Ray to the class of '40.) He and his wife, Anna Mary, have moved into a new district parsonage between Hagerstown and Williamsport, just off Interstate 81 and Route 11. Anna Mary has been serving as a district officer and as a conference officer in the Woman's Society of Christian Service and for two years was dean of the School of Missions. Their older daughter, Marianna, received her Master's degree in January from the University of Illinois and is working towards her doctorate. At present she is in Evanston, Illinois, working in Chicago with the National Merit Scholarship. Their younger daughter, Nancy Carol, has been teaching for two years in Montgomery County and was married a year ago to Carroll Newton.

Carolyn Smith Schott teaches third grade at Cold Spring School in Belchertown, Massachusetts, in addition to being a farmer's busy wife. Husband, John, has a dairy farm in Ware. Their daughter, Sue Ellen, is a senior at Parsons College, majoring in library science. Elizabeth is a senior and Dorothy is a freshman at Ware High School and John, Jr., is in junior high.

In this centennial year for Nebraska, Mary Shepherd, Col. TM, and Mrs. Shepherd are working on a pictorial history of the War Veterans of their county, for the Historical Society, for the past 100 years. The Shepherds have an antique business in Hartington.

I addressed a card to Bob Stropp but addressed the message to wife, Betty Brown, '41, for I knew I'd have to depend upon Betty for an answer. Sure enough! Thanks, Betty. Bob has been a Lt. Colonel for four years in the Air Force. They are always busy with their boys' sports activities, whatever is in season. Baseball is the real "rat race" trying to follow all of their games. Between them they cover about ten games a week. The boys are 19, 15, and 12. Bob, Jr., is a junior at the University of Maryland and plays on the baseball team. Real nice to hear from the Stropp!

And real nice to hear from the Edgar Rinehimers! Edgar has a Master's from the University of Maryland and a doctor's equivalency from the Johns Hopkins University and is a counselor at Woodbourne Junior High School in Baltimore. Mary Jane, '39, is the librarian at the Parkville Elementary School in Baltimore County. Their daughter, Sandra, returned last July from a year's study of language at the University Aix-en-Provence, France, where all of her courses were in the Honors Program. Now she is a senior at WMC. Jon is a sophomore at Hampden-Sydney College. Karen is an eleventh grader at Towson High, and Phyllis is a seventh grader.

Finally for this month, Homer and I in April had a premature 25th wedding anniversary trip to Caneel Bay Plantation on St. John Island in the U. S. Virgin Islands, for November 1 is the big day! We can't get away then—budget time for the Montgomery County Public Schools.

MRS. STANLEY E. SKELTON
(ELINOR CULICAN)
3910 LARCHWOOD ROAD
FALLS CHURCH, VIRGINIA 22041

For her farm in Rushville, Missouri, Jeannette Wigley Thomas writes that her oldest son graduated from Tarkio College last spring and is now in the Army. Her oldest daughter is a junior at the University of Missouri planning to be a medical technician. Another son represented his school at Boy's State, while another daughter was a candy-striper at the Atchison (Kansas) hospital.

George and Virginia Wigley Vogel live in Millersville where Virginia teaches mentally retarded children. George is employed by Westinghouse Electric Co. at Friendship. They enjoy sailing on the Severn with their three sons, aged 7, 13, and 14.

Mildred Melvin Muley spent part of her summer in the graduate school at George Peabody College in Nashville, Tennessee. Then back to Ocean City went the Muleys before school opened this fall. Oldest son, Bill, is a senior at West Point and Dick is in the School of Architecture at University of Tennessee.

After four years as dietitian at Oak Ridge (Tennessee) Hospital, Jeanne Shank Kelley is now enjoying her leisure at home. Among her treasured memories will be cooking 20 lbs. of bacon, 15 doz. eggs and 50 gals. of coffee for the patients when the hospital employees were on strike last summer.

Edwin and Ruth Beider Retter and "Pogo" (French poodle) are serving Howard Park Methodist Church for the seventh year. They have been fortunate to have taken a trip around the world and more recently a visit to the Mediterranean countries. Edwin is honorary director of Carroll County General Hospital. In addition to promoting a redecoration program of his church, he has been giving illustrated lectures of their journeys, especially to East Berlin and Russia.

Helen Willard Buhrman writes that she and Ted find themselves just where they started 26 years ago. That is not entirely true, because during those years they have guided three boys into useful careers with the usual parental pride in their achievements. Donald, '65, and John Walter Buhrman, '63, are in Hawaii where Donald has started graduate study in public health at the University. Robert graduated from Johns Hopkins last June with departmental and general honors added to his B.E.S. degree. He is planning for a doctorate in plasma physics beginning with graduate study at Cornell University. Jerold, a Dean's lister at Hagerstown Junior College, was married last June. Although the Buhrman farm crops are not always profitable, their lives are full of rewarding experiences. Their foster daughter of two years has graduated from high school and is now attending the National Legal Secretarial School in Hagerstown. Helen has a new teaching position this year at New Midway School in Frederick.

I am indebted to Patricia Read Barnhart, '62, for information of her family, especially her mother, Jane Couperthwaite Read. Jane is in Albuquerque, New Mexico, where she and Lt. Col. Charles E. Read, '36, have been stationed for five years. Last June Chaplain Read left for Vietnam. Their oldest son, Captain Bruce A. Read, '64, met him in Saigon. Another son, David S. Read, '69, is in helicopter training school in Texas, also bound for Vietnam. Patricia and her husband, Kenneth M. Barnhart, '63, are in Westminster where she teaches 5th grade. This is truly a one college family.

Bob Faw was elected president of the Maryland Association of Certified Public Accountants for the present year. Among his many other honorary duties this year are memberships on the Board of Trustees and Alumni Board of Governors of WMC.

I have contacted every name whose address I have been given. Please send me any news of those who are reluctant to tell me about themselves.

MRS. ROBERT I. THOMPSON (JEAN BENTLEY)
22 WOODSIDE ROAD
CHAGRIN FALLS, OHIO 44022

Another deadline rolls around—not much news this trip but will try to have more next time.

U. S. Air Force Colonel Albert W. Jones has been named commander of the 516th Tactical Airlift Wing at Dyess AFB, Texas. Bert had been serving as wing deputy commander of the 516th. Congratulations.

Phyl Cade Gruber and her husband, Werner, vacationed in Bermuda this summer—also vacationing in Bermuda were Marie Crawford Allnutt and Betty Schaeffer, '42.

It's high time we got working on our 25th Class Reunion in spring of '68. Mary Louise Sehr Parks and Johnny Williams worked on the 20th and did a great job—you did say you'd work on this one didn't you? ? ? If any of you would like to volunteer your services along these lines either drop me a line or contact Snooky (Mrs. William Parks, 1305 Charmuth Road, Lutherville) or Johnny (720 Scarlet Road, Baltimore 4). Or, if you have any ideas for luncheon—for the afternoon—or for after dinner—please get in touch.

As an idea—how about sending along a picture of you and your family if you can't get back to the Hill in person—bring your pictures along if you do come back. We would certainly like to make this a SUPER reunion for the class of 1943.

1947

MRS. THOMAS G. SHEPLEY
(MARJORIE CASSEN)
9214 SMITH AVENUE
BALTIMORE, MARYLAND 21294

The 20th reunion luncheon of the class of '47 was held on June 3. Eighteen classmates were present plus spouses and children. They were LeRoy Gerding, Fern Hitchcock, Bob Grumline, Janice Diers, Twitcheck, Betty Powell Norman, George Norman, Marjorie Cassen Shipley, Aleck Resnick, Mary Silvey Hemming, Helen Frantz Loper, Kenneth Volk, Annabelle Klein May, Anna Lee Butler Trader, Charles Chlad, Emajane Hahn Baker, Jeannette Mitholland Royston, Marion Stoffgren Fox, and Lee Belgin Scott. As far as professions go, teachers were first on the list with "Stoff" and Lee teaching kindergarten, Annabelle, Anne Lee, and Helen teaching high school, and Fern teaching at WMC. The law profession claimed Al, LeRoy, and George. Ken is still filling teeth but finds time to carry on his tennis career. Charlie is a salesman for a chemical company, and Bob is an Episcopal clergyman with a parish in Essex. We won't leave out the housewives: Janice, Cassie, Betty, Emajane, and "Bosie."

Arriving in time to attend the Alumni Banquet were Gladys Schlag Twigg, Ernest Twigg and Mary Lou Stephens. Ernest is a Methodist minister in Harmons, Anne Arundel County, and Mary Lou teaches in Montgomery County. This was a most rewarding reunion and many pictures were taken to record the event. Our thanks to Al for arranging the luncheon.

Edward J. Nygren has joined Project Hope's teaching-treatment mission in Leon, Nicaragua. Ed received his medical degree from University of Maryland. He will serve in Leon for two years.

Dr. Nicholas J. Pisacano . . . see '48.

1948

MRS. JOHN FARSON (MARY TODD)
6745 NEWBOLD DRIVE
BETHESDA, MARYLAND 20834

Dr. Nicholas Pisacano was honored by the University of Kentucky as one of its two outstanding professors for the last year. Nick is chairman of the University Department of Hygiene and Public Health and is assistant dean of the College of Arts and Sciences. In the citation, Nick was cited "for his dedication to the art of teaching, for his distinguished achievements as a teacher, and for the splendid influence he has exerted among students."

Student leaders who nominated him for this teaching award, noted "his rare ability to transmit enthusiasm—and with it knowledge—to students—his demanding standards of performance, and his sympathy with their problems." In 1965, Nick was named "Most Popular Professor" by the students.

Before joining the Kentucky faculty in 1962, Nick practiced medicine in Philadelphia, served as president of the Philadelphia Academy of General Practice, and as medical director of the Philadelphia division of the American Cancer Society. Nick and his wife and their five children live in Lexington, Kentucky.

Gerald and Eleanor (Bobbie) Lee Kunkel now have a well-balanced family—their sixth child and third girl was born April 12. Bobbie Lee says "We'll be going to college and kindergarten graduations the same year." The Kunkels live in Belair.

Need I remind you all that our twentieth reunion is coming up next spring? We're so lucky that it falls during the college's centennial year—there should be lots going on up there this year. If any of you have any ideas for our reunion, drop me a line and I'll pass them along.

1949

MRS. RONALD F. HEEMANN (JEAN SAUSE)
916 BREEZEVIEW CIRCLE
TOWSON, MARYLAND 21204

Congratulations Doctor Bayliff. Bill received his Ph.D. degree in entomology from the University of Washington.

On Alumni Day this past spring, someone informed Phil Uhrig that Lt. Col. Marshall Engle has recently been assigned to Korea. Please keep us informed of the movements of our military alumni.

A newsy letter was received from Charlotte Goodrich Hoover, who is working on her Master's degree in Art Education at the University of Maryland. Char and Bob (Lloyd) are living in Beltsville with their three children. Bob is now president of the 5,400-member Prince Georges County Teachers' Association as well as principal of Beltsville Junior High for the past six years.

Although a bit late with this sad news, we would like to extend deepest sympathies to the family of Dorsey Osborn, who died in July 1966.

We were informed last year of the change of address for Duane Saltzgeber to the United Kingdom and hope to hear of his activities there.

McNeil Laboratories, Inc., announced the promotion of Bob Rhodes to director of sales. In this newly created position, he will have direct-line responsibility for the field sales operation. Bob has been living in Fort Washington, Pennsylvania, since his move from Canada in '65.

Hyman L. Dervitz, director of the Physical Therapy Section of the New York State Rehabilitation Hospital in West Haverstraw, New York, has been named chairman of the Division of Physical Therapy of the Temple University College of Allied Health Professions. He will be in charge of faculty recruitment and curriculum development. Hyman, who is married and the father of two children, has written or co-authored seven articles for scientific publications.

Mrs. Lawrence T. Bailey
(Dottie Phillips)
1121 WINDMILL LANE
PITTSBURGH, PENNSYLVANIA 15237

A small group from the class had lunch at the Elks in Westminster at the off-year reunion in June thanks to arrangements made by Jackie Brown Hering. Since the college is having a special centennial celebration, I would like to have a good column this year, so send me some news.

Fred Keefer is now head of the English department for Miami University of Ohio's Middletown branch. He recently has written a critical work of the contemporary novelist, Ernest Poole. The book was published as part of the United States Authors Series by Twayne Publishing Company.

Ann Van Order deLong writes from Sinking Spring, Pennsylvania, that she is busy being a homemaker and mother to her musical teen-age daughters on a fifty-acre Christmas tree farm.

Angela Crothers Zawacki works part time as a research assistant at the University of Delaware for the University Impact Study. They are testing to learn student reaction to college as it affects attitudes, values, interests and intellect. She and Len have three children and live in Elkton, Maryland.

George McGrew is vice-president and technical director for Miller Chemical and Fertilizer Company in Baltimore. He received his Ph.D. in biochemistry from Johns Hopkins University in June. George lives with his wife and two sons in Timonium.

Dottie Klinefelter Waters is busy as an Annapolis housewife, who devotes special interest to the Children's Theater and Key School League activities.

Congratulations to Dick and Betty Cross-white Leclercq on the birth of their son, Jeffery Leigh, on April 18, 1967, after ten years of marriage.

Major Robert Wilsey has returned from a tour in Vietnam with the 2/20th Artillery Battalion where he was awarded the Army Commendation Medal and the Bronze Star. He had previously received the Joint Services Commendation for work in Alaska. His wife, Barbara Payne, has received her Master's degree from University of Missouri at Kansas City. They leave for Zweibrücken, Germany, in the fall.

Some more up-to-date news of Ronald "Mole" Layton is that he will be teaching history at Hiram College, near Cleveland, Ohio, this year. He has recently talked with Dr. Bob Fraser who was on his way to a medical meeting in Reno from his home in Alaska.

The Alumni Office would like to start a WMC alumni group in the Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania area. If anyone living in the area is interested in joining, please call me at 412-364-1376.

GLEN BURNIE, MARYLAND 22095

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Nutter Smith (Dottie Shoemaker) and four daughters have recently moved into their newly built home at 327 Worman Drive, Gahanna, Ohio 43020. The daughters are Gretchen Carole, soon to be 7, Cynthia Rohrer, 5, Jennifer Mary, 3, and Hilary Ruth, 1. Dick is Director of Wildlife Services for the U. S. Government for the states of Ohio and Michigan.

1953

Mrs. John M. Clayton (Nancy McMath)
1717 BELVE DRIVE
FOREST HILL, MARYLAND 21050

Many of our classmates have made the news lately, and I will pass on the information as I hear it. Please let me know of any items of interest.

Rev. Carroll G. Warner (Pete) has the honor of having a meditation published in the worldwide interdenominational devotional guide, "The Upper Room" (July, August, 1967). It seems appropriate to repeat a few of his words in our column:

"How easy it is for us to take for granted all that we have to come to love and know is good, to assume as imperishable the liberty and freedom we have!

"All men everywhere seem to be hungering for freedom, but man is free only as his life becomes personally related to Christ. Almighty God Himself grants that truest freedom to all His sons and daughters made free in Jesus Christ. In Him, our living Lord, we behold liberty at its finest, and through Him find freedom of the highest order for ourselves."

Pete and Irma Lee (Hohman, '55) live at 17314 New Hampshire Avenue, Ashton.

It is with much sadness that I report the death of Major Ambrosio Grandea. Jerry was serving as a chaplain to our fighting men in Vietnam when he received his fatal wounds. Let us hope that some of Pete's above words will give some comfort to Jerry's wife and family.

Dr. F. Glendon Ashburn has been appointed director of the Planning and Research Commission of the Baltimore City Police Department. This is a newly formed department and Glen's job as director is to analyze and try to solve administrative and tactical problems of the Police Department; he is directly responsible to Commissioner Promerleau. This is quite an undertaking that Glen has been honored with; we all wish him the best of luck. Glen has been assistant professor of law enforcement with the department of criminology and corrections at Florida State University at Tallahassee this past year. After his return from the Philippines in 1965, he received his Ph.D. in criminology and sociology at Florida State. Glen and Marie and their two daughters, Linda, 3, Kim, 1½, now live at 138 East Timonium Road, Lutherville-Timonium.

Major James B. Moore has completed a 10-month course at the Army Command and General Staff College, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas. He was among more than 700 officers from the United States and 43 allied nations who were prepared for duty as commanders and general staff officers in division or logistical commands. They received instruction in the function of the general staff corps and Army levels. He and Ann (Trice) and children lived at the Fort.

Walter H. Campbell has been appointed vice principal of Bel Air Senior High School as of July 1, 1967. He and Peggy, '59, and their daughter and son live in Fallston.

Carolyn Mangels Black wrote a note to say that she and her husband had seen Nell Hughes Odgen and husband, Bill, in San Francisco, Los Angeles, and Las Vegas recently when they all had vacations at the same time. Carolyn, Charles, and their children (Debbie, 13, Sally, 10, Warren, 8, Barbara, 6) live on St. Paul Street in Baltimore.

Mary-Ellen Earl writes that she attended the annual meeting of the American Association of Museums in Toronto in June, then went on to enjoy Expo '67 in Montreal. She is director of the Arnob Art Gallery in Elmira, New York. She has recently moved to 111 Columbia Street, Elmira 14905.

Rachael (Early, '51) and Ernie Green are in the Cleveland area at 25214 Deerfield Drive, North Olmsted, Ohio. Ernie is a salesman for the E. F. Hauserman Co., a manufacturer of metal walls. Their children Ernie and Rachael are now 8 and 3.

1954

Mrs. Edgar Coffman (Joan Barkeley)
6138 TOMPKINS DRIVE
MCLEAN, VIRGINIA 22101

Thanks for your postcards. Seems summer was travel time for many. Dorothy Krug Bond, husband, Bob, who is in the Underseas Division of Westinghouse Corp., and children, Chris, 6, and Nancy, 4, toured Expo in June then stopped by for a visit with Shirley Jeffreys Strong in Lenox, Massachusetts, before returning to Baltimore. Ann Spears Wagner vacationed in Jamaica in August. Janet and Harry Grandier and their boys, aged 9 and 5, enjoyed camping trips in their new travel trailer. Harry is credit manager for the Capital Cement Co. and lives in Ellicott City.

Congratulations to Major Edward Kelly, who received the Army Commendation Medal on June 17 for meritorious service during his last assignment at Ft. Gulick, Canal Zone. Ed is presently a member of an advisory team to the Vietnamese Army 7th Infantry Division. Mary Lou, '55, and their five children are living in Columbus, Georgia.

From Baltimore comes news that George

Hubbard has been appointed assistant professor of English at Essex Community College. The Michael Pezzallas announce the birth of their fourth child, a boy, on June 9. Mike is in charge of the Herring Run Adult Evening Center in Baltimore. Chick Silberstein, an orthopedic surgeon, is teaching at Johns Hopkins Medical School. His special field of interest is in cerebral palsy. George Antonas is chairman of the physical education department at Patapsco Senior High in Baltimore County.

Bob Steelman was recently elected president of the Millville, New Jersey, Ministerial Association and president of the SNJ Conference Historical Society. Bob was awarded first prize in the Methodist Bicentennial Essay Contest for his essay on Learner Blackman, an early circuit rider.

After working at a YMCA summer camp, Robert "Spoke" Denzie has returned to teach 7th and 8th grade history at Fairhaven, Massachusetts, Junior High. Dick Titlow writes that he's a management analyst in data processing for the Internal Revenue Service and is working on a Ph.D. in European history at American University. He has seen Don Chambers, who commutes from Connecticut to New York City where he's employed by Western Electric.

Connie Meade was born to Claude and Betty Parsons Colonna on March 2. She joins Chip, 8, and Catty, 3. Betty has returned to teaching music and English at Reverheads High in Raphine, Virginia, this fall. Thomas Maier is corporation manufacturing extract chemist with Canada Dry Corp. He and Mimi and their two children live in Park Ridge, New Jersey. Jean Hendren Shaffer writes that she has three boys ages 12, 8, and 6, is teaching second grade in St. Cloud, and is working on a M.Ed. in elementary education at the University of Florida. Robert and Shirley Cramer Stull are building a home near Thurmont where Robert is the owner of a Chevrolet agency. The Carville Downes family moved to 3612 Briarstone Road in Randallstown in August. Carville retired from his post in the Attorney General's Office of Maryland to devote full time to his private law practice in the firm of Downes and Seiland, '51.

Shirley Jarvis Butler is teaching 3rd grade in Seaford, Delaware, where her husband has a fabric store. Shirley's two boys are now 10 and 8. Dorothy Redsecker Cadmus says her life centers about the 3D's—dustin', diapers, and dishes. She, Roy, and their five children live in Saugerties, New York, where Roy is with IBM. Barbara Almony Bagnall invites those traveling to the Smoky Mountains to visit her in Bristol, Virginia. Her husband, Art, is Chief Buyer for Sperry-Farragut. Now that their children are 9, 8, and 5, Barbara says she has time again for golf. Ken Ruchl was down from Darien, Connecticut, for the class reunion in June. He had recently returned from 68 years in Montana where he was pastor of a Congregational church. By the way, those who weren't on hand for the crab feast missed a great time. Thanks to the class of '53 for

Copyright Problems

In an article called "The Paper War," the July 8 edition of The Saturday Review discusses Nearer to the Dust, a book by George Gipe, '56. SR says that these are days of "dangerous technological change for those who publish and are published. The rapid expansion of the information industry, the booming photographic business threaten to destroy old, trusted relationships in field of learning."

The magazine mentions that there has been a small battle being fought against the computerized card and the zographic copy. "Now," SR says, "a larger gun has been brought to the front. Nearer to the Dust (Williams & Wilkins, $4.95), by George A. Gipe, proclaims that man could copy himself to death . . . the author-thinker is turning into the forgotten man. Gipe's book is a remarkably clear examination of the clash between the new technology and traditional ways of spreading knowledge . . . it makes a persuasive case for copyright reform."

including us. Hope more of you come to Homecoming. Again, thanks for your cards —keep 'em coming!

MRS. PETER P. CHIARENZA
(JOAN LUCKABAUGH)
15 NORTH PENFIELD ROAD
ELLICOTT CITY, MARYLAND 21043

Thanks to a lot of help, we had a total of 74 persons at our reunion. There were 51 from the class of '57, 21 spouses, 10 from WMC and 11 others. We also had two visitors, Mrs. Philip Uhrig and a parent. Just making a list of these people will fill our column this month.

First let me thank Mary West Pitts Ensor and Joan and Bev Lochbaum Krantz for the telephone and card campaigns that doubled our numbers at the last minute.

Some came long distances: Ron Graybeal, Ph.D. economics, from California, gave his impressions of Berkeley; Bob and Helen Boardman Radcliffe and Harriet Stevens Sahlman from Georgia; Earle and Sara Ellen Price Finley from North Carolina—Earle, sales representative for Caterpillar—Carolina Tractor—their children, Duke, Sue, Bill and Ann. Sara Ellen and Harriet say they really like the South now that they've gotten used to it. Bruce Sahlman is a forester for Union Camp Paper and Pulp. From Florida, Gene and Patsy Jenkins. Gene came up with my favorite remark of the afternoon, "On campus I was a Preacher and when I left I became a Christian." He is a minister in Chattahoochee. From Pittsburgh, Anna Jarrell with M.Ed. and specialist diploma in counseling, will be counselor in a Maryland junior high. From Connecticut, Jeanne

Blair Kreisher, her father, one of the visitors. I believe he took some pictures. From New Jersey, Tom and Mary Braun.

After lunch we gave each a short summary of our ten years. Had I been taking notes instead of listening so intently, I might have more to tell you. None of us has changed very much. The funny guys were still funny and the serious ones still serious —only a little more mature about it all. Now I can't wait till 1972.

Others present were: Frank, '56, and Lillian Fowler Benson, '56, who actually graduated before us; Paul and Mary West Pitts Ensor, Paul an M.D. in residency in O.B.-GYN; Brant and Elinor Vitke, Brant an M.D. in residency in Orthopedics; Richard and Mary Jane Thorney Wilson; Major Bob and Dot Snider Butler (a four-hour trip from Indiana, Pennsylvania); Dick Crowley; Bill and Janice Higgins; Gene and Bev Lochbaum Krantz, Bev teaching fourth grade, Gene in biological research for Bureau of Commercial Fisheries in Easton. They invite visitors. Others: Buddy and Grace Fletcher Pipes, Buddy now minister of a church in Long Green; Rev. C. Lewis Robson from Washington, D.C.; Fred and Joan Rausch; Frank and Lynnda Skinner Kratochvil, Amin, '59, and Peggy Simon Jurf, Amin, Ph.D. physiology, teaches at University of Maryland; Martin, '55, and Gini Viemeister Broadhurst; John and Marina Xintas, '56, Scott, Jr., John at Hopkins Applied Physics Laboratory; Del and Barbara Kohl, Del works for the U. S. Marines; Darryl and Donna Martin; Den and Lella Manning, '59, Tankersley; Jo Ellen Outerbridge Mackin.

From Westminster, Skip and Pat Richter Amass, Skip runs two pharmacies in Flinckburg and Taneytown; Howard and Janet Perkins Zimmerman, Howard, assistant purchasing agent for Lord Baltimore Press in Baltimore, Janet a school librarian. Three children: Brian, 8, Karen, 6, Ted, 4. Donald and Jean Zauche.

Thanks for your tremendous response to my latest postcard barrage! Most of that news will be in our next column. Ann Crumpecker Cartzendafner writes that she keeps busy with home chores, substitute teaching, and Lisa, almost 5. Husband, David, has been promoted to credit man in the Baltimore Office of G.M.A.C.

Anne Clemmitt summered at the University of Hawaii doing graduate work in guidance. Don and Shirley Ream Devey are now living in Derwood, Maryland. Shirl works as Administrative Assistant to the Vice-President of Informatics, Inc. A camping trip to California was the summer highlight for the Kenneth Day family (wife plus Beth, 6, and Mary, 3). Ken continues as head football coach and physical education teacher at Bridgewater College.

Ann Hitley is engaged to an Egyptian otolaryngologist, Salah Soliman. They met at Hopkins where both are graduate students. Benjamin Bullock married Ann Hovermill in January, 1965; they now have a son, John Allen. Ben was recently promoted in the Department of Defense to assistant chief for operations of his branch of 40 people.

Following medical school, internship, and a fellowship, Albert (Skip) Dawkins is serving as Captain in the U. S. Army at Walter Reed Army Institute of Research. Captain L. Thomas Miller, III, has assumed command of Battery "C," 29th Artillery, Westminster. Frank and Jeanette (Tyler) Mikula announce the birth of a daughter on April 11. The Mikulas are living in Dundalk where Jeanette is librarian at the junior high school and Frank works for Fisher Body.

Ruth Ann Runkles Brown "retired" as librarian at Westminster Junior High School in June. She had the high honor of being named to the 1966 edition of Outstanding Young Women of America. Richard McCool (M.Ed.) has been administrative assistant to the superintendent of Hanover (Pennsylvania) Borough Schools for the last seven years. He was recently appointed director of Hanover Area's Title III, E.S.E.A., new educational television station.

Al Katz has changed jobs and is now a caseworker at the Community Pediatric Center of University Hospital. In recent elections he became a member of the board of trustees of Temple Emanuel in Baltimore and assumed the presidency of the alumni association of the University of Maryland School of Social Work. Judie Boettger Tufaro announces her third boy, Todd Vincent, born December 1, 1966.

Dina Lynn arrived in the Plainview, Long Island, home of Ozzie and Rochelle Stewart on April 11. Ozzie is J.V. basketball and football coach at J. F. Kennedy High School in Plainview. More news from Henry and Retta Ann So in Indonesia. Henry was appointed district superintendent of South Sumatra, but because of a shortage of ministers, he remains pastor of Palembang also. In visiting their churches, they use many modes of transportation: car, bus, motorboat, ship, cart, train, plane, motorcycle, walking.

Sue Garrettson Daniel announces Douglas Stuart who joined them June 15. They have been in their home about a year, and Jim is still a lawyer with the Job Corps. Sue spoke with Connie Shankle Houtz who was evacuated from Beirut, Lebanon, during the crisis. Connie returned to Beirut in August. In May, Jon Myers was elected president of Londontown Manufacturing Co.

Ray and Irene Buckingham and son, Stephen, are living in Webster, New York, where Ray is a civil engineer with Bechtel Corporation. He received his degree in civil engineering from the University of Maryland on June 3. Don Linzey this fall began teaching at the University of South Alabama in Mobile. He and his wife have a six-month-old son. Ingrid Ewertz Whaley received a temporary appointment as bibliographic and editorial assistant with the Library of Congress.

Our summer got busier and busier and resulted in another short column. Before my next deadline, I will try to be in touch again.

MRS. GEORGE L. KLANDER (DOT DRAGOO)
6121 MACBETH DRIVE
BALTIMORE, MARYLAND 21212

With not much news coming in, the column is short this month. But many of you have received, or will soon receive, cards. Remember, the deadline for news in the February MAGAZINE is December 1. So "keep them cards and letters coming."

May 3, Bill, '63, and Joan Humphries MacDonald welcomed a new addition. Her name is Martha Greer and she weighed a little over five pounds. Bill is in the Army Judge Advocate's Office. (I hope that's right.)

Tom and Judy Gregory increased their family by adding Chase Camac June 17. He weighed in at 6 lbs., 11 oz. His sister Stacy is 21 months.

At this writing, Karen Adamour Hop had just left for Texas to visit with Dan, who is in the Air Force there. Karen and Kathie Ravelli McCauley, '65, planned to drive to Texas, go over to Mexico for a little sight-seeing, then Karen was to rejoin Dan. He is soon to be transferred to Alabama.

Unless his orders were changed, John Trainor is, by now, in Vietnam as a helicopter pilot. Bon (Esworth), '67 and little John are living in Walkersville.

Bill, '63, and Doris Brown Chambers spent 10 days in June on vacation in the Virgin Islands. Naturally, they returned with beautiful tans and their full quota of spirits. Bill still works for USF&G in Baltimore.

Sue Jacobs spent the summer in Mexico, studying at the University of Guadalajara and living with a local family.

Judy Goldstein planned to visit Expo '67 the middle of August with her parents. The Goldsteins then planned to stop off in Rochester, New York, to see Marvin, '60, and Teenie Goldstein. He is chief resident in Neurology at the University of Rochester.

Also in Rochester are Dick and Nancye Baker Childers. Dick has just completed his second year of medical school and successfully taken that portion of his boards. Nancye spent the summer as a Kelly girl, is now teaching second graders.

Joe, '63, and Linda Mahaffey Spear have finally left Vetville. They are living in Kensington. Joe is taking his Master's in Journalism at American University, while Linda is an efficiency expert (would you believe it?) with the C and P Telephone Company.

On August 20, Mary Lee Warren became Mrs. Bryan Fisher at a small ceremony in Ocean City. Barbara Smith Lau was matron of honor.

Speaking of Barbara, she and John, '65, now have a house in Glen Burnie. John works with his father.

As you may have noticed by the address, George, '64, and I moved July 1. We're in the Towson area, behind Stewart's York Road. Our phone is 323-0799. Stop by or give us a call if you're in the area. Hope we see most of you at Homecoming!

Western Maryland and Vietnam

Every reader of THE HILL probably has an opinion about Vietnam. The men fighting there each have an opinion. Not all of these ideas coincide and as United States involvement in Vietnam continues, there is less and less agreement. In another issue of THE HILL it might be profitable to debate the Vietnamese question but at this time the editor wishes to highlight the extent of Western Maryland's involvement there.

As this is written, three alumni have been killed in Vietnam and more than 43 have served or are serving there. The figures may not be accurate, as they have been compiled from letters and newspaper clippings, but even so they are striking.

The three alumni lost in action are: Captain Homer C. McIntyre, Jr., '57, July 28, 1964; Captain James C. Stephens, '64, April 28, 1967; and Major Ambrosio Grandea, '53, June, 1967.

Captain McIntyre had been in Vietnam as a military advisor since December, 1963, when he was killed. He was assigned to the 34th Tactical Group, 2nd Air Division at Bien Hoa. He was awarded the Silver Star. The award stated that on return from an inspection trip the Air Force officer's jeep was disabled by a land mine. Immediately Captain McIntyre and his companions were ambushed by a force of more than 40 Viet Cong. The citation concludes, "Although wounded by grenade fragments and automatic fire, he fought on beside his two companions until he was overwhelmed and killed." In addition to the Silver Star, Mrs. McIntyre received her husband's Purple Heart Medal, the Air Medal, and the First Oak Leaf Cluster to the Air Medal.

Shortly before his death, Captain Stephens was photographed by Life Magazine for a feature story which was published after he was killed. Jim's widow, Ida Bockelman, '66, received his Purple Heart, the Bronze Star and the Silver Star. Captain Stephens was killed in the same sort of mission—search and destroy—in which he was photographed. The citation indicates that during this mission, his troop uncovered a segment of a major Viet Cong base camp. In a reconnaissance of the area, the group he was leading was "suddenly engaged and pinned down by enemy automatic weapons and small arms fire from Viet Cong occupying well-concealed positions. With complete disregard for his own safety, Captain Stephens gallantly charged directly into the enemy positions leading his men in a counter attack until he fell, mortally wounded by the intense enemy fire."

A Viet Cong mortar shell was responsible for the death of paratrooper-chaplain Ambrosio (Jerry) Grandea. First messages to Jerry's wife indicated that he was wounded in both legs and was being flown home. A later telegram said that his condition had become critical and finally word came that the injuries had proved fatal. Jerry was wounded while conducting religious services.

Although Major Grandea was attached to the 71st Evacuation Hospital in Chu Lai, he had been among the fighting men as much as possible, according to reports. He already had been recommended for a Silver Star after tending to wounded under fire. Major Grandea was born on Corregidor and was living there when the Japanese overran the stronghold during World War II.

World Small Alumni Find

We regret to report that since this article was written, Major James Moore has been listed missing in action.

The smallness of the world—or Vietnam—is indicated by a letter from Major David G. Rhoads, '53, who is stationed at Long Binh. Dave writes that he was riding in his jeep back to quarters when he was hailed by Major James Moore, '53, who had just arrived in Vietnam. The very next day the two encountered Major Bert Springstead, '55, who was on his way home.

Now Major Moore writes that his assistant S-3 is Captain Raymond Wright, '58, who may be a major by the time this is printed. Dave Rhoads says he frequently sees Major Bob Green, '56, and has seen Major Denny Boyle, '53.

With all of this traffic Major Rhoads suggested that the Alumni Office send him a Western Maryland sign. Dave is located near the shower in the Officer Processing Area of the 90th Replacement Battalion Area. He says that everyone coming through takes at least one shower there and therefore a lot of WMC people will sooner or later find his sign—and him.

Following is a list of those either in Vietnam now or who have served there since the U. S. involvement there began. As mentioned earlier on this page, the list probably is not complete and ranks may no longer be as indicated.

- 1951 Major Robert D. Wilsey
- 1953 Major Dennis M. Boyle
Major Ambrosio S. Grandea
Major James B. Moore
Major David G. Rhoads
- 1954 Major Edward J. Kelly

- 1956 Major Robert E. Green, Jr.
Major Walter M. Sanders
- 1957 Major Robert W. Butler
Captain Richard A. Maxwell
Captain Homer C. McIntyre, Jr.

Major Rhodes is about to enter his "hooch" in Long Binh, Vietnam.

- 1958 Captain William B. Holbruner
Major John H. Hort
- 1959 Captain Robert N. Fothergill
- 1960 Captain Tom L. Albertson
Captain Robert H. Cole
Captain John W. Fringer, Jr.
Captain Carson W. Lankford
Captain John K. Weagly
- 1961 Captain Fred A. Dilkes
Captain John H. Holter
Captain Charles F. LeFew
Captain Charles E. Runkles
Captain Raymond J. Wright

- 1965 Lt. William D. Carter
Lt. N. Wilmer Benton
Lt. Lester J. Knepp
- 1966 Lt. Charles J. Hickey, II
Lt. David D. McIntire
Lt. John K. Trainor

Do You Remember?

(About 1930)

When the whole student body was able to get into old Baker Chapel for chapel services on Sunday evenings? And women used one entrance, and men the other?

When the Arch was opposite Alumni Hall?

When we registered as freshmen in the Fine Art Building—then the Administration Building?

When daily chapel service was held on the first floor of Old Main every A.M.?

When, with no Grill or anywhere to obtain refreshments on campus, "dates" were allowed to go to College Inn, across the road from Alumni Hall?

When freshman girls had to have a senior girl to chaperon them to go shopping downtown in the afternoon?

When women students were occasionally given "24-hour passes" to go home on weekends, and the bus for Baltimore came to the front steps of Old Main?

When Old Main housed, along with other things, the girls' gym, the girls' laundry room where they picked up their finished laundry, "parlor," the Post Office (run by Dawson and Bell), and the famous "Cubicles"?

When Wilmer Bell was not president of the Alumni Association, but a very popular senior, and half of a well-known senior couple, Huston and Bell?

When Dick Harlow's Terrors played University of Maryland at the Baltimore Stadium, and the women students came down on buses with proper chaperons?

When the boys had their own May Day on Hoffa Field, with all male participants, imitating the regular one by the girls.

When women students wore those conservatively feminine gym suits?
