FOREWORD

In selecting creativity as the theme of the 1968 Aloha it is hoped that you will see a new side of Western Maryland College.

From new dorms to Understage productions, we are progressing. But it is the individual who must give the rough ideas concrete form. For this reason, the staff has placed specific emphasis on People throughout the book.

We have experimented with new photographic techniques in an effort to give maximum meaning to the subject, and our copy was designed especially for the pictures, supporting and enhancing them.

This year, the divider pages were used to tie the various themes of creativity together. Aside from being functioning parts of the book, they are in themselves works of art.

But now, our creativity is yours. The measure of our success lies before you.

What is this garden of my heart
'Tis plain as plain can be;
It's only a very little part
Of the world called W.M.C.

Aloha 1930
Creativity is . . .
Straining to grasp the sun
A trip inside the dark holes of the mind
To find . . . ourselves?
Searching for the new, the different,
The freedom and despair of solitude
Of being alone in a world of followers—
It is a trial, an error, and maybe a success.
At any rate, it is a beginning . . .
THAN OF EVER YTH ING

(A LITTLE) MORE CAREFUL

BE
Art flourishes where there is a sense of adventure, a sense of nothing having been done before, a complete freedom to experiment.

Alfred North Whitehead
I have never been free; the world, my kin, my neighbors, have always enslaved me.

Edgar Watson Howe
AND CHANGE
The direct relation of music is not to ideas, but to emotions...

H. Giles
I have been one acquainted with the night,
I have walked out in rain—and back in rain.
I have outwalked the furthest city light.
I have looked down the saddest city lane
I have passed by the watchman on his beat
And dropped my eyes, unwilling to explain...
. . . I have stood still and stopped the sound of feet
When far away an interrupted cry
Came over houses from another street,
But not to call me back or say good-bye;
And further still at an unearthly height,
One luminary clock against the sky
Proclaimed the time was neither wrong nor right.
I have been one acquainted with the night.

Robert Frost

Shakespeare
And
The Times...
They Are A-Changing
It is easy in the world to live after the world's opinion; it is easy in solitude to live after your own; but the great man is he who in the midst of the crowd keeps with perfect sweetness the independence of solitude.

Ralph Waldo Emerson
You must have the devil in you to succeed in any of the arts.

Voltaire

... but when all is done, the people remain.
Lee Foster
There is rarely a creative man who does not have to pay a high price for the divine spark of his great gifts ... the human element is frequently bled for the benefit of the creative element and to such an extent that it even brings out the bad qualities ... and all this in order to bring to the human I at least some life-strength, since otherwise it would perish of sheer inanition.

Carl Jung
Dr. Ensor . . . trying,

trying somehow to heed the cries of students and faculty to bring WMC into the twentieth century.

Trying at the same time to placate the wails of tradition-bound authorities, trying to initiate at least a semblance of communication on campus.

Trying somehow to find those elusive millions that just keep eluding the grasp, trying to give Western Maryland a better reputation.

Dr. Ensor . . . trying.

Freshman class,
The hope of Whimsee,
They come to meet, and watch, and live.
No blind following,
No well-worn paths—yet—
Many teeter precariously between individuality and compromise.
Admittedly, fear gives them coherence, but once they've mastered "the system," then what?

Is this the class that will be "Western Maryland '71" and not eight sovereign states?

They try, they care.

Upperclassmen shake their heads, "It won't last."

But they still refuse to accept the inevitable.

They aren't just coasting yet; they still push.
The corruption of Tiny Tim.

"Mr. Smith, you could fire me for saying this, but you've got . . . !"
“You mean you left our family defenseless?”

Group Therapy 101.
THE CLASS OF 1970

"You mean the coach wants ME to take a sex test?"

"... ninety-nine bottles of beer on the wall, ninety-nine bottles of beer..."
"Whatever it is, it's celerev."

"This is a Revlon happening."

"Go to bed, you know he won't come 'til you're asleep."

"Whatever it is, it's half celery."
“I know a place where dreams are born, and time is never planned...”

Sometimes it seems like we’ll never grow up. We keep clapping our hands and believing in those dreams, and tomorrow is something that just isn’t. We’ve been here forever already. The “Hill” is one hundred years old, so they say; but that’s clock time. You know—minutes, hours, days, weeks, years. And the only certainty we have discovered is immutability. Classes, Grille, Open Parties, tests, Christmas, exams, semester break, and around again. Never-Never Land never changes, and the world spins madly on whatever course it will.

There is only one thing to be afraid of up here and most of us don’t hear it ’til second semester Senior year. But it’s there just the same, and maybe, now that we’ve reached the half-way mark, we should sit quietly for a moment and listen. The longer you listen the louder it gets. It’s the sound of the big “T,” and that doesn’t stand for “Terror”—or maybe it does. Time doesn’t stand and wait for us to look at it, and no matter how you add it up, we’ve only got two years left. No matter how hard we clap our hands, it’s going to shimmer and disappear. And maybe all we’ll have left in the end is a scrapbook filled with old newspaper clippings.
After reading yearbook write-ups, newspaper articles, and hearing class speeches, the junior class is thoroughly acquainted with the typical class epitaphs. After hearing long panegyrics and listening to excuses made for unaccomplished pledges, the class of 1969 is all too familiar with the reasons “why not.”

The junior class of Western Maryland College realizes that they are walking along the same trite road of excuses and remembrances of things past. Perhaps though, there is still time to fulfill a few unanswered pledges. Perhaps the class of 1969 might not be completely factioned by fraternities and sororities and perhaps the year 1969 may prove to be productive and fertile.
Perhaps we can actually promote a cultural event like a night at the theatre or something other than a hayride or a picture-taking booth at May Day. Ever hear this before?

Maybe.

Think some class can actually accomplish their aims?

Maybe.

There's always 1969.
Spirits
Of '69

and you wrote, maybe four hundred years ago; “why i want to be a doctor, or a teacher, or a minister.” and perhaps it matched the sincerity of the waiting you did—juxtaposed with board scores and recommendations.

then it was a beanie and the first time you ever threw up from an honest beer drunk, learning to spit shine and dodge moist missles.

mellowing; from perhaps an s.o.s. summer. the beach; or perhaps a piece of greek jewelry. and Lewis hall. some new faces. FAC. and growing toward that identity—so close, so close... then the follies, and hours spent in celebration. and hours. and hours. and hours. yeah it’s real now. and the black stripe on that green uniform means stark reality; like the first time you face your students on ed. semester. you’re a bit cooler now and more critical. perhaps well along the road to family soc. there are times when the direction you’re headed in is far off on the horizon and the insecurity hits for an instant; to be quickly drowned by four years of self-development.

so you walk to class for the last few times your thoughts are far past that trite june day then the sunset catches your liberally-educated eye; and the warmth that is whim-sec brings it all back home.

“Farewell To You And The Youth I Have Spent With You.

It Was But Yesterday We Met In A Dream.

You Have Sung To Me In My Aloneness, And I Of Your Longings Have Built A Tower In The Sky.

But Now Our Sleep Has Fled And Our Dream Is Over, And It Is No Longer Dawn.

The Noontide Is Upon Us And Our Half Waking Has Turned To Fuller Day, And We Must Part.

If In The Twilight Of Memory We Should Meet Once More, We Shall Speak Again Together And You Shall Sing To Me A Deeper Song.

And If Our Hands Should Meet In Another Dream We Shall Build Another Tower In The Sky.”

The Prophet
"Why don't you try putting your shoes on the right feet?"
Presents

GOES WEST

Standing behind the scenes, the cast looks almost ludicrous... they somehow give the impression of a motley crew of rag-tag kids playing out on the corner lot instead of characters out of the Wild Wild West
... Larry, with his passion-purple fez and John with his beard, sitting in the rear of the auditorium, looking like a skinny Farouk and Fidel, laughing hystterically at the actors stumbling over their reactions to each other as characters...

Dance hall girls, looking like somebody’s little sister on Prom Night—a far cry from wicked women of the world... a pitifully stupid looking cowboy who mutters under his breath that his rented red long johns are too tight... a “hired gun from Hoboken” whose garment district accent seems ridiculously out of place... bloodthirsty Indians craving a piece of French-fried liver... and a smiling nude hanging over the bar reigning over it all...

Laughter suddenly silenced when the audience filters in... half of the cast coughing, knowing they should be in the infirmary because the damned flu epidemic had to come this week... hoping their voices won’t crack too much on stage...

... A sudden panic when the curtain goes up... parched throats... a squelched gulp... and “Mary-belle Goes West” is on... this time, for real... this time, the cast delivering as it never has before...

Our Homecoming

Look, look, oh look.
See the team.
See the team run.
See the team run fast.
Look, look, oh look.
See the mums.
See the yellow mums.
See the pretty yellow mums.
Look, look, oh look.
See the girls.
See the pretty girls.
See the pretty girls come.
Come, princess, come.
Look, look, oh look.
See the boys.
See the girls.
See the boys and girls.
See the boys and girls drink.
Drink, drink, drink.
Hi, High, Hi!
See the boys and girls play.
Fun, fun, fun.
Look, look, oh look.
See our Homecoming.

Warmth of Winter
Cold whiteness in the air... little kid feeling about first snow...
dining hall trays behind the chapel... puddles on the floor of the grill...
masculine pleasure of men—like excited boys again, pushing a car stuck in the snow... girls—enjoying the soft effect of snowflakes catching on their hair...

warmth of tree lights glowing on the chapel lawn
as you walk to the dining hall on a dark early December evening...
a stir of excitement and memories
of Christmas as a child...
trying to catch a fondly-remembered spirit and the frustration of miles to go before... apathy toward classes and a yearning for something missed... guilty feeling of sentimentality quickly hidden at the sound of "I'm Dreaming of a White Christmas" and a lump in your throat
as you light another cigarette and contemplate
beery holiday revels at Frocks...
longing to get home
and decorate the tree...

warm smell of cookies baking and the hectic fun of shopping and wrapping... or perhaps, the endless flow of holiday cheer...
two more papers to type... decorating your door
... and walking through Westminster, complaining about the lack of quality in the little town but enjoying something about it just the same.

Christmas and a catch of that exhilarating just-happiness or maybe a feeling of flatness that you try to deny even to yourself...
a yearning
to recapture...
the long week between Christmas and New Year's Eve... regret perhaps,
but you're carrying through in the expected manner.
Back to school... yes, "It was fabulous, how was yours?"
engagement rings... new sweaters and masks of boredom on faces mouthing
disgust at having to come back.
some pretending maybe,
trying to convince themselves that they can be happy somewhere else.

The sun also ariseth, and the sun goeth down, and hasteneth to his place where he arose . . . and that which is done is that which shall be done, and there is no new thing under the sun.

_Ecclesiastes_
ODK and the Trumpeters sponsored a new experiment in Campus Communication on Saturday, March 9. The format consisted of panels of students, faculty, and administration which discussed issues of interest to the College. Members of the audience participated freely in the discussions focusing on three topics—Changing Student Attitudes, Student Government and Law, and Wine, Women, and Whimsee.

The most controversial of the seminars was centered on the housing policy in the new dormitories. The girls in the audience unanimously opposed policy of housing only independents and freshmen in the new dorm, while the administration listened with an open mind.

If nothing else, the day was well spent in opening new channels of communication between students, faculty, and administration.

"Alright, I'll leave the girls alone."

her-e-sy, n. 1. a professed believer who holds religious opinions contrary to those held by his church, e.g., Galileo Galilei, Martin Luther, James Pike.

Bishop Pike? That bespectacled man in the pulpit? Accused of being a “near heretic”? ... Come off it! How could HE possibly be branded with THAT?

Shuffling around in the pews ... Mutterings to our friends ... Turning around to gawk at the crowd that just keeps filtering in ... “Amazing! This man is going to outdraw Raymond Berry!”

his words flow in a steady torrent and we reach slightly forward to make sure we grasp it all ...

then a break

and a sudden loudness in a slow sure voice startled we sit back again.

“Growth Through Encounter”—sounds innocent enough ... wait a minute ...

Christ rebuffing the pleas of a Gentile woman ... We’ve never heard it that way before ... “Don’t do something just because Lyndon Johnson says so” ... Did he REALLY say that? ...

... Doing everything you’re told—“That isn’t morality, that is irresponsibility!” ... We file out—startled, bewildered, contemplating, indignant ...

out of the corner of our eye, we catch our neighbors’ reactions ...

never can remember if Bishop Pike is fashionable or not this year ...

“Tension in Our Cities”
A crucial topic at any time, but more so in the 1960’s . . .
Unemployment, racial unrest, crime, hunger, insufficient housing, disease, and _______ (fill in the blank—full credit will be given for at least 104 answers).

Admittedly ancient problems, but seeds sown centuries ago are only now beginning to produce their fruit . . .
the gleaners are busy now, gathering a grotesque harvest of hate.
Tentative solutions offered by McKeldin, but much of his talk a plea, an order, perhaps a challenge to us, to an emerging generation to face the uncomfortable fact that we must restore at least a semblance of order to the chaos.

Theodore R. McKeldin
Communication At WMC?
The Trial

I once walked for an afternoon, and wondered why the days of my life were all so much alike. But soon, the work was all I needed and my mind stopped its foolish wandering.

then one evening, I called anyone for a date. and she accepted, but it soon faded into other any-ones. and I never really thought much about it.

a few weeks ago, I watched four policemen carry this Negro into the police station. He was bleeding and almost unconscious. But he had a very tortured look on his face. and it did take a little while before I forgot that.

then one morning, i awoke and everything was different. faces were new and cold, and no one gave me any straight answers. i thought perhaps, hopefully, maybe . . . it was a dream just a dream and soon it would be over. But more cold images passed in front of my life. Not quite touching yet, but so close that my mind slowly began to recall all.

the unanswered afternoon walk, questions, all the patterns that hide my insecurity, all the anyones—anyones who care for the brief battle that is so often the way we communicate with one another.

and i prayed, “Jesus Christ,” did I pray. and suddenly it dawned on me that my entire life had been spent in prayers for things. I wondered if perhaps there was another way.

and i tried to just forget it all and do my work. and then stopped to look at what I was doing. And then the phone rang, and i was yelled at, and people pushed me and shoved me, and everything started spinning around. faster, faster.

so you understand why I’m here. here, in this room of reflecting black walls. Simple, cold furniture, the sounds of life that once slipt easily through my being—sounds that are now twisted and turned.

give me that knife! give it to me. I need the knife, you’ll hold it won’t you? Please! Please! Plea . . . . . .

"The fall of '91 witnessed the introduction of this popular game into our midst. Hitherto the spirit of youthful innocence had characterized our field sports, and the mad, tempestous rush of Foot Ball was to our untutored simplicity but a creature of the imagination. But, with the opening of the fall term, a new era in athletics seemed to dawn upon Western Maryland. Conviction was but the parent of action, and soon the inflated oblate spheroid was to be seen bounding over her ample grounds. Here a howling mob in frantic eagerness chased a luckless bit of leather from goal to goal.

True, indeed, many physiognomies suffered from violent collisions, and the grand march to chapel exercises revealed a variety of limps and hops well-nigh distracting to our pianist and defying the most complicated time relations produced by the ablest composers."
