THE pages that follow will disclose to the reader a departure from the precedent set by past ALOHAS, especially from the point of view of organization. The staff of 1935 feels that the purpose of a year book is to record by word and picture the persons and events of importance in the order in which they made their impression upon college life throughout the year. Therefore, strict chronology has been adopted as the sequence of pictures whenever possible, the record being divided into the three seasons of the school session and ending with the natural climax of a college year, the Senior Class and its graduation. It is hoped that as you turn the pages of the book there will be recreated for you the experiences of the year in the same order in which they happened one after another.

To the Class of 1935

FOUR years in college, long in looking forward to and short in looking back upon, are now a closed incident in the life of the Class of 1935. Not that they are done with, however. Of all the years that make up the span of life the four years spent in college are the most significant. They always and inevitably bulk large in the scheme of things which we call Life. They will always command you. They will always go before you, leading the way, although they belong to the past. They will admonish and rebuke; they will call to battle when great issues arise, and then dictate the terms of peace; from their standpoint they will pass judgment upon all the years that follow; they will be the Rosetti Stone to unlock all mysteries and lay bare the judgments of history; and they will acclaim you victor or vanquished as you regard or reject their disciplines, their findings, and their prophesies.

I have a special interest in your class. I am the father of one of your members, and thus I have a fatherly interest in every one of you. I wish you "God-speed" and joy at every turn of the road, even to the journey's end!

Freshman Class

"WE came, we saw, and were conquered." So begins the history of the Class of '38. The commanding air of high school Seniors was soon eliminated by lectures, tests, and "rat rules." We were no longer high school sophisticates—just green college Freshmen.

Life fled fast on "The Hill"—a reception by the faculty . . . a Hallowe'en party . . . a Christmas banquet and dance . . . Christmas vacation and back . . . and the first semester was over!

From the first the Freshmen were outstanding in athletics. Basketball and volley ball championships were won by the girls while the "frosh" boys won distinction on the football field and basketball court.

The Frosh debating team made a niche for itself among the various competitive high school teams.

Sadness came to us by the loss of one of our members—Paul Wissinger. Because he was a well-known member of our class, his absence from classroom and campus life was keenly noted by the upperclassmen as well as his own classmates.

Spring recess—home and back again.

The Lantern Chain—our farewell to the Senior Class—one that will long be remembered!

Freshman year over—one of which the Class of '38 can well be proud!

TO THE CLASS OF 1938

ORDINARILY a Freshman Class gets scant consideration in a year book put out by Seniors. This is, of course, natural and proper. But this particular Freshman Class seems to have impressed the Seniors to such an extent that the Dean of Freshmen is asked to write a special article in honor of the class.

Such consideration must be deserved. What is there about this Freshman Class that makes it worthy of a place in the annual? For one thing, its size is noteworthy. While it is not actually the largest group ever to matriculate here, it comes close to the record. And the fact that such numbers have come along only two years behind the present Junior Class, which is also a large one, has brought about unprecedented crowding in the dormitories and classrooms. But it has all been taken in a fine spirit of cooperation.

I have tried hard to find some scholastic distinction peculiar to this class, but in all truthfulness it must be said that up to the present few records have been broken. It does seem to be true, however, that from a slightly poorer start, as evidenced by entrance tests, the Freshmen have made a greater advance, as indicated by first semester grades, than any other class for which data are available. I believe this indicates a better response to the efforts of the advisers than has been true in many other years. There is undoubtedly a new attitude of seriousness among college students now that did not prevail a few years ago.

But I suspect the main claim of this class to a larger place in the ALOHA lies in the proficiency of its members in various extra-curricular activities. One can think at once of outstanding Freshman performers in orchestra, in choir, in Sunday School and Christian Association work, in debate, and in all the forms of athletics which are engaged in here. In every one of these fields the performance of Freshmen has called forth the admiration of the entire student body.

Personally, there is no class in recent years in which I feel a greater interest than in this one, and I wish for every member a thoroughly successful college career. One cannot think back over the year without a feeling of sadness, of course, at the untimely death of Paul Wissinger, a young man of unquestioned ability and great potentialities. We will all try to do a little more in our day to make up for the contribution he would have made.

L. M. BERTHOLF, Dean of Freshmen

FOOTBALL RESUMÉ

FACED with the most difficult schedule in Terror history, a band of thirty varsity candidates labored diligently last fall to become welded into a team that will go down in history as the Iron Team. A lack of reserve material plus the calibre of the teams played made it necessary for the varsity to play the whole of nearly every game, although every man played at some time.

With several of last year's stars missing, "Dick" Harlow was forced to mould an almost entirely new team. Following his axiom of having the eleven best men regardless of position, much shifting was done in order to balance the material. New combinations were tried, new men were coached for new positions, and the "Iron Team" was the result.

One of the Few Times the Eagles Stopped Shepherd

Although the team realized the odds against it in the opening game with Villanova, both in size and experience and in consideration of the fact that Villanova had pared out her rough spots in a previous game, it was a determined Terror team that fought the Wildcats to a 0 to 0 deadlock at Villanova. The entire team fought every minute of the game, with "Bill" Shepherd and a newcomer, Louis Lassahn, outstanding.

Albright furnished the first victim for the voracious appetite of the Terrors when they were trounced 49 to 0. Several years ago Albright eked out a tie with Western Maryland and this year that tie was avenged. When the final whistle blew "Bill" Shepherd had crossed the Lion's goal line five times and "Jack" McNally had scored twice. Every kick for the extra point was successful, an unusual thing in a football game.

The Terrors laid heavy hands on gridiron fame when they scored one of the outstanding upsets of the year by trouncing Boston College 40 to 0, the worst defeat the Eagles had been dealt since 1921, and the first time a Terror team had defeated a Boston College team. Again Shepherd was outstanding. He scored three of the six touchdowns, while Lipsky, McNally and Schwieker made one each.

Continuing on their victorious march, the Green Team won an easy victory over St. Thomas when they avenged last year's defeat at the hands of the Tommies, and battered out a 20 to 0 win. The Scranton eleven had their attack bottled most of the rainy afternoon. Shepherd opened up a new field as he made two field goals and a touchdown. Gorski made a beautiful run, after taking a bullet pass from Shepherd, to score the first touchdown.

One of the hardest fought games of the season occurred when Western Maryland met Catholic University in Washington and won 2 to 0. The Cardinal's line, thru which a first down had not been made all season, was split time and again as the Green and Gold backfield slashed thru for substantial gains. However, the Catholic University men always braced when in danger and threw back all scoring attempts. The only score of the game occurred when Bruce Ferguson charged thru a hole in the Catholic University line and blocked a punt, the ball rolling behind the end zone for an automatic safety.

The only points to be scored against Western Maryland all season were made when the Terrors defeated West Chester State Teachers 35 to 12. The Teachers' splendid play merited the two touchdowns.

The Bucknell record of not having been defeated at home for six years was shattered as Western Maryland, playing brilliant football, defeated the Bisons 6 to 0. The Terrors completely outplayed Bucknell offensively and did not yield a single first down when on the defense. A blocked kick, recovered behind the Bison goal line, gave Western Maryland the margin of victory.

Mount St. Mary's was defeated 26 to 0 in a game that was lacking in thrills. Terror power and playing ability decided the game. After the first half the entire squad was given a chance to play and even then Western Maryland held the decided edge.

The Georgetown game was played in a blinding rain, with the Baltimore stadium at its worst. Playing conditions were deplorable and the Terror line was outweighed, so Georgetown was given a slight edge. Once again, however, as the under dog, Western Maryland became a stone wall on the defense and a juggernaut of power when in action offensively. The outcome, Western Maryland 13, Georgetown 0.

Again a Harlow team went thru its schedule undefeated. The Terrors slid to a muddy tie against Villanova and finished its season with a muddy victory over Georgetown.

It was a great season. "Bill" Shepherd led the nation's scorers with 133 points, and at the same time led his mates to victories over some of the best teams in the East.

In spite of the scoring power of the Harlowmen, the Terror defense stood out as its greatest offense. Catholic University, Bucknell and Georgetown totaled only three first downs against the Green Team, two of these being made on passes. Bucknell actually lost yardage against the Terror forward wall.

Western Maryland placed five men on each of the All-Maryland selections presented by the Baltimore American and the Baltimore Sun. Shepherd, Gorski, Lipsky and "Bernie" Kaplan were named by both papers. Lucas was named as a tackle on the American selection while "Louie" Kaplan received a tackle position of the Sun team.

The Associate Press gave honorable mention to Shepherd and Lucas for All-American honors. "Andy" Kerr of Colgate selected Shepherd as an All-Eastern back to play in the East-West game in San Francisco and "Bill" was the outstanding man of the game. "Bernie" and "Louie" Kaplan both made most of the Jewish All-American teams.

With such a successful season a thing of the past and most of this year's men lost by graduation, it is difficult to predict what the future will bring, but we feel quite confident that the Terrors will again come out on top.

FROSH FOOTBALL

ALTHOUGH no definite schedule of games was played by the Frosh football team, many capable candidates turned out for the sport and displayed such extremely promising ability that they may become a great team in a few years.

The Baby Terrors opened their season by outplaying the Baltimore Firemen 26 to 0. At no time did the Smoke Eaters threaten the Western Maryland goal line.

Navy's B team, which shortly before the game with the Frosh had held Navy's great varsity, defeated the Baby Terrors 20 to 6. Although unable to function except in spots, the Frosh played a good game.

Fort Meade was defeated 12 to 0 in an extremely hard fought game as the season closed.

SOCCER

THE twelfth soccer season at Western Maryland was moderately successful. With ten men of last year's team back, plus several clever Frosh booters, Coach Flater succeeded in moulding a fast, hard fighting team.

The State Normal team defeated the Terrors in the first game 4 to 2. Then Navy emerged victorious on the heavy side of a 4 to 0 score. In the next two weeks the soccer team defeated Bucknell and Franklin and Marshall by close scores.

In the second game with State Normal, the Terrors outplayed the visitors from start to finish, but lost 1 to 0.

The Terrors couldn't be held down for long, however, and they bounced back to trounce Gettysburg's Bullets 4 to 1.

Panzer College of East Orange, New Jersey, and Army next defeated the Terrors. The Army game was exceedingly hard fought. It was necessary to play two extra periods before Army won 4 to 3.

The soccer team closed the season with victories over Maryland and Gettysburg.

CLASS HISTORY

NAPOLÉON once said that an army travels on its stomach. So does this class.

Who is the first to storm the dining room doors when the wild bells ring out? Onward the lunch brigade! Oh, what a charge they made! The valiant ones hungered!

Gastronomically we're good.

Astronomically, we're better.

We don't boast of more stars than there are in heaven, but we do offer competition. In the firmament of studies, sports, and arts, we find our shining lights twinkling.

As Freshmen we got along.

But then we had few opportunities to display our talents. Rat Rules and the Lantern Chain were the only activities in which we were allowed to participate as a Class.

As Sophomores we revelled in our newly found wisdom.

And then we started things. At Hallowe'en we honored the Freshmen with a dance, held in the girl's gym. Then, after being subjected to Comprehensives for three days, we held a little party in the Lounge to celebrate the "survival of the fittest." We fell in line with tradition again with the annual ivy-planting ceremony. It was also in this mood that we revived the old "cane" tradition.

Now, as Juniors, we scintillate.

On the first red-letter day of our social calendar as Juniors, we played host to the Freshmen at a dance, held in the girl's gym after the annual Christmas banquet. Later in the year the speech plays presented by the Juniors in the speech department gave us another chance to smile with pride.

Another check on the calendar—and another notch in our belts—came on the evening of March 23 when we presented the annual Junior Prom in honor of the Seniors. An unusual decorative scheme and "steaming syncopeation" combined to place this event at "the top."

Chaucer in his Canterbury Tales is said to run the gamut of the social scale. But he had nothing on us in this respect. Don't we number among our luminaries everything from a Prince to a Draper?

Closing a busy year with the traditional cup ceremony and farewell to the Seniors, we look back, smile, and then look forward. Do we smile wistfully this time?

Soon the farewell will be for us.

CLASS HISTORY

WHEN one thinks of history one usually thinks of something ancient and inactive, but not so when one speaks of the Class of '37. As "young hopefuls" we arrive on "The Hill" prepared to become the shining lights of the campus. The three days of our Orientation program which included the faculty reception and the "Y" hikes passed pleasantly in spite of the numerous placement tests.

At the end of this period there was more in store for us than we had anticipated, however. With the arrival of the upperclassmen on Friday, we discovered we were no longer to be entertained; instead we were expected to entertain. Any hopes we had had of being shining lights were shattered then, as the "Sophs" so completely made us feel our place.

Between that time and Christmas we were entertained at two informal dances by the Sophomore and Junior Classes. For the girls there was also the annual "kid party" given by the "Y." The boys were entertained by the Sophomores at a "paddling party," about which more details may be gotten from any boy in our class.

In spite of all these entertainments our life on "The Hill" has not been devoted entirely to social activities. We have attempted to do our part in keeping up the scholastic standard of the school and have also made an effort to contribute to athletics and other school activities and organizations.

In June we paid our tribute to the Seniors by keeping up the tradition of the Freshman Lantern Chain.

To quote last year's ALOHA, "So passed the year, a flood of tender memories, and the Class of '37 moves on to the supreme heights of human wisdom—the Freshmen became Sophomores."

Knowing everyone and being familiar with the customs of "The Hill," we found it very pleasant this fall to return after summer vacation. There has been a repetition of all the activities in which we took great delight. Pep meetings, football games, and dances have been a part of our fun.

When we came back our first object was to properly initiate the Freshmen. As a result the Freshmen boys were seen about the campus wearing name cards and rat caps. However, the girls seem to have broken a tradition—the Freshmen girls were allowed to go uninitiated. Instead, we entertained the entire class at the Hallowe'en dance.

Since spring vacation even we "Sophs" have had a come down. After the Sophomore Comprehensives we have begun to doubt the truth of that statement about having reached "the supreme heights of human wisdom."

As Sophomores we can't attempt to claim too many honors for ourselves—no one would notice them anyway. But we do hope that our presence on "The Hill" may have been worth while in some way and that we can make it even more so in the coming two years.

WOMEN'S DEBATING SUMMARY

SCHEDULING contests with such institutions as Pennsylvania State College, The American University, and the University of Maryland, the women's forensic council has met a challenging program this year.

Misses Idamae T. Riley, Manager of Women's Debate, Thelma M. Chell, President of the Debate Council, Rosalie G. Silberstein, Sally Price, Virginia Roberts, Cynthis E. Hales, and Ella Shank have comprised the debate squad.

The climactic event of the season was the meet with Pennsylvania State College, on March 27th in which Misses Riley and Chell upheld the affirmative side of the question: Resolved: That the nations should agree to prevent the international shipment of arms and munitions. After the debate, a reception was held in McDaniel Hall Lounge for all the men and women debaters and invited guests.

Sororities

THE presence of sororities upon the campus of Western Maryland is the expression of an urge towards a greater social well-being among the women students. With their numerous teas, rush parties, banquets, and other opportunities for closer association, sorority girls find an excellent opportunity for the cementing of lasting ties of friendship, and also of setting up higher ideals. Their aim is to develop the best qualities of individual girls as well as to be an infinite source of pleasure and convenience.

DELTA SIGMA KAPPA was organized in 1923 by a group of girls of the Class of '26. The present chapter consists of twenty members from the Classes of '35, '36 and '37. The aims of the club are expressed in the preamble to the constitution:

"We, the members of Delta Sigma Kappa, in order to promote the interests of our college, to establish a feeling of good fellowship, to develop the abilities of the members to become all-around students, do ordain and establish this constitution for Delta Sigma Kappa."

Fraternities

THE men of Western Maryland College have found in their fraternities a source of valuable fellowship and an opportunity to direct their interest in organizations which develop in them a greater sense for weighing the value of human contact. Moreover, the keen athletic rivalry among the several clubs, their social functions, and their secret activities have furnished many an hour of excellent diversion. Every fraternity man finds in his organization untold satisfaction proceeding from the beneficial results of his associations and the development of his own personality. Fraternities have a very definite place in the college life on "The Hill."

"WE, having felt the need of a combined effort in our pursuits at Western Maryland College, have formed ourselves into the Alpha Gamma Tau fraternity, which shall be known as the Bachelor's Club. We assume as our ideals the accomplishment of true brotherhood, a reasonable proficiency in scholarship, unity of social interests, the development of physical ability; to be ever mindful of the obligations to ourselves and club with regard to personal conduct and perfection. With these aims in view, we submit ourselves to the care of the Divine Power and earnestly solicit His guidance and direction in our efforts to maintain these high ideals."

THE Pi Alpha Alpha Fraternity aims to improve the college socially, spiritually, scholastically and physically. In order to do this, it attempts to foster a more perfect fellowship among the students, to strive for a bigger and better college through bigger and better men, to secure a higher scholastic standing through the fraternal spirit of helping others, and to promote a more cooperative spirit in athletics. Although, as is evident, its ideals are high, it can claim a fair degree of success.

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

THE Sophomore Class of 1933-34 carried off the honors in the inter-class basketball league although they dropped one game to the Seniors, 14 to 24. The Freshmen were defeated by a single point, 14 to 13, while the Juniors proved rather easy to conquer, 28 to 19. The players: Cynthia Hales, Catherine Hall, Elizabeth Hagen, Catherine Kephart, Margaret Lansdale, Elinor Tollenger, Lee Irwin, Jane Leigh.

THE Inter-Class Volley Ball championship was won by the Juniors of 1933-34 in a rather easy fashion. The Sophomores were defeated 18 to 9, the Seniors 17 to 11, and the Freshmen 23 to 10. The team players were Catherine Rose, Ruth Jenkins, Edythe Child, Belva Hughes, Frances Glynn, Mary Brown, Margaret Downing and Dorothy Barnes.

WOMEN'S VOLLEY BALL

VARSITY BASKETBALL

THE 1935 season marked the advent of a new coach, Charles Havens, who replaced Neil Stahley. Havens, a former Western Maryland man, was faced with a hard task. With many faces missing from the team that last year won the State title, plus the injury jinx, the outlook was dark. The entire squad, however, gave every ounce of energy and came thru the season in a fair way.

The entire campaign was one of ups and downs, with most of the "ups" at home. The Terrors couldn't seem to break the away-from-home jinx for the most part, although they were successful on several occasions.

Despite this inconsistency the season was a promising one in that several new men were "discovered," namely, Benjamin, Fowble, Coe and Moore.

Victories were scored over St. John's, Mt. St. Mary's, University of Baltimore, Johns Hopkins and Loyola, while defeats were received from Georgetown, Catholic University, Washington College, Penn State, Villanova, Navy, Johns Hopkins, Loyola, Mt. St. Mary's, and George Washington.

BOXING

UNLIKE the fate of the football team, the Green Terror boxers did not suffer by last year's graduations and withdrawals from college. Nearly all of last year's varsity reported when Coach Harlow sent out the call for leather pushers this year.

With such a great wealth of good material, Terror fans looked forward to the current season with confidence. On nearly all occasions, Western Maryland put into the ring a team that would be formidable in any league. With Gorski, Kaplan, and Pontecorvo, last year's Inter-Collegiate champs in the heavy classes, and other capable men in the lighter classes, plus efficient reserves, the 1935 boxers performed worthily on a difficult schedule.

The Terrors were off to a fast start, winning handily over Bucknell in the opening meet 6 to 2. The entire team was in splendid condition and seemed eager to test their ability.

Navy, the next team on the schedule, won as usual, and Western Maryland left its customary mark in the form of fast, hard hitting bouts, although it was handicapped by the absence of Pontecorvo, Kaplan, and Keyser, who were declared ineligible because they had had three years of inter-collegiate boxing. Unfortunately Haynes developed influenza and had to be taken to the Naval Academy infirmary just before the fight. Score 2 to 6.

Army was taken into camp to the tune of a 5 to 3 victory. Power in the heavier classes gave the Terrors a wide margin as Keyser, Kaddy, Gorski, and Pontecorvo won their fights, the last two named winning by technical knockouts.

The Terrors lost the next two fights, to Syracuse, 4½ to 3½, and Catholic University, 5½ to 2½. "Tony" Ortenzi, an aspiring Freshman fought the 175 pound fight. Keyser, who suffered a broken finger in the Army meet, was replaced by Kaddy.

West Virginia University was met at Cumberland and handed the Green Team a 5 to 3 setback. This meet was characterized by several fast swinging, wide-open bouts, in which the Terrors failed to score only by a slight margin in several instances.

The Terrors rallied in their next meet to gain a tie with the Penn State Lions, 4 to 4. Bennett scored an upset when he won by decision over Ainswell, Penn State's 115 pound Eastern Intercollegiate champ. Western Maryland again swept the heavy classes as "Tom" Pontecorvo defeated Richter in a beautiful match.

The schedule was completed in fine style as Villanova was trounced 6½ to 1½, Keyser losing by a close decision and Kaplan getting a draw.

May Queen of 1935

MISS MARY WATERS LEWIS, Queen of the May at Western Maryland this year, lives in Baltimore. She was graduated from Eastern High School in June, 1931, and matriculated here in September of the same year. During her college career she has taken a part in each annual May Day celebration, acting as an attendant during her first three years and occupying the coveted throne of May Queen this year. Her courses have been divided between literature and languages with especial emphasis on dramatics of which she has steadily been an ardent devotee.

Court of the May Queen

MISS MARY WATERS LEWIS, of the Class of '35, was selected by the Women's Student Government as the May Queen for the annual May Day, which was sponsored by the women in the spring.

The other members of the May Day court included Mary Wooden, Senior duchess; Elizabeth Wine and Jeanne Weber, Senior attendants; Elinor Tollenger, Junior duchess; Rosalie Gilbert and Martha Miller, Junior attendants; Mary Alice Wigley, Sophomore duchess; Dorothy Twigg and Marie LaForge, Sophomore attendants; Georgia Price, Freshman duchess; Helen Leatherwood and Dolly Taylor, Freshman attendants.

INTRAMURALS

IT is the aim of the department of Intramural athletics to provide an opportunity for 100 per cent participation in activities that are physically wholesome, mentally stimulating, and socially sound. "A sport for every man and a man for every sport," is the motto.

A silver loving cup has been donated to the department for presentation to the organization amassing the greatest number of points in competition in the major and minor sports. The purpose of the point system is to encourage each club and class to enter as many teams as possible in competition throughout the year.

The Intramural Athletic Committee draws up rules and arranges the schedules for the various teams. This committee, ably headed by Richard Holmes, has succeeded in smoothing out the rough spots in the rules. Its members include: Paul Ritchie, John Elseroad, Miles Patterson, Charles Read, Frank Malone, Walton Connelly, Thomas Eveland, Henry Romito, Louis Ransom, George Armacost, and Peter Flater. Charles Read is the official Gold Bug reporter. H. B. Speir acts as Intramural Director. One member from each organization is appointed to make up the Committee.

All participation is voluntary. Each sport is supplemented by the physical education classes where the activity is taught. Intramural competition gives the participants an opportunity to apply facts learned in these classes. The sports are seasonal. In the fall, touch football, and soccer are played. During the winter months such indoor sports as basketball, boxing, wrestling, gymnastics, handball, and volley ball are in order. Spring moves the sports outdoors to baseball, tennis, track, horseshoes, and golf.

During the year 85 per cent participation has been the result of this work. Because of the large number of active participants rivalry has been keen, especially among the fraternities. This manifested itself in the scientific, well-organized manner in which the teams played.

The improvements on the tennis courts and the construction of a golf course have aroused great interest in these sports.

WOMEN'S ATHLETICS

THE purpose of the Women's Athletic Association is "to promote athletics, to create a love of sports, and to foster the ideal of good sportsmanship." During the five years of its existence the organization has done much to create a general interest in women's sports on "The Hill" and to raise the athletic standards.

Regular meetings are held each month. The activities of the association are directed by a Student Board under the guidance of the Directors of Women's Physical Education, Miss Parker and Miss Todd. The association, in co-operation with the Physical Education Department, has planned intra-mural competition in all seasonal sports. Tournaments are run to determine the championship teams. After each season an honorary varsity team is selected from the members of the class teams.

The point system is used as a basis for regulating the distribution of awards. Points are given to a girl who participates in team games. The awards in the order in which they are presented are: Class numerals, school monogram, letter "M," and the blazer, which is the highest honor anyone may receive. Those who receive blazers are selected by a committee of faculty members who take into consideration the student's spirit, service and scholarship, as well as her qualification for the necessary points.

WOMEN'S TENNIS

EVERY spring the women tennis aspirants for court laurels play elimination tournaments in their respective classes to determine class championship. Then the class champions play if off to determine the school champion. The results of the year 1933-34 were:

Catherine Rose

Cynthia Hales	School and Sophomore Champion
Henrietta Twigg	Sophomore Class Runner-up
Dorothy Hull	Freshman Class Champion
Catherine Rose	Junior Class Champion
Catherine Rose	Tennis Manager

WOMEN'S BASEBALL

THE Junior Class won the girls' baseball championship in the year 1933-34 after having defeated the Sophomores 21 to 4, the Freshmen 10 to 4, and the Seniors 21 to 8. The players follow: Lucille Bork, Olive Butler, Edythe Child, Dorothy Barnes, Frances Coffman, Belva Hughes, Ruth Jenkins, Thelma Chell, Frances Glynn, Mary Brown and Margaret Downing.

THE "M" is one of the highest awards made by the Women's Athletic Association. It is awarded to a girl who has made 1250 points, and is a recognition of good sportsmanship and active participation in all sports. The "M" girls are: Mary Brown, Ruth Jenkins, Frances Glynn, Edythe Child, Louise Robinson, Catherine Rose, Esther Main and Margaret Downing.

WITH all but two members of last year's tennis squad lost by graduation, prospects for the 1935 team look anything but bright. Captain Rodman Haynes and Manager John Manspeaker feel that from the quantity of new material that is now available, several would-be Vines and Tildens will be uncovered, and that a good team will be built.

The construction of six new courts and the repairing of the old lower courts has done much during the last year towards the improvement of Terror players, and with the cooperation of all candidates for positions a successful season will be the outcome.

BASEBALL

AT the close of the 1934 baseball season, the Terror nine found themselves on the short side of the ledger, having won four games and lost six. The major victories were over Penn State, New Windsor, Mt. St. Mary's, and Gettysburg, with defeats by George Washington, Maryland, Georgetown, Dickinson, and Gettysburg.

In most cases the team scored enough points to give a margin of victory, but in several instances loose playing in a single inning spoiled the team's chances at victory.

Graduation took such men as Willis, Hurley, Shilling, and Tollenger. There are numerous underclassmen who are trying out for the positions left vacant, and if they can fill them well, the 1935 team, because of the experience behind them, will be as a whole highly commendable.

A MEDITATION

GRADUATION. Our four years gone. Four years. A long time—but gone so quickly. The usual ceremonies—and it is all over. So long anticipated—hoped for. Sacrificed for, too. Regrets that we have not always done our best? Ah, yes, but the sacrifices have not been in vain. We have learned—gained in knowledge and understanding. What if the greater of these is understanding? When has that been more needed than now? It isn't an ordered world that we face—our dreams of the future may always be dreams. But we have hope and determination. We are unafraid.

OLIVE MAY BUTLER

Denton, Md.

Our busy blonde. Domestic, industrious, thrifty. A flair for art, too . . .

HOWARD W. CANTWELL, JR.

New Windsor, Md.

A scientific commuter who haunts the day students' lounge, the boys' gym, and the chemistry lab!

CHARLES WINFIELD CARLISLE

New Windsor, Md.

Industrious, unassuming, placid, efficient, and self-assertive.

THELMA MARIAN CHELL

Atholton, Md.

Conscientious, ambitious, studious, serious. And, we might admit, fond of an argument!

EDYTHE VIRGINIA CHILD

Linthicum Heights, Md.

An alert, attractive little imp! You know, laughing, dark eyes, perpetual smile, teasing nature . . .

FRANK ELDBRIDGE CLARKE

Sykesville, Md.

Independence in thought and deed well characterize this chemist-to-be. Nor can it be said that he is afraid of responsibility.

FRANCES COFFMAN

Hagerstown, Md.

Amiable, agile, interesting transfer from the "U. of M."

WESLEY YOUNG COLE

Ottumwa, Iowa

Perpetually happy, thoroughly compassionate, helpfully discerning.

GERALD WYLIE COMMERFORD

A T T

Rome, N. Y.

Large, affable, Irish. Full of fun, mischief, and a bluff heartiness.

BEATRICE MAE CUTSAIL

Monrovia, Md.

A cute, impetuous girl . . . lots of friends . . . "diamond."

EMILY FRANCES DASHIELL

Princess Anne, Md.

Effervescent, excitable, happy por-trayer of character roles. And can she detect humor in a situation!

JOHN JOSEPH DAWSON

Baltimore, Md.

A wife, two children, a profession . . .
Is it any wonder he is cheery and chummy?

LOUISE MARY DILLON

Accident, Md.

Thorough, responsible, willing, tranquil, and unassuming.

MARY JANE DOWNING

$\Delta \Sigma K$

Naylor, Md.

Ah, a Nut Brown Maiden! Surprisingly interesting, too. Let's attribute it to her versatility.

RUTH IVA DUNLAP

Baltimore, Md.

Distinctive? She knows Chinese! An energetic person, new but well-liked.

EUNITY FRANCES ELDERDICE

Salisbury, Md.

A sense of humor—a touch of the blase—a good mind—and a busy telephone!

BRUCE ERNEST FERGUSON

Clearfield, Pa.

A devil if there ever was one! Adventurous, happy-go-lucky, and clean-cut.

SAMUEL BAHNER FLEAGLE

Waynesboro, Pa.

"Honorary member"—skillfully scientific, bashfully good-natured, and mechanically inclined.

LYDIA ROOP FOGLE

Westminster, Md.

Languid Lydia — poised, pensive, sophisticated lady.

MARY ELIZABETH FORD

Upper Fairmount, Md.

Stately, attractive, studious — our “class librarian.”

EDITH HELEN FORNEY

Mechanicsburg, Pa.

A witty, jaunty, humorous football enthusiast—sleepy-head, too.

MARGARET S. FREDERICK

Hampstead, Md.

As good-natured and jovial as she is generous and talented.

CHARLES W. FRIDINGER

II A A

Manchester, Md.

Fast on the track—fast in emotional change—fast in friendship.

JOHN WESLEY GEORGE

I B X

Stevensville, Md.

Silent, studious, systematic, sincere.

FRANCES SARAH GLYNN

W W

Lakewood, Ohio

A jolly "night-owl" who also manages to be a leader and a good mixer.

DOROTHY MAY GORDON

Westminster, Md.

"Goldenlocks" with a Southern accent —slender, thorough, scientific.

ANDREW GORSKI

Scranton, Pa.

Strength of character and proficiency in athletics have won "Andy" a much-admired position on the campus.

RUTH MARY GRIER

Forest Hill, Md.

Unpretentious, studious, clever—and laughing, lovely eyes.

FRANK HERBERT HAND, JR.

Δ Π Α

Glen Gardner, N. J.

"Steinie," the shiek! Good company, good dancer, and good ethicist.

GEORGE KEITHLEY HARRISON

Δ Π Α

Sherwood, Md.

A bucket of water . . . a dripping car . . . a respectable joke . . . a merry whistle. It's "Skeets."

RICHARD HARDING HOLMES

Γ Β Χ

Washington, D. C.

He likes the army, he takes watches apart, and he delights in odd combinations of food!

BELVA ALBERTA HUGHES

Whiteford, Md.

A persistent biologist and honor student who is simultaneously clever and friendly.

CHARLES JOSEPH HYMILLER

Westminster, Md.

Small, dark, quiet, and conscientious.

MARGARET VIRGINIA JAMES

Chevy Chase, Md.

A splendid mind combined with an uncanny wit — refreshing, conscientious.

DOROTHY MAY JENKINS

Hebron, Md.

A Spanish type—consistent, dutiful, charming.

RUTH ELLEN JENKINS

W W

Rising Sun, Md.

An "impersonating" personality — athletic, friendly, helpful.

GEORGE EDWARD JONES, JR.

A T T

Hollidaysburg, Pa.

This studious, well-built young man is characterized by excellence in athletics, secretive moods, and an enviable affinity for sun-tan.

HAZEL WADE JONES

Φ A M

Milville, N. J.

A bundle of impish energy—petite, lively, candid.

CHARLES EDWARD KADDY

Fitchburg, Mass.

Mentally and physically dexterous, masculine in manner, interesting to be with.

LOUIS NELSON KAPLAN

Paterson, N. J.

"Horse" has an extremely practical sense of values and a surprising amount of that sense to which his nickname refers. (Has a good appetite, too!)

DONALD FRANCIS KEYSER

Γ Β Χ

Baltimore, Md.

Incurable addict of boxing, bridge, and banter.

MARY WATERS LEWIS

Baltimore, Md.

The reigning beauty—gracious, mischievous, yet thoroughly sympathetic.

WEBSTER LEROY LUCAS

Γ Β Χ

Baltimore, Md.

Affable, versatile, consistent—athletically and socially outstanding.

MARCELLENE McCLUNG

Stewartstown, Pa.

Originality and humor combined with a bustling and unconcerned nature.

ESTHER ELIZABETH MAIN

Darlington, Md.

Constantly cheerful, continuously competent, confidently reserved.

CECIL HARRY MARK

Falling Waters, W. Va.

An infinite source of kindness and sympathy . . . an unrecognizable song . . . reasonable rates on dry-cleaning!

FRANCIS KALE MATHIAS

Γ Β Χ

Westminster, Md.

Talent, conscientiousness, dependability, and gesticulatory garrulity interestingly blended.

EVELYN V. MAUS

Westminster, Md.

Deliberate, kindly, studious—a pleasing brunette.

EVELYN MARIE MILLER

Westminster, Md.

"Blondie" come to life—happy-go-lucky, appealing, pleasing.

CHARLES VIRGIL MOORE

Γ Β Χ

Denton, Md.

C. V. towers above you, a pleasant, smooth-faced, likeable chap, who conveniently carries chewing gum!

DANIEL KRAMER MOORE

Γ Β Χ

Riverdale, Md.

Persistently punning, glibly humorous, and amicably self-assertive.

HARRY TYSON MURPHY

Α Γ Τ

Ellicott City, Md.

A blonde head, a deep voice, a decided opinion enthusiastically expressed—you have "Murph."

NADINE OHLER

Φ Α Μ

Taneytown, Md.

Saucy, smart, confident—with a contagious laugh that runs the gamut.

LOUISE OREM

Δ Σ Κ

St. Michaels, Md.

Musical fingers that are as willing and delightful as her aloofness and good humor.

MILES ROSS PATTERSON

A Γ T

Monkton, Md.

A man's friend—strong, deliberate, practical, gentle in a masculine way.

RUTH ELIZABETH PHIPPS

Newark, Del.

Chic, creative, methodic, and selective.

MILDRED RAY PRICE

Hampstead, Md.

Remote, prudent, attractive—hand-work artist.

ORPHA-BONITA PRITCHARD

Cumberland, Md.

Dramatic talent merged with a reticent, sensible, clever nature.

ERNEST EVAN RANDLE

Δ Π Α

Hampstead, Md.

Outwardly—efficient; inwardly—dexterous; intimately—a “swell” fellow.

JANNA LYNDEN RANDLE

Π Α Α

Hampstead, Md.

Charm and geniality plus an impulsive and versatile nature.

LEWIS FRANK RANSOM

Δ Π Α

Baltimore, Md.

A straightforward man, to whom religion has a vital meaning in life and who strives to fulfill his obligations toward it.

HELEN LOUISE ROBINSON

Cardiff, Md.

The class youngster—musical, happy, sporty.

GERTRUDE IRENE ROGERS

Φ Α Μ

Kensington, Md.

A tenacious and discriminating nature plus capability and humor.

MARY ELIZABETH ROHRER

Boonsboro, Md.

Apprehensive, scholarly, loyal, quiet, friendly.

CATHERINE ROSE

W W

North East, Md.

A sprightly and coquettish personality on the tennis court or dance floor.

MARGARET E. ROUTZAHN

Mt. Airy, Md.

Reliability plus well-informed repartee—dramatically and scholastically outstanding.

CARL WELLS RUSTEBERG

Δ Π Α

Annapolis, Md.

Shoes on the floor—black head under a bent arm—body inert and prone.
Ssh! It's "Rusty" taking his daily nap.

ELEANOR LOUISE SCHMIDT

Randallstown, Md.

Generous, unselfish, smiling—an accomplished chemist.

PAUL B. SCHWIEKER

A T T

Belleville, N. J.

The splash of a water bag . . . the thud of a well-aimed snowball . . . a burst of deep, rich laughter . . . They all express "Schwiek's" boyish nature.

JESSIE IRENE SHIPLEY

Westminster, Md.

A voice as mellow as her disposition—sweet, persevering, droll.

ADA REBECCA SMITH

Cecilton, Md.

"Everybody's friend" — big-hearted, consoling, clever, untiring.

REBA ELIZABETH SNADER

Union Bridge, Md.

"At home" as soloist or chauffeur—gay, cheerful, efficient.

MARGARET LEE SNOWDEN

Delmar, Del.

Chirpy, chippery, sweet . . . cute, clever, petite.

CHARLOTTE ANN SPRAGUE

Δ Σ K

Parksley, Va.

A personality as charming as her drawl—moody, laughing, steady.

JOHN WHIGHAM STALLINGS

A Γ T

McKeesport, Pa.

Perhaps Johnny's reliability, chivalry, and soft-spoken manner explain his deserved popularity.

MANSELL REED STEVENS

Π Α Α

Wilmerding, Pa.

"Stevie" burns the midnight oil in study, plays on the violin, and helps produce the Gold Bug. His life is a busy one and he takes it seriously. Good luck!

WILLIAM CARTER STONE, JR.

Westminster, Md.

Theoretically positive—or positively theoretical? Aloof, independent, scholastically capable.

MILDRED REBECCA SULLIVAN

Westminster, Md.

A student and a dreamer—friendly, earnest, retiring.

DOROTHY A. THOMSON

Westminster, Md.

Persistent, serene, laughing, refined,
unassuming.

DONALD H. TSCHUDY

II A A

Baltimore, Md.

"Don" is an excellent student, an extra-curricular leader, and a fine fellow. He will go far.

JANE McCOLLUM TWIGG

Δ Σ K

Hampstead, Md.

Efficiently independent — a willing helper, a cheerful friend.

DOROTHY E. WACHTER

Frederick, Md.

Talkative, alert, ambitious, independent.

ATLEE WILLIS WAMPLER

Γ B X

Westminster, Md.

Why does he go to Frederick so much? Hood girls are attractive . . . But here on the Hill he is popular, too, as a regular fellow.

ALBERT NORMAN WARD, JR.

Γ B X

Westminster, Md.

A song . . . a dance . . . a joke . . . Terp's the class cut-up in lighter moods, a leader of many activities in more serious moments.

JEANNE EISILIE WEBER

Φ Α Μ

Roselle Park, N. J.

Charmingly chic—level-headed, cheerful, confident.

MARY DARNELL WHITE

Φ Α Μ

Poolesville, Md.

Dainty, sweet, shy—conscientiously mischievous.

MAUDRE ELIZABETH WILLIS

Φ Α Μ

Baltimore, Md.

Intellectually naive — bridge fan,
lovable, saucy.

ELIZABETH HARVEY WINE

W W

Denton, Md.

Resolute, striking, frank — understandingly refreshing.

MARGARET WITHERUP

W W

Cumberland, Md.

Efficiency personified—apt, thoughtful, expressive.

MARY ELIZABETH WOODEN

Δ Σ K

Reisterstown, Md.

Senior duchess — shyly pretty, resolved, gracious.

PRESTON WINTRODE WYAND

Hampstead, Md.

Athletically enthusiastic, mathematically inclined, reserved and friendly.

DENNIS NUSBAUM YINGLING

Westminster, Md.

Values friendship highly—appreciates a favor—will readily do one in return.
