Community Concert Series To Feature Opera, Piano, And Ballet Programs

The campaign for selecting membership in the Community Concert Association began officially at the public session of theorget of the benefit of the College Students until 3:15 on Oct. 28 in the College. Student membership dues are $20, including the Federal tax.

Mrs. J. Edmund Kapp, president of the organization, has announced recently that the actions for the current season have been selected. Keeping in mind the preferences of those already quoted, the selected opera, ballet and piano.

There are four new O'Clock Opera Company productions of "The Marriage of Figaro" in English, with characters appearing in modern dress. Marta Stefani, prima ballerina of the Metropolitan Opera Company, and two male dancers, and a professional orchestra. These programs will be held in the auditorium of the Westminster Home for Women.

In 1943 this plan was introduced in Westminster and the new organization sponsored three concerts during that year with such personalities as among others of the Metropolitan Opera Co.

This year the group has sponsored four concerts and there is every indication that for the concert season.

In 1907 Polytech Institute Consolidated High School of West Orange, New Jersey, was the first of the concert audience under the establishment of the Polytech Institute Consolidated.

It was to proceed to do away with the financial risk by organizing a professional musical organization, every city, called an "association," and formed on a non-profit membership basis through a one-week in-service campaign organized by a professional person, instead of raising the money first and engaging the artist afterward within the limits of the fixed budget, made available. The sale of single admissions was entirely done away with. Only members could attend the concerts.

Dr. Evelyn Mudge To Be Advisor Of Trumpeters

Members of the Women's Honorary Organization of Western Mary Williamson, worry that the official name of the organization to be "The Westminster College Women's Honorary Organization," under the advisement of Dr. Evelyn Mudge, also elected at the organizational meeting.

Western Maryland Alumni Association presented Dr. Wills' portrait to the College two years ago. To all Western Marylanders this portrait is a priceless inspiration; to Dr. Wills, his greatest possession for the present gift.

The annual portrait is necessary to evoke the memory of Dr. Wills in the minds of both Western Maryland students and faculty. Although in his class, every student is being conditioned from the very first, many moments one could easily resolve a remarkable and indelible twinkle in his eyes.

The initial idea of the Western Maryland has grown with the development. As early as 1920 the idea was being promoted to "benefit" of the College Students until 23, but has been extended for the comfort of the residence halls.

The meeting, which opened the academic year, was the first of the association sponsored three successful concerts. The Columbia Concert, Inc., was the organization.

A biography of Sidney Poteett published in The Washington Times reads: "The performers were all of the accomplished. From 1904-1914 he served as News Editor of the Atlantic Literary Journal and from 1915-1933 served as special English at the University of Maryland.

Professor Francis Morse is working for his Ph.D. at the University of Virginia. His special interest is in the study of "The Native American Indians." His relationship with his students is best expressed in his own words when he says: "I have always worked with students, always working with students, always working with students, always working with students!"

Faculty Turnover Reaches A New High; Thirteen Changes In Effect

Thirteen changes have been made in the Western Maryland College faculty since May 1944, reaching the highest number of replacements ever in a single academic year.

Many valuable people have manumitted but those who replace them have taken on more responsibilities. Dr. Drift Seece has left the English department to take a position in the University of Tennessee. A new man will arrive February first to take his place.

Miss Joyce Hartshorn, who was in the music department has gone back to private duty. The late Mrs. Wills also holds the position in the memory of the students and faculty of W.M. She was especially revered by the girls for her cheerfulness and her charming gift.

Introducing “Your Hill”

Many introductions have filled this first week of college with excitement and fun, and as a climax, we introduce the Gold Bug, and in a sense, the school of your choice.

Whenever people have gone before us, we find that they have their standards to maintain, their ideals, their dreams, and their lives to study. At Western Maryland there are the traditions of several generations to be upheld and we feel that you will want to know them so that you may help to perpetuate the spirit of our Alma Mater in a position to call men out of darkness into light.

We stand for scholarship; for the will to learn, and the determination to use learning to benefit others. We stand for honor; for the desire to do the right thing, whatever the consequences. We stand for sportsmanship; for the ability to accept failure as a challenge to success. We stand for fellowship; for the feeling that every man is brother and that he has a right to the best that we can offer him.

There is no standard way of showing that these are the basic tenets of life on College Hill; they must become vital abilities of the individual, to be transformed freely into actions which he believes in keeping with the goals.

We are grateful for your presence on the Hill, freshmen, for with you come a new life, new hopes and new possibilities. In you are our hopes for the future, and we give you to one bit of advice which applies to our dreams and your own. "If one advances confidently in the direction of his dreams, and endevours to live the life of faith which he has imagined, he will meet with a success unexpected in common hours." This was the advice of David Livingstone, it is the idea of Western Maryland upperclassmen; may you adopt it as your own.

Dear Freshmen

By Shirley Snyder

Sept. 26th, 9:42 A.M. P. M.

Hi Kids,

I supposed you wrote to a letter to help you get over that traditional feeling that comes, inevitably, to Freshmen. You know what the traditional feeling comes from all the whir of new people, new plans, new people, receptions. In other words, you feel like you're supposed to be adopting a new lifestyle and you don't know how to do it. You're not going to get lost, remember, the uppers are all there to help you and that's why you are writing to the juniors and seniors, anyway. You, yourself, are the seniors, one who lets things happen to you, you sit back and wait, you're last, and I'm not kidding. It is now 9:33 P.M. and this letter has to be written by 10. You know how it is to work against time—those notes that made you feel you were applying to be Einstein's assistant—I'm working against time now, because I am driving my Freshmen and I don't know if my thumbs down so I could be used for background music to "Drums Along the Mohawk." I'm not kidding, it is now 9:33 P.M.

But all this isn't helping you, is it? I haven't been as raised since my orientation week. I remember how we all went around clutching those little programs telling us where to go, when to do everything but how to do it. I'm trying to tell you not to waste the dumbest things. I, for one. I still sit down the dressing room since I thought it was a dressing room, I don't care how long I keep my clothes down.

But I concealed my embarrassed self with the knowledge that it gave the boys a good laugh—and to say nothing of a few Faculty members of the same sort.

And then I remember how much noise we used to make. One or twice it got 4:05 P.M. when the plug was tapped back—but not gently. Those weeks later I learned that a faculty member lived under me. She wasn't learning the Morse code, either. She was telling us to call the notes. Then there was the time one hung one some one was on the phone. I'd look out the window and see the white line on clothes line, and it disappeared. Sometimes later Dr. Morgan would send an errand boy to the phone.

You see, the faculty does have a sense of humor. So don't be afraid to talk to your advisors—ask them lots of questions—that's the only way to learn.

On a lighter note, many of us are confused that you don't know what to take or what you're going to major ing in. This is only natural. Many introductions have been filled with group singing and dancing.

But I consoled my embarrassed self with the knowledge that it gave the boys a good laugh—and to say nothing of a few Faculty members of the same sort.

Advice---From The Old And Wise

Fre: This-Year's Student, Campus Leader, Sheriff's College Roadmap For Freshmen

After even one week you may realize that you definitely do not know where you are, how to get where you want to go, or even how to think! Here are some pointers:

1. First, I'd try to get to the center right. Maybe you think your interest is not a hangover of those glorietic and complex at times. Real Christianity isn't just pious folding of the hands. It's the thing that gives meaning to life as well as students, learn to choose your friends wisely. But listen: the moment you lose sight of your objective, forget your ideals, and your church, you will want to stop. I really mean that!

2. From there I'd branch out. Religion isn't just pious folding of the hands. It's the thing that gives meaning to all of life. Avoiding the religious life is not giving in to the world, but through frosh this year. We'll say our say. in their name.

3. Even though they know the answers, you want, but the goods with which you are at school, but through frosh this year. We'll say our say. in their name.

4. One caution, though: a temper is a dilapidated saddles. Then came the women to solicit their aid at any time as well as students, learn to choose your friends wisely. But listen: the moment you lose sight of your objective, forget your ideals, and your church, you will want to stop. I really mean that!

5. The regular schedule of classes begins Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, October 6 and 7.

6. Do not neglect the classes that are out of bed (I hope!), and get to school and dinner on time. But now my advice will be different: Take your knowledge you learn, the friendship you make will justify all that college costs.

7. Don't overlook classes. If you want, but the goods with which you are at school, but through frosh this year. We'll say our say. in their name.

8. Never, never again would I insist on have its teaching, I'd pick my interests and usually with plenty on the ball, and sometimes with panic all things, including your hands. It's the thing that gives meaning to life as well as students, learn to choose your friends wisely. But listen: the moment you lose sight of your objective, forget your ideals, and your church, you will want to stop. I really mean that!

9. Women Choose Name And Adviser At First Men's Day (Cont. from page 1, col. 1) and Catherine Watling to be the women of 1944. That is the reason the selection of services rendered to the school as individuals, and was in anticipation of services to be performed as a unit. The name was chosen as a committee on the challenge from I Corinthians 14:9, "If the trumpet gives an uncertain sound, who will prepare himself to the battle?" This was the climax of the formal ceremony of the day by the women of their original sponsor, Dean Callender.

10. They will assist individuals and associations whenever called upon, and will be present at every school function where their assistance would be appreciated. They especially invite women to solicit their aid at any time as well as students, learn to choose your friends wisely. But listen: the moment you lose sight of your objective, forget your ideals, and your church, you will want to stop. I really mean that!

11. As individuals, the girls are visible in various positions. Ruth Hauser serves as Women's Athletic Association, Mary Deaver, Women's Student Government President, and Sigma Sigma Gamma. In the Gold Bug, E.C.A. features Gamma Chi, and U.R.A.C. are the chief interests of Lillian Jackson, while Ruth Milne is U.R.A.C. president, U.R.A.C. president, McDaniel House, and in the Golden Intern, Secretaries Gamma Chi member. Girls are prevented to Helen Bishop, Delta Sigma Kappa, Home Economics Club, and Women's Student Government President. The regular schedule of classes begins Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, October 6 and 7.

12. Their election was the result of their strong faith that colleg, while it's cultural opportunities you will appreciate. More week-ends, more shows, more dates - uninterrupted: sounded too fast. But now my advice will be different: Take your knowledge you learn, the friendship you make will justify all that college costs.

13. Do not neglect the classes. If you want, but the goods with which you are at school, but through frosh this year. We'll say our say. in their name.

14. I would not get angry with my dreamer, but the goods with which you are at school, but through frosh this year. We'll say our say. in their name.

15. I'm firmly convinced that college will be a good time to take a breather. An-
How much does it cost to move a pin?

On a war map of the South Pacific, the little red-white-and-blue pins mark steadily westward. Threw ... Makin ... the Marshalls ... Saipan ... and each move brings the pins closer to Tokyo. And each move is mighty expensive business. The cost is high in dollars ... and the cost is high in men.

To plant the Stars and Stripes on Saipan cost the lives of more than 2000 American boys ... plus some 12,000 wounded and missing. Naturally, these losses cannot be summed up in dollars and cents ... there is not enough money in the world to bring back 2000 dead Americans.

But in guns, ammunition, and other equipment, it is estimated that Saipan cost us many millions of dollars. Each of the many steppingstones remaining between our forces and Tokyo may cost as much or more.

Where is the money coming from? It's coming from you ... from the taxes you pay, and from the War Bonds you buy.

According to election returns counted today by the Gold Bug editorial staff, Robert Harrison is the head of the 50-member S. C. A. for the second semester of the school year 1944-45 under the direction of Lilian Jackson.

One of the members of the staff for that semester included Mary Welsh, managing editor; Robert Adams and Virginia Vesper, news editors, and Lindy Williams, feature editor. Of these, Mary Welch, due to her duties as editor of the college newspaper, was absent from the fall semester.

Mr. Adams has accepted a position on the Student Advisory Council, where he felt he could best aid the paper during the coming year, the membership of which will be responsible for two issues.

The Gold Bug received a score of 1043 points, the most it has ever attained in its record of winning All-American Honor in the past eight semesters. The Western Maryland College newspaper won the title "excellent" in all phases: news values and sources, features, writing abilities, headlines, typography and makeup; and department pages and special features.

Only five other student newspapers, in all the country, compared their eight papers published by four-year colleges with an enrollment of less than 10,000, to receive the award.

On several innovations in Gold Bug policy this year the creation of a Student Advisory Council, this group of six, has been a success. (Cont. on page 4, col. 1)

Sadie Hawkins Plans Annual Hunt; Hey-Day Saturday, November 4

One of Western Maryland's claims to fame has always been the ability to stage successfully a Sadie Hawkins Day, even when there are but a few men on campus. This year, in view of the fact that there are four and a half women to every man, the usual observance may not prove, after all, to be any better than its many better hiking shoes and take to the woods on November 4, the fated day, they will meet in the woods, and perhaps, by won and Sadie's of few Daisy's.

Just what Al Capo would say if he could see what is being planned for his favorite character is very difficult to say, but look to the ideas being presented by Pappy Tilman, Millard, the Original Al Capone, Sadie Hawkins, and Daisy's, to name three of the many that he is riding to the sky in ribbons of smoke.

Mammy, Pappy, L/l Al Capone, Daisy Mae, Available Jones, Marrying Sam, and even Sadie Hawkins are to be in Blanche Ward Gym in full costume, to brush up on leadership and command, second in command, who is leading the sophomore class in the Morning Drill Periods in the afternoon, first aid, and chem- with the freshman class on the fundamentals of map reading. Col. Andrew G. Gardner is the new Professor of Military Science and Tactics on the campus, in command of the R.O.T. unit at Western Mary- land, replacing Col. Paul J. Dewling. Col. Gardner entered the Infantry in 1913 as a second lieutenant. He was head of the Infantry Department at the United States Military Academy from 1935 to 1936, and was stationed at Camp Pusan, Virginia, prior to being transferred there.

Analyzing Col. Gardner in the training of the members of the R.O.T. unit is First Lieutenant George J. Rich- ardson, second in command, who is les- turing the freshman class on the funda- ments of map reading and patrolling, first aid, and che- mical warfare. Col. Gardner is leading the unit in the fundamentals of map reading and the advantages of drill periods in the afternoon, to prepare leadership and com- mand. Sophomores will be assigned positions of command in a few weeks, according to the Military Depart- ment.

Herscheid Tops Frock On Class Exams

Twenty-two freshmen ranked among the highest in the 1944 placement tests given during the orientation periods. Mamie Herscheid placed among the top in three of the six tests on English, psychology, and psychology, and also took sufficient high in biology to merit a score of 100 percent. Other who hold a place in the top percent of the English, English, and reading tests are Raymond H. Hix, Robert F. Judson, Frederick J. Brown, and Fern A. Be.

Following are alphabetical lists of the freshmen who made the ten highest scores.

Psychological: Raymond H. Ben- nethoff, Kenneth G. Bouchelle, Fre- drick J. Brown, George H. Runkles, Mary Alice Herchfeld, Phyllis Louise Heck, Richard M. Mathews, Fern A. Be.

It Might Have Been

It might have been more like you had picked the wrong college, but the war hadn't come. You've probably sat in judgment now of what college life will be like. You've supposed it would be a mad scramble, dodging football, basketball, and a little study—but it is different, isn't it? For you have pushed aside so much more quickly—responsibility has been forced upon you, perhaps, before you were ready to want it. That carefree life, so characteristic of youth and unlearning, hasn't been there any more. Your job is important—most so as those at Bethesda and Gunter, I'm sure, have realized. This is the time for a few words from those of us who have been through them.

The Hill will still be somewhat the same. It has kept its beauty, and Nature has been granted a chance to grow and become more rounded. The air of congeniality, and our "Hills" have not been and should not be lost. And still, we have our college, the Christmas services, investitures, bulletin board, and publications. And—there's something gone—something that pervades the air and the ding of "do-ordie" for Western Maryland. But that will return with time.

A good beginning is essential. Unfortunately, there are too many (professors included) who lose their opinions on first impressions. It is much easier to be a good start than to have to rectify a poor one. Discontinuing yourself is important. For the first time many of you are cut away from direct guidance of parents—be careful and make wise decisions.

It is a personal thing. Everyone is your friend at Western Maryland. The administration, the professors, and fellow students alike—all want to help you. Their advice may be faulty, or may seem very wrong at times, but listen to them. That is their job. No one is trying to mislead you.

Live your college life as if it were your own. Your entire future is to be based on what you derive from your work. Whatever you are doing—extra-curricular, or social, get the utmost out of it—opportunities may be present once. It is a weak person who must look back upon his college life and "kick" himself for the "past" that he lost. When decision is to be made, study them now—not to regret it later.

These four years are grand years. They mark the most definite change of your life—from youth to adulthood. The preparation that you make today for in planning the world of tomorrow, this is a grave, weak, and sudden world—it will take new life and hope to rebuild peace and happiness. You have given to you—your sincere applications and honest effort will shape the events for years to come. Will you be able to help? or will you be a burden on the wheels of progress?

War must not come again. It is up to you to keep it out. For the nations of the earth cannot survive another war. If the brilliant minds of the world are all allowed to run in channels of hatred and planning for destruction, then there is no hope. We must be prepared to push all our other problems—social, personal, economic, political, and the brotherhood of all nations, else all is lost.

Remember, responsibility is yours. It was yours the moment you stepped across the threshold of college. You can't turn back—you'd be a quitter. It's up to you to prove your worth—shall you? I'm afraid I don't think that I might have been.

This semester I begin my first education course. And I'm anxious not to be a potentially "harmless" person. Mathematical Arnold would say.

I'm supposed to be a typical person up the steps to learn and thereby show just what this education is all about.

But, oh not only, enough. We can't in the style of old morality plays call this typical person "Everychild." To everyone else, "Everychild" is just a code name for is Everyman his father.

To begin, the child learns to walk in the pre-primary age—presumably on the supposition that his minds and sympathetically explained the political, social, and economical advantages of doing. Exacting the extravagance, the spirit of "do-or-die" for Western Maryland. The administration, the professors, and fellow students alike—all want to help you. Their advice may be faulty, or may seem very wrong at times, but listen to them. That is their job. No one is trying to mislead you.

live your college life as if it were your own. Your entire future is to be based on what you derive from your work. Whatever you are doing—extra-curricular, or social, get the utmost out of it—opportunities may be present once. It is a weak person who must look back upon his college life and "kick" himself for the "past" that he lost. When decision is to be made, study them now—not to regret it later.

These four years are grand years. They mark the most definite change of your life—from youth to adulthood. The preparation that you make today for in planning the world of tomorrow, this is a grave, weak, and sudden world—it will take new life and hope to rebuild peace and happiness. You have given to you—your sincere applications and honest effort will shape the events for years to come. Will you be able to help? or will you be a burden on the wheels of progress?

War must not come again. It is up to you to keep it out. For the nations of the earth cannot survive another war. If the brilliant minds of the world are all allowed to run in channels of hatred and planning for destruction, then there is no hope. We must be prepared to push all our other problems—social, personal, economic, political, and the brotherhood of all nations, else all is lost.

Remember, responsibility is yours. It was yours the moment you stepped across the threshold of college. You can't turn back—you'd be a quitter. It's up to you to prove your worth—shall you? I'm afraid I don't think that I might have been.

"If we made it so

I'm attempting to see it "clearly and see it whole" as the garbage man collects the garbage, the kind policeman

In these times it is imperative that American leaders, including those who legislate to regulate their constituents' activities, be morally and ethically consistent. Failure to do so in an atmosphere of conflict and confusion, when our war is far-removed from our own land and the lives of our constituents, is an outright betrayal of their trust. A. Winning of the Peace

Unlike the two major parties, the democratic party has always made the payment of its peace plans. It promises the American people to demand an immediate international situation, which will be determined by the offer of an armistice to the belligerent nations on the following conditions:

1. The peace should be organized on the principles of international law and justice: (a) the right of the belligerent nations to live in their own territories; (b) the need for the return of all belligerent nations, including such as the United States, to their pre-war position as determined by the United States, open to membership by all the nations who desire peace; (c) the maintenance of international peace and security. We favor the maintenance of an international court for the settlement of disputes, guaranteeing peace and security, and the establishment of an international court of justice.

body through routine exercises. In conjunction with this thought, intra-mural sports are again to be accentu-
ed. Teams will be formed in the various gym classes, and football, basketball, and baseball will comprise the main activities. There will be an extensive, basketball season due to the fact that the game seems to be known to more students than football and soccer. Football will probably be played from November into the early days of March. During warmer weeks, softball, tennis, and golf will be played.

A certain amount of emphasis will be placed upon corrective physical education. It is believed that it may be able to play a great part in correcting the many cases of deficient health. A program will be worked out from an annual report by Dean Free in cooperation with Lieutenant Richards of the Military Department. Already, competition has been started between the Seminary students and the Wesleyans. At the last of this writing, two games have been played. On Wednesday, October 11, the Wesleyans tied the Seminary, six to six, and on Thursday, October 12, the Seminary defeated the victorious Wesleyans twelve to two. The Seminary team has no game to play every Wednesday and Thursday.

There are four sororities on the Hill at the

Two-Month Survey of Town
To Be Made By Reporters

Students Seldom Appear Aware Of Community;
Economic, Social, Political Aspects Under Review

The Gold Bug introduces the first of a series of articles on Westminster College's two-month survey of the town. The survey's objectives are to gain a better understanding of the community's economic, social, and political aspects and to determine how well students are aware of these aspects. The survey will be conducted by a team of student reporters and will involve interviews, questionnaires, and observations.

Starting in 1939 with 11 families from Westminster and surrounding communities, the Westminster-Co-op now has a membership of approximately 1,000 families. This organization is an outgrowth of the Kingdom of Former Schools, a small town of Bebidge, England, 100 miles south of London, and is spreading throughout the world.

In 1943 a group of mill workers and women who had been relocated to the off the yoke of low wages and poor working conditions banded together to form a co-operative store. Other similar groups followed and they set up their own factories and stores and became known as the co-op's everywhere.

A third is a dynamic profit in the hands of the members. With each purchase of a product, a small percentage of the price is returned to the customer. These surpluses are turned into consumer-owned stock certificates and paid according to the amount of the consumer's purchases.

In 1953 Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Blee, of the Western Maryland College, joined the Westminster Co-op and studied the co-op's which were already operating in England and the Scandinavian countries. Among the countries they toured were England, the Scandinavian countries, and the USA. During their stay, they were impressed with the fact that the co-op movement is still function independently and democratically.

Westminster College's West Virginia campus has a well-established law library, and it is the perfect location for a fun and engaging event.

The program will include lectures, discussions, and practical experience. Students will have the opportunity to work with professionals in the field and to gain hands-on experience. The program will also include field trips to local land information offices and other related organizations.

The Women's Athletic Association is an organization for women who are interested in sports and athletics. The group offers a variety of activities and events, and it is open to all students.

The program is open to all students, including part-time students, and it is designed to provide a comprehensive understanding of the field.
corporation the business division of the co-operative movement. It is a cooperative corporation that the Westminster co-op buys the canned and packaged goods it sells to the consumers. The wholesalers in turn buy from independent packers whose products have been tested in their laboratories and found to meet the standards set by the Department of Agriculture.

The products accepted by the wholesalers company are separated into three grades which are designated by the color of the label on the product: grade B—red, grade B—blue, grade C—green. In this way customers can tell at a glance the quality of the product they are purchasing.

Although the co-op is completely independent and farm-owned it is subject to the same taxes as other business concerns pay.

Once a year, the members of the co-op in Westminster meet and elect a board of directors. They choose the manager of the co-op and decide on policies. The manager is responsible for carrying out the policies of the board.

In addition to groceries, the Westminster Co-op has a line of cosmetics and toiletries which are made in the laboratories of the National Cooperative organization (an all-employee cooperative). This line of products is sold only in co-op stores and are not sold through any other business concerns.

Dr. James Houghton

Dr. James Houghton, the world-renowned American baritone, will present a recital at Alumni Hall, Western Maryland College, on Friday, November 17, at eight o'clock. Born in Davenport, Iowa, Dr. Houghton inherited his beautiful baritone voice and a keen understanding for all things musical from his English and Welsh parents. His first public concert was given at the age of six, when he sang for Antonio Scotto, famous director of the Manhattan Opera Company, who pronounced his voice as one of the most perfect and brilliant future for the young singer.

The next few years of his musical education were spent at the Technical Institute of Iowa and later Harvard University. At the latter institution he became immediately recognized by Dr. Archibald B. Myhill, director of the Harvard Glee Club, as the possessor of a startling vocal voice with phenomenal and triumphant success abroad during his first season from 1929-1930.

Fellowship Stimulated By Fireside Meeting
d by Frances McDaniel, librarian

Fireside Fellowship meetings are held every Sunday evening in the McDaniel Lounge. These informal gatherings organize to present a feeling of fellowship among the students and faculty, and to help relieve everyone from the impending tension on the Hill.

All students, faculty members, and guests are urged to come. A lively fire in the fireplace is set to add a home atmosphere. The idea is informal and unpretentious.

No specific plans or programs are announced, but everyone is free to bring any one who has special poetry, records, or readings he wishes to read. He is only asked to bring along enough reading material to share with others who would not enjoy your favorite. You are asked to bring your own refreshments, whether it is an apple, a cake, or a cup of coffee. Apples, for example, come on it! You'll always find something in nible on it. It may only be a small change to give you relaxation and a time to forget about books, homework, and the World War.

As We Look Ahead

Ignorability
By Sara Jane Rice

(With apologies to S. Maugham, novelist.)

I find nothing less convivial than an art gallery. The rows of self-same paintings and statues stare at me in silence. When I walk out to sit on the bench in the park, I do not feel that my creations are too insignificant to do their creations from remants of the past.

But on this day, the peacefulness at an art gallery was preferable to the hurried bustle of city streets. The first room had all its benches filled with its quiet and older people who moulder to themselves, or perhaps a Muse, as they gather to bear that they cannot bear the stillness of their lives as they used it. I went into the third room, and by nature reticent. My life has al-

Town Survey
By Mary F. Davies

Located on Railroad Avenue in Westminster, Maryland, the WSSF is a small branch of an industry area in one of General Motors. The industry is earning a profit. The WSSF's major product is the B.F. Shriver Company, and the company is now under the government of the United States.

Canning usually begins in the early months of the year, and continues in June with green peas, green beans; August and early September, tomatoes; and late September, October, late green beans.

The product is obtained, for the most part, from farms in Carroll County. About 150 farms with nearly 5000 acres are owned by the company and these furnish all the asparagus, corn, tomatoes, and those grown on farms supply the corn and peas. A field man travels through the farms to bring signs to farmers to sell their products to the company. The company is made up of people who have known the farm life, the farm work, and the farm tools. The company is made up of people who have known the farm life, the farm work, and the farm tools.

Although a few of the farmers who now are members of the WSSF and the B.F. Shriver Company, they are the heroes and heroines of a new and different age.

Local Canners Foul It Have Wide Market

two miles from Westminster. According to Mr. Charles Ecker, superintendent of the Westminster branch of the cannery, the PW's were quite satisfactory as help, and caused no trouble. Most of them could understand English and some could speak it. The PW's were used for picking beans, but a few were used for work inside the cannery.

Seasonal help at the cannery usually amounts to not more than 250 employees, depending on the type of canning and whether or not any of the fall or winter harvest is canned. Of this seasonal help, about 30 are regular employees. At the end of the canning season any help is no longer needed and the regular help is used to make repairs on the farms owned by the company and in the factory itself.

During the busy season the canning is begun at 7:00 A.M., varying according to the weather. The process is gathered at 5:30 A.M. and taken in trucks to the cannery so that it will be available as soon as the factory begins operating. Markets for the canned goods of the Bricker Co. extend as far north as the New England states, in Florida, Louisiana, Texas, and occasionally into the Middle West. There is also a buyer on the West Coast. Letters from these buyers cannot be mailed here because they are available to independent buyers, however. A large part of the products are held in reserve for government use and above this total there is a "tentative reserve" which each cannery is required by the government to put aside for a certain time. At the end of this time the government doesn't need it, this supply is made available to civilians.

Many of the products of the cannery also branch in Littlestown, Pennsylvania and New Windsor, Maryland. The Westminster factory is the largest.
I don't know how, he said.

She had been impressed by the tall, slender体态 of Ralphie as I turned to leave.

He looked up at me, and I fancied his eyes looked into mine a trifle longer than the rest. Perhaps Iimagined it. I stood with Ralphie in my hand. I was ready to go to home as I had felt the hostility of big city enough. I was ready to return to my small city—to the hostility there.

Dr. L. F. Free Elected
President of Deans

Dr. L. F. Free was chosen by the students to succeed Dr. Lloyd M. Berberight, who is to retire at the end of the year. Dr. Berberight has been Dean of Men since 1923. The new Dean will take office on July 1, 1945.

The Student Christian Association's Christmas program will be presented in Baker Chapel on Wednesday evening, December 13, at 10:00 P.M. The nativity story, interpreted with music and poetry, will make up the program as planned by Warren Roberts, Carroll Doggett, Bob Adams, Karl Moer, and George Jessen. The Christmas story is to be presented in five parts: The Prophecy of Isaiah, the Annunciation, the Magi, the Nativity, the Angel visitation, and the Visit of the Wise Men.

The program will be opened with the reading of Jeanne Pirschak's poem. The audience will be entertained by seasonal carols and a reading of the poetry selections of the program.

The old, beloved Christmas music as sung by a male trio and a mixed choir will help them to appreciate the true meaning of its origin. The choir consists of William Smith, baritone; Jack Mota, tenor; and John Yarbrough, bass. The quartet has not yet been announced.

Dr. Berberight's assistant, Mr. D. J. Frey, will also be present.

THE GOLD BUG

Official student newspaper of Western Maryland College, published monthly during the fall, winter, and spring terms, and quarterly during the summer term. All rights reserved. Published at Westminster, Maryland, under authority of the Board of Trustees.

The cover of this month's Theatre Arto Magazine is a picture of Frederic March. He is shown raising a flag of the United States—our own flag and our national standard. In the current Broadway play, a Bell for Adano, he is playing a soldier who is stationed in Baltimore prior to its New York run. I say this, because I should never want anyone to think that I had traveled all the way to New York for this.

Until now, I have refrained from any comment other than a few observations concerning the play. I have done this, for fear my remarks might come to the wrong ears, and I should inadvertently be the cause of Paul Osborn's labors. This play, a Bell for Adano is now safely on Broadway, so I need not have fear of misconstruing anyone at all. I am by nature generous.

I should rather see a play than do almost anything else in the world because it is so alive with life. The theatre is not only my chosen art, it is to see the culmination of all the arts. Therefore, it is a theatregoer's particular pleasure. The movies are but one of the shoots of steam and the chase of the story, but these are all done in black and white. The American way of life is extremely important to all of us—now, but the changes are not to be found in three hundred Broadway seats.

Secondly, I object to the presentation of a play on the stage. Real life is a stage, and in life, Hersey, Hersey is a newspaper correspondent. His book is a newspaper man's account of life in the war because this is what he sees, and what he knows. The small love story makes the newspaper man's account more palatable, and worth the time spent for the reader who must not write his story with everything he sees, reads, or hears. Very well. But the stage is not a substitute for life.

In fact, I object to the adaptation of any book for the stage. Such a play has two major handicaps to overcome; the present-day reader's understanding of how the play should look and sound; and the transition from one medium to another being an entirely different one. Obviously, these handicaps are not present when the audience can see the book or the movie by itself. The reader who finds no discomfort in translating an arrangement of life from a painting to a theatrical palm of it. When F.L.S. is given for scholars who give converts yearly into books as I shall absolutely disapprove, and follow those who are given by others. The different forms and arts entirely diverse demands upon all of us. The reader or viewer of these tales is akin to the princess cell to the floor under the workshop bench.

Frederic March is said to give the best performance of his career in a Bell for Adano. As he walked away from his last cantaloupe, I decided that an ardent actor, real or imagined, would have been glad. Frederic March showed no sign of such—while on that stage, at least. But there is one advantage to being an actor, and to the reader, who finds it always possible to figure that has perfect posture.

Money For Peaceetime Consumption Better Spent For Science And Education, Writer Says

Young, and Lt. Ridgely Priendl will example of others but we do not find necessary to go to war as an example of this. The cost of peace-time consumption will be tremendous, a burden on an already burdened-nation. We will have to spend a colossal sum in order to get to the present. We find very little taught for the betterment of this country. We need a leadership! How much more wonderful it would be to give this money to science and education, in a means of enriching the world! How much better it would be to spend these sums on higher causes and social improvement! The more important is that the extraor-

There will be taken from the boy at least one year of his life. Multiply that number by the millions who will have to undergo the training in this present-day terminology consider the manpower, lost which might have been loaned to something constructive-constructive within the in-

We are faced with the unpleasant task of resigning from the editor's desk of the Gold Bug. Dr. F. L. C. Capobianco died suddenly last week, and we find ourselves in a mood for reminiscing, and at the same time for looking forward to a very promising future.

We firmly believe that although it has not always achieved its goal, it is the goal of this student publication to represent that which is best at Western Maryland College. The best in the way of scholarly work, the best in the way of cooperative working, the best in the way of good expression. In the past four years, in positions from reporter to editor, we have tried to keep this major objective in mind.

Now, as it comes time for us to give up the duties, the hardships, the privileges, the pleasures of the office, we wish to share with those of you who have read with us throughout the years, our thoughts on some main topics: review, appreciation, and challenge.

On the first topic, we think back ever since articles as Mr. Malosky's of 1944. We weren't being radical when we presented this article; we were attempting to provoke serious thought. We like to remember articles written by A. S. T. P. men who were writing in spite of a huge military, half civilian population, all Western Maryland students could function as a unit.

We try to remember such articles as Dr. T. M. Whitfield's editorial, printed in the last issue of the paper; we hope we have made clear that every student on the campus is important to us.

In the second topic, we think back over such articles as Dr. H. T. Read's, who pioneered in the way of thought expression. In the past we have heard and yet who are all important to the readers. We reveal our beliefs about the papers to the former editors, Isaac, Don, and John, for we have needed their advice and assistance often, and it has never been denied.

Perhaps the most important word of thanks which we can say should be directed to Mr. Edgar Royer and the Times Printing company, and to our printer, Mrs. Nina Veale, Mrs. Evelyn Wenner, Mr. Milson C. Raver, for we have needed his help and encouragement 'made even difficult times worth of their service.

The Shoe Plooper

As we first see Moliere, he is coming up the front steps of the palace, on his way to see the king. How did he get there? How did he know the king? He was invited to become a member of the court.

Well, this palace gate was guarded by a dragon who was a fierce beast. He could spit fire and he could have sixty-five heads, complete with tongue and teeth for each of the sixty-five mouths. The royal dentist went over each of the sixty-five mouths before having the chance to read in a book that didn't seem overgrown at all, and sent him to the first grade when he was old enough, because she feared he had sixty-five heads, complete with tongue and teeth for those sixty-five heads. Green Terror Quint's Expert Ball Handling Defeats Westminster Theological Seminary

Playing their last game of the year, the Terror quintet bounced back after a defeat in Martinsburg, to score a convincing 61-44 victory over the minister theological Seminary.

Leaving a stinging offensive, the Terror showed they were too much for the Seminary five. Bruno King, center for W.M.C., was too much to guard, as was Harry Buckingham, forward for Westminster. Jack Spicknall, ex-guard, was changed to the forward positions.

First Seasonal Road Trip Made To Martinsburg; Team Met Defeat

The Newton D. Baker Hospital at Martinsburg, W. Va., was the destination and starting point of the trip for the Western Maryland basketball team. Thirteen boys made the eighty-mile journey to ensure the hospital visit.

It was high praise for the boys that, even though they did have their noses rubbed for the trip to the hospital was well worth the trip.

From the first two minutes of play to the time of the last whistle, the Terrors were outclassed. The hospital and area town with three years of college experience and this didn’t help our bit a bit. After about six minutes of play in the first quarter, the hospital led by a 1-2 score. At the end of the quarter the score was 16-4.

During the second period it looked as though the Terrors might overtake, but at the end of the half the score was 84-15. The Terror’s quarter and the hospital’s (W.M.C.’s) victory; in that quarter we scored exactly two points.

High scorer for the Terrors was guard Jack Spicknall. Jack played up to his season average, racking nine points. Runners-up for scoring honors were Lionel Burgess with six points followed by Harry Buckingham, 5.

In the first half of the game, the Terrors were ahead, 7-1, but the hospital, with a more skilled team, won the first part of the game, 61-44.

The last half presented a more even contest, with the hospital scoring 29 points to the Terrors’ 17. "Paige" Burgess scored two baskets in the third quarter, and Thompson sank a good long shot in the final frame, but the Terrors were unable to hold on, as the hospital did the same.

Final-scoring of the Terrors showed a definite improvement over the Loyola contest. The Terrors made out 14 attempts. Lionel Burgess and Harry Buckingham stepped up to the plate with perfect nights. Three shots out of seven tries between them accounted for the Terrors’ night on the court.

Jack Spicknall also had perfect nights at the foul line.

Terror’s victory was a real morale builder. The Terrors had been in the doldrums for a month and a half, but the upset over Loyola College proved a real pick-me-up.

Nemo knows and understands that only a W.M.C. can appreciate the true value of the "harp." This is true when the Terrors go through the back editions of the Gold Bug, the origin of Lt. Robinson’s nickname "Gold Bug" was revealed. It seems that a friend visiting Piedmont University, where Nemo spent his summers, in a moment of fondness, remembered a little line from the same name. One must take into consideration that Nemo needed a hero.

Lt. Robinson, former sports editor of the Gold Bug for two years, married a W.M.C. lady, Jane Miles, from the class of ’45. During his college years, he was an active athlete, playing baseball to varsity baseball. Nemo and his brother, Capt. Bill Robinson, are "old standby" from Chambersburg.

• News Wanted

Lt. Richard G. Patton sends word to the "Gold Bug Carriers" that he will appreciate a Gold Bug ad in gold so he can keep in touch with the campus. He also requests Capt. "Mac" Ellingson and Clyde Bade, whose names appeared in the "Wars and Stripes" of Lt. Patton returned to the Hill as a member of the ASPST Unit; then he wrote to the "Gold Bug" with an offer of his services. Now Lt. Patton is stationed in Luxembourg, where according to him the countryside resembles that around Westminster, but there isn’t much entertainment.

Cpt. Malcolm Kullmar, formerly mentioned in the Gold Bug, was wounded in action on January 2, 1945. Fourteen fragments of metal remain in his body, as a result of a mine explosion, but there are no internal wounds. Lt. Kullmar is recovering very rapidly. Fred Kullmar, brother of Malcolm, was killed in action.

Battle Hero

Cpt. Norman Poy, Jr. of the 15th Infantry, who has received the Bronze Star for his military actions against the enemy in Italy, received the honor on February 21, 1944. Capt. Poy led his company in an attack on a town and was the officer of the day. In the attack on the town, it was at the Battle of the Hill, in Germany. Lt. Kullmar was stationed in Luxembourg, where according to him the countryside resembles that around Westminster, but there isn’t much entertainment.

Terror Carries News and Views From Western Maryland Men Overseas

Former Western Marylanders now in the service display a continued interest in the activities on the Hill as shown by letters recently received from the various battlefronts. In addition to news coming directly from the men, there have been a few letters from friends and relatives of alumni.

Word has been received from Mrs. Williams that her son, Lt. John W. Williams of the class of ’45, was wounded in the Battle of Normandy. Lt. Williams, after treatment at the hospital, returned to France for active duty.

Community Concert Series Will Offer Mozart's "The Marriage Of Figaro"

"The Marriage of Figaro," the gay opera by Mozart, will be presented at the Westminster High School on Monday, February 19, at 8:15 P.M., as the second in the current series of musical events sponsored by the Community Concert Association. The Nine-Odok Opera Company, a group of young American singling-shows, who have scored unprecedented success during the past two seas-sons in 125 cities, will perform "The Marriage of Figaro" for the audience, using understandable English and modern dramatics down. The company has added to the power of the great music in the opera a touch of comedy by translations of wit not simplified plit.

The cast of the opera includes Stuart Grady, Jean Greenwall, Carl uen Sherman, Vernon Tracey, Helen Van Tom, and Alice Greer, with Rich Consable as accompanist. Early in the history of the Nine-Odok Opera Company, they decli ned themselves to a semi-classic produ-ction of operas. In the spring of 1939, they appeared at the Jadlitt in a costume performance of "The Marriage of Figaro" and repeated it that summer at the Massa- dussa Institute. The next time they came to the area, they added a coloratura coloratura at the end of the opera, and in order to cut the text of the opera intelligibly, one of the singers in the company, David Otto, bridged over the gaps in the plot by explaining to the audiences what had happened in the meantime.

The present transportable, modern-ized version, which will be given here on the 18th was the result. It has been worked out in a production similar to a Tennessee Willard's "Wives of Winton." The first substitution was made in 1943, the second in 1944, the third in 1945. During these two seasons more than 100 cities of the United States and Canada heard the novel produc- tion of "The Marriage of Figaro." In response to innumerable de-mands the company has prepared a more finished version of "The Merry Wives of Winton." These principal scenes of "The Marriage of Figaro" will appear in the stream-lined version of Mozart's opera to be presented on February 19.

when he saw him, he had compassion on him. And he went to him, and bound up his wounds, gave him plasma, and picked him up, and took him to the dressing station.

When now of these three, which was the neighbor unto him that fell among the thieves?

And he said, He that shewed mercy on him. Then said Jesus unto him, Go, and do like likewise.

This is the first of several articles we hope to write in the forum in the weeks to come. We have not taken up our pen with desire to stir up bad feeling. We do not pretend we have all the light on our side, but we do feel that something should be said along this line. It may be that some who are now in their attempt to de-limit their duty may be helped a little. It may be that some may be saved from hell because of an ex-treme stand they believe to be the only true Chris-tian teaching. It may be that some will find it possible to live some of their own blood or service to those who fight for a nation that gives them the chance of the children of religious people the freedom to choose.

Paul Maynard To Offer Recital Of All-Bach Compositions

Paul Maynard will present an organ recital at 8:00 P.M., Tuesday, March 6, in Alumni Hall. The outstanding feature of this program will be the fact that it consists of All-Bach compositions. This is the first time any Western Maryland student has offered such a recital.

Mr. Maynard is well known on our campus both as the son of Dr. Theodore Maynard, who frequently lectures here, and as a suspect for organization. What we can do is that he is an electrical physics minor. Indeed his interest in science does not stop here, as he also has a knack for architectural drawing. Indeed his interest in science does not stop here, as he also has a knack for architectural drawing.

Mr. Maynard’s organ recital will include a large number of Bach’s compositions from the concerto and sacred music series at the Westminster United Church, and has given an all-Bach recital.

The program will consist of twenty-two organ preludes ranging from brilliant, dramatic preludes and fugues to intimate expressions of his deep religious feeling in the chorale preludes. His organ works represent the entire gamut of human emotions.

Dean’s List Privileges Won By Forty-Eight As Juniors Lead

Miss Martha Masahan, registrar, reported yesterday that forty-eight students have attained the Dean’s List for the first time in their college career. It seems that because they have made a “B” average, they have earned the privileges of all-Bach compositions.

The junior class has taken the lead so far, having twenty-two members on the list. They are Harry Bolig, Eric Frame, John Dorsey, Robert Baker, Grace Rowat, Bertha Britter, Barbara Brown, Edith Halley, Grace Underwood, Janet Jones, Grace Green, JoAnn Rowan,Ann Mccord, Eleanor Brown, Winifred Shaw, Virginia Zink, William Carolyn Wilson, and Marie Wilson.

Close runners-up were the seniors, with fourteen members gaining scholastic honors. Four of these seniors, Robert Adam, Richard Kole, Paul Maynard, and Karl Murphy, the only five seniors in the junior class, have made “B” averages. The seniors who achieved the honors are Jean E. Brooks, Anna Marie McCaffrey, John Dorn, Ruth Miles, Virgil Bost, Malorie Cassen, Janice Divito, Margaret Shriver, Jean Cox, Dennis Cane, Genevieve Green, Harold Chass, Alice Kuhn, Ruth Miles, Winifred Shauck, Virginia Zink, and Mary Virginia Stiles.

In the sophomore class, the winners are three seniors, the only five sophomores in the junior class, who have made “B” averages. The seniors who achieved the honors are Jean E. Brooks, Anna Marie McCaffrey, and John Dorn.

That the women cause the orchestra to function under the leadership of Miss Jane Beall, chairwoman of the WMC Interracial Group, has been underscored by the recent sponsorship of a considerable collection of books for the benefit of the colored people. The program for March 6 is as follows:

Prelude in E-flat Major (Beethoven) Benjamin Godard
A. G. Oulphus Lamb of God (B. H. Harris) Benjamin Godard
Rejoice, Good Christian Soul (J. S. Bach) Benjamin Godard
Prelude in E-flat Major (J. S. Bach) Benjamin Godard

Prelude in E Minor (Liszt) Chopin
Prelude and Fugue in A Minor (Bach) Benjamin Godard

Four of these seniors, Robert Adam, Richard Kole, Paul Maynard, and Karl Murphy, the only five seniors in the junior class, have made “B” averages. The seniors who achieved the honors are Jean E. Brooks, Anna Marie McCaffrey, John Dorn, Ruth Miles, Winifred Shauck, Virginia Zink, and Mary Virginia Stiles.

APPRECIATION

It is used to be known by all and un-derstood nowhere about as well as at the "The Pimlima Tavern." A great many refer almost as a matter of course when they are dealing with the culinary catastrophes. However, things have changed. We find ourselves mo-ning the majority of campus em-ployees, and sometimes even professors, in some degree of expectation. Despite rationing and various difficulties imposed by the time of our country's rise to life on College Hill, we must admit that we are the best in some five years-a true picture of the inspiration of our dietitians. The familiar quot-ation which has been used in the past -"should prove itself here with improved morale, better scholarship and happier students." CAMPUSLOGY

They are thirteen surprised people in the dining hall last week when they found they'd all been in-steadiously assigned to table number three. That might have been the end of it for a round of two old pastimes, "Going to Jerusalem". The Student Advisory Council of the Jones Junior High School (of Toledo) Alumni Association will hold its an-nual clambake in the grand ballroom of the Charles Carroll Hall Saturday night from 8:00 to 11:00 p.m. The net proceeds will be for the benefit of the juvenile cases in the second semester of her junior year, and then do guidance work.

The most thrilling basketball game of the season was witnessed by W.M.C. fans as the Green Terrors clashed with the Johns Hopkins five on the gym court Saturday night, February 3, to come out victors by a single point.

First Half Close

A quick start in the second quarter was taken by the Terrors who put the ball through the hoop seven times in the first 11 minutes. Hopkins followed suit and by the end of the first half, the Terrors five and Hopkins five were tied at 22-22.

First Team Outplayed

The first team was put in the game at the beginning of the second quarter, but the "A" team soon found themselves pulled aside in the score.

Close Finish

The game assumed a thrilling incident when the game was tied by a spectacular jump shot by the floor by Sam Furla of the Seminary squad. In the final seconds, however, Frank Smith made a field goal that gave the Terrors a 52-51 victory.

Exciting Finish

The last few minutes of the game formed a close contest in their seats with the score 48-48 with 2:19 left to play. Then Captain Joe Thompson had the spectacular field goal. In the final seconds, he was successful in both attempts and the game ended a few seconds later with Hopkins leading by one point over the victors. The final score was 52-51.

Outstanding Players for the Terrors were Captain Joe Thompson, Frank Stevens, Lionel Burgess, and Jack Spicknall. Stevens, playing his final game of the season, played superbly. Burgess and Thompson played a consistent game until the Hopkins tilt, proving very valuable by their team spirit, leadership, and playing an offensive play, and a sure shot. The Terrors' defense and offense scored the evening with 24 points.

Lively Road to the Win

Coach Widner started his second team against the Westminster Thespians in a fast-moving game on Friday night, February 9. The junior squad got off to a good start, but the "A" team soon found themselves pulled aside in the score.

Toleration

By Bert Harrison

Are you tolerant of other people? Already I am laughing, thinking of the scene I would get from such a question. You see, almost ninety-nine per cent of the people you would ask would say, "Of course I'm tolerant." You know, most of the time we aren't even tolerant of ourselves, so how can we be tolerant of one another? Sounds like an easy question to answer, doesn't it? Well, try it and see. The answers are surprising.

Honorary Hockey Team Revealed by W.A.A.

The honorary hockey team, selected by the W.A.A. Board and the faculty, was Miss Excella Cook, German; Miss Margaret Hausmann, president of the Board. The visitors were asked to attend as a token of attendance, skill, and interest.

Understanding Necessary

Put yourself in the other man's shoes; he does; perhaps it's lack of understanding of his part that makes us not even want to hear him talk. There are but a few of the hundreds of questions that would puzzle a boy who sounds his soup, the girl with R.O., the conscientious objector, the socialist, the fellow who is time-conscience protest, or the pacist who would rather work with you, and sometimes even side with you. What are your reactions toward them? Are you tolerant?

Several serious problems have been growing during the past ten years, far beyond the period of the war. For example, illness has increased tremendously; we have no solutions; but perhaps the answer to these problems is not such a simple one. This little does not more growth than some of the necessary apologies and adulting- abilities for writing such an article. I am not advocating that my opinions may be prejudiced for or against my major—for these I also apologize to you for.

Yes, I said it to you. What do you think you know?-Well, try it and see. The answers are surprising.

just hiding their time safely until the war is over—this is quite aggravating to the owner of the wish who has his share of what I would term "guts." They find it hard to realize that some of the men who do this very thing, do so in the face of a serious battle, for the sole purpose of disturbing those below. One might term them "birds of a feather" for they are often in the same form of war, only the area of water probed into the bed of the Freshman boys. All this may sound very true, but it is a rashness for more trouble, and more trouble has already started. Some of those men who choose to stand for pacifism do not refuse to take up arms in the face of battle, but just go on with their work and continue to do just the same thing they had been doing as "Samaritans." I repeat—what if all of us felt this way?

Need of Sincerity

If a boy is a sincere C.O., he is ready to accept the realities of the decision. He has done this very thing, he has done dangerous and much needed work. He will not use the military, through Selective Service, to continue to work on the letters of C.O.'s and instead has in most cases, preferred to isolate them to Civilian Public Service camps. A China most of C.O.'s under the American Friends Society to reconstitute work in China, and were ready to sail when the American Legion and others put pressure on and prevented any conscientious objects from serving outside the United States. Dr. Whitley would do the cause of the C.O.'s a great service if he could persuade the Federal Government to permit them to do dangerous and much needed work by themselves without the continual pressure of the government.

Open Conflict

In explanation of the pacifist's stand, we often forget that if all people took up the position of the C.O., our proudest weapons would not be able to protect us. Individually, the biblical story of the Good Samaritan has a Jew being healed by a man of a different nation, the Roman. If Jesus hadn't commended the Samaritan who did not injure, but healed, he commended the Samaritan who did not injure, but healed.

Three defeats at the hands of Loyola, Gettysburg, and Bridge- ward, have not dampened the recent activity of the hard playing Green Terror basketball team. On February 20 the boys from the Hill engaged the Loyola on the campus of the same institution and lost 28-19 lead at the half. However, the rallying Greyhounds overtook the Terrors in the second half and the final whistle blew the Loyola team with the score of 47-34.

The Green Terror met their worst defeat on the court on February 24. The sharpshooting, fastest "Bullet" quitel taken proved to be too much for the Terrorists and the final score was 52-30. March and it may be that the Terrors will not be in the victors with 22 and 21 points. Can they play basketball?"

Let us examine the causes for which not go into the victim's lap. (That is, unless we are satisfied with what has been heard over and over again. Whether your musical appetite is for the Romantic composers, the National Symphony Orchestra's concert in Alumni Hall last Friday night would suit you. In fact, some students, who had been engaged prophetically to the concert, were heard to say that it was like olives-you have to eat them three before you appreciate them. Others felt that it was like drinks-you can't appreciate them.

The decision lies within the hands of the students. We must be walking a long time for such a place; let's go and see the selection and what they were like.

Considering the difficulties of the problem, the decision was no easy matter. Three were those who see the charm of their hillside home and the weak worker wins combination to bring the strength of the Terrapin to their combined missionary activity.

Time has passed since the last article requesting a student recreation room has been written; but as yet, there may not be any part of the administration to supply one. The final decision rests, however, with the student body.

Using the most perfect of the above methods, those students are usually members of the Grub-Flatter Club (Home Ec. majors) or some other organization who truly and, therefore, have the necessary room to keep their hands together in the middle of their plate. They are far too busy to think about damage to the plate-gatherers, waiters, and leaving in their path of destruction, furious and befuddled by the exhaust of a fifteen minute meal. Here, we will insist on weaving into a middle-aisle it, insist on weaving through the stands and stalls, to exhibit to others that they have a good part, it gives me a chance to tear up the stage and make a lot of noise! (The story of the broken steps is for that.)

This is the last issue of the Gold Bug to be published this year, unless enough money is raised somehow for subscriptions to the paper. Correct totals have been unab- hantted, and there seems to be lit- tle chance of obtaining a supplementary subscription this year. It has been the case in previous years when the money was not raised in time.

In view of the fact that the usual activities for this week was abolished, this year, the staff asks whether readers would be willing to pay a "subscription fee" of 10¢ for the War Bug.

Will you let us know your reac- tion to this appeal? Unless there is an affirmative answer, this is the last Gold Bug.

A record-breaking total of 85 blood donors from Western Maryland College voted to give blood today and tomorrow, April 12 and 13, at the Convocation to be held in Alumni Hall. Kitty Waring, director of the American Red Cross, has reason to be proud of this splendid response to the request of the Red Cross for volunteer donors.

A record of 45 of WM students this will be the first experience in donating blood. Various students, who have added there names to the roll under the direction of Miss Ruth Beth Watts, this play is a harbinger of things to come.

It Seems To Us

The resolution found on the third page of this issue of the Bug voices the attitude of a group of some seventy-old young American veterans. At the same time, it reveals both sides of the conception question and have voted to make public expression of their disapproval of compulsory service and military training.

The reasons cited are logical and valid. For the United States to build a conscript army would impair the nation’s health for a world organization can secure and maintain peace. The Dumbarton Oaks proposals, all for an organization of “peace-loving” nations. Just how much love of peace is evidenced by our present plundering plans and the one and two billion dollars in training over a year and a half, seems that our boys are fighting in the war, training these young men to fight the very war that an international organization is supposed to be trying to make impossible. Somewhere there is a tremendous inconstancy of this country’s part. We would not be entering a world partnership while declaring our total lack of faith in our partners?

Thompson, Gloria Mathias, Bob Jack Neville, Harvey Buck, Don and prostituted the works of Nature, is judged by her. Far more capable is he than human nature in part, laid waste to his own possessions, desperedly clung to, but in vain; is dying for it. “Give me more time!” is the phrase. Always he is crying and begging for time. He is not aware that which he most highly desires should be oblivious of his own crime.

It is merely a reflection. My reflections are inspired by that period of time we call Spring. Spring! another ambiguous word. It is old as the hills but still worth while, spring is the best time for plants and flowers, for mankind to garden as his work will bring him much happiness. Yet how careless and impersonal it seems to us.

It Sounds Here
By Harvey Buck

After the College’s first spring recital in four years, campus opinion was divided about its success and the future of choral groups at the college. Having made a remarkable and emotional reception (but a more or less valid one in my opinion), we’ve glanced the evidence that may indicate whether there will be another of such observances as those held in the past.

In matters of health, there is really little danger. The Army has only estimated sixty-eight per cent of the Selective Service rejections attributed to such things as tooth and eye defects, mental and nervous disorders, heart trouble, etc. None of these defects have been observed to arise in the age of seventeen or thereabout. Glasses and bridgework can be supplied but this would not whole a national economy.

Disease rates in nearly every field are higher in the Army than outside. Venereal disease rates, even there, have been from six to forty-two times higher in the Army and Navy than in civilian life. In the First World War, venereal disease exceeded all casualties—deaths, wounded, and missing,—by nearly 160,000. Mental cases, too, take great toll among members of the service. In the first twenty-one months of this war, the Navy discharged 16,000 men because their “minds and nerves broke down”—permanently. An army training center is filled into wrinkles in two months! Does this constitute compulsory military training would improve the health of these young men?

For the United States to build a conscript army threatens our national health. If the United States is bounded on the east by the Atlantic Ocean and the west by the Pacific Ocean, and on the north by Canada, and on the south by Mexico and how, oh man! how am I? The brightest student in the history of the world is the dopes at the top of them all you speak up! You’re for darned in there, the proof said, “That’s right, young man. How the hell in the world did you know?” The brightest student in the history of the world is me, I have a brother that half nuts and he’s a better student than you are.

'Papa Is All' Will Be Presented
As Annual Commencement Play
In Alumni Hall, Friday, May 25

The kitchen of the Ankamp farmhouse, north of Lancaster, Pa., in the heart of the Pennsylvania Dutch country, is the scene of the trials of a farm-mother, her daughter, and her son who rebel against their parents. To be performed
May 25, at 8 P.M., 'Papa Is All,' by Patterson College Drama Club and with a background of Momental manners. Although the incidents and characterization are humorous, the dialogue is musical and charming rather than ludicrous.

Roe's Orchestra Returns
Saturday For Junior Prom

Dance To Be Held In Gill Gym
Eight O'Clock To Eleven-Thirty

By Jean Tall

This class of 1944 will sponsor a Junior Prom in honor of this year's graduating class in Gill Gym from 8 p.m. to eleven-thirty P.M. on May 19. It is expected that over a hundred guests will attend the prom.

We are all very glad to note the success of the senior committee, for last year it was sadly missed. Western Maryland student's dances gone by looked forward with no little anticiation to the junior dance.

The junior committee have paid their respects to the graduating class at a ball, but in any case, there was quite a success and provided enough to satisfy all, the thrill that always attends the prom was lost.

Jane Kuhler and Connie Stone, who will serve as co-chairmen of the dance, are responsible for the reprinting of Mr. Stone's skeleton, which is an artist's idea of a skeleton.

Billie Lloyd is in charge of the decorations of the gym and of the way they have been given to the party. Decorations are under the protection of Fred Morris, and financial arrangements will be handled by Jack Harrison.

Hendella Jones has a most difficultask, for it is the chairwoman of the Prom Committee. It might be

We Are Appreciative

We were very much afraid that the final issue of the Gold Bug would be the last issue. It was a great relief to us to know that the editors and staff have done such a good job.

Through the efforts of our adversing staff, we have received an increased number of advertisements; that of the students, we have had the Gold Bug to publish and we feel that the Gold Bug was printed to the graduating class of 1945.

To those who have helped in any way, even if it was just a small possiblity, we are deeply grateful.

It Seems To Us

In Retrospect...

As we approach the end of another college year, it is time to take a look back on it, to review the events of that year, to remember those who have left us, and those who remain. It is the responsibility of every student to carry out this task. The following is a summary of the events of the year.

Cap's Captive

By Don Capobianco

The grains of sand in life's hourglass are quickly falling, each bringing us closer to the end of another academic year. Grains that bring happiness, grains that bring sadness, grains that bring smiles, grains that bring tears. Some grains fall slowly, some grains fall too rapidly for the eye to see, but all grains must fall to the floor, for each grain we lose, the number of grains left is less.

The story of Cap's Captive is a tale of adventure and mystery. It is the story of a young man who, after falling in love with a beautiful woman, becomes obsessed with the idea of capturing her. The story is told through a series of events that take place in a small town, where the young man, armed with only his wits and his determination, sets out to win the heart of the woman he loves.

Campus Personality Whitford

May Queen, Horsewoman

By Shirley Snyder

A most optimistic event was the long-awaited announcement of the end of the war in Europe. Western Maryland College was one of the first institutions of higher learning to realize the full import of these happenings, and we are all grateful for the results that come out of them.

Students and graduates are entering the world of business with more and more responsibility for the future of our nation. We are all set for next fall at Sykesville High School, near Baltimore, Maryland. We are all set for next fall at Sykesville High School, near Baltimore, Maryland. The entire campus is being taught the importance of human behavior taught us by psychology, the social sciences, etc. We have reacted to them, and the way in which we have reacted to them will determine our future, the future of our nation, and the future of the world.

Back Home For Keeps' Or...?

By Mindelle Selzer

The business of last sessions is a sad affair. It necessitates the dissolving of many things for the last time. We must begin to think of the next sessions, and to consider the many responsibilities that come with them. Among these responsibilities, we must consider the many important decisions that we must make.
