Senior Memories

Sophomore year, my roommate Lindsey bought me "the perfect gift." What could be better than a product that combines two of my absolute favorite things? She ordered it online and as soon as it arrived, we opened it in excitement: Bacon Pop. That's right, bacon flavored popcorn.

We put it in the microwave and in less than 15 seconds the entire room filled with the most nauseating, cough-inducing smell. We opened the microwave door and ran out of the room gagging, struggling to breathe, and laughing, trying desperately not to puke in the middle of the hallway. The overwhelming combination of feelings and emotions led to both of us laughing so hard that we not only cried but also peed our pants. The smell of the Bacon Pop was so overpowering that both of our chests hurt and we had to open the window and leave the room for over an hour to let it air out.

We never did get to taste the Bacon Pop; it went straight into the garbage. We did, however, eat pub food under the starry night sky next to the peeing rock where I enjoyed a BLT despite the horrible, yet memorable Bacon Pop experience.

I am so thankful to have found Lindsey at McDaniel. This is just one of the many memories I will never forget from our three years as roommates. Thank you, platonic soulmate for putting up with me for our college adventure! I love you!

-Tori Thompson

"College ties can ne'r be broken, formed upon the hill." So begins McDaniel's alma mater, played to the tune which rang twice a day, every day, from the bells atop Big Baker Chapel. We all made it to graduation because we had experiences and found people who made our time here on the Hill worthwhile. People who got us through the trying times of finishing our senior capstones, and people who celebrated with us in our triumphs of acing a paper or test.

"When our college days are over, round our hearts shall cling, memories of our alma mater, every day shall bring." Do you have memories of a professor who challenged you and encouraged you to be successful inside and outside the classroom? I do. Do you have memories of one person, or a group of friends, who you've only known for four years but now you can't live without? I do.

"We'll be ever loyal to thee." In 10, 20, 50 years, I will still be ever loyal to McDaniel, and to the college ties that can never be broken. Here on the Hill, strangers became family and blank slates became novels filled with our fabulous experiences and accomplishments.

When we think back on our time here, I hope we're grateful. Grateful that our families and scholarships could make it possible for us to be here; grateful that we each had the drive and determination to reach graduation; and grateful that we made colleges ties that can never be broken.

We can't believe your college graduation is here. It seems like just yesterday that we dropped you off at McDaniel. What a wonderful four years it has been. You survived an earth quake, torrential rain and unbelievable snow. Also, your accomplishments at McDaniel are too many to mention.

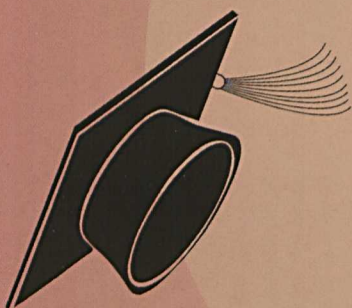

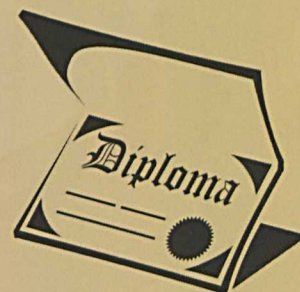

When you left college, we never knew what fun we would have. Not because you were gone, but because we enjoyed watching you excel at hockey and your education classes. Travelling to your college hockey games will always be some of our favorite memories.

We know you will do great in whatever your future holds. Always remember that you are loved and your Mom and Dad will always be here for you.
