It is now the beginning of tomorrow. What has gone before will lose meaning unless it is used to build for what will be. The time has come for each human being to look at what is happening around him. What is needed is action, because today the world is lit by lightning.

"We are fouling our streams, lakes, marshes. The sea is next. We are burying ourselves under 7 million scrapped cars, 30 million tons of waste paper, 48 billion discarded cans and 28 billion bottles and jars a year. A million tons more of garbage pile up each day. The air we breathe circles the earth 40 times a year, and America contributes 140 million tons of pollutants."

... LA smog may cause mass deaths by 1975. Noise, straining our lives, doubles in volume every ten years. There are 5,500 Americans born each day; 100 million more by 2000. We already consume and waste more than any other people. We flatten our hills, fill our bays, blitz our wilderness. The quality drains from our lives: I am one-twenty-millionth of a swelling megalopolis."

"Take a man, then put him alone.
Put him 12,000 miles from home.
Empty his heart of all but blood.
Make him live in sweat and mud."

As the Vietnam War drags on, the peace movement grows in numbers and influence. People from all races and classes cry to our nation's leaders for a solution. No Spiro, they are not effete snobs, but people who want something better for this country.

"The world is charged with the grandeur of God."

— M. G. Hopkins

*And God has placed man
as the caretaker of his wealth.*

Upon the landscape man imposes his handiwork but a building transcends its essence of wood, brick, and mortar. They are the expressions of deeper things. They reflect upon man's love of creativity, protect against forces that are sometimes harsh and always fickle. They intuitively serve man's greatest need, the desire to congregate with his fellow beings. Sometimes it is too true that no man is unto himself.

At one time in past history the only two people in the world met; and the first crowd was formed. The innovation caught on; and the mob syndrome has survived to this day. It all stems from the same fact: people need other people. For some strong individuals this conformity is damning. For most it is a basic form of survival.

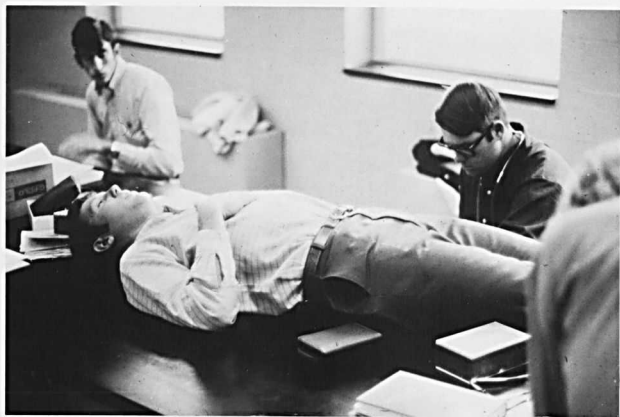

Sometimes a crowd turns into a many headed monster bent on destruction and violence. But more often than not the common goal is togetherness, to mix and mingle, to achieve the feeling that somehow you are a part of this great, wonderful mass. People gather to worship, observe, and raise their voices in joy and song. And in the end, it is realized that there is a great magnetic chain of humanity.

Bio . . . West. Civ . . . English, you go through the mill and sometimes you reflect — education is a wonderful thing, but what good will come of it. There is no textbook answer. However, those who would use knowledge to benefit only themselves have let the purpose and meaning pass them by.

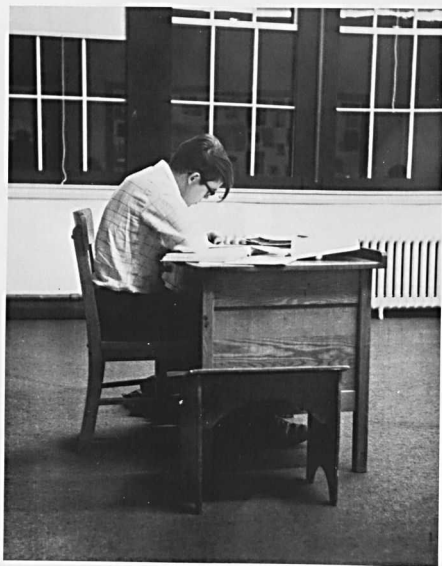

Two things worth cultivating in life are friends and leisure. Right now we are in the time of our lives — far from the mad materialistic scramble. Be, don't just exist.

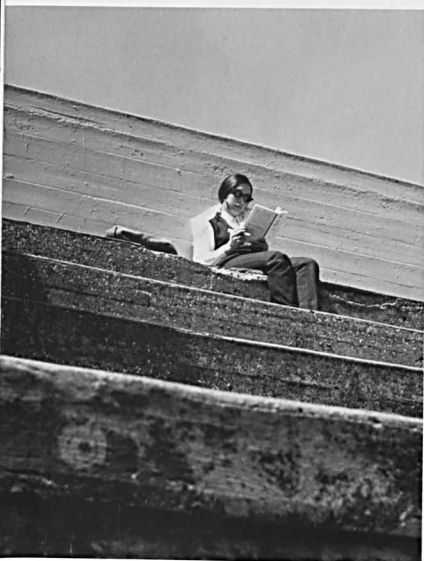

If you think about it, there is something magical in the fact that two human beings can relate and respond to one another in a warm and positive way. Only diehard cynics believe the earth goes 'round due to the 24 degree tilt of its axis.

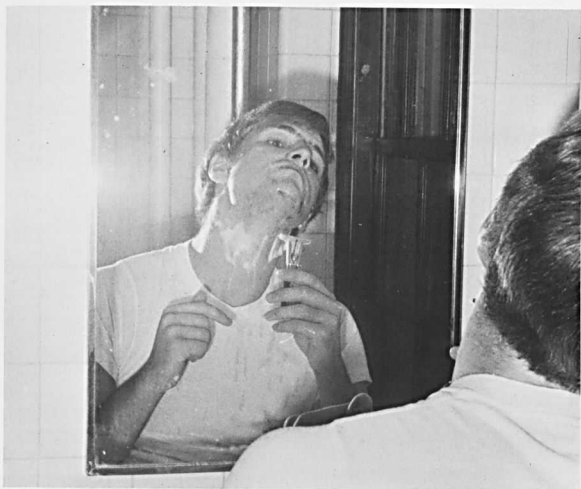

There are moments when one must break away. A person seeks solitude, temporarily leaving behind friends and lovers. It is a time for study and work. It is the peace of being alone with your thoughts.

Born into the world as nothing more than a little organized possibility, what a person becomes is dependent upon a multiplicity of personal and impersonal influences.

100 YEARS OF

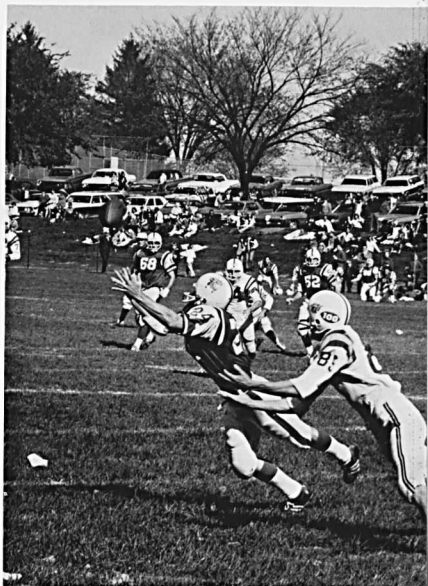

It was college football's 100th year, and for Western Maryland the prospects for a winning season were good. Graduation left gaps to be filled, but there was a strong nucleus of returning lettermen led by quarterback Bruce Bozman and defensive specialist Rick Diggs.

The signs were auspicious as the Green Terrors steam-rolled over Bridgewater in the season opener. A high power offense was complemented by a stingy defense. The next weekend, defense was the name of the game, as the Terrors emerged victorious over P.M.C.

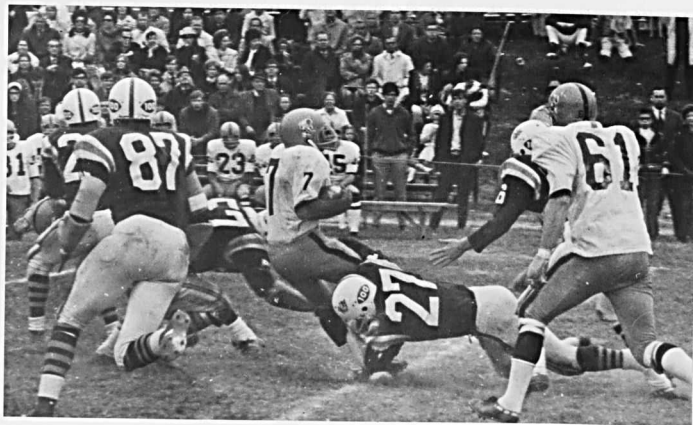

Then the ball started bouncing the wrong way, and the team suffered tough losses to Lycoming and Hampden-Sydney. Things got worse before they got better. Against Delaware Valley the Terrors were outclassed, and their tremendous effort fell short. Without ample time to recover, the team next ran into the Randolph-Macon Wrecking Crew. The following week, W.M.C. once again lost a tough one, this time to Juniata. The team next extended its losing streak to six by falling to Susquehanna.

Then came the confrontation with archrival Johns Hopkins. The offense played up to its capabilities. Although shakey, the defense made the big plays, which gave W.M.C. the victory and the season ended on a happy note.

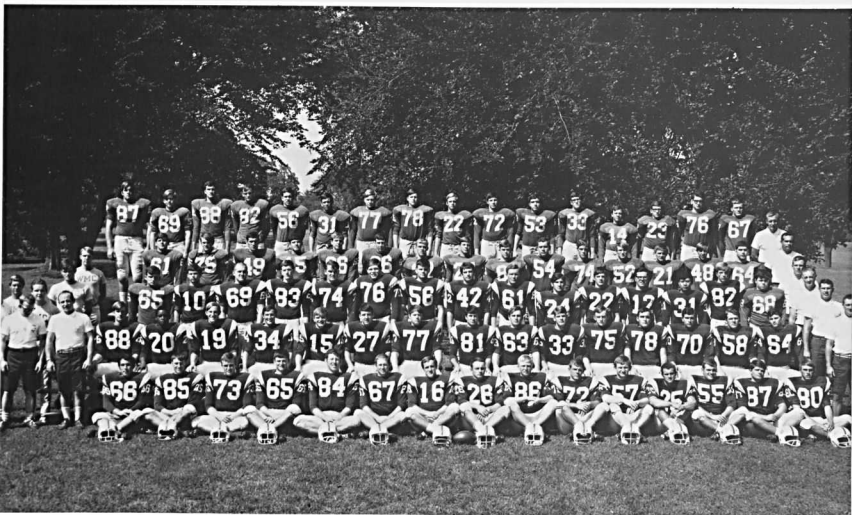

Not much good can come out of a frustrating season, but the Green Terrors were better than a 3-6 record would indicate. Many of the games were close, and individuals like Klinger, Pecora and Bozman on offense, and Garro, Janczewski and Diggs on defense, who played well week after week, deserved better. In consolation, the play of freshman running backs Joe Brockmeyer and Tom Botts holds hope for the future.

Senior captain Bob Tawes

The 1969 soccer season started off as a blur but ended strong for WMC. The team dropped the first four by small margins but came back with six wins in a row, and a final game tie with Johns Hopkins. The season hit a peak against Mt. St. Mary's when WMC won its fourth straight 5-2, and high scoring forward Ron Athey booted three goals within a period of three minutes. The Terrors continued their hot streak manhandling Gettysburg College 9-0. The assault was led by Eugene Lindsay, who socked in four goals.

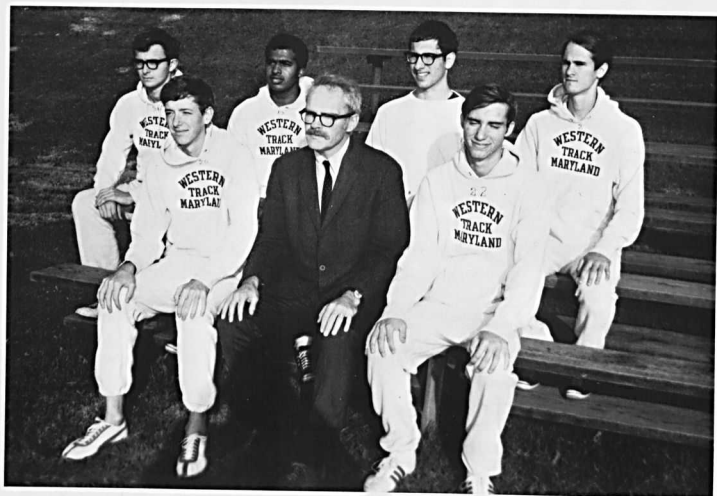

Led by senior captain Bob Tawes and junior captain Alan McCoy, Western Maryland achieved its second straight winning season in soccer. It was a year where the team played exceptionally well together and not as a group of individuals. It was this team spirit that Coach Earll attributed to this year's success.

Many of the players received post-season honors in the Mason-Dixon, Middle Atlantic, and All-South selections. Sophomore Athey was first team Mason-Dixon, Middle Atlantic, and All-South. Tawes and Bill Schwindt were second team Mason-Dixon and Middle Atlantic, while McCoy was honorable mention.

CROSS COUNTRY

In only its second year of existence, the WMC cross country team showed signs of coming to life. Although a 2-7 record doesn't set the world afire it must be remembered that the team was beset by two major handicaps. There was a lack of interest and manpower and they were running against long established teams. This year's contingent was led by John Skinner and the ever reliable Calvin Plitt.

FIELD HOCKEY

"Determination" to turn a losing into a winning team was the keyword for this year's Terronette Field Hockey team. The word was instituted along with a new coach, new innovations, new team members, and a new team spirit.

Losing only three members of last year's varsity squad, coach Sara Lednum began a vital rebuilding of the remaining squad. After having played on the team herself, Miss Lednum, could easily diagnose the trouble with the squad. She started to rectify it through new innovations such as circuit training, fullbacks taking penalty bullies, and a new method of roll-ins.

But much like last year's team, the improvement definitely showed up in the game play, but not on the score boards. Ending their season with a record of seven losses, two wins, and one tie, the Terronettes had surpassed last year's record and were well on their way to future winning seasons, due to this season of rebuilding and improvement.

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

It's been a brand-new ball game ever since the Whimsee Terrorettes saw one of the greatest changes in women's basketball come about—the five-player game. Since the game is similar to men's basketball with unlimited dribble and all the players free to roam the court, the girls found that they all must be able to shoot, dribble, and rebound. Hours were spent by Coach Carol Fritz in moving players to new positions. Real talent blossomed at times, only to fade away. The court became the scene of work, striving, and upheaval; but the Terrorettes kept trying, and through all the wins and losses the girls learned about the new game and themselves. They found out what it meant not to give up, to "Let's Go!"

In the end came the invitation to the first Maryland State Intercollegiate Basketball Tournament held at Towson State College. And time also came to look back at the changes and upheavals out of which evolved a team with hope for next year.

Captain and high scorer, Jeff Davis.

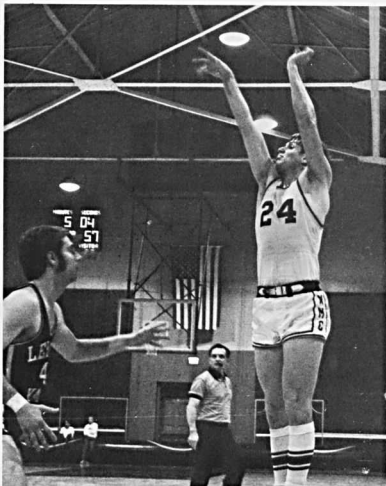

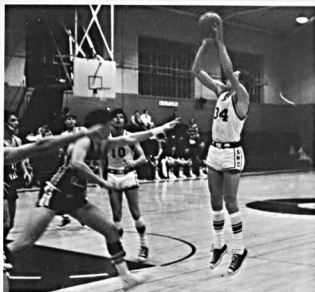

For the WMC basketball team, the characters were different but the script was the same. Although new blood and an overall increase in height were injected into the lineup, the team could not produce a winning season.

It started off well enough as the Terrors posted victories in their first two outings. Then the team hit the skids and a winning season became the impossible dream. In many cases the opposition proved to be too much. There was highly-touted Baltimore University, and even though the Terrors played well, they were no match for the likes of small college scoring leader Bunny Wilson. Against nationally ranked Philadelphia Textile the Terrors were simply inept.

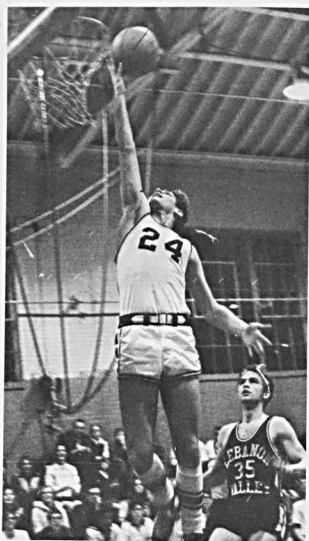

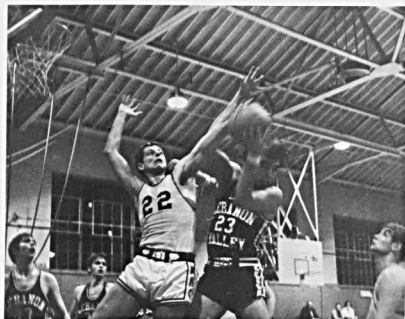

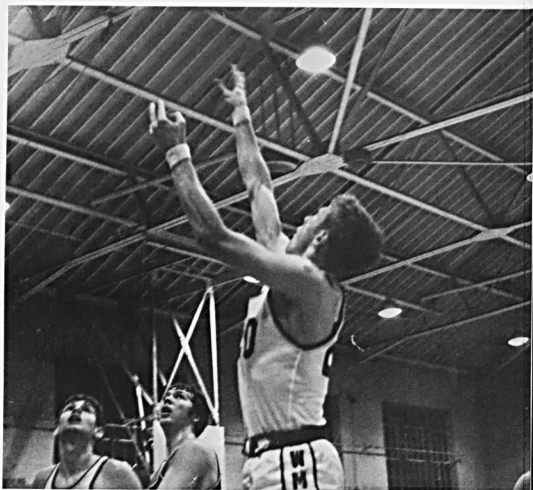

No doubt it was very frustrating for Coach Ron Sisk and the players, but through it all, team morale never sagged. Leading the team was senior captain Jeff Davis and four year varsity man John Heisler. In their last season it is to their credit as competitors that at no time did they give less than 100%.

Basically, the team was young as shown by the playing time logged by sophomores Randy and Bill Hutchinson and freshmen Bob Decker, John Bayles, and Harry Buckingham. It is from this nucleus that the WMC basketball team hopefully will produce a winning season next year.

WRESTLING

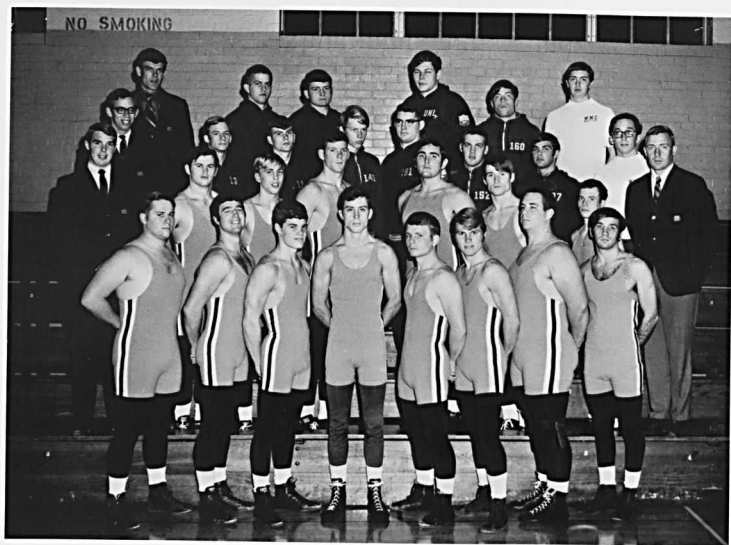

The story behind this year's WMC wrestling team was they could just never get enough of a good thing. The thing they did was win, consistently and sometimes easily. For Coach Sam Case this season proved to be the triumphal culmination of five years of recruiting and plain hard work. Match after match Sam and the fans sat back and watched the Terror grapplers give opponents lessons in wrestling techniques until winning became routine. Four times they completely whitewashed the opposition. The highlight of the season came against the perennial Mason-Dixon wrestling powerhouse, Old Dominion. The Terrors proved they could be had as they handed Old Dominion its first Mason-Dixon defeat in ten years. This one went right down to the wire. It took a win by heavyweight Leon Cronce to break a 16-16 tie and give WMC the victory. Only perfection could be expected at the end of a perfect regular season. The Terrors finished a strong first in the Mason-Dixon Championships. Ken Myers, Gary Scholl, Dick Schmertzler, and Fred Kiemle won in their classes and no one placed lower than third.

On a team full of individual stars, the most outstanding was junior co-captain Gary Scholl. Other outstanding grapplers were senior co-captain Terry Conover, Freshman Dick Schmertzler, and the heavyweight crowd pleaser, Leon (Hot Dog Stand) Cronce.

Coach, Fern Hitchcock

The 1970 WMC baseball team made believers out of many skeptics. Word had it in the beginning of the season that Coach Fern Hitchcock would have trouble fielding anything resembling a baseball team. What with the graduation of the Class of 1969 team which had played first-string since their Freshman year, and had won two Mason-Dixon titles on the way. The team promptly went out and won its first four in a row before losing the 16-10 slugfest with Hampden-Sydney. With sophomore pitching ace Bob Merrey and a good-looking crop of Freshmen added to a few returning veterans, Coach Hitchcock once again came up with a winner. WMC went on another win streak—this time seven in a row—before losing to the Mason-Dixon Northern Division champs, Baltimore University. Nevertheless, the team ended the season with a fine 15-5 record and an apparent good shot at the conference title next year.

The cindermen had the second best record in the school's history as they posted a 6-2 record. Freshman Joe Brockmeyer and sophomore returnee Dave Roulette led in the individual scoring. They dominated the sprints and jumps all year and also aided in breaking school records for the 440 and 880 yard relays along with John Skinner and Johnson Bowie. Lynn Boniface had a fine season in the pole vault, finishing in third place in the conference meet. Jim Zucco was another fine Freshman who found time to break the school record in the 440 intermediate hurdles. Finally, distance runner Gary McWilliams broke school records in the mile and two mile events. Gary also placed third in the three mile event at the Atlantic Coast College Division Championships. Next year should be another fine season since only one senior will graduate. Unfortunately he will be hard to replace. Randy Klinger holds the school record in the high jump and has been a mainstay on the track team since his Freshman year. However, the WMC track future looks very bright with all the returning lettermen.

The 1970 WMC golf team proved to be one of the most successful in the school's history. Co-captains Billy Dayton and Roger Wynkoop led an all veteran team to a 10-4 season. This proved to be the best record in both the Middle Atlantic Conference and the Mason-Dixon Conference. Among the broken records were: highest career point total (Billy Dayton—61), lowest away round (Roger Young—73), most consecutive victories (6), and lowest away team total (471). Much of the success of the season was due to the expert job done by the two coaches Ron Sisk and Bob Erb. This year's team loses only two Seniors, Tom Trice and Roger Wynkoop and thus; next year's team should continue the winning tradition. The 1970 WMC Golfer of the Year Award was presented to Senior Roger Wynkoop.

This season's tennis team is probably the only WMC team with an unblemished record—that is, unblemished in the win column. Due to the graduation of Frank Bowe and the academic "retirement" of Uday Shetty, the team's only returnees, Joe Powell and Alan Gober were forced to play in the tough one and two spots respectively—quite a jump from last year's three and six positions. Late in the season, Powell seemed to become confident as number one, and won three straight matches to finish with a 4-8 record, the best on the team. Captain-elect Powell looks forward to a much stronger season next year as everyone will be returning with the exception of Senior Captain Alan Gober. In addition, junior transfer Mike Kaufman will be eligible next year. Perhaps, the team will have an unblemished record again next year—hopefully, unblemished in the loss column!!!

Women's Tennis

First Row: A. Ebmeier, J. Hitchens, K. Blades, M. A. Richards, C. Shubert, B. Bernhart. Second Row: P. Moore, N. Dawkins, S. Goucher, S. Phoebeus, Coach C. Jesatko, C. Reinart.

Although most of last year's starters were back, this year's tennis team was a young team, consisting of only one senior and the rest sophomores and freshmen. But this was a team of experience. This was evident in the final season record of 4 wins and 2 losses. The girls worked hard and succeeded in matching last year's record.

New Coach Carol Jesatko organized the team with five singles and two doubles so that everyone could play. No one sat on the bench this year. Nancy Dawkins led the team with no losses while first and second singles players, Chris Shubert and Annie Ebmeier, only gave up one match apiece. The girls played a consistent game and should be strong at the net next year since senior Patty Moore will be the only loss.

Volleyball

With the loss of last year's strength and height, this year's volleyball team had to play a defensive game. They had to let the other teams play the offense and then take advantage of their mistakes. Even though this year's team record was not as impressive as the last two years, the team and Coach Carol Fritz worked hard together to end a successful 7-3 season. Two of these losses went to Towson, a much stronger and taller team.

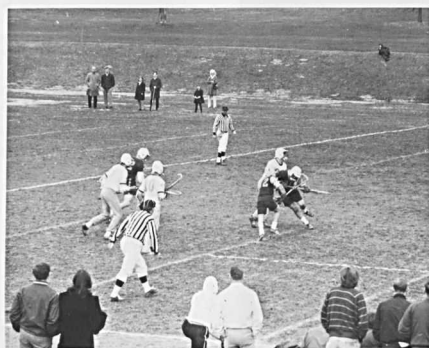

Much can be said for the determination and cooperative play of the team in the face of such strong opposition. This year only two starters will be lost due to graduation; and the future looks bright for such a consistently successful team.

Despite the loss of key men during the season, the Western Maryland lacrosse team posted its first winning record in its varsity lacrosse history. Lack of midfield depth definitely hurt the team. The first night lacrosse game at Western Maryland proved a success in both score and attendance.

The team was aided by the outstanding individual contributions of sophomore attackman Ron Athey and goalie Ron Cristy, who stepped into the vacated position this year. The defense was led by the play of first year senior John Heisler. Only two seniors will be lost and with the help of upcoming underclassmen, barring more injuries, the team looks forward to an undefeated season next year.

In June, due to his fine play all year, Ron Athey was named to 2nd Team, All-Maryland at his attack position.

Circle K in 1969-1970 has continued to move from its auspicious beginning in 1968 to bigger and better things. In line with the club's major objective of campus and community service, this year's Circle K has assisted the local Kiwanis Club in dinners, and it has aided the campus by a bussing project for the Hopkins football game. In the spring, the club has become involved with the faculty in urging the student body to join in a group blood donation plan, and in raising funds for Project First-Down and the March of Dimes. Circle K advocates responsible citizenship, high scholarship and social awareness. It is hoped that as the club grows its activities may continue to expand toward these purposes.

Kappa Mu Epsilon

Since the time of the ancient Greeks, mathematics students have gathered together in fellowship to promote math education and philosophy. The WMC math students, through the Maryland Beta Chapter of Kappa Mu Epsilon, have formed a union quite similar to the bonds formed by students over 2000 years ago. Through lectures, trips, and films, banquet and socializing, the members of KME have formed a union that somewhat surpasses the usual bonds of similar organizations.

The Young Republicans of Western Maryland College have as their main interest the stimulation of student political thought. The club, through its affiliation with the Maryland Federation of College Republicans and the national, state, and local Republican party, gives students a chance to participate in the workings of the American political system. Functioning in a college community, where fresh and innovative ideas develop, the club assists the country and the party.

Equipped with Larry's functional cheers for fractured band, WMC's biggest marching band ever burst into a victorious season. Successfully competing with the hot dog stand for the crowd's attention at half time, they demonstrated heretofore unimagined ability for precision marching to a wide range of music. Under the inspiring leadership of Carl Dietrich, the band grew to an even larger size for the concert season and again showed itself far superior to the WMC bands of past years. Continued growth and improvement is almost guaranteed, through the new found spirit of a group that can proudly say they look and sound like a BAND.

College Choir

Not unlike other organizations, the choir was in a stage of transition this year. The style and sound of the new director, Mr. Oliver Spangler, was reflected in the three main concerts of the year. The one factor which remained unchanged was more members of the choir in chapel services than people in the congregation.

Women protest yearbook policy

The Women's Athletic Committee and the Women's Athletic Association organized a protest on March 12 against what they feel is unfair treatment of women's athletics in the Aloha.

Joyce Wagner, the women's sports editor for the yearbook, was allotted nine pages to cover four women's intercollegiate sports at the beginning of the year. As the yearbook goes to the printer, yearbook coverage of women's sports has decreased to four pages—one page per sport. Commenting on the incident Joyce Wagner stated, "The reason the pages were taken from the women is not due to lack of money. They were allocated to other sections which already had adequate coverage. In light of this the action seems unjustified." In reaction the following protest, signed by 274 women, was submitted to editor Tom Van Stickle:

It has come to the attention of the Women's Athletic Association and the women participants in the sports program at Western Maryland College that the Aloha has recently decided to decrease the number of pages allotted to women's athletics in the yearbook. We wish to state our (first) formal protest to this decision. We realize that we do not have a voice in the policy of this staff, but feel that we have every right to express our objections. A yearbook is for all of the students. We assume that the Aloha staff is aware that fifty percent of its financial backing is from female students. We, therefore, hope that your decision is not binding, and certain actions can be taken by your staff to eliminate this unfair situation.

The Women's Athletic Committee, consisting of three faculty members—Mrs. Coffey, Dean Laidlaw and Miss Fritz—and two students, Gloria Phillips and Nancy Dashiell—took immediate action by sending a letter of concern to the editor.

"Where the weather suits my clothes"

By Alan Wink

A taxi is a difficult thing to find on Madison avenue on a Friday evening; when the little purple falcon stopped I was a bit surprised to see a meter next to the driver but it was getting late so I jumped in and said, "The Waverly Theater, please." The driver asked me for an address and I told him that it was in the Village. Turning down Fifth Avenue, he cut off a huge truck and I decided to concentrate on the floor. Ah yes, New York City.

Gypsy cabs are semi-legal taxis that came in to being because regular cabs will not go in to the rough neighborhoods. As the number of rough areas in New York increases, the police are more and more lenient with the gypsies. Hence, though there was a dearth of cabs on the landscape I made it to the Waverly. I did not meet a boy named Frank Mill. I met Alice.

Alice looked like a fashion model on a small scale and she was standing in front of the theater looking at a young bearded man in a business suit and a cowboy hat. He walked over to her and said hello, she smiled and said hello back and six people coming from the eighth avenue subway pushed the two strangers into one another. They both fell on the ground and the boy in the business suit and the cowboy hat laughed and helped her up. He asked her if her mother told her not to talk to strangers. She told him that he had a friendly face and wasn't a stranger. A blue Porsche stopped, a horn tooted and she grabbed a hand, gave it a little squeeze and disappeared into the City. The cowboy hat was pushed back on the head, that was wondering about New York and friendliness.

Roy finally came and I (the head under the hat) tied my suitcase on the back and pushed until the car started; we headed for China Town for dinner. The Bowery is on the way and at a traffic light two bums asked us for a quarter.

I asked one why he wanted the money—he told me that he wanted to use it to finish his graduate education at Harvard. Roy laughed and gave them a buck. We parked on Henry Street and went in to eat. And wondered whether the bum thought it was as funny as we did.

The Village has two new things—four policemen on every corner; that's sixteen per intersection and hundreds of eleven year old kids. We tried to get in to the Village Gate to hear Nina Simone but were told that one needed reservations. As we left, a US Navy limousine pulled up and a three star Admiral entered with two Marine guards and a very pretty blonde. In front of a music store on a side street, we spotted Johnny Winter, a blues performer currently at the Fillmore East. We followed him in to the store and listened to him jam for a while. A police car stopped in front of the store and the cop began asking the kids standing outside for identification; three of them were searched. Johnny leaned out the door and pulled the gate closed. We said thank you and walked toward Bleecker Street to get a beer.

Passing an alley we heard a cry—deciding to get involved, we turned down the street and found two little girls laying behind some garbage cans. One was holding a needle and a bent, blackened spoon; the other was slumped over the curb throwing up. Roy bent down to the first kid and felt for her pulse. I walked down the alley to look for help; three kids came back with me while one went to get a cop. When I bent down to the girl who had been throwing up Roy told me that they both were dead.

When I returned to Westminster someone asked me why I was wearing a cowboy hat; I told them that I had all ready seen Midnight Cowboy and that my trip to New York had been fine.

Woodstock ---the movie

"See Love, Peace, Music, and yes, Grass, for the first time ever appearing in a movie together, in beautiful lysergic-color", the adds for Woodstock: The Movie blasted at top volume. After they turned down the volume and I could understand what they were saying, I hopped right in my car and headed off for the silver screen Cat-skills on north-west Wisconsin avenue. I went mainly out of curiosity, just to see how the whole thing had been portrayed and represented through the 35 mm lens, and to see how much of the festival I had missed; but I did not go there with the intent of re-experiencing that Woodstock natural high which the three days in August produced. I was highly cynical in respect to the ability of anyone to do Woodstock justice on film, and highly disillusioned when I stepped up to the ticket window and was asked for four dollars a ticket. This was no free movie.

So I borrowed a buck from this chick who reminded me Janis Joplin and Grace Slick mixed, only much more beautiful, to the back of the line which was forming outside the theatre, and waited a half hour in the rain for the doors to open. Already I was getting in the Woodstock spirit with the rain falling in my eyes and the slow moving line of people, which was reminiscent of the original festival. Finally, I got to a seat, and eventually silver majesty began to appear on the screen and the beautiful re-creation of the Woodstock experience began.

The movie opened with shots of Yasgur's farm before preparations began; rolling pastures of wheat and thick forests graced the eye accompanied by Crosby, Stills, Nash and Young's rendition of Joni Mitchell's song, "Woodstock." Then the bull-dozers and long haired-construction workers pushed across the film and proceeded to entangle the entire area with festival preparations.

Suddenly, flash "PEOPLE". Masses and hordes of people, on foot, in cars, on cars, swimming, climbing trees, talking in microphones, smoking, loving, just people all over the screen. Everybody making noise and having fun and sitting in front of the stage. The following three and a half hours of the movie documented the event through people, their actions, their opinions and their dispositions.

The film captured the YES of the festival through the YES of the people, all types of people.

To descend to specifics would be to dis-credit the achievement of the film through my meager description, and would take the joy out of the film for the prospective viewer. All I feel qualified to say is that the four dollars were not ill-spent, and anyone who has any desire to know what Woodstock was all about, or anyone who already knows, or just plain anyone, should go to Woodstock: The Movie. It's playing at the Cinema, 5100 N. W. Wisconsin Avenue in Washington. And be prepared. As critic James Garro says, "Anyone who was there will

To The Editor:

It has been brought to my attention that a majority of the female students attending Western Maryland College feel as though they are not being properly represented in the 1970 Aloha. A look at our national heritage reveals that women have invariably obtained the rights and equality of the male. Assuredly, I am not against sexual equality; and I hope this misrepresentation is not taken as such.

It is unfortunate that 275 female undergraduates could sign a petition on hearsay. I do not remember being asked by anyone, "Why is the women's sports section being decreased?" When the 1970 Aloha was planned, one page was allotted for each female sport, plus one for W.A.A.,--no decrease has been made. The same number of pages were allotted in last years book! The 1968 Aloha allotted five pages, and only three pages went to women's sports in 1967 (not including divider pages).

This year, the women's sports editor requested several more pages than had been assigned. Using recent Alohas as a guideline, the request was turned down; but one additional page was added to women's basketball. Later, upon discovering that a women's basketball coach was the pressure behind the request, the page was taken away. Granted, this is not fair to those concerned, I apologize for this, but nothing else. Faculty should not interfere with student publications. An additional page has been added to women's spring sports--one more than originally allotted. Alright ladies, do you still feel slighted? If so, why not get it straight from the horse's mouth before you jump on the band wagon.

Sincerely,

Jan Thomas VanSickle
Editor-in-Chief, 1970 Aloha

R.J. Raccoon's Country Music Hour notorious byrds

All he wanted was to be free
And that's the way it turned out to be
Flow river flow
Let your waters wash down
Take me from this road
To some other town.
Ballad of Easy Rider

For about the past six years now, the BYRDS have been among the most influential music groups of their time. Almost single-handedly they stemmed the British invasion that has caught American music in a gigantic slump. The Byrds originated Folk-rock, later acid-rock and now the "new country". And for all this they faded into a place of relative obscurity, still making music and releasing albums that influenced other great musicians while they themselves sat in the shadows. At last the movie "Easy Rider" has brought the Byrds back into public attention and McGuinn and his group have scored with their album Ballad of Easy Rider.

The title song with its flowing river-like melody is backed up with that closely woven Byrd instrumentation created by overlapping guitar leads. But it is some of the other tunes on the album that are particularly interesting.

"Jesus is Just Alright" comes pounding out in minor chords like a heavy church organ that shakes the spirit like the blackest Negro spiritual. Religious music is something the Byrds have been into for several years now, beginning with "The Christian Life" back on their Sweetheart of the Rodeo Album. And it isn't Bullshit, either. The Byrds have forever left the psychedelic world of acid-rock for a simple, uncluttered life in the wilderness, particularly the Southwest. In this vein are "Deportee (Planeswreck at Los Gatos)" an old Woody Guthrie Rusthol Ballad, and "Tulsa County Blue." The latter reflects the Byrd belief in the healing power of the west.

My nights have been lonely
Since I've been in Tulsa County
And I really don't know what I'm gonna do

A Year of Change

ROTC has come under fire from students on a national scale this year. As a result, many changes have taken place. At WMC, Sophomores and Freshmen are no longer required to participate in ROTC.

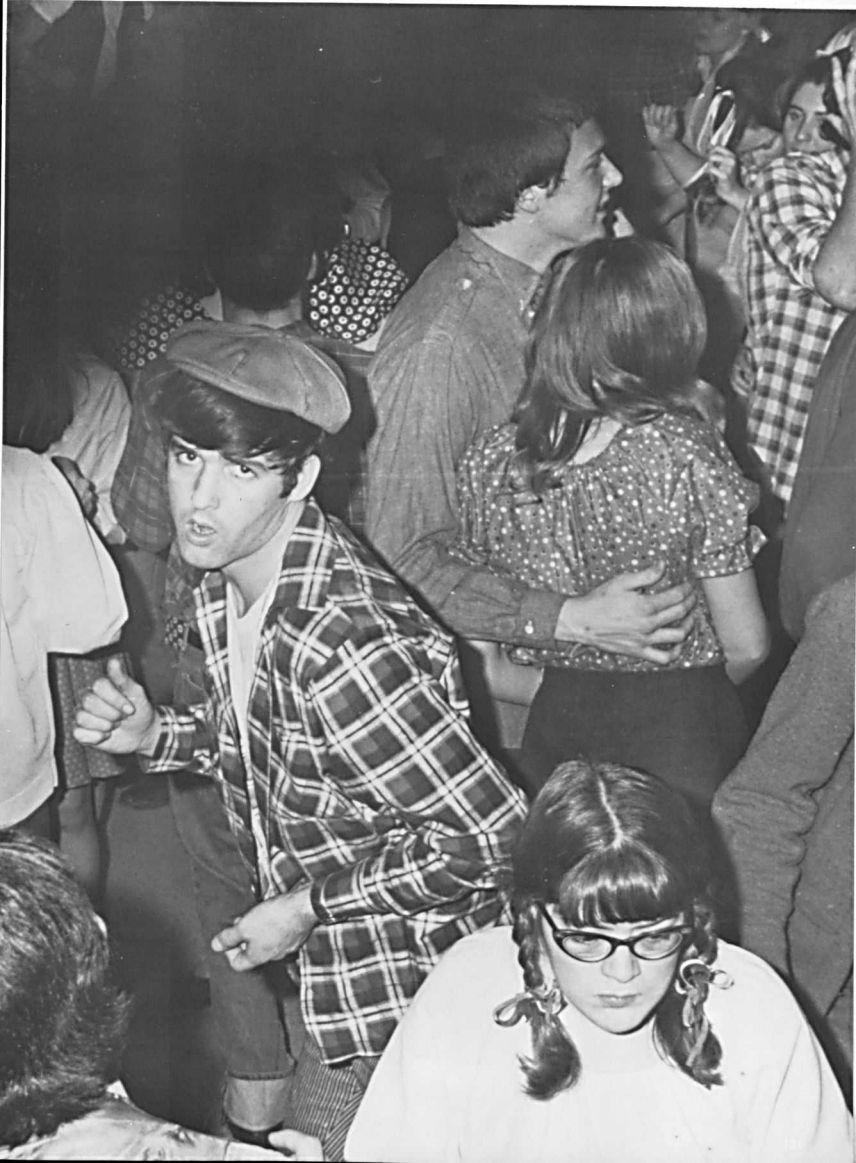

GREEKS

The purpose of this organization shall be to promote bonds of fellowship among men of like mind at Western Maryland College, and to further promote the ideals of intellectual, moral, social, and physical development.

Statement of Purpose of Alpha Gamma Tau

The purposes of this fraternity are:

1. to establish the social, intellectual, and moral advancement of its brothers and associates and the maintenance of unity and harmony among its members, and
2. to serve to the best of the fraternity's ability the college and its community in all phases of life.

Statement of Purpose of Delta Pi Alpha

... to form a more perfect fellowship, establish loyalty, elevate sociability, insure honesty in the student body, promote the highest type of sportsmanship in athletics, insure higher scholastic standing and promote hearty cooperation with the college and all its interests.

Excerpt from Preamble of Gamma Beta Chi

We, the members of Pi Alpha Alpha Fraternity, in order to achieve our motto, "for true manhood"; continually strive for a better college; to practice the fraternal spirit of helping each other; do recognize and establish this Constitution, to and for the college and all its interests.

DELTA PI ALPHA

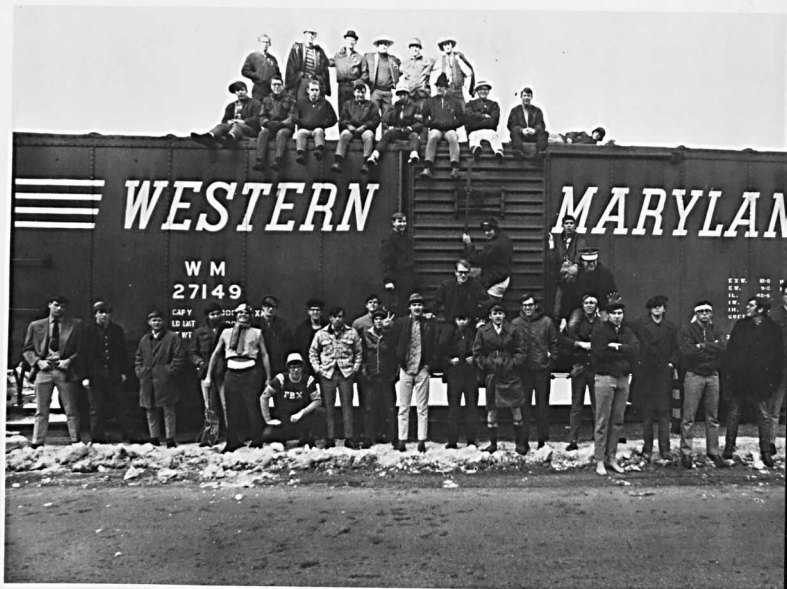

"The Preachers"

Under the leadership of ringmasters "Pops" Markey and J. C. Allen, the Delta Pi Alpha Circus enjoyed another fine season. Most of the old acts returned headed by such veteran performers as John Mosca and his electric nose, Mr. Z. and trained chimpanzees, and Bill Griffith and his snakes. Tawes' hair-growing act was a failure, (as was his love life) but Bad News Barnes showed you can really go places if you sleep all the time (how's Pikesville, News?). Leon Cronic was the most sought-after personage, because he was operator of the Hot Dog Stand. Tuch, our public relations expert, did his usual.

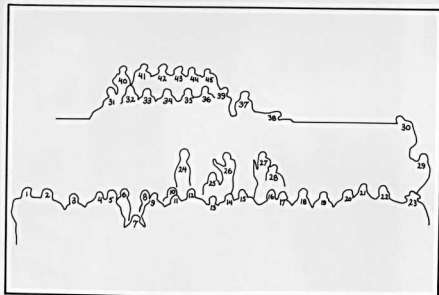

One of the best new acts under the big-top was Biwana Skiles and African Safari. The side show flourished with Fox and Lindsay as the skinny turkeys. There was Eypeels Von Johnstone and his thirty-foot moustache. Ron Cristy developed into one of the best fast-talk artists and joke-tellers in the business, and Freddy Kiemle finally realized his potential as the fat man. Unfortunately John Seaman was a disappointment after someone stole his stilts, but muscle-man Tom Van Sickle picked-up the slack.

On March 4, we added nineteen members to our talented crew. Billy Bowers and Joe Zick are battling it out for resident clown, and Bobby Watson pulls trains with his teeth. We were most fortunate in rounding-up the amazing Mr. Derb, the world-renowned C-fatser. These fine young lads should carry on in the best of Preacher tradition, and the results will be the same in the Delta Pi Alpha Circus for years to come.

GAMMA BETA CHI

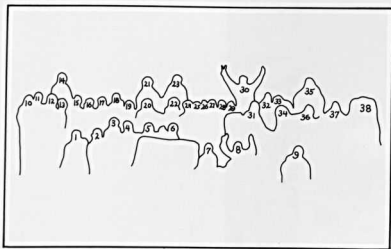

"The Betes"

Many critics would hesitate to link the words "brotherhood" and "individuality" when speaking of a fraternity. Indeed some would deny the existence of either. Gamma Beta Chi, however, has attempted to retain the personality, initiative, eccentricity, and leadership of its brothers, while guiding these qualities to group unity and social service. 1970 continues this tradition.

GBX brothers spring-up wherever college activity occurs, whether it be on Hoffa Field, in Gill Gym, on Faculty-Student committees, or the Down Town Tavern. Through the year, the brothers have engaged in a well-rounded series of campus events, high-lighted by our student-faculty teas, the Spring Carnival for the Maryland School for the Deaf, the Major Moore Scholarship Fund, and the famous Christmas tree drive (of dubious merit). The social calendar has remained both varied and invigorating, ranging from the lecherous "Hungry Mother" Party to the annual spring formal.

Finally and most importantly, the realization of scholarship and leadership as attainable goals has remained an integral part of Gamma Beta Chi. The Brotherhood maintained the highest grade point average for the second straight semester and had members in leadership positions in many campus organizations, including ODK, class Presidencies, Argonauts, and Who's Who.

PI ALPHA ALPHA

"The Black and Whites"

Pi Alpha Alpha—individualism and diversity ... The Pi-men straggled back to campus this past September; in fact, some of last year's pledges didn't get back from their Hell Missions to New York, Quebec, Florida, and a Virginia jail until September ... The Club Bijou in downtown Newark was closed by a certain stalwart defender of law and order ... Diversity: Bernie Pfeiffer, ROTC scholarship holder; and Mike Rudman, leader of the anti-compulsory ROTC movement ... Over fifteen members on the Dean's List ... Service: SOS, Hinge, sponsors for an orphan, party for underprivileged children, Project First Down ... Again, the best frat float ... Black and Whites. And Sigmas honor new Skunks at Lee's ... Lowest dues but the most parties ... A monopoly on subs and mums ... Irish and Jewish presidents ... Largest and most progressive frat on campus ... Golf and tennis captains ... SGA's vice-president and treasurer ... GOLD BUG editor ... ODK President ... three new ODK members ... football champs ... new advisor, Ed Palmer, and a fantastic pledge class of twenty-five ... As usual, Black and Whites lead the Hill.

... To be unselfish to everyone, thinking of others before ourselves ... be tolerant toward those who disagree with us ... realizing our imperfections but striving always toward the goal which we have set for ourselves. To walk in the fear of God, believing Him to be the Creator and Controller of the Universe. To keep alive our reverence for sacred things ... keeping our thoughts clean, our purpose high, our honor above reproach.

Excerpts from the Creed of Delta Sigma Kappa

We, the members of the Alpha Chapter of Iota Gamma Chi, J.G.C., in order to form a more perfect chain of friendship and love, and to bind ourselves in closer sisterhood, do ordain and establish the following constitution. ... If any girl misses more than three unexcused meetings per semester, she will be permanently dropped from sorority membership.

Excerpts from the Constitution of Iota Gamma Chi

We, the members of Phi Alpha Mu, do hereby institute and establish this constitution and by-laws for the purpose of promoting a better spirit of fellowship and a feeling of equality among club and non-club girls; thereby inculcating fine ideals and enthusiastic attitudes toward participation in the intellectual, social, and spiritual life of the students of Western Maryland College.

Preamble of the Constitution of Phi Alpha Mu

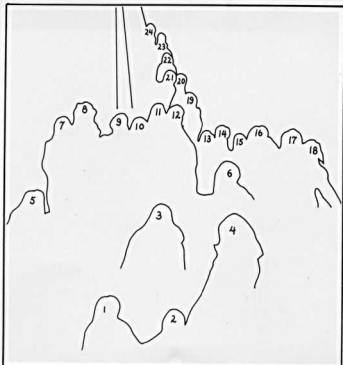

The object of this club shall be to create friendship and understanding among its members and fellow students and to uphold the ideals of the school both academically and socially ... A special meeting of the sorority shall be called by the officers in the event that any member has been accused of a serious breach of administration and/or sorority rules and regulations. The club shall deal with such situations as they see fit.

October 3, 1969 was a red (and white) letterday for the Deltas—the clubroom door opened 33 times ... enter the 1969 pledge class! Rushing headlong through their first night as Deltas, the pledges progressed from a party in the Bachelor clubroom to the first annual football field gala, to an after-curfew intersorority serenade that captured a spirit new—and needed—on the Hill. Hell Week meant hell missions—"We have to go where in the men's dorms and get what?," and with the aid of Blanche Pixies, Pledgemaster Joanna was snatched from her sleep at dawn. The new Deltas added their lively contributions by helping to revise the outdated constitution, supervising the Delt's hot pretzels at the Parent's Day football game, and entertaining their older sisters—"Phoebe's Eavesdropping Elf is worse than P.B.!" The Christmas Party with Fran Ann as the Delt Santa turned into a caroling serenade, as we were joined by the Bachelors in a broad-bro circle in the middle of a snowy quad. Chairman PJ and her formal committee made craters rise in the clubroom as "2001: A Space Odyssey" unfolded in March. Saying goodbye to the graduating Deltas at the Senior Banquet, we looked back "through a mist of tears" at all the things we did this year as sisters, in Delta Sigma Kappa.

Beginning in September, the Phi Alph ball began rolling with President Boob at the head of the herd. After an unusually brief gestation period, the herd doubled with the acceptance of a large number of calves and three associate members. The Christmas banquet and party was, as usual, a lovely inebriated brawl in dress clothes. We were quite successful with our traditional clothing drive for Rosewood State Hospital. In conjunction with the ISC, Phi Alphas livened up May Day for the patients at Carroll County Hospital with favors, and livened up the night for a lot of people with the sorority formal, which was a successful attempt to drain Westminster dry. A new project for the Purple Cows, who are generally loving but not matronly, was the adoption of a child through the Christian Children's Fund. Pinings, engagements, dinner in the clubroom, and President Zorba the Greek were all a part of second semester, as well as the Spring Banquet and installation of new officers.

Barneyard bull: From Tree to Orph to Boob to Zorb—what's the sorority coming to? Has anyone seen Kazmer's legs? Clubrom clean-up? Having a full treasury is great, until the bills are all paid. Another candlelight ceremony?! Why can't it be me this time? A sorority of wias—with nothing underneath them ... the Pit and Lee's (old traditions never die) ... BW 4th has got to be a zoo ... what happened to the REAL Bete-woman of yesterday? (They're pinned to Preachers!)

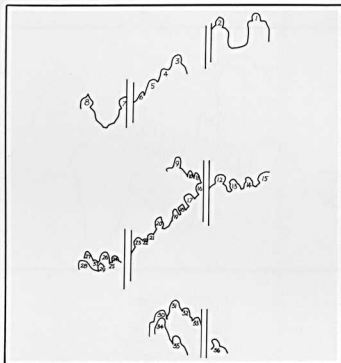

SIGMA SIGMA TAU

"The Sigmas"

The legend of Sigma Sigma Tau was added to the tales of Arabian Nights this fall, and seventeen new sisters were charmed into the harem. They soon busied themselves with their own service project, plus adding their energy to the yearly calendar sale for CARE, the candy sale for the Maryland School for the Deaf, and the two big dorm dinners—when Barney's beefy barbeque really tastes pretty good.

Arabian gourmet delights were traded for a plate or two of good old spaghetti on Sigma Saturday, when the sisters, united in spirit, did their "thing" for sorority. Sigmas also unite with the bros of Pi Alpha Alpha to support an orphan child, to entertain underprivileged children at Christmas, and later amuse each other at our own Sigma-Black and White Christmas party. Smorgasbord at the Ranch prefaced a lively second semester in which we welcomed two more sisters, turned the Elks into a cafe, and sent the harem to Hawaii for an afternoon of South Pacific fun.

From the pledge party at Lee's (yes, Lee's!), to the Black and White smoker and back to our own club-room, the spirit of fun and sisterhood reign high. Whatever it is that Sigmas do . . . they always like it a lot!

GRADUATION

FACES OF THE FOLLIES

"Speak no evil, hear no evil, see no evil"

"The stuff that dreams are made of"

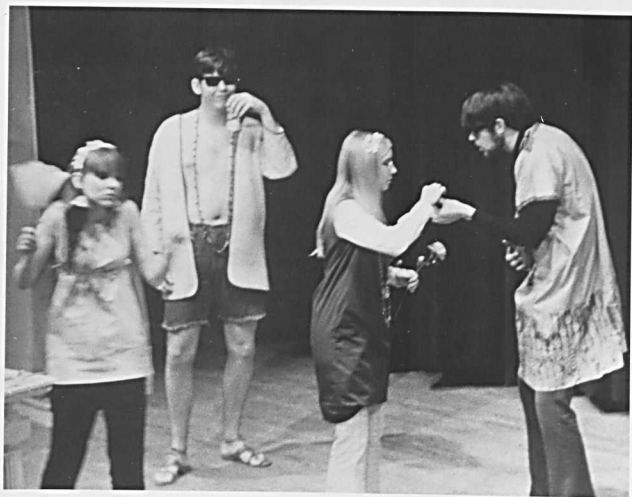

March of 1969 saw many weeks of hard work come to a close as "The Julius Caesar Story" made its debut on the stage of Alumni Hall. Rumor has it that William Shakespeare wrote a tragedy with a similar title, but no bard could have conceived with such genius the musical comedy penned by Dan Patrick and Mike Rudman. The direction of this superb production could be undertaken only by the authors with the assistance of Danielle Greenip.

Although the smashing box office success was eagerly accepted by the class, this was not the ultimate purpose or result of the venture. It was certain from everybody who tried out or worked backstage that the class response to their Follies experience was enthusiastic and overwhelming. Always reserved as the highlight of the junior year, the Follies serve to unite individuals, regardless of Greek affiliations or other differences of interest, with a common purpose. Thus the Class of 1970 was prepared to tackle its senior year and graduation with a new feeling of accomplishment and pride.

So call the field to rest; and let's away,
To part the glories of this happy day

A New Experiment

President Lowell S. Ensor

A venerable institution since 1947, President Ensor has always tried to bring foresight and clear logic to the problems of the college. It has not been an easy job as he has had difficulty in establishing communication with the student body.

Being President requires that a man learn how to compromise in a way that pleases all parties. The installation of machines in the grille is a case in point. President Ensor is trying and in many ways he is the perfect embodiment of what Western Maryland College represents.

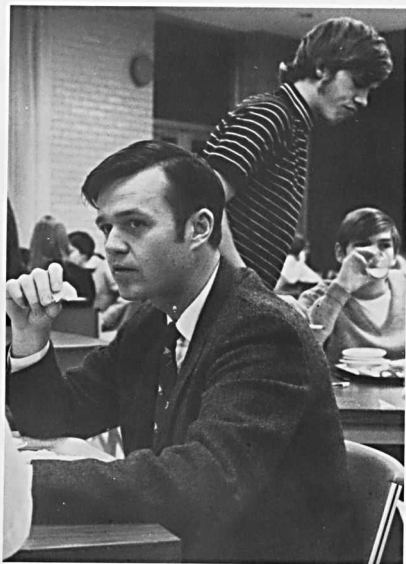

Dean of Faculty

Dean Holloway

In his first year at WMC Dean Holloway has shown his interest and concern in many areas of campus life. He has worked towards improving academic standards, strengthening the Honor Code, and achieving some balance between white and black students.

Dean of Men

Dean Mowbray

After several years as Admissions Advisor, C. Wray Mowbray found himself elevated to Dean of Men. With the growing complexity of our campus and its problems, Dean Mowbray brought to his office experience, wisdom, and most of all fair play. Despite his multiple responsibilities he has always worked for the students' best interests. Dean Mowbray has done an outstanding job.

To maintain a closer rapport, I ...

Dean of Women

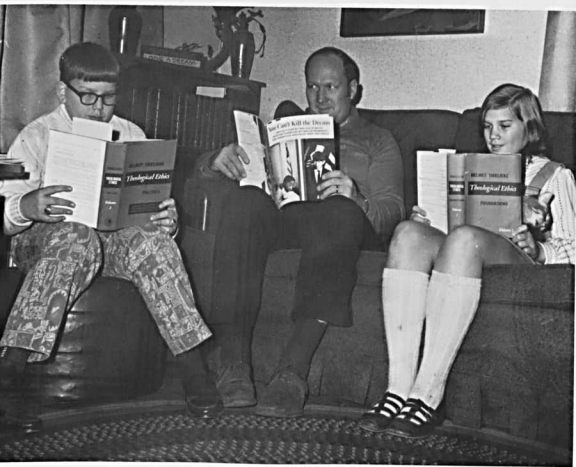

For the coed of WMC the last couple of years has produced far reaching changes in the areas of dress codes and curfews. The influence of Dean Elizabeth Laidlaw has been strongly felt. She has used her office in setting guidelines and working towards goals, which she feels will be fair and satisfactory to all women.

Dean of the Chapel

Dean Zepp, bright-eyed and bushy-tailed from an extended vacation, promises to be even livelier in and out of Baker Chapel next fall. Even as he instructs his children in theology, he gathers philosophical materials for those over-the-coffee grill sessions for which students thirst.
