A mnemonic is of, or helps, the memory, it's a reminder that hints of past experiences. Some people look upon a yearbook as a mementa or keepsake what term could be more appropriate.

The trie is especially suitable for this year's theme which is Engaging the Eighties. As we engage in the lung of the eighties, we shall be raking with us everything we have goined through experience beforehand, building onew on an old foundation.

THE 1980 MNEMONIC

Western Maryland College Westminster, Maryland Volume I XVIII

SOMETHING OLD,

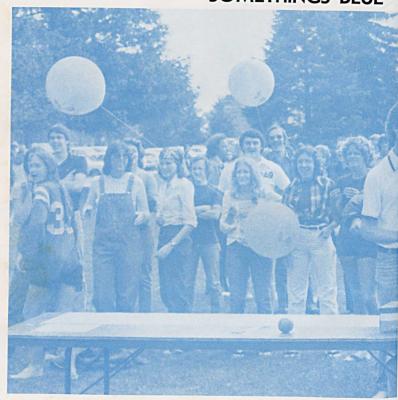

Life on the WMC compus is a myriad of experiences and confrontations. To returning students, the manifestation of these are not new; they have experienced compus life before, yet each year is different. It is new for them in the sense that the activities they have done before and everything they are familiar with still yield different situations.

The freshmen encounter a new surrounding, but the environment is not new, school and schooling is not an unfamiliar way of life to any of the students. Still, each year here has a fundamental freshmess; in occurs by learning new concepts, acquiring knowledge and estroblishing friendships. These are all part of mouration and the obliry to face life off the comoration.

The compus is an old one, yet modernity is here; outwardly in the renovations and the additions to buildings, Inwardly, it is present in the contemporary attriudes employed by the foculty, stiff and students. Tradition is an integral part of our compusille, still, different students ponticipate each year thus instilling a unique perspective to the annual events.

YET SOMETHING NEW

SOMETHINGS BLUE

AND BORROWED

The most fundamental part of WMC is the student body, a flock of blue-jeaned individuals. They come from all over - different states, different classes, holding different beliefs and ideas and after different goals - but they all combine to form one unit. Most students were denim, yet that doesn't effect individuality. There is unity in diversity, and that's not exemptified better in any situation than on a college compus.

N G A G

It's all too easy to do. We can readily out off the world to learn; we say inside four walls with the curtains drawn and get schooling but not an education. The world changes yet we remain the same and study indifferently as to what is gaing an out there. The campus can loater a student from current world-wide news; we must integrate ourselves into these Engage the Eighties.

When the bools have closed, that doesn't mean that education is finished for the day. We must pledge ourselves to form a bond with the outside - take part for better or for worse. The 80's is gaing to be a decade we will all be very much a part of. We will be out in society with issues and diemmas that will have an effect on our lives, and how we respond to them will have a direct bearing on our future as individuols and as a people.

The changes in our lifestyle probably won't be catastrophic in the new decade; life in the 80's will carry many echoes of the 70's Still, there are few certainties; 1980 will be leap year and will yield the presidential election, and 1986 will usher in Haliey's comer. Otherwise, the issues that will probably be pertinent can only be conjectured.

IN THE

Students have been involved to an extent here on campus. The issue of depletion of energy resources is, and will more than likely remain, a topic of concern in the U.S. One supplement to the energy matter is solar energy. It's dean, safe, pollution free and virtually inexhaustable, yet if has to dote some very prodical problems concerning collection and strange as well as some pollitical, social, and economic barriers. Students had the chance this January term to explore the possibilities of solar energy with Dr. Cross of the Chemistry Department, who is doing research on solar

Another alternative to the energy problem deals with nuclear power. Nuclear power is a potential source that holds a very precarious position. Its points in question involve waste disposal, safety, economic condicerations and the amipresent ethical reasonings. We should take correful measures with this issue, especially in the wolke of the Three Mile Island incident.

The 70's othered in the end of the U.S's unquestioned dominance. The recent and still ongoing affort in fan exemplishs this. Student awareness was evident in a rally held on computs to pratest the Ironian talecover of the U.S. embassy. That some evening of the rally, there was a panel discussion sponsored by the International Relations Club.

Other issues to expect, the draft is back in 1980 - or least the registration is. Further erosion of the dallar is sure to be a bothersome foat of life in the 80's. Social fernment as always will probably be obundant. Many groups will be pleading special causes, feminism will be an issue, especially since ERA must be decided upon. All political concerns will be diagnosed and prestribed, because 1980 is the presidential electron year.

More personal concerns of the 80's will deal with better health. Americans are, and undoubtedly will continue, with common sense tactics that put part of their health responsibility into their own hands. An issue on the home front will look into the endangered species of non-working mothers. Americans are greatly concerned with this term, for it predicts that: a household will not be able to run as wanted on one income, and that the disintegration of the family is dose at hand, the family could be lost forever.

8 O 'S

Our personal considerations upon whether to continue school, get married, move to Indiana or mave in with a dose friend, vare for a Congressional pay roise, picter against the price of raisins, buy a Harley or a Converte, build an 'A' frame or a rancher, follow Disco to its death or follow Harry Krishna, have prageny named Edward or Annie or hove none or all, grow a beard or moustach or go with the clean-shaven look, be unhapply thin or satisfied and plump, may only be trivial and trite ones, but they facilitate in allevianing some of the anguish of the periner decisions.

Current events, which call for current thought, never end; so, don't disengage yourself!

DIARY OF THE DECADES

With all this talk of the future we decided to add some memories from the past. Most of us are near to being twenty years old; two decades have passed us by already! Twenty years of a person's life defies easy description and so do twenty years of a nations actions and events. In just two decades, we've experienced quite a lor. Of course, history doesn't split into convenient ten-year View-Master packets, but a country does seem to pouse and assess the past or these times.

The 60's was a decade of great changes and forces. The early years were calm and optimistic, but the second half of the decade was dominated by explosive demands over race, youth, volence, life-styles and the Vietnam war. The country witnessed a great youth rally; youth warried freedom without restrictions. But still, in all the turmfold inhovation ran wid. The 60's granted the U.S. many advances.

A myriad of events, and nor always happy ones, look place in '63. A tragic moment was when Kenndy was assassinated in Texas by Lee Harvey Oswald. Lyndon Johnson rook over the presidency. Martin Luther King led the march in Washington - a plea for racial equality and justice. Musical entertainment was changed as the Beatles made their first rour of the United Strate.

1964-65

These two sections of the 60's decade were violent ones. By now, the Viennam situation had become a real war, and U.S. ditzens were concerned to the point of despair. Maclom X was short during this time. Still, the New York World's Fair closed in October of '65 with a two sesson attendance of over $5,000,000.

1969

The last year in the 60's decade ended with some events that probably stick in everyone's mind. The most imemorable happening was Apollo 11's touch down on the moon. Also in this year was the rock concern of the entire decade - Woodstock - which was held in August. America's ravorite game, baseball, model in a year to remember too, the New York Mers defeated the Baltimore Orioles in the world series.

The 70's as a decade, was a solder of fortune; it unfolded with violence and scandal. The years were pocked with unprecedented bartles and broaching of themes that beforehand had been purposely token for granted or ignored. The U.S. was condemned to limitiations and autority less according inflation. The country was made to face the issues of abortion, homosexuality, premartial sex, wife beging and child abuse. The mood which evolved was one of shacked diagrace.

1970-71

The new decade started off with musical trauma when the Bearles disbonded. While people were wondering where to look for entertainment, Monday night footbol was inagurated. During this time, the erosion of the dollar was responsible for President Nixon's decision to feezew wages and prices. Congress decaded to nix funds for the SST. People were also reading in the newspopers about a guertila wor in Northern Ireland and that McGovern was running for president. Further shock came to the American people as gays emerged from their classes.

1974-75

Americans swallowed their pride in "74, Nixon resigned as president, the Symbionese Liberation Army Iddnopped Parry Hearsy, and streaches were our exposing themselves to the public. In spir of the despairic moad and the escalating inflation, people conspicuously spent more and more money. CID's and designer originals thinned many wallers, and Billy Carter made a personal mini from his 1-v. oppearances. Public awareness come through with the Family Viewing Hour.

1976-77

The nation celebrayed it's 200h. The nation celebrayed it's 200h stay Perfectly immed. Also Haley's Roots appeared Howard Hughes died in this time stay, not knowledgable of the lares in dancing, the Baco, Perinern Issues outside of the country's borders but on it's affairs, dealt with Sadar's visit to street and the release of the Panama Crand. At home, People pandered the deaths of Bing, Bivis, and Gary Gilmore. The Alaskan pipeline was finished.

1960-61

Many of WMC's presen Freshmen and sophamores were born this year. They were too soung to warch the Olympics which were held in California and lially. They probably don't remember that Planeer V was lounded this year. John F. Kened, Sounded this year. John F. Kened on the Control of the Cont

1962

This year started off with bowed heads. Actress Marilyn Monroe died of a barbituate overdose, and the first Americans were killed in Vietnam. John Glenn became the first man to orbit the earth!

1966-67

These years were demanding. Antiwar and antiviolence feelings rose to a deafening pirch. Also rising in grear number was the fellowship of the Flower Power and Black Power movements.

1968

Americans were taken aghast as our leaders were being shot: Robert Kennedy and Martin Luther King were killed by Sirhan Sirhan and James Earl Roy. Life was being lengthened, however, as the first successful heart transplant was completed in Africa. Richard Nixon was elected president.

1972

Mark Spitz wan seven gold medols for the U.S. or the Olympics, later, the Olympics yielded the Munich Massocre. President Nixon buried McGovern in a landside victory and made a historical visit to Peking, Unfortunately for Nixon, Watergare started to be itmidly peeped into. Gas was an outrogeous 304 a callon!

1973

This was a year that held a time of diminution for the country; the energy ariss and the recession presented themselves to Americans. People were startied further with the tasks of defining obscene and legalizing abortion. Also recorded in this year, was the docking of the Apollo astronaus with Skyloth I.

1978

914 members of the People's Temple in Jonestown, Guyana, committed suicide or were murdered. The Catholics had three different Popes in this one year! And the world had the test-tube baby, Louise Brown.

1979

A form of patriotism ded this year when John Woyne, the ultimate head, ded. President Carter even diagnosed the American public as having a national malaise. The nation's technology sprayed debris - radioactive steam escaped from the Three Mile Bload power plant and Skylab peices fell over Austra-los's outback. The Shah left his lengdom and the exited Ayorlolish Khameril returned in triumph. The Susan B. Anthony dollar wasn't so popular.

ONE REALITY.

"My children and I had been anxiously awaiting the rerival of our per day's pupples. When the day finally arrived and we went down to the basement to inspect the litter; the conversation which evolved from the student, ruly enlightened me on the individuality of each of my children. The first fall dexamined the pups and marveled or the misacle of birth. The second was worried about what we were going to do with them all. And the third child exclaimed. "Oh, look! More things to love!"

WHAT ARE YOUR THOUGHTS ON THE DECADE

"I have several idealistic hopes for the 80%, sepecially in light of the situation in the world raday. The foremast of these is that netter will be no war, enabling hard our friends and family can remain with u.s. I also hope to graduare, leaving a major part of my life behind me, but keeping always the friends and memories of Western Md. College. Hope that we realize our roles as the leaders of our nation, roles we will assume in the next decade. It is important that we realize the importance of our roles and the immerse import we will inevitably have on the world we live in - the world as we'll shape it."

"For the first half of the new decade, I'll still be in school; during the second half, I'll probably be collecting unemployment." "I'm awaiting the new rechnological advances. The prospect of owning a solarized house and an electric car excite me."

"I don't know what the eighties will produce, but I hope we see the end of Disco and the death of the Ayarolloh."

"In the 80's, people are going to be more concerned about 'we' rather than just 'I'. The nation is going to have to pull itself together and work as one unit"

"The eighties will probably be a lot like the seventies. We'll all sit around and worry about Soviet actions and dreadfully anticipate a nuclear bomb. Nevertheless, life will continue as usual."

1980

"During the eighties, I'm going to make my first million,"

"The eighties are going to find me travelling quite a bit. There is a lot I want to see and do before I get too old or loose my initiative."

"It's really impossible to predict what events, ideas, or moods of the new decade may be, and it's useless to hope. My sentiments on the 80's aren't going to change a damn thing."

"During the eighties, I hope to be happily married, I want to share my home-made opple pies with a husband and a few children. Of course, I'm going to have my own career, but I'm going to try and nullify the stigmatism attached to working mothers."

"I think the 80's is going to produce a lot of fellowship and love. After all the doubting and hating of the 70's, people will realize that these will only yield annihilation."

"The eighties is just another decade. Americans will probably experience the same old eye-opening, head-shaking issues of the seventies."

"I'm scared but I'm optimistic. This is the kind of enduring American faith we all should possess during the new decade."

"The 80's will merely be another chapter in our lives, such as our years here at WMC will be. We shall learn and take note."

"As a 1980 graduate, I'm looking forward to being in the 'real world' and all of the adventures and opportunities that are part of it."

"I hope that the 1980's will bring peace to all nations and between all nations."

Campus life here at WMC is just a fraction of our lives that is fused together with all the other periods we have and/or will have experienced; a myriad of influences are effectuated.

"Life Is Made Up Of Ever So Many Partings Wielded Together." Dickens As sudents, the major aspect of college life will be reflected in our later careers. Yer, as human beings, we should leep in mind that we are not solely at WMC to achieve an 'A' on every test, but to get a liberal education that will enable us to artain a better perspective on life. Learning and growing is not just by popers or tests but by human experience and the possage of rime.

"Growing Old Is Brought About By Planning And Dreaming But Not Forgetting The Joys The Past Has Brought."

NOT JUST FOR TODAY

As participants in college activities, the significan factors inherited through extra-currinul will be to our advantage also. Partaking in the various organizations gives us a better view on responsibility and the ability to rely upon others, which will be so influential in everything we engage in in the future.

"May You Live All The Days Of Your Life." As friends, we should remember that our lifestyles will be changing all too soon and that people who are so close and important to us now may not always be so near. WMC is conducive to friendship, and that is one item that makes if such a great acropus. One of the greatest joys in life is friends, they contribute to each individual's personal growth and happiness. Comrade and even self-respect blossom and yield a person who is better able to cope with others and himself.

FOUR YEARS AT WMC CAN SEEM LIKE FOREVER . . .

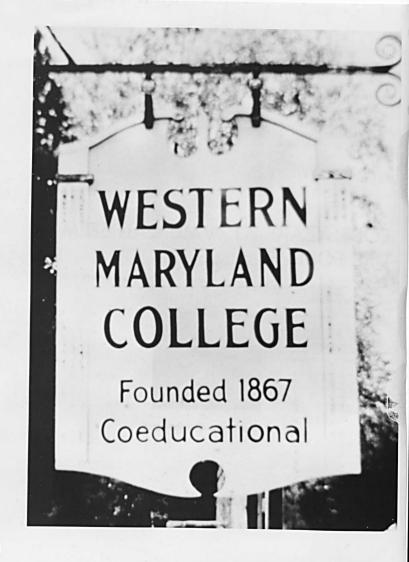

That is, until you get caught up in living them. Arriving here as freshmen and contemplating upon at least four more years of schooling after just finishing twelve long ones, is pretty instrindiaring. Involvement is the key factor, sranding and warching from the sidelines gets redious and boring.

Once you start to get involved in campus life : the studies, the firedships you find, and the clubs, teams and arganizations you join - time begins to go very quiddy. Soon, there doesn't seem to be enough time; the days fly by and the weekends in a semester go even faster.

Our college years will be over sooner than we realize and then we will all part. That is why we should take the time to get involved in the VMC lifestyle while we still have the opportunity. Four years here is not forever, but the memories are.

The school year 1979-80 was designed to explore and celebrate the undelineated facets of liberal learning through emphasis on cultural events. Alumni Holl was utilized as our performing arts center, there, the school's Concert and Lecture Series executed a myriad of programs, lectures and performances. This year's theme, "The Sixties. The Spirit and the Madness", was chosen to help us experience and engage in the 80's. Various, pioys and movies were presented to manifest the idea behind the theme and to help us separate superficialities from substantialities. The students found the theme exching and rewording.

FEIFFER'S PEOPLE

The 1979-80 theatre season themed "The Sixties: The Spirit and the Modness" opened with "Feiffer's People" on October 5, in Alumni Hall's understage:

Written by Jules Feffer, the play formed a collage of life and living in the sixties through many quick pored scenes and monologues. Often funny and often biting, "Feffer's People" explored issues like equality, love, sex, and war.

Directed by Max Dixon, the production's cast included students, faculty, alumni and mem bers of the local community. The untraditional structure and setting of the play forced the imaginations of the acrors and the audience to work.

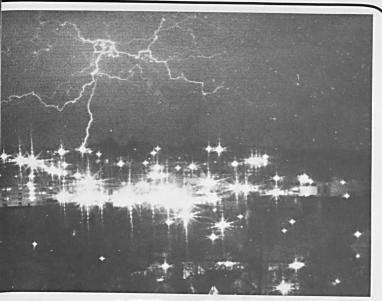

To be able to laugh, while still understanding the more serious aspects of human nature is a gift. Fedfer's sattre, Max Dixon's directing and the cast's acting were the elements of success in "Fedfer's People".

Joni Eareckson

"I Am Your Friend And My Love For You Goes Deep. There Is Nothing I Can Give You Which You Have Not Got; But There Is Much, Very Much, That While I Cannot Give It, You Can Take." Fra Giovanni may have written this to a friend in the 16th century, but Joni Earedk-son reiterated it this past October in Alumni Hall to over nine-hundred people during her lecture which was part of the school's Concert and Lecture Series.

Joni had planned to attend WMC in the fall of 1967. This never came about due to a swimming accident that occurred the summer of that year; Joni become a parapelligic Her lecture was her testimony of how she encountered and conquered her despairs situation. The following are concepts from her Christian message.

Take Lovel At first sourced by her accident, Jon became embitrered; she finally turned to God for solace and some kind of meaning. "This God loved me to much that he didn't desire to see me remain separare from Him, but he became like me. This is the God who is worthy of myr trust: I couldn't argue with that lend of love, I couldn't rests it!"

Take Trust! An Angel's hand is in each of our trials; there is always a gift there. Suffering is looked at from a temporal view. When our "finite" minds open to God's viewpoint, we see everything more clearly. "It means my perspective should be more optimistic," she said.

Take Hope! "Hope is nor a crurch or a cop out", explained Jon! Hope is free and whornt in God's word, it calmed her by suggesting of an overshadowing presence. "I hope", prodained Jon! "God will use my life to better equip yours for all the triols, the handlags, that you might be experiencing in your life."

Joni's heartfelt, contagious emotion deeply moved the crowd. A song sang at the end of her testimonial summarized her speech and her love for the Father:

"Though I spend my mortal lifetime in this chair

I refuse to waste a minute in despair And though others may recede It's a feeling I believe

That he has given me a gift beyond compare . . . "

"Life is so full of meaning and purpose, so full of beauty - beneath its coverings - that you will find earth but clooks your heaven. Courage then to claim it, that is all!" Fra Giovanni

John Holt

A lecture on "Education Toward the 21st Century" was given September 24, by John Holt, recognized critic and philosopher on the American educational system.

John Holt has published a myriad of bools on this subject during the 1960's and early 70's. At that time, he was a frebrand, he shook the very primordial structures of education, Mr. Holf's bools and articles referred to both public and private schools as, "prisons where 20th century children must also suffer the indignities of being regarded as sloves." He believes children are people and deserve the same rights as adults. John Holf abs strated in his works that many students problems lay with the system of grades and grading, learning and growing become merely secondary to grade procurement.

Such was what the audience expected, the mood was set. But, rising expectations have a tendency to fall, and they did. Hoir rambled off on a trangent about the future now and then, he mentioned education, He did not offer much insight into where the U.S. educational system will be in the next decade.

Mark Lane

A lecture on "Cults: Cause and Cure" was given November 12, by Mark Lane, a controversial attorney, author and lecturer.

Mark Lone was a lowyer for Jim Jones and the People's Temple; his lecture drew upon the Jonestown, Guyana massoare for illustration. Mr. Lane was there when Rep. Lee Ryan of Colifornia and a group of aides decided to investigate charges that the resident were being held against their will and were killed.

Lane proclaimed that the deaths in Jonestown were not suicides but murders. He started that the American people were fed nothing but distorted foats and outright lies concerning the tragedy. His lecture death mainly with disparaging not only the news media, but also the government.

Lane roised a lot of questions; he answered only a few and these with no strong facula information. Much of his talk described his struggle in the jungle after the massare began. Now and again, he threw in nor-appreciated anecdotes about the tragic struation.

T.P. Mulrooney

Comedian T.P. Multrooney amused a sparse school gathering and many crizens of Westminser this spring. Arranged to appear, due to Dr. Creatise'n of the Psychology Department, Multrooney's greatest asser was his rapport with the audience. T.P. was originally from Westminser, and many times he actually named people in the crowd and mande joikes or playful inquiries about them.

T.P. sared finar in his youth, he had wanted to be a blues singer, priest or comedian, many of his jokes dealt with inbese fields. He often made Catholic jokes, many others were directed upon common every day household activities and relationships therein. He ended with a skill entitled "Middled dass libuses", which was a little more than lewd but hildrious just the same. He was a definite hit with the audience.

Leonard Matlovich

Sergeant Leonard Matlovich was the man who deliberately provoked a discharge from the Air Force in order to challenge the military's lang-standing ban on homosexua's. His situation is a perfect rest case; the court's decision will be a landmark on homosexual rights.

Marlovich is the son of an Air Force sergeont, and was raised at air bases in the U.S. and England. He has an impeccable twelve-year military career, no psychiatric problems, and a Branze Star and Purple Heart won on one of his three tours in Vietnam.

Though he said he knew he was homosexual at the age of thevelve, he did not act upon that knowledge till he was 30. Only dmly aware of the gay liberation movement, he ran across the name of Gay Attust Frank Kameny in a magazine arride on homosexuals. He flew to meet the man, he enthusiastically offered to challenge the military.

Since then, Leonard Matlovich has become one of the best-known gays in the country. Says he, "... And just two years ago I thought I was the only gay in the world." (1975)

Pro Musica Rara

Pro Musica Rara, Baltimore's resident professional ensemble for the performance of Baroque Music on authentic instruments, held a concert on campus.

The concert provided listeners with an opportunity to hear the works of 16 and 17 century composers, such as Handel, Vivoldi, Dornel, Fasch and others, on reproductions of instruments as they were made during that period of time.

The players were John Merrill, violin; Phyllis Olsen, viola de gamba; Richard Schroeder, harpsicord; Joseph Turner and Leslie State, oboes and recorders.

January term is for the imaginative; Jan. term is for everybody.

The Western Maryland College department of dramatic art presented John Heifner's Vanitles march 13:16 in Aliumni Hall.

Directed by Tim Weinfeld, the show was both humarous and thought provoking. The cast consisted of three Western Maryland College women: Susan Carson, Judy Waller and Lynn Kurst. The actoresses felt that the small cast afforded them an apportunity to learn to work well together.

Vanities is about the development of three popular girl friends from high school to maturity. To accomplish this, Heifner concentrated on characterization rather than narrative line.

In describing her character, Cassin said, "Kathy is so busy involving herself with everyone else's problems that she has no time for her own." According to Kunst, her character Johanne is "simple minded and is concerned with one thing - marriage and children." The last character, Mary was described by Wolleer as being a "gifl who wants to be desired by many men."

Backgammon

Extra chance costs nothing

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

You, White, roll 6-2 in the diagrammed position. How do you play it?

There are several choices. You can take the whole move with the back man: you can bring one man in and move the other man two points; and so forth. You will save the gammon (by bearing a man off) if Black doesn't roll a doublet and if your next roll is double six, double five or double four.

Only one move will save the gammon if your next roll is double three: You must move the back man from Black's bar point to your own 12-point; and then move the other runner from your 11-point to your 9-point.

It's very unlikely, of course, that precisely this will happen, but it costs nothing to give yourself that extra chance.

BLACK

A very popular collegiate activity is backgammon. It's one of those addictive games that captivates practically everyone's attention. Backgammon boards have become standard room equipment.

The game is not new; it's one of the oldest games known to man. In 1743, Edmund Hoyle codified the rules and strategy. The game has stayed around because of the challenge inherent in it. The excitement involved is great-even when defeat seems inevitable, the conditions can change and allow a win instead.

Backgammon does require skill and the luck of the dice. Even though chance is involved, this factor can be used favorably by a player who understands probability. The game has become so popular, that newspapers even run "How to . . ." columns. These sports are similar to the familiar chess and bridge self-improvement, strategy-building columns that can be seen in the papers.

Finding a willing partner on campus is not hard. Students play all the time for sporty relaxation and in sporadic tournaments sponsored by various groups and organizations. This Jan. rerm, juniors Bob Hale and John Hines decided to add more challenge to the game by playing underwater Actually, Bob and John set the world's record of 24 hours of continuous underwater Backgammon play. They started on January 19th in the college's Harlow Pool. They were sponsored by the Porthole Dive Shop of Reisterstown, and the divers themselves co-ordinated a sponsor program (¢/hour) for the US Olympic Fund. The public was invited to watch, and Backgammon boards were provided for those who wished to join in the spirit of the event.

So, if your not aware of the meanings of: doubling, bearing off, gammon, point, etc., and if you haven't received a board yer for Christmas, brush up. Some day soon someone's going to ask you to play.

THIS IS THE PLACE

Where We Work And Play Hard.

No one was spared from the swift sotre delivered by the Junor last during their anual presentation of the Junior. Falles, Major punches were thrown to both the administration and the students. Folles is a tradition on the WMC compus. The students involved in the extravoganua are members of the Junior adist, for many, if is a first rate of the stage, a fun, new experience. The Folles is written, directed and staged entirely by the students and presented over three consecutive evenings and one maintee for porents. The theme this year was "That's Enternationaries for III", and many the stage of the of the songs were adapted from both Broadway and popular music.

The spirit of the Junior Follies is one of unity and comradery. The class is joined ragether in a jovial presentation of campus life. Skits ranged from Student rebellion to Administrative criticism to Section parties; and all in good fun.

Follies was arrended by staff and students alike. All were pleased by the by the resulting enterrainment and accepted the jabs and jokes in the spirit they were given.

Applause, Applause.

POUSETTE-DART

Spring Concert

The Spring Concert this year was not one held in the greates of anticipation. Part of the problem concerned the student body's regret of not getting a more well-known band, and part of the problem was due to poor promotion. Neverthe-less, the few WMC students who went to the Thursday night concert had an excellent evening of entertrainment:

The warm-up band, Buddy Miller, sared the showing on an up-bear. Almough the band is described as a new mellow rock band from New York, ir possessed a definite Southern twang which the audience enjoyed whole-heartedly. The band consisted of a woman lead vacalla, a banja, a juice harp and a földer. There was high audience approval, therefore, before Pousetre-Darr even appeared on stage.

Pouserte Dart was an immediate hir also. The group displayed a lot of syncopared thythm; here was rock in roll. The bond had a very "right" is sound: the guitars in the group were excellent. The audience had a (somewhat surprising to some) good evening of enterdiament. This was perceived by John Pouserte who said, "You're not the biggest crowd we've played to, but certainly the most enthusiastic."

KENNEDY'S

On May 9, 10, and 11, the Dramatic Art Department of WMC offered some insight into the influence that the decade of the sixtles has had on us in the form of Kennedy's Children. Written by Robert Partick, this play was the culminating production of this year's series, "The Sixtles: The Spirit and the Madress."

The dynamic, two act play centered around six characters who, in 1974, attempt to relive their social and political experiences of the sixtics.

Director Ken Gargaro carefully selected a cast of six students for the play. He described the play as "honest, searing: and humarous." The cast includes: Jim Rolston, Douglas Jay, Pere Weller, Laine Gillespie, Mimi Eby and Mary Ford.

Laine Gillespie, as Wanda, reflected much of the spirit of Jahn F. Kennedy; she was virtually fallen in lave with this personage. Mary Ford, as Carla, portrayed a Marilyn Manneo type sex goddess. As Rona, Mint Eby brought forth a revolutionary warman who was actively involved in protests and movements of the day.

Douglas Dry, as Sparger, brought roll for a underground actor dedicated to the surreal and existencial arts. Mark, portrayed by Jim Ralston, was a young man who served in the Ventom war. Pere Weller, the borreader in the play, never spoke, but had an important part in that he was the only character that interacted with the others on the stage.

May Day is the spring day reserved for that special fun. The quadrangle is reserved for vorious games, concessions, crofts, and exhibits. Student organizations, fraternities and sororities, various campus departments and community organizations sponsored the day's events.

Several entertainment groups appeared and performed: the John F. Nichol Band and the Scottish Highlanders Dancers; Olu; the Argentine Children's Group and the Corner Street Theatre.

That same weekend, other events occurred also; the annual quad party and high school visitation day were big successes.

Maggie Mules is proficient in the all-important set-up

Coming off the phenomenal 1978 season, and playing with the loss of four seniors, the 1979 Western Maryland volleyball team had plenty of rebuilding and revitalizing to accomplish to attain their earlier prestige. And they did! The women on the team struck nothing short of a dominating posture on the court.

The team won an unprecedented 36 wins this season, along with the Middle Arlantic Conference Title for the fourth consecutive year. The spikers also captured first place in the Mansfield State Tournament, a meet which saw our team defeat such Division I reams as Syracuse University and West Point. At the Regional Division III Championship, WMC consistently outplayed bigger, stronger opponents and came within a game of going to the Nationals! The women finished in third place for the East.

The starting players for the 1979 season were Becky Martin, Tammy Roebber, Debbie Baker, Maggie Mules, Mary Schiller, and Jayne Kernan, with Cheryl Stonfer, Lisa Bryant and Ann Glaeser coming off the bench.

Senior co-captains Becky Martin and Tammy Roebber will be missed next year, but with a J.V. ream that finished the season with 10 wins and 0 losses, the ream has good prospects for the future.

Rob Bowman

When head wrestling coach Sam Case left, Rob Bowman rook over the coaching responsibilities. This gave Rob the distinction of being the only head coach in the graduate assistantship on compus.

Bowman found the challenge rewarded with several victories. As the season progressed with four losses, Dowman was not discouraged. He found the experience to be a great achievement and a boost to his career.

Andy Weber

Andy Weber enjoyed his year as assistant baskerball coach at WMC. Andy a former Physical Education major is looking forward to coaching in the future. He found this year excining and challenging.

The guys were cooperative and motivared. Andy described the year as an education for himself as well as for the players. He recommended for anyone who has the chance to be a graduate assistant, to do it.

Dave Seibert

Dave Seberr, a 1978 graduate of WMC, returned this year as an assistant football cooch in the graduate program. "Responsibility", is the word which summed up Dave's impression of coaching. Nor only did coaching fill Dave's imme, but the chance to recruit gave him the opportunity to explore that part of the educational process.

"Satisfaction", expresses Dave's artitude roward his experience.

Mary Louise Jones, a Physical Education major, returned to WMC this year as a graduate assistant. She was assistant hockey and basketball coach and head coach of the softball team.

While an undergraduate, she played lacrosse for three years and volleyball for four years. She graduated Cum Laude, with Department Honors.

After graduate school, Mary Louise would like to teach in a small college similar to WMC.

Mary Louise Jones

Ellen is a Physical Education major who returned to WMC this year to work on her Master's Degree. This year she is assistant volleyball, basketball and track coach; she also teaches Physical Education classes.

While an undergraduare student, she played volleyball, basketball and lacrosse all four years. Her reasons for returning to WMC are that she likes the people and has had good experiences here.

After she receives her Master's, she plans to move to Germany, where her husband is stationed. She would like to teach in an independent school there.

CROSS COUNTRY SETS

Elior Runyon and Doug Renner stride for that cross country finish

Thoughts of the finish bring a smile

Though falling short of their goal of a winning season, the 1979 Green Terror harrier season still proved to be significant. First, the ream compiled an 8-9 record, the best in school cross-country history. Second, the season marked a successful debut for Rick Carpenter, the new harrier coach And third, this was the first year girls' cross-country; the ladies faired well with a 2-3 slare. Leading the men was senior co-captain Doug Renner. Renner won two of three home meets and recorded a 10,000 meter (6.2 miles) best of 34:05 on the tough York College course. Providing depth for the Terrors were sophomore Rollie Briggs, senior

Morris. Kebler and Briggs return as co-captains next year Leading the women were freshman Elaine Lippy, sophomores Jenny Filbey and Stephanie Opdahl and senior Leslie MacIntyre. Lippy finished 16th in the Mason Dixon cross-country championships. Filbey won a rough Dickinson meet and returns to captain next year's squad. With four top runners returning, plus some good recruiting by the coach, the girls' team looks to be dominant

NOT OUTPLAYED

The first 500 season in many years symbolized great success for WMC socces in 1979-80. The new tolent and the veteran experience combined for a tough team and a potential MAC position. Unfortunately, the ream had difficulty scoring. Western Maryland decidedly outplayed its opponents in nine of its thirteen games, but won only six.

Five seniors graduated from the ream this year: John Patrick and Jeff Wahlbrink (co-captains), Joe Yurcisin (fullback), Stu Streit (midfielder), and Dave Zauche (wing).

The season's three most outsranding players were Albert Mensch, who received honor selection to the All-Middle Alantic Conference Team, and two freshmen Dirk Moore, leading scorer, and Greg Shoddley, who replaced the injured gooile Bob Kline.

Next season, the soccer team will push even harder for a MAC spot. The potential is there!

BY STORM

Following a successful 1978 football season. sceptics called the 7-1-1 Green Terror mark a "fluke", but head coach Jim Hindman and the 1979 Terror squad were determined to prove that, nestled here in the rolling hills of Western Maryland, was an NCAA division III football powerhouse. That proof came every Saturday afternoon, as the Terrors crushed their MAC opponents to gain a 7-2 record that fell just shy of the nation's top eight reams considered for post season championship play. Despite two early season losses to Muhlenburg and undefeated Widener College, Western Maryland surged to league supremacy, finishing second in the MAC and tenth in the Lambert Bowl rankina

The explosive terror wishbone offense scored from everywhere, utilizing one of the most well balanced attacks seen in years. The rushing game was superb as Glenn Cameron (391 yds-4.4 avg.), Rip Jamison (330-5.2), Eric Degross (300-5.3), Brian Bain (322-5.0) and QB Jim Selfridge (385-3.4) all boasted 300 or more yards running. Selfridge, winner of the MVP award, also added zip to the air assault, connecting on 41 of 99 passes for 819 yards and 7 touchdowns. His main target, split end Mark Chadwick, caught 17 aerials for 358 vds. and six TD's including a record breaking 4 TD grabs in a 42:3 romp over Swarthmore. Junior kicking specialist Craig Walker gave WMC another edge as his 17 extra points and 7 field goals placed him second in team scoring and his 37.3. punting avg. gave the defense room to breathe. Midway through the season, Walker set a school mark of 27 consecutive extra point rallies before finally losing the streak.

Defensively, the Green Terrors swarmed offensive foes in a season long lefort that placed them seventh nationally against the rush (75.9 yds/game) and eighth overall (176.4 yds). The stalwart terror "D" allowed just 30 pains in second half play all season, while giving up a total of 77 pains. Jurior Interbacters, Joe Menendez (16 sola roddes, 38 assist) and Steve James (48 totales, 35 assist) syperted the mean defensive unit while two time All-American Ricul Banaccory led the front four with 92 sola roddes, 56 assists and 15 quarterback socks. Senior co-captrain Randy Holdey inspired the safety corps, leading them in tackles and interceptions.

The season was filled with hard work and pleasant rewords as WMC gained recognition by placing five members on the All-MAC ream. Lineman Harry Peoples and Rica Bonaccory, along with linebacker Joe Menendez, were selected to the First Team Defense while quareback Jim Sefridge and toddle Tim Street reback Jim Sefridge and toddle Tim Street earned First Team Offensive honors. Donaccorry was also elected to the Eastman Kodak All-American squad for the second straight season, an adhervement that belongs solely to him in the 89 year history of WMC football. The Terrors will return strong in the '80 with 15 of 21 starters including ream captions, Harry Peoples, Sieve James, Joe Menendez and Druce England.

THE GREEN TERROR

No one sees him come. He just oppears. He comes amidst the rabble of screaming fans, waving pom-poms, and "The Star Spangled Banner". Suddenly he's there in front of you, sulfing through the cinders. The Green Terror is back.

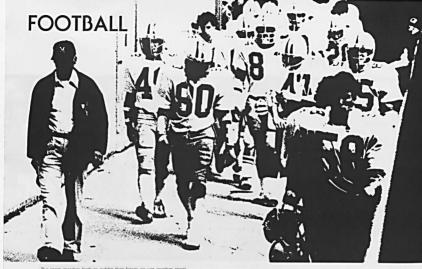

Like Zorra, Barman, and Superman, the "GT" believes that secrecy is the key to his (or her) effectiveness. "I think that everyone will have a better impression of the GT if they are always guessing who he is."

Kids are his biggest fans. He pays more attention to them than adults because they are more intrigued by him. "They don't know whether to run or pet my paw," he says.

The Green Terror's main goal is just to add to people's enjoyment of the games and enthusiasm at WMC.

Our loveable mascor, the Green Terror

Dr. Som Case of WMC's Physical Education Department experienced an exciting appartunity this year; he worked with the U.S. Ollympics. During the summer of '79 and again in '80, Dr. Case works for the Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs, Colorado, as a physiologist.

When Jim Hindman recruited Ricci Bonaccorsy our of Arundel High School, he knew Western Maryland was getting more than just an outstanding high school athlete. He knew that with a solid training program and good coaching, Bonaccorsy had the potential to be an All-American. Playing for four years as a defensive end, he has accumulated more statistics and awards than any other lineman in WMC history. The 6'2" 215 pound senior co-captain was named to the 1979 NCAA division III All-American squad after a great senior year and has twice been selected to the Eastman Kodak All-American ream, making him the first two time All-American in WMC football history.

Although his size may be loaking as a lineman, professional sous have considered his oblities of the outside linebacker position where his talents may be best suited. His aggressive and consistent play will be missed sorely by the team, but hopefully his follent will be employed in another football uinform in the near funue. Goad lack Rical

A SEASON OF SUCCESS

Mandy Roe overcomes the defensive force and attempts a layup.

A record season of 14-7 and five victories in the MAC's supported the women's basketball ream's in their fine year. The season got off to a great start and continued with an unprecedented nine straight wins towards mid-season. Then, the team went on to the MAC's. dimaxing the year in a thrilling overtime battle against Ursinus, which we unfortunately lost 78-76. They did, however, win the Southwest Division Championship. The victorious season was especially rewarding for Coach Carol Fritz, who finished her last year as the Cagettes leader and for Becky Martin, who achieved numerous accomplishments. The team set several records: a record 114 ream points in one game and a 104 point margin of victory.

Bedry, Martin was WMC's all-time leading score with 1209 points. This mode Martin third in the store in scoring. During the season, Bedry overaged 20 points per game, in one spectra-ular contest, she acquired 39 points, establishing the most points made by one individual in a game. Martin was the on acourt leader, colling offensive plays and defensive alignments. She was named the most valuable player in the MAC South Division. She wan the honor by placing second in field goal percentages, second in league scoring, and ninth in free throw percentages.

Part of the season's success was due to the excellent coaching by Carol Fritz. This was, however, her last year of affiliation with the women's baskerball ream. She resigned because of the closeness between the baskerball and valleyball season and the conflicts which arose from that. The school will not be minus her coaching abilities, because she will insread assume the head softball coaching position in the upcoming year.

Other outstanding players were senior Barbara Brazis with a 6.2 storing average and a 4.7 in rebounds. Junior forward Jean Elliot made 10.1 points per game. Junior guard Magge Mules concluded with a game point overage of 4.9. Other outstanding players included Moureen Noonan as forward and Patry Moyles or guard with a 453 field goot percenage.

The game's halted to award Becky for her accumulation of points.

Par Griffin gains an advantageous position

The WMC wrestling season got under may way with a great start, but faltered in the last weeks. Still, the season was a fairly good one with a 7-8 record.

The season produced several outstanding personal records. Rip Jamison (167 lbs) led with 14 wins and 56 points, followed by Vince Bohn (150 lbs) with 11 wins and 51 points and Dick Frew (118 lbs) gained 10 wins and 47 points. Scoring 9 wins was Keith Staga (132 lbs): he rallied 42 points for the season, John Hackney (Hwr.) had 9 wins and 51 points, and Gary Colbert (158 lbs) racked up 8 wins and 36

Part of the reason for the Grapplers' lare season decline was due to the losses of Keith Stagg, who suffered a rendon injury and Pat Griffin, who left. Bohn and Colbert were also out for health reasons for awhile.

Leaving the ream were seniors: Rip Jamison (co-captain) and Steve Evershensky (co-captain and later assistant coach) and Bruce Reiner. Helping to fill in for the lost talent will be Bohn, Frew, Hackney, Colbert, and Stagg. Look for these wrestlers to bring stiff competition to WMC's opponents in the coming year.

"If all you do is sit and read, all you get is smart and soft '

Of course, this quote isn't an excuse for the fidgets that so often attack a student in a classroom, but it does shed some light on the increasing number of people one sees clad in swents lite

No, all these people are not training for some athletic team; they are merely health conscious. The 70's was the start of a Good Health Movement. People were awakened to the fact that good health usually concerns just how well you take care of yourself. So, individuals began exercising, eating right and kicking unhealthy habits. Quite simply, they started practicing commonsense measures in joying a new sense of rapport which is contheir day-to-day living habits

Running has been one of the measures which has ranked high in popularity. It's no idle accusation to say that if you own feet, you probably own sneakers. Beside running, there has been tremendous rekindled interest in: tennis, swimming, weightlifting, racquetball and squash. ### OFF UNEXPERIENCED

The swing leaves the ball in good position.

Putting requires great concentration.

This year's gof feam with only nwa returning letermen saw a rebuilding year under the new coothing of Steve Easterdy. Of eleven gaffers, Kurt Linkoff will be the only leaving next year. The team opened the season or Didenson College, with three of seven Western Maryland gaffers nor having any collegiate golf experience. Over the course of the season, the WMC ream suffered three losses in marches by five strokes or less.

This year's MAC Championships at Hidden Springs Country Glub Horbarnun, PA, saw a 36 hole play shortened to eighteen holes due to torrenial downpours that puddled the course. The severe weather hampered all trivenry one teams competing in the championships. Western Maryland's Graig Rale had a hole-in-one on the 22 yard, par three eighth hole, but was unafficial since Graig withdrew from the competition after inter holes. Bob Rine was the only member of the WMC team to finish. Bob finished thirtieth of the 105 competitors.

Overall, the team finished with six wins and eight losses in matches. Rae was voted the Golfer of the Year and captain of next year's team.

HIGH BATTING AVERAGES CAN'T

No-hitter form is displayed by Mike Gosnell

And the Old Man hits yet another homer!

The Green Terrors enjoyed a tremendous offensive baseball season, registering a team batting average of .308, but a weak season in the pitching department left WMC with a 12:17 record.

Frank Trautz was Western Maryland's mound ace with a 30 record while Mike Gasnell, author of a no-hitter versus Franklin & Marshall, Tied for the team lead in wins with a 33 record. Unfortunately for WMC, those brightspots were few as the team earned run average soared to 5.47.

Junior Bruce Frick led the Green Terrors in overage, 370, and in RDI, 20. Kevin Zawadk, a senior co-captrain, hit five home runs to lead the team in addition to batring, 325. Three other starters swung the bar over the 300 level: Brian Zawadki or 348, Scott Peters at 342, and Graig Walker or 304.

1.342, and craig waiter of 1.304.

Head coach Pere Clark ended his three-year reign as the baseball mentor at Western Maryland, Dave Seibert will assume those duties in the 1981 season.

Carcher Dwayne Lee sizes up the play.

"The Hard Work We Put In During The Preseason Paid Off. I Was Honored To Be Able To Make A Contribution To The Winningest Team Of Coach Jones' Career."

A VERY SATISFYING YEAR

The WMC Men's Tennis Teom under the leadership of Coach Ron Jones, enjoyed its most successful season in twenty-one years. The 103 record is the best since Wray Mobray and company swamped their opponents back in 1957, compling a 151 mark. With the help of some talented freshman, and the obsence of any graduating seniors from the 1979 ream, Coach Jones had high asprations for the ream as it maveled south for some pre-season preliminaries. This prepared them well for the opener ogainst Johns Hopkins, who was soundly bear en 7.2, the first victory over this long standing rival in twelve years.

At the season's end the only schools to rap the Terrors were powerhouses Getryburg, Mount Sr. Mary's and Franklin and Marshall. The team's ten victories included a point over Ulaiss and a come from behind game against Multenberg.

Number one player and senior Im Sack was vored the Mar Valuable Player at the poss-season banquer, number two was Tim Hackerman, next year's acceptant who treamed with Slack to compile a 10.2 doubles record. The number three player was Dave Zouche, a senior, who went for 9.2 in singles with a win at Gensyburg, an number four was sephomore Ward Street, who jumped three notches from number seven the year before. Next year's other co-option, number five, Fran McCullin, whose reom leading singles record of 11.2 in-tuded a win at Mount 5t. March standard.

the top six was freshman Carl Macaloose who gafned a starting birth for the Terrors, rare for a first year player. Other participants of note were sophomore Scort Smith who went undefeated in seven matches and Freshman Mark Fabian who reamed with Macaloose at number two doubles.

And the practice never ends for a tennis player.

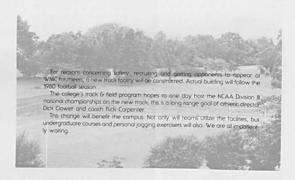

Women's tennis with a 4-5 record had a somewhat disappointing season, despite the fact that the team had three outstanding players and many upcoming members.

Three letter winners, Louise Herrera, Janice McCurg, and Sue Armstrang finished the season with 7.4, 8.1, and 7.1 records, respectively. Other letter winners include, Jean Alexander 5.4 (Kary Dowd 4.4, Sue Gorman 8.6, Heiga Hein 9.6, Linda Piccerelli 8.7, and Deb Taylor 4.9. All other team members received certificates for their achievements and hard work on the crusts.

Ar the MAC's Singles, Debbie Toylor last in the first round championship and then went on in the consultations to defect apponents from Diddinson and Abright, but lost in the semi-finals against a Frankin & Marshall Competior. Suc Garman also lost in the first round and gor as for as the second round of the consultations when defeated by Leslie Benedict of Juniara Collana.

In doubles at the MAC's Hein and Piccirelli won the consultation finals after losing in the first championship to two Ursinus women.

The bright spot of the year was personified by Janice McClurg; the freshman went undefeared until the last day of the season.

Spring 1980 was a growing season for the women's lacrosse team in many ways. Due to an overlap of swimming and lacrosse seasons, Cooch Kim Easterday wasn't able to atrend team practices until three days before the first game. Thanks to a strong team effort and the leadership of "spiderwomen" co-captains Christy Moore and Barbara Drasts, everyone was in good shape to begin the series of comes.

Although off to a slow start with several disappointing losses, the young team gained a lot of field serse and learned to work together well as a unit. Women's lax rounded up the season with a strong finish, winning five of their last six games to conclude with an overall record of 64.

A 3-3 record left the Green Terrors in fourth place in the MAC. Flynn, a junior, led the team in scoring with 11 goals and 7 assists. Sophomore Lori Rafferty was tenth on the MAC scoring chart, finishing the season with 12 goals and 1

DORM LIFE NOT A UTOPIA-BUT NOT DORMANT EITHER

If you came to college expecting a unopia of exciting times, the first month probably hir you preity hard. Of course the campus offers a lovely armosphere, myriads of social and sporting events, and unlimited opportunities for sharing in friendship, but all these features have a string atmosphere. Enjoyment entrals studying.

When you arrive, you are assigned a room and a lot of work. The situation isn't bad, but in requires a good amount of attention. Don't forget that this isn't home and Morn isn't here. When you finish your work and your glass of beer for celebration, the dorm room awaits you.

The dorm rooms are adequate, but you have to remember that this one room serves as: Livingroom, diningroom, befroom and entertainment area. Accumulation of dirty dishes and clothing does not roke long.

Other dormitory situations are just as frustrating. Patience can be hard to exhibit, if you've waited for a relephane for over an hour. Cold water, instead of the preferred hot, can cut your singing short. And it's hard to not yearn for the refrigerator back home when the munches hit, vending machines are quite limited in their choices.

Never-the-less, dormitrory life is something which most students find to be very enjoyable. Where else can such a resort-like environment be had?

When the work piles up, everything else does tool

odd a nice rouch

DO CRAMPED QUARTERS has effects for post those first few weets of objustments, in deals with the student's room and the inhobitoritis) therein, Getting CRAMP STYLE?

As a college student, and especially as a freshman, there exists one variable which used to living with a roomie sometimes can take quite awhile - sometimes a comraderie never develops. The situation requires honest effort between those who will share a room. Just like in a home, the environment definitely effects a student's ability to function well.

Most of the dormitory rooms are designed to accomodate two students - there are a few exceptions, where rooms are designed for three or for an individual. This Fall, some of the women of the campus had the opportunity to adjust to two roomies rather than one. Twenty women were overenrolled therefore, the girls were subjected to temporary or overcrowded housing conditions.

Five women lived in the study rooms of Whiteford, two lived in the guest rooms in McDaniel; seven lived in Dean Mowbray's house, and the other six were assigned to double rooms which were turned into tri-pies.

Bonnie Schwab and Lucy Bahaska, the girls assigned to McDaniel House, resented the situation at first. "We were afraid we would be set away from everybody else and nobody would come see us."

Carol Francies wondered too, why she had been set off away from the rest of the campus. Once she settled into Dean Mowbray's house, however, she liked living there. Another gif housed there, Baine Lippy, expressed her delight in the struation. "It's kind of like a sorority house." Carol added, "We're like a family. When you are a freshman and don't know anyone, that's pretry important."

Others were not seduded from campus, they were crammed into overcrowded dornitory rooms. Most of them expressed common complaints dealing with lack of storage and dioset space, not enough mirrors or towel radis, lack of floor space for some furniture items and no elbow room. In general, the grist dealt considerably well with the problem. The sentiments about the situation ranged from placid acceptance to understandable criticalness and irritability.

Said Sue Herberr, "We had reservations about three of us in a double, but it really worked our. They asked us ro splir up but we were already such good friends that we said no." Vol Rupp commented that they were not hostile towards the college at all.

B.J. Dunn was critical, "Right now we don't have many storage problems, but as the year goes on we are going to accumulate things. And the fact that they didn't consult us first kind of tidked me off."
