MISS ESTHER SMITH

Dedication

*I*T is with great pride that we, the class of 1953, dedicate our annual of collected memories, ideas and ideals to Miss Esther Smith.

Each year Miss Smith has proven her ability as a director and as a teacher of dramatic art. Students who appreciate dramatics for the art that lies therein, strive to uphold her ideals of acting, and their three productions a year prove that they are successful. This year Miss Smith won new laurels when the Fall play, "Goodbye, My Fancy," was presented in Baltimore.

However, we are dedicating this year-book not only to the teacher and the director, but to the person who has so inspired the lives of all of her students. Her philosophy can perhaps be summed up in three words: truth, understanding and compassion. It is impossible to study under Miss Smith without acquiring some of these qualities, and by so doing we begin to outgrow our individual cocoons and emerge into adulthood.

Those of us who are graduating thank Miss Smith for not only helping us develop but also for teaching us that, "We give up too easily. We forget that when you fight—you very often win." Another quotation from "Fancy" expresses our sentiment and the sentiment of those remaining: "Your presence here gives us courage and reassurance when we need it most."

LOWELL S. ENSOR

President's Message

To the Class of 1953:

The Aloha, as a rule, is the one tangible possession received in college that most graduates keep across the years. When you take it off the shelf twenty-five years hence, it probably will mean more to you than it does now in recalling old friends and refreshing faded memories. I am speaking from experience, because this year is the twenty-fifth anniversary of my graduation from college.

As you read this in 1953, the year of your graduation, my greatest wish for you is success in taking up the tools of learning with which your Alma Mater has equipped you for meeting the complex challenges of our modern world. As you may read this again in 1978 (believe me, it will come all too soon), it is my sincere hope that you will have achieved the happiness, the success, and the rewards of honest effort, about which you are now dreaming. Never stop dreaming great dreams. May they all come true as the result of your earnest endeavors!

President

A black and white photograph of a college campus scene. In the background, there is a large brick building with many windows and a large tree. In the foreground, a group of students are walking on a path. Overlaid on the image is a large, tilted graphic of an open book. The word "CLASSES" is written in large, bold, serif capital letters on the top page of the book. Below it, there is a paragraph of text in a smaller, sans-serif font. The book graphic is tilted at an angle, making the text appear to be floating or presented in a dynamic way.

Senior Class

Webster undoubtedly has an excellent definition of the word "commencement", but to each of us it symbolizes a great many more things than a dictionary allows. It is the culmination of a memory—or rather, a scattered group of memories—differing with each of us, but alike in that they mean Western Maryland.

We started out like every other freshman class. Bewilderment seemed the predominant factor, replaced by the sophomoric ability to be an authority on anything from love to physics. When we reached our junior year, we looked around and discovered that there were quite a number of things that we didn't know or comprehend; we were willing to learn and Western Maryland complied by helping to teach us.

Now that we have passed through the various "high water" points and have survived the daily, weekly or annual crises, we look back with a feeling of pride, not only in ourselves but in our school. As we indulge in backward glances, we begin to realize that the little things suddenly seem rather important, having helped to make us what we are today. There are certain things that none of us will forget: our first tussle with exams, the dance to which we were never invited, twenty-four hour term papers, the first pin and perhaps the return of the same, the daily sessions in the Grille where coffee and weighty problems mingled freely, the fraternity and sorority functions, serenading the girls' dorms, and a multitude of other factors which personify a period known as "college".

Through our work, our participation in extra-curricular activities (whether it was football or dramatic art), and the friendships we have made, we have developed into young adults. To Western Maryland we extend our thanks as we say, "Farewell".

Each year a group of students are selected by the Student Activities Committee to be included in the publication Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. This selection is based on an evaluation of their college life with consideration for character, scholarship, leadership in extracurricular activities, citizenship, and their potential abilities as contributors to society. This year the eleven students chosen were: Stuart Abrahams, Ashby Collins, Nell Hughes, Jane McLeod, Carolyn Mangels, James Moore, Karin Nowack, Michael Rentko, Beverly Rye, Carroll Warner, and Estelle Zies. The Student Government Association, the Student Christian Association, campus publications, athletics, honorary societies, and sororities and fraternities are among the activities in which these nominees have participated.

In the Who's Who publication will appear a biographical sketch of each of these seniors, describing their accomplishments, abilities and interests. They have access to the organization's placement bureau, which furnishes recommendations to employers and graduate schools, and the honor is culminated by the privilege of wearing the honorary key.

Junior Class

September, 1952 . . . the sadder (though not necessarily wiser) Class of '54 came straggling back from Ocean City to reconvene once again in the ivied halls of the College Grille. Morale was at a new all-time low. Here we were, facing what promised to be the most miserable year yet, with half of our peer group missing, and coffee at ten cents a cup. The situation looked pretty hopeless, but inside of a couple of weeks, having changed our majors on an average of four times, sub-let our post office boxes to freshmen, and stocked up for the winter on playing cards, peanut butter and the other necessities, things began settling down to normal. Somehow or other, most of us managed to survive Homecoming, the Christmas festivities, the flu epidemic, exam week and the dining hall's Lenten cuisine still having enough reserve strength to produce the Junior Plays, the Follies, and the Prom. Having done our bit, we sat back to watch with interest the remaining activities of the college year — May Day, Rose Cup, Lantern Chain, Dean Hower's annual series of educational talks on the Art of Public Courtship, and so on. And finally, having bid fond farewells to the departing Seniors, we packed our respective suitcases and took the next bus for Ocean City.

We, the members of the Class of '55, are now halfway through our college career. Four semesters have elapsed since we were bewildered freshmen, and we think that we've contributed much to WMC since then.

Returning in the fall as wise old sophomores, we eagerly displayed our extracurricular wisdom to our "little brothers and sisters". We liked the freshmen so well that we let them win the tug-o'-war at Homecoming. We are proud of the members of our class who made fine showings on the varsity football, basketball, wrestling, baseball and lacrosse teams.

Besides scoring in athletics we took active part in other college functions. We joined fraternities and sororities; participated in the work of the S.G.A., S.C.A., the Gold Bug, etc.; and displayed our talent in both music and drama. During football season, we sponsored several pep rallies and decorated the busses bound for games; at Christmas we helped fashion the rec hall in the Holiday spirit; and in the spring we served as hosts and guided visitors through our campus. Male members of our class suddenly found themselves called upon to provide leadership in winter ROTC drill.

Be brought new faces into the Homecoming and May Courts, suggesting the far-reaching pulchritude of our group. We raised money by selling programs at home football games.

Being sophomores hasn't been easy. We miss many friends from our freshmen days; we found classes and studies more than a "little" harder; and the traditional "sophomore slump" wasn't always easy to overcome. However, we are proud of our accomplishments and hope to make the last half of our college life even better.

Seated: A. Nuttall, Secretary; E. Smith, President; M. L. Younger, Historian. Standing: D. Hensler, Treasurer; H. Taitt, Vice-President.

Freshman Class

In September, as non-oriented, hesitant freshmen the word "Hill" suggested to us a mass of brick buildings and spreading trees in a college bulletin; a collection of local slang; entrance requirements, and a challenging message from the college president in the handbook; an assuring letter from our big brothers or sisters; and an aggregate of new faces and uncertain beginnings and futures.

Now, this first year is rapidly waning. In the light of its passing, it seems not at all assuming to state that this has been the most demanding and, consequently, the most beneficial year of our lives. We have developed a greater amount of patience and respect for that "other fellow"; and have found that college life evolves through individual contributions of talent, time, and interest. Lectures, labs, themes, and collateral reading have become "old friends", as have those indispensable bull sessions, midnight snacks, "dorm" serenades in the showers, waiting for the bell to ring for a meal and loath to hear its chime at 6:45 a.m.

We've boosted athletic events both as participants and onlookers, entered college organizations; worn beanies, name tags, and weathered other such requirements; and won a dusty but decisive "tug of war". Our beauties have graced Homecoming and May Courts; and some of us have even distinguished ourselves in the various academic departments. We've even furthered the fine art of "apple polishing".

What's it like to be a freshman: Even to us, the answer to this question is already becoming dimmed by current and promising events. Nevertheless, through all these activities and thoughts, one unavoidable tenet remains: We are here for a purpose—each one of us pursuing a plan or dream according to his own interest and ability. With this in mind, let us proceed, Class of '56.

Seated: B. Reiber, Treasurer; S. Gootee, Secretary. Standing: B. Price, President; W. Shello, Vice-President.

We are getting ready to close the tops of the typewriters, put away the cameras and stop hounding people for activity write-ups. We have every hope that the finished product will live up to our aspirations.

This year we have tried to make the ALOHA a book for the students and by the students. We are proud of our school and through our combined efforts we have strived to display a pictorial and written account of this.

We are especially proud that this year we have forged ahead and initiated a new feature. After graduation the supplement for the 1953 ALOHA will appear. Pictures of graduation weekend, spring sports, and any other important events that take place after the book has gone to press will be recorded therein.

Our heartiest thanks go to the Administration who refurbished the ALOHA office. We want to thank the Rettberg Brothers for their wholehearted cooperation, and whose pictures are proof of excellence. Dr. Marshall proved again that it would be impossible to find a more competent advisor. We wish to extend our appreciation to our publishers, the Horn-Shafer Company, which was always willing to lend us a helping hand.

Jack Metherell proved himself extremely competent as Editor-in-Chief. Carolyn Mangels was the capable "book-balancer," who managed to keep us in the clear financially. Special mention should go to Sally Fisher and Jayne Hisle who chased after pictures and write-ups, respectively.

It is with pride that we present to Western Maryland the 1953 ALOHA.

ALPHA KAPPA ALPHA

Alpha Kappa Alpha is a national honorary fraternity of philosophy; the chapter at W.M.C. is the Iota chapter. The purpose of this fraternity is to recognize excellence in the study of philosophy and allied subjects, and to develop an interest in philosophical discussion. Dr. Reuben Holthaus, head of the Department of Philosophy, is the faculty advisor to the Iota chapter.

Jerry Granda, President, interested the club in oriental philosophy which was reinforced by Dr. Titus' discussion on Gandhi's life and philosophy. Other officers were Dorothy Bliss, Vice-President; and Ruth Ann Lee, Secretary.

Topics for discussion were varied, ranging from Nirvana (with the aid of Dr. Crain), to existentialism and the Communist Manifesto.

ARGONAUTS

This year President Henry Ernst proved that he was a capable and enthusiastic leader. Modeled in name and purpose after the voyagers who sought the Golden Fleece, the Argonauts continued their search for their symbol of the fleece—knowledge. With Karin Nowack as Vice-President, Beverly Warner as Secretary, and Joyce Clark as Treasurer, the society had an interesting and productive year.

The activities of the organization are carried on by associate members, those Juniors and Seniors who have a cumulative scholastic index of at least 2.1. At the end of seven semesters, Associates are inducted as Fellows at an impressive spring banquet if a cumulative average of 2.2 or more has been attained. All members of the faculty are invited to become honorary members. The sponsors are Dr. Isabel Isanogle and Dr. William Ridington.

Proving that scholarly meetings need not be dull, Dr. Thomas Marshall spoke on humorous verse, and Dr. Charles Phillips probed the meaning of the welfare state. Other activities included the annual February tea in honor of all the students with a cumulative index of 2.1, a movie to supplement the budget, and the banquet honoring those seniors eligible for membership as Fellows.

BETA BETA BETA

Beta Beta Beta is an honorary society for students of the biological sciences. By reserving its membership for those who achieve superior academic records and those who indicate special aptitude for the subject of Biology, it seeks to encourage scholarly attainment in this field.

Beta Beta Beta is an affiliated society of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. The chapter here at Western Maryland is the Alpha Mu Chapter, whose officers are: President, James Voss; Vice-President, Frances Scaggs; Secretary, Diane Carey; Historian, Donald Lurie; Treasurer, Dr. H. P. Sturdivant, head of the Biology Department.

The Milton H. Hendrickson Memorial Scholarship Fund is awarded yearly to a deserving member of Tri-Beta. This scholarship offers to the member assistance for summer school in some field of Biology in which he or she is interested.

This year the Biology Department was increased by one member due to the addition of Dr. Jean Kerschner, thus Tri-Beta has acquired a welcomed associate.

Throughout the year Tri-Beta has had joint meetings with other colleges in the area, including trips to the Hood and Gettysburg chapters at their schools. The Annual Regional Conference was held this year at Notre Dame College in Baltimore.

The bi-monthly meetings have included reports by various members on research in their particular fields of interest, informal discussions by faculty members, films, and off-campus speakers, all on topics pertaining to or related to the Biological Sciences.

THE CLASSICS CLUB

The Classics Club is now in its thirteenth year on the Hill. The purpose of the club is to "develop a friendly interest in the classics in general, and to study classical cultures and their influence on modern life." Under the sponsorship of Dr. William Ridington the Classics Club has enabled members to investigate various aspects of ancient civilizations of interest to them.

There are two classes of members: full members are those who are studying Latin or Greek or who have had two years of these languages, while associates are those who are interested in the classics but who have not had Latin or Greek. The officers include: Henry Ernst, President; Larry Crist, Vice-President; and Connie Jones, Secretary-Treasurer.

The activities of the club included a trip to the Walters Art Gallery and talks by Dr. William MacDonald and Dr. Charles Crain.

OCTETTE

The Girls' Octette is a relatively new group to Western Maryland. It was organized in 1950 for the T.V. Tussle in which they took first place. The Octette proved so successful that it has been reorganized every year under student directors.

Each succeeding year finds the group engaging in more and more activities. It has served as a representative of Western Maryland in outside performances, it has performed at teas, and has accompanied the Choir on its tours. This year the Octette added religious numbers to its repertoire for the Chapel Services. During the spring the group toured other colleges and sang in Baltimore and Philadelphia.

The Octette is particularly unique because it is probably the only musical organization on campus which works alone with a student accompanist, Carol Herdman, and a student director, Carol Bauer.

THE COLLEGE CHOIR

The College Choir is one of the oldest musical organizations on campus. Every Sunday night for years it has stood as it stands today, white-robed, singing the finest secular music of this country and others.

Year after year, the College Choir has grown stronger and its singing more beautiful. This year, according to tradition, it has reached new heights, guided by the moving inspiration of its director, Alfred DeLong and accompanied by Oliver Spangler and Pat Hammersley.

The Dramatic Art Department and the Choir collaborated for the Christmas Vesper Service.

The Choir presented a group of carols which concluded with Handel's magnificent Hallelujah Chorus from the Messiah.

The Choir's work reached its climax in the spring with the performance of Mendelssohn's oratorio "St. Paul". The soloists were Josephine Kompanek, Richard Palmer, and William Biddle. So ended a wonderful year of music, unequalled in the memories of the seniors, prophetic for those who will sing next year, and a true source of inspiration to both the student body and all others who have heard and enjoyed our College Choir.

LITTLE SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

The Little Symphony Orchestra is under the direction of Professor Philip Royer. On Monday morning, January 19, the senior music major class and the Little Symphony Orchestra gave their senior recital. This year the student conductors were: June Lambert, Elizabeth Adams, Ernest Green, Marian Martin, Marilyn Hardester, Joan Grube, Janice Osborne, Beverly Warner, and Jo Kompanek.

The highlight of the year for the Little Symphony Orchestra was during the second semester when they presented the Annual Spring Concert. This year the high points of the concert were the Haydn Clock Symphony and the Mendelssohn Concerto for piano with Miss Shirley Woodruff as soloist.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

This has been a busy year for the Future Teachers of America. Under the capable leadership of their president, Michael Rentko, assisted by a program committee, they have had many very informative and interesting meetings.

Several of the members constructed a Homecoming display of which they were all proud. Their slogan, "Beat them to the Core", seemed most fitting as the football theme and also as an educational theme. This fall they sent two members to represent them at the state F.T.A. meeting in Baltimore, and they were very proud to have one of the state officers, Mary Alice Amoss, in their club.

One of the most successful and most enjoyed meetings took place shortly before Christmas when the club had a talk by one of the recent W.M.C. graduates who is now engaged in active teaching. She spoke about some of her problems as a beginning teacher. Following this, a group of student teachers who were at that time practice teaching, told some of their experiences. They found that they could laugh at one another's mistakes and still benefit from them.

With constant help from their sponsors, Mr. Bailer, Dr. Smith, and Mr. DeCourcy, the F.T.A. has had a most profitable year.

COLLEGE PLAYERS

"Curtain going up!" The audience relaxes; we tense for a moment, and then all is forgotten except the importance of doing our job. Our "job" is playing a part convincingly and to the best of our ability—it is walking, not loping, across the stage; it is forgetting ourselves and submerging into a role; it is, in short, one of the most enriching experiences of our college life.

Our work, however, extends far beyond three major productions a year. It is a continuous process from our first day in dramatic art class until the curtain falls on the commencement play. Nor does it stop here, for each of us feels that our participation in the College Players has given us a foundation on which to build during the years ahead.

In November we presented the Fay Kanin comedy, "Goodbye, My Fancy". For the first time in our history, we "hit the road" with "Fancy," and its reception in Baltimore was as warm as it was on the Hill. The Baltimore Alumni Association of Western Maryland College sponsored the production and the proceeds will go into a scholarship fund.

The Christmas pageant, given by the sophomore and junior dramatic art students was a series of stained glass windows, which embodied the true spirit of the season. Although the Junior Plays have yet to be chosen, we do know that they will present three one-act plays in March. In May, we will close the year with a play presented during the commencement week-end.

Any success that we have achieved is due to the constant and unwavering guidance of Miss Esther Smith, and to Mr. Bailey's inspired stage settings. Miss Smith is the guiding light behind the organization and to each of us as individuals. Without her faith in us as people and actors our goals would never have been reached.

GOLD BUG

"Where's the paste?" This is a familiar question to anyone who has been in the Gold Bug Office on make-up night. There is also the scramble for pins, "fillers," and cries of "If those pictures don't come back . . .". But, the paste, pins and yellow paper were all found and the pictures did get back in time.

Editor Jane McLeod did everything from editorial proof-reading to picking up stray pieces of paper. She put her patience to use and her powers of organization were evidenced in every issue. Carolyn Mangels proved that efficiency could be accomplished; she was invaluable in headlining and doing a multitude of other things besides her own important position as Associate Editor. Cartoonist George Gipe amused everyone with his GAG'S which portrayed life on the Hill in a rather unique way. Glen Ashburn blazed his own special trail downtown collecting ads and various bills.

Managing Editor, Barbara Bankson; News Editor, Charles Wheatley; and all the other members of the editorial and business staff did their utmost to make the '52 and '53 Gold Bug one to be proud of. There seemed to be a renewed interest among the many contributors and the result was most gratifying.

This year the staff tried to demonstrate the principal that a school paper belongs to the students—not the staff. From the comments of students and faculty, they have been successful. The senior members of the staff are confident that they are leaving the BUG in the very best of journalistic hands.

WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB

The Women's Glee Club, composed of sixty-five members, was under the direction of Miss Evelyn Smith. The first presentation of the season was a program given in McDaniel Lounge for the American Association of University Women, which was repeated later for the entire student body in Alumni Hall. Beginning with a candlelight processional, the program consisted of Benjamin Britten's Ceremony of Carols, accompanied by Mrs. Thomas Marshall, harpist.

On April 28, the Glee Club gave a concert in Washington, D.C., which was repeated at Western Maryland College in May. Selections ranging from the 16th century to the 20th century were performed. Madrigals by Tasso, Wilbye, and Farmer opened the program followed by the Leibeslieder Waltzes by Brahms. House on the Hill by Aaron Copland and Pueri Hebraeorum by Randall Thompson, two compositions by American composers, were performed for the first time in Westminster as closing selections of the program.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB

The Men's Glee Club, under the direction of Mr. Oliver K. Spangler, gave its first public performance of the year by presenting a Christmas Program for the Westminster Rotary Club at a dinner at the Charles Carroll Hotel. Parts of the same program were repeated when the club sang for the Junior Women's Club at a gathering at Mr. Spangler's house. One night before Christmas vacation, the Men's Glee Club serenaded the women's dormitories, after which the members were entertained at a Christmas party given by Mr. and Mrs. Spangler.

During the second semester the glee club presented a program at Hood College, and afterwards they were entertained at a dinner-dance. They presented a joint program with the Women's Glee Club in Washington, D.C. Among their other engagements was a Lenten Service at the Methodist Church, and a program for the Senior Women's Club.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

The Home Economics Club is a social organization for those who major in the field of Home Economics. It attempts to further professional attitudes, promote better public relations, and stimulate interest in a vital, worthwhile and interesting field.

The meeting in the management house in October opened the club's activities for the year. At this time a mixer was held for the freshmen members of the department.

In November a flower-arrangement demonstration was held in the Home Economics Lab with Mr. Smouse from Dutterer's Florist Shop as the speaker. This proved to be a fascinating meeting.

The December meeting consisted of an open house in the lab, at which time simple and inexpensive gifts made by the girls were displayed.

The purpose for this year's activities was to promote interesting, educational and entertaining programs for the Home Economics majors and for all those interested in homemaking.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

The International Relations Club, realizing the importance of a national election, and the effect which the outcome of such an election would have on international affairs, devoted its opening meeting to a discussion of the issues facing the voters in the 1952 election.

At another meeting Dean David gave a background sketch on Korea from his personal experiences in that country. His speech keynoted a panel discussion by club members on the Korean situation and possible solutions to the problem.

Rabbi Simon Schwab of Baltimore gave an interesting speech on "Communism in the Light of Religion". An invitation was extended to the I.R.C. of Morgan State College to visit W.M.C. and participate in a discussion.

In order to gain a fuller understanding of world events, the club decided that it should be more than a group entertained by a guest speaker, but should plan and participate in its own meetings.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

During the school year, everyone interested in French meets in McDaniel Lounge on the second Monday evening of each month. The club's purpose is to enable students to participate in and enjoy social activities carried on in the French language. Under the sponsorship of Miss Margaret Snader and the leadership of Thomas Douglass, president; Mary Alice Amoss, vice-president; Connie Jones, secretary; and William Moore, treasurer, Le Cercle Français continues to be one of the more popular clubs on the Hill.

Activities began in October, with the presentation of a scene for Les Misérables as the main attraction. As always, the traditional Christmas program, Chansons de Noël, was one of the highlights of the year.

In October there was a special table set up in the dining hall for those who wished to employ their knowledge of French in conversation.

There were many more interesting programs throughout the year, with the annual presentation of a masterpiece of French drama in May.

THE STUDENT CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

The Student Christian Association strives for a unified religious program. Every member accepts as his own purpose the need to grow in the experience and knowledge of the Christian faith by developing more mature and enriching personal relationships and by seeking to interpret and to apply the principles of Christianity to his own campus life. In fulfillment of this purpose the program, planned and executed by the students with the help of their advisor, Dr. Crain, and the S.C.A. cabinet under the leadership of Nell Hughes, its president, is designed to give students the opportunity to worship, study, and work together.

The association is the coordinator of all religious groups on campus. These groups contribute to the various weekly programs by introducing speakers, showing religious films, and conducting panel discussions.

Other services were rendered by the commissions under the direction of the chairman. The Christian Heritage Commission opened the year with the annual sunset vesper service on the "Hill" for the freshmen. They continued throughout the year with weekly worship services.

Programs dealing with practical and philosophical religious problems, originated under the direction of the Personal and Campus Affairs Commission. These included several speakers and the sponsoring of a vocational clinic. In the field of social activity, the commission started the year with fun and fellowship by sponsoring a variety of Sunday night Firesides and the annual Ship Wreck Dance.

The World Student Service Fund Campaign combined service with recreation in the Faculty vs. Student basketball game and the W.S.S.F. bazaar.

Service found expression through the Commission on Social Responsibility. Many persons devoted time to the Westminster Negro Nursery School. The S.C.A. bulletin board provided news of current happenings. The highlight of the year was the Religious Emphasis Week.

THE CARROLL CLUB

This year marked the third successful year for the Carroll Club at W.M.C. Patterned on the plan of the Catholic Newman Clubs which function on many college campuses, the Carroll Club seeks to meet the spiritual needs of Catholic students at Western Maryland College, and to establish a worthwhile fellowship among its members. Its program includes activities of a religious, educational, and social nature.

The club's monthly meetings consist of informal discussions which are usually prompted by students' questions. These discussions serve as a means to exchange ideas and to receive interesting instruction on matters pertaining to the Catholic faith.

The Carroll Club has sponsored projects such as the showing of informative movie films to which the regular members and officers of other campus religious organizations were invited.

These projects were offered in cooperation with the Student Christian Association.

CANTERBURY CLUB

This year, the Canterbury Club celebrated its fifth year on the Hill. Communion on special days in the Chapel and Communion Breakfasts on several Sundays brought the members together in worship. Outside speakers from Baltimore and Washington provided the group with interesting talks and discussions. The annual spaghetti dinner was one of the activities which the club sponsored, and they also joined the Methodist and Lutheran students in preparing a Homecoming display. As in previous years the club sponsored an Intercollegiate Conference here on campus, and representatives were sent to the Tri-Diocesan Conference in Washington.

The Reverend Austin Schildwacter and Mr. deLong helped the group plan their many activities. The officers for the year were: Bob Leather, President; Mary Ellen Earl, Vice-President; Barbara Davison, Secretary; and Laura Leigh Kline, Treasurer.

METHODIST STUDENT MOVEMENT

The fall of 1952 brought to the M.S.M. an active group of freshmen and with their enthusiasm a more active organization has developed. The new Methodist Students were inaugurated at a party given by the local Methodist Church.

The school year began with the Homecoming display and other monthly meetings have included group discussions and talks. A seminary student gave an inspiring talk near the beginning of the year. The annual banquet was held in February. Worship services were held jointly with the Sunday School.

With the aid of Reverend and Mrs. Hodgson, the M.S.M. has achieved a closer relation with the local church. Dr. Holthaus, Professor of Philosophy, has acted as the advisor to the Methodist Student Movement throughout the year. The officers of the organization this year were: Beverly Warner, President; Paul Galvin, Vice-President; Ruth Ann Lee, Secretary; and Ruth Cahlander, Treasurer.

LUTHERAN STUDENT ASSOCIATION

To launch their activities for the year, the L.S.A. held its first meeting, in the form of a picnic, at Harvey Stone Park—complete with hot dogs, cakes, and ukes. Many of their following meetings were held in McDaniel Lounge, except for the “great times” they had at the Lutheran parsonage in town.

As in previous years, there was the annual spaghetti supper held at the church. “Falkie’s” famous sauce added much to the success of the evening.

Some of the activities for the year consisted of representation at the Regional L.S.A. Conference at Gettysburg, participation at Sunday Fireside, and the picnic at the Logan Cottage at Pine Grove Furnace in the spring.

The Lutheran Student Association was capably advised both in religious and recreational activities by Reverend Elwood Falkenstein of the Grace Lutheran Church, who is known affectionately as “Falkie” by the group. Student officers were: Beth Witzke, President; Ellen Rudolph, Vice-President; and Mary Stuart, Secretary-Treasurer.

WESLEYANS

The Wesleyans are an active group of college men who plan to enter the pastorate or those interested in some field of full-time Protestant work. The membership of this group numbers approximately twenty-five. As has been the custom for the past year, the meetings have been held every other Friday at the Westminster Seminary.

The Wesleyans have participated in activities with the Wesleyanettes. This has added to the fun and fellowship of the group, especially at our Christmas party at the home of the Wellivers. The Wesleyans also worked cooperatively with the Wesleyanettes on the Homecoming project.

Meetings were presided over by the President, Harold Johnson; with Richard Brenneman, Vice-President; and Ellsworth Schabert, Secretary-Treasurer.

As an inter-denominational group of college women interested in a life of Christian service, the Wesleyanettes met for worship, service and fellowship in the home of Mrs. Welliver, wife of the president of the Westminster Theological Seminary. This capable advisor and friend has worked closely with the group and their officers: Karin Nowack, President; Rosalie Otto, Vice-President; Mary Jane Munson, Secretary; and Priscilla Ernst, Treasurer.

Ruth Cahlander was responsible for the worship services, while Mildred Ehardt led in planning the program of excellent speakers and discussions pertaining to Christianity in action. Not only did the Wesleyanettes join with the Wesleyans for the annual Christmas party, but also to attend a communion service at the Negro Methodist Church and to hear Rev. Hodgson. Service projects included raising money for a student scholarship and aiding a school on the Winnebago Indian Reservation in Wisconsin.

Begun with the traditional candle-lighting service, the year closed with a banquet and the installation of the officers who will lead the Wesleyanettes in the coming year.

SUNDAY FELLOWSHIP

The Sunday Fellowship meets every Sunday morning in Baker Chapel and provides an excellent opportunity for students of all denominations to join in discussions concerning their faith and a variety of other subjects pertinent to Christian living in college.

The Sunday Fellowship is greatly indebted to its advisor, Dr. Crain; its president, Betty Parsons; and the rest of the Fellowship Cabinet for doing such a fine job of leading the students in Christian activity. Among other projects, a month was spent studying the Gospel according to St. Mark which proved very beneficial to all.

For Homecoming, the group collaborated with the Wesleyans and Wesleyanettes on a display which was admired by all. On the recreational side, they held a roller-skating party during the winter.

The Sunday Fellowship Choir under the direction of Betty Parsons provided music for the Sunday morning services on various occasions as well as presenting an entire program for the S.C.A.

THE CAMERA CLUB

The Camera Club is an organization which endeavors to stimulate a lively and worthwhile interest in the field of photography. This year, under the sponsorship of Lt. Col. Robert S. Redfield and the leadership of Mrs. H. Essom, President; William Shoemaker, Vice-President; Lita Rollins, Secretary; and Bertin Springstead, Treasurer; the club marked its fifteenth anniversary. The various members worked for the Gold Bug and the ALOHA, whenever there was a need for pictures.

By means of illustrated slide lectures, demonstrations, and talks, the Camera Club has studied the basic principles of picture taking, developing, and enlarging. Photographic facilities were provided by the darkroom in the basement of McKinstry Hall.

This spring, the club members, accompanied by their cameras, took their annual field trip through some picturesque part of Maryland.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

The Student Government Association launched into a new year with renewed enthusiasm under the capable hand of president, James Moore. Jane McLeod assumed the responsibility of the vice-presidency, Patricia Herman as secretary, and Charles Wheatley as treasurer.

The primary task facing the council was Orientation Week, which not only entailed helping freshmen over their first hurdle, but also meant the distribution of the W.M.C. desk blotters and handbooks.

After this the football season started and the S.G.A. staged some very entertaining pep rallies. Homecoming came with the usual amount of excitement. The displays were colorful and unique, and the team made the S.G.A. members proud to be a part of Western Maryland. Under the directorship of Beverly Rye, banners to advertise Homecoming were placed downtown for the first time. These proved to be successful and received many favorable comments.

Christmas arrived and the tree and the Rec

Room were decorated. In December students began to attend some of the S.G.A. meetings. This proved that the campus population was interested in the work of the S.G.A.

When basketball season came, the S.G.A. initiated pep rallies for the games. Also in the line of sports, they passed the ruling that a different fraternity each year would be in charge of greeting visiting teams and making them welcome.

During the second semester, Dean David began meeting with the Men's Council and helping to solve some of the problems which arise in the dormitories.

Before anyone could get their second wind, May Day came and again the Student Government swung into action.

Looking back, the S.G.A. feels that it has been a busy and productive year. They have attempted to stress the student in the government and hope that they have been successful.

"For if the Trumpet gives an uncertain sound, who shall prepare himself for battle?"

This is the motto of the W.M.C. Trumpeters, senior women chosen on a point system basis for scholarship, character, citizenship, and leadership in extra-curricular activities. Last spring five girls, Barbara Davison, Nell Hughes, Jane McLeod, Kay Nowack, and Beverly Warner, were presented with the traditional caps and gowns by the senior trumpeters at the annual tapping ceremony.

Their task has been to encourage leadership and participation in college activities. During the year as a group they assisted with freshman orientation and at Christmas they decorated the college dining hall for the annual banquet, creating a warm holiday atmosphere. The trumpeters are indebted to Dr. Isabel Isanogle for her gracious assistance.

As the school year drew to a close these girls in turn tapped the women of the junior class—Trumpeters '54.

R. O. T. C.

In 1919 the War Department authorized the establishment at Western Maryland College of a senior unit of the Reserved Officers Training Corps. Today, with the mobilization of the country's manpower at almost wartime peak, the Military Science Department on the Hill plays a vital role in the lives of the male students. For it is in this department that the future Army officers receive their basic fundamentals of Army training.

A student can obtain a commission in the Infantry Reserve through R.O.T.C. since the federal government has set up a training program that coincides closely with the student's other academic subjects. Here on the Hill the first two years of basic training are required by the college for graduation. At the end of the second year, the student may enter the advanced course, if he has the desire for further training and the necessary potentialities as an officer. At the present time, deferment from induction into the armed services is concomitant with enrollment and satisfactory continuance in the advanced course. Upon completion of the four year R.O.T.C. course, the student earns the privilege of wearing the gold bars of a second lieutenant in the Infantry Reserve.

During the first two years the student learns the fundamentals of map reading, rifle marksmanship, assembly and disassembly of the Army's basic weapons, organization, and first aid training. If the cadet proves he is capable he may then be selected to go deeper into tactics, transportation, communication, supply, gunnery, and teaching methods—training that helps to develop the capable Army officer as well as proficiency in civilian endeavor.

Company A

At the end of the third academic year the cadet gets the opportunity to show what he has learned from his training. This opportunity is the six weeks summer camp intensified training at an army base, usually Ft. George G. Meade, Maryland. It is here that the student is really introduced into Army life and performs the very duties that he will be assigning to others in the near future. The principle followed here is:

"To lead, one must first learn to follow". "Learn to lead" was our motto.

The Second Battalion of this year's class was trained by the 133th Airbourne Infantry Regiment who kept the boys on their toes for six weeks. During the spare moments the PX, the 25¢ movie, the pool and the Civilian Club were all attended by members of the second platoon, "Charlie" Company (all W.M.C. men).

Company B

Company C

Although W.M.C. is a comparatively small college, its R.O.T.C. graduates have distinguished themselves in peace time as well as on the field of battle. They have all served our country in a superior and distinguished manner.

The success of these men is due largely to the Army instructors who teach and train the corps of cadets on the Hill. All of these men are capable and have proved themselves in combat. Heading the Department of Military Science and Tactics is Lt. Col. Robert S. Redfield, who will leave W.M.C. with the Class of 1953; 1st Lt. Charles Crouch, Jr. is his assistant. These men are ably assisted by Master Sergeant Olen R. Quarles and James M. Brouillard, followed by Sergeants First Class Richard Armstrong, Jr. and Raymond MacRoberts. These men are responsible for the success the young officers shall strive to attain.

"Goodbye, My Fancy" is the story of a liberal Congresswoman who returns to her old school to be awarded an honorary degree. Since her wartime experiences in Europe, she has devoted herself to the task of acquainting people with the actual horrors of war, and has brought a documentary movie with her to be shown to the fresh young graduates. The movie, considered harsh and improper by the trustees, causes a conflict which exposes the president as a spineless and irresolute figure, instead of the upstanding and outspoken professor with whom Miss Reed thought she had been in love for so many years. The disenchantment drives her into the arms of a wartime acquaintance who, as a Life photographer, has come to cover the event. After this, it's just one big happy ending.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

The Interfraternity Council represents the four fraternities here on the Hill. The membership consists of the four fraternity presidents and a senior and junior representative from each club. Offices in the Council are filled by a rotation system among the four fraternities.

The Interfraternity Council regulated such activities as the intramural sports program, bidding, smokers, and the bridge tournament. Of course, they took care of other routine business involved in fraternity life.

The Council together with its counterpart, the Intersorority Council, forms the Pan Hellenic Council. As usual, the Pan Hellenic Council sponsored the May Day Dance. After much talking, planning, and confusion about decorations, work began. Decorating was chaotic but fun for all who helped. The dance was a great success and provided enjoyment for all.

The Council has a difficult and often complicated function to perform, but its activities were all conducted with a feeling of cooperation and enthusiasm. As a reward, the traditional banquet was held in the spring.

The first semester officers of the Interfraternity Council were: M. Rentko, President; H. McTeer, Vice-President; J. Wilhelm, Secretary; S. Abrahams, Treasurer. During the second semester the officers were: D. Scott, President; C. Callander, Vice-President; D. Rhoads, Secretary; G. Van Nostrand, Treasurer.

INTERSORORITY COUNCIL

The Intersorority Council is composed of representatives from each of the four sororities on the Hill. These representatives include the four sorority presidents and vice-presidents and a junior representative from each group. The officers are delegated by means of an annual rotation system. In addition to other responsibilities, the Intersorority Council serves as a coordinating, directing, and controlling influence over sorority activities.

The Council established a new method for the issuing of the sorority bids in time for fall bidding. As in preceding years, they sponsored the annual Sadie Hawkins Dance in Blanche Ward Gym. The Scholastic cup was presented at a tea in November to the Iotas, and the second tea sponsored by the Council was held in January for all transfer students. Also, there were the traditional basketball and bridge tournaments. In order to prepare the seniors for their caroling at Christmas time, the junior members served refreshments at the early hour of four a.m. In the spring, the Intersorority Council was busy with the teas and the rush parties.

During the first semester the officers of the Intersorority Council were: D. Wilbraham, President; N. Wagner, Vice-President; N. Bayliss, Secretary; J. Grube, Treasurer; E. Zies, Social Chairman. The second semester officers were: N. Kroll, President; A. Phillips, Vice-President; B. Bixler, Secretary; S. Fisher, Treasurer; D. Friedrich, Social Chairman.

IOTA GAMMA CHI

"Gee, doesn't it look swell!" This is the frequent remark made by returning alumni and others who come to see the clubroom. We redecorated our clubroom this year and as a Christmas present to ourselves, we bought some new rugs.

Our pride is reflected in the Scholarship Cup which we have in our possession for the year. Another addition is our new sponsor, Miss Evelyn Smith.

To help fill our newly decorated room we added fifteen new "germs", all good little "germs" who we think are tops. They do not spread diseases, but the ideals and goodwill of Iota Gamma Chi.

Our musical "Hold That Tiger" display won third prize at Homecoming. As usual, we had open house which proved to be a full house.

Thanksgiving found us contributing food toward a Thanksgiving basket for a needy family. At Christmas we had a banquet at Hoffmans and open house afterwards at Libby Schubert Wright's, class of 1952. Santa Claus visited all of us at our Christmas party. During our meetings one can hear the clicking of knitting needles

PHI ALPHA MU

Three years of sorority participation mean three years of fun and cooperation. From the first day of clubroom summer cleaning—waxed floor and all—to our final party in the spring, there are fond remembrances.

Cooperation is the first asset a club must have to succeed. Even though the Homecoming project is generally a last minute affair, the job is done invariably with confusion, lack of essential materials, but with good results.

Traditions in a club are as deeply felt in a sorority as in every other college function, well illustrated at the Christmas party with our brothers, the Gamma Bets. A holiday spirit was shared by all with the arrival of Santa, the exchange of gifts, and carol singing.

Stiff muscles and aching limbs were the results of basketball practice, but they were overshadowed by the enjoyment we got from competition with other sororities. Cheerleaders and sportsmanship made these games almost as exciting as the basketball games played in Gill Gym.

Four little calves

Teas in McDaniel Lounge, although rather formal, helped us to become better acquainted with the freshmen. Although not so formal, our rush parties served the same purpose. Jeans, corn-cob pipes, entertainment and plenty of food, accompanied by multi-tuned ukes, made the rush party an enjoyable occasion.

A picnic supper in Harvey Stone Park was given by us for our frat brothers in the spring. The girls who are leaving will remember the many good times long after other memories have been forgotten. They probably will return on the next Homecoming Day to renew their many friendships and memories.

SIGMA SIGMA TAU

Returning for another semester on the Hill, the Sigmas were welcomed by Deborah Wilbraham and her assistants Frances Scaggs, Vice-President; Nancy Kroll, Secretary; and Dixie Davis, Treasurer. We were off to a more than successful start with thirty-six new "skunks". "Time to push out the walls, girls!"

Homecoming found us with another prize and welcoming two hundred seventy-five guests. In order to send CARE packages the Sigma calendar tradition was continued. Before going home for Christmas vacation, we held a joint party with our brothers, the "Black and Whites". And who doesn't remember the party in our own clubroom complete with Santa Claus and a Christmas tree.

The officers for the second semester were: Nancy Kroll, President; Nell Hughes, Vice-President; Barbara Bankson, Secretary; and Rosalie Otto, Treasurer.

The Sigma Circus was a huge success, complete with cotton candy, clowns and the cancan. With the tea over, it will soon be time to say "Goodbye"—but we'll be back.

ALPHA GAMMA TAU

Alpha Gamma Tau, Western Maryland's oldest fraternity, began its twenty-eighth year last September. Officers for the first semester were: John Wilhelm, President; Elmer Richards, Vice-President; Bob Kaufman, Secretary; Ken Childrey, Treasurer; John Thomas, Chaplain; and Harry Grander, Sergeant-at-Arms.

Homecoming activities and pledging were the highlights of the Bachelors' fall program. "Cleaning up the Tigers" was the theme of the parade float with Dave Rhoads at the wheel of a painted-up Model "A" Ford, and the display was a Terror-toon which was erected near McKinstry Hall. The annual Homecoming banquet for fraternity alumni was held at Frocks after the football game.

The smoker was held October 30 in the club-room with the Director of Athletics, Charles Havens, speaking and showing movies; and the faculty advisor, Professor Frank Hurt, adding a word of welcome. Bidding took place the next week and after a strenuous pledge week thirteen new members were formally initiated into the fraternity on November 13. They were: Russell Cook, Nick Petite, Bill Moore, Phil Lawyer, George Antonas, Sam Mann, Larry Lockhart, Lou Fogler, Bert Springstead, Art Gould, Jerry Sussman, Barry Winklemann, and Ellis Cline.

High-stepping Bachelors

Christmas time found Alpha Gamma Tau holding open house in their clubroom. With donations procured from each member, the organization purchased canned goods and other foodstuffs which were distributed to needy families in Westminster.

Preparation for the Mid-Year Hop occupied the "Blue and Whites" when they returned to campus after the holiday vacation. Bob Kaufman was General Chairman for this event and he was assisted by Jack Urion, Dave Rhoads, Elmer Richards, and John Edwards. The dance, featuring Les Michener and his orchestra, took place

January 17 in Gill Gymnasium.

Re-decoration of the fraternity clubroom was the major undertaking of the Bachelors during the second semester. Delta Sigma Kappa, the sister sorority, was entertained at an outing in March.

DELTA PI ALPHA

The 1952-53 edition of the "Preacher" fraternity got under way with its initial meeting on Tuesday, September 30. The first semester officers were: Michael Rentko, President; Robert Winfrey, Vice-President; Carroll Warner, Secretary; Dwight Scott, Treasurer; William Pfeifer, Corresponding Secretary; Wesley Gebhard, Chaplain; and Richard Carvel, Sergeant-at-Arms.

We were faced with the responsibility of taking care of this year's Homecoming Dance, which was October 25. A simple theme of the "Pigskin Hop" was used, and under the able direction of general chairman, Al Trevethan, the dance was successful both financially and socially.

Our frat football team placed second in the final list of the season's most interesting fall sport, missing the championship because of a forfeited game.

As the Christmas season drew nigh the club entered the spirit of things by decorating the club room, sending cards, and giving a basket to a needy family in the town. As another evidence of good will, the Preachers sponsored a booth in the S.C.A. Bazaar and raised some much needed cash for the W.S.S.F.

Coming back to a new year, our club was in full stride with the winter sport of intramural basketball keeping us on the go. The second semester officers were: Dwight Scott, President; Carroll Warner, Vice-President; Gilbert Stange, Secretary; William Pfeifer, Treasurer; Larry Taylor, Corresponding Secretary; Larry Crist, Chaplain; and Pat Rogan, Sergeant-at-Arms.

Our banquet for first semester was held at Schottie's in Littlestown, Pa., and as usual it was accompanied by a perfect atmosphere of fraternity spirit and a good time. At this time formal installation of second semester officers was held. Besides our sponsor, Dr. Marshall, and honorary member, Jim Boyer, the club invited Dean David, Professor Willen, Dr. Earp and Dr. Phillips as guests.

With exams just around the corner, the club took a momentary breather before plunging into another semester which produced a heavy schedule of activities, resulting in much success and excellent achievement. Many seniors will

GAMMA BETA CHI

The Gamma Bets, upon returning to school in September, opened the fall schedule in traditional style with an impromptu gathering at the Homestead, where enthusiasm and spirit was generated in planning the fall activities. With the aid of their sister sorority, Phi Alpha Mu, the members were seen at home football games selling their famed skinless, boneless, harmless and homeless hotdogs. Concessions made provided many new features in the clubroom, a ping pong table, couches, lamps and the highlight—a new television set. After a successful smoker, fourteen new members were received into the fraternity.

The winter season again saw the Gamma Bets promoting the sale of Christmas cards on campus, and the season's spirits were made more meaningful by the preparation of a Christmas banquet for a needy Westminster family. Brother-sister relations for the year were cemented by the annual party for the Phi Alphas. The close of the season brought about perhaps the most important of the club's events, the Sweetheart Ball.

The fraternity's social program was full and enjoyable and was heartily supported by the members. In intramural athletics, although not always finishing first, the Gamma Bets furnished strong competition in the frat league. As a reward for the work which was done during the year, there were parties at various times which provided the members with pleasant relaxation.

The officers for the first semester were: Stuart Abrahams, President; George Van Nostrand, Vice-President; Fred Burnside, Secretary; Edgar Coffman, Treasurer; Ashby Collins, Chaplain; and Thomas Pearce, Sergeant-at-Arms.

During the second semester the Gamma Beta Chi officers were: George Van Nostrand, President; Robert Langrall, Vice-President; Raymond Faby, Secretary; Edgar Coffman, Treasurer; Arthur Shanklin, Chaplain; and Sterling Carter, Sergeant-at-Arms.

PI ALPHA ALPHA

Last fall the members of Pi Alpha Alpha returned to campus with renewed interest under the leadership of Harold McTeer, President; Edward Foote, Vice-President; Thomas Dryden, Corresponding Secretary; Clark Callender, Recording Secretary; James Voss, Treasurer; and Theodore Samakouris, Sergeant-at-Arms.

The painstaking work on the Homecoming display and float paid off in realism and prizes.

In November the eleven initiates we sent through the seventh level all survived to become valuable members of our fraternity.

The early winter season saw the "Black and Whites" gain several new triumphs in the field of intramural sports. Among these were the emergence of a strong basketball team and a never-to-be-forgotten victory. The Christmas Dance, "Christmas 2052 A.D.", with one of Rivers Chambers' excellent orchestras and intriguing decoration was a great success.

Before Christmas we had a party with the Sigmas, who have helped us with several projects. In 1953 our black and white corduroy jackets hit the campus with a splash.

At our semester banquet the second semester officers installed were: Clark Callender, President; Roger Eyler, Vice-President; Harold Johnson, Corresponding Secretary; Arthur

MAJORETTES

Ever since 1948 when the first Majorette Corps was organized at Western Maryland College, the Majorettes have added color and sparkle to the activities of the football season.

This year three new girls joined the Corps to replace the members who had graduated, and under the leadership of the captain, Joan Barkeley, they worked out many intricate twirling and marching routines. Attired in new uniforms consisting of green corduroy skirts, white blouses, and gold vests, they took part in the halftime shows on Hoffa Field and performed in the pep rallies and in the parades downtown.

The girls hope to enlarge the Corps next year. They are looking forward to another successful season to which their flashing batons can contribute pep and spirit.

CHEERLEADERS

The cheerleaders, proudly sporting their new white turtle-necked sweaters, sparked the years athletic events. Regardless of weather or score, the cheerleaders could be seen cheering to the end throughout the football season. The basketball season found them equally as enthusiastic—and in better climatic conditions.

In addition to these activities at the games, the cheerleaders could be heard as well as seen at Pep Rallies in Alumni Hall, Rec room, and Gill Gym. They could also be heard although not seen at their various rehearsals within the girl's dorms.

This year's squad was able to accomplish so much through whole-hearted cooperation with their leader, Patty Ray. The group included Patty Ray, Adeline Allen, Nancy Moyer, Lita Rollins, Doris Tuckwood, Pat Hamersly, Janet Cross, Joan Kellogg, Barbara Phillips, Marilyn Coombs, and Les Werner.

SPORTS

Many new faces on teams, better records than might be expected, characterized major sports this year. Outside the limelight, the intramural players had their fun too. Playing the game hard and well is the part of 1953's record that speaks more eloquently than records broken, and cups awarded.

BASKETBALL

Forming the nucleus for this year's Western Maryland quintet was a group of untested sophomores and juniors. The lettermen from last year's squad were Arnie Needleman, Bill Pfeifer, Charley White, Harry Tull and Al Bopst. Coach Ferguson, with these boys, and newcomers Charley Phipps, Soup Campbell, George Sipe, Bob Jackson, and Jim Whitehurst, was ready to tackle a tough, but interesting, schedule.

The opening game found the W.M.C. quintet pitted against a strong accurate-shooting Navy team which remained ahead throughout the game. With the Navy game and an exhibition game with Gettysburg behind them, the Terrors gained a victory in their game with Catholic University, 77-54. During this game Al Bopst scored 32 points, the season's highest individual mark.

The Alumni game found the "college five" too strong and conditioned for the "oldsters," the final score—79-39.

Towson State Teachers' College provided probably the most exciting game of the year. With our team trailing throughout most of the game, George Sipe started the Terrors on their forward climb. As the buzzer sounded, ending the regulation ball game, the Towson squad was leading by one point. Al Bopst was awarded two free throws, and he promptly proceeded to tie the game and send it into an overtime. In the wild and hectic overtime period W.M.C. gained the lead for the first time and never relinquished it. The final buzzer sounded victory.

Following a loss to American U., a fighting and determined W.M.C. squad fought a strong contingent on the Washington College court. The team work, and a will to win resulted in a much deserved victory.

This same fighting spirit was continued throughout the remainder of the season, although many close games were lost. Since this year provided excellent experience and seasoning for a squad which will remain intact, we will look forward to better season next year.

A basket for Bopst?

The Western Maryland Soccer Team, comprised of a veteran backfield and a "green" line was a scrappy, fighting outfit. Coached by Mr. Philip Uhrig, this spirited aggregation faced some of the best teams in the East.

The first game of the season, after only two weeks of practice, ended in a decisive victory for the Hillmen at the expense of Loyola of Baltimore, the final score 4-1. Freshman Bruce Mills showed potentiality by blasting in two goals. After this promising start, the booters went down to five consecutive defeats. In perhaps the best played game of the season, a very strong Hopkins team edge W.M.C. 4-2. In the next outing, however, the Green Team was far off form in a poorly played 6-2 loss to Washington College, soon followed by a 4-1 loss to the University of Baltimore, the conference champs.

Next, the Terrors faced the team which was later voted the best in the nation, Franklin and Marshall, giving them a tremendous battle even though W.M.C. was beaten 7-2. A 4-1 loss to the U. of Delaware was closely followed by a 1-1 tie with Towson State Teachers' College. Goalie Cookie Cohen played a beautiful game for W.M.C., fighting a strong wind and a determined Towson attack. The following day, the Terrors traveled to Lewisburg and encountered Bucknell. Two games in two days were too much for the Green and Gold, as they collapsed in the second half, losing 7-2. Against G'burg they battled to a scoreless 1-1 tie, in a game that went into two overtime periods and kept the crowd thrilled for ninety-eight minutes. The backfield performances of Pete Warner, Dave Rhoads, Ray Davis and Al Hagenbuch were outstanding. The game with Md. U. resulted in a 2-0 defeat.

This year the Soccer Team showed a one hundred percent improvement over last year's team, scoring five times as many goals as the 1951 squad. It is hoped that next year will be a winning season for the Soccer Team.

This year's wrestling team often found itself on the short end of the score. Since wrestling has never been much emphasized here on the Hill and because they faced scholarship wrestlers at nearly every match, it is not difficult to see why this year's team wasn't more successful.

Bill Bimestefer

Co-captain Art Shanklin, by his good record throughout the season, proved to be the mainstay of the team. In the heavier classes were Bill Bimestefer, Co-captain Ray Faby, and Jack Duhl. Walt Preston, Jimmy Tone, Jim LeVay, Joe Ravenis, Bill Stewart and Charlie Clark will form the nucleus of next year's wrestling squad.

Bill Kern, a Western Maryland graduate of 1950, returned from a short stay in the ring as a professional wrestler and coached the 1953 wrestling team.

Shanklin uses a "figure-four" on Duhl.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Work began early this year. Little favors were made and distributed to all Freshmen women. Homecoming was another big event on the Hill to which W.A.A. added color by displaying "The Terrors Settle Another Score" in a Westminster shop window and winning third prize. Hockey games were played and awards presented. The season was closed with the traditional Hockey Party given by the board members.

All honorary teams are chosen by the board; membership on such a team is based on skill, participation, sportsmanship and responsibility. A school champion is the honor given to an individual who has defeated not only the members of her own class, but also the champions of all other classes.

Again this year the cup will be presented to the class who has the highest number of points to their credit, determined by the number of wins, losses and ties. As the year approaches its close, the W.A.A. continues to strive in preparation for the years which will follow.

The hockey season opened the girls' fall sports program. Participation was very good this year and included many of the freshmen.

Our season was a big success in spite of the unfavorable weather conditions. In the opening game against Mt. Saint Joseph, Western Maryland came through with a grand victory of 9-0. Continuing this fine showing, the Green Team overtook Towson State Teachers' College 6-0 and Saint Joseph College 3-0. The games scheduled with Goucher and Mt. Saint Agnes were rained out. High scores for the season were gained by Mary Jane Davison and Byrd Schmidt, both freshmen.

The Honorary team, to whom a great deal of credit goes for their excellent playing, was elected as follows: Forwards—L. Ohler, M. J. Davison, B. Schmidt, R. LeFew, N. Hughes; Alternates—J. Hutter, J. Konieczny; Backfield—B. Davison, D. Tuckwood, C. Baum, S. Cramer, M. Arnie.

Swat it, Champ!

The air was filled with birdies as the girls once again matched their talents with other badminton enthusiasts. The competition was keen as the tournament got under way, and coming through with final victory were Nell Hughes for the senior class, Bobbie Summers for the junior class, Carter Baum for the sophomore class, and Peggy Artigiani for the freshmen. Carter Baum defeated the other class champions in the play-offs, and by doing so gained points for her class toward the athletic cup. The season was quite successful with over seventy participants.

The National Symphony Orchestra—Howard Mitchell, Conductor

CONCERT SERIES

This year the Western Maryland College Concert Series included three varied presentations, which featured the dance, music, and drama.

The opening presentation of the series featured the Charles Weidman Theatre Dance Company, who gave a series of modern satirical dances. Since the dance is often a neglected part of the arts, the Weidman Dance Group provided a fresh and humorous introduction to those who had a rather reluctant attitude toward this media.

The National Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Howard Mitchell, gave their annual concert in February. This year's concert, composed of a more familiar group of selections, included Vaughn Williams' Symphony No. 5, Beethoven's Symphony No. 5, Wagner's Prelude to Die Meistersinger, and selections from Tchaikovsky's Swan Lake.

In April, Charles Laughton's appearance closed the 1952-1953 Concert Series. Mr. Laughton's readings provided a rich and novel experience for everyone.

SENIOR CLASS PICNIC

It looked like showers, but the sun did come through. Confusion reigned at first. The picnic scheduled for Meadow View actually ended at Eastview, amid cows and green pastures. A few brave souls and several extraverts took a quick dip in the pond. The bridge game atop the diving platform created quite a splash. One energetic group played softball, and everybody developed quite an appetite for food and beverage. Before dusk the picnickers straggled back to campus. Some traveled unobtrusively and conservatively, while one group clamored town-ward with the top down.

Left: Bill Harvey as Orsino and Nell Hughes as Viola.
